Enclosure(s)

FBI FOIPA Addendum

As referenced in our letter responding to your Freedom of Information/Privacy Acts (FOIPA) request, the FBI FOIPA Addendum provides information applicable to your request. Part 1 of the Addendum includes standard responses that apply to all requests. Part 2 includes standard responses that apply to requests for records about individuals to the extent your request seeks the listed information. Part 3 includes general information about FBI records, searches, and programs.

Part 1: The standard responses below apply to all requests:

- (i) 5 U.S.C. § 552(c). Congress excluded three categories of law enforcement and national security records from the requirements of the FOIPA [5 U.S.C. § 552(c)]. FBI responses are limited to those records subject to the requirements of the FOIPA. Additional information about the FBI and the FOIPA can be found on the www.fbi.gov/foia website.
- (ii) Intelligence Records. To the extent your request seeks records of intelligence sources, methods, or activities, the FBI can neither confirm nor deny the existence of records pursuant to FOIA exemptions (b)(1), (b)(3), and as applicable to requests for records about individuals, PA exemption (j)(2) [5 U.S.C. §§ 552/552a (b)(1), (b)(3), and (j)(2)]. The mere acknowledgment of the existence or nonexistence of such records is itself a classified fact protected by FOIA exemption (b)(1) and/or would reveal intelligence sources, methods, or activities protected by exemption (b)(3) [50 USC § 3024(i)(1)]. This is a standard response and should not be read to indicate that any such records do or do not exist.

Part 2: The standard responses below apply to all requests for records on individuals:

- (i) Requests for Records about any Individual—Watch Lists. The FBI can neither confirm nor deny the existence of any individual's name on a watch list pursuant to FOIA exemption (b)(7)(E) and PA exemption (j)(2) [5 U.S.C. §§ 552/552a (b)(7)(E), (j)(2)]. This is a standard response and should not be read to indicate that watch list records do or do not exist.
- (ii) Requests for Records about any Individual—Witness Security Program Records. The FBI can neither confirm nor deny the existence of records which could identify any participant in the Witness Security Program pursuant to FOIA exemption (b)(3) and PA exemption (j)(2) [5 U.S.C. §§ 552/552a (b)(3), 18 U.S.C. 3521, and (j)(2)]. This is a standard response and should not be read to indicate that such records do or do not exist.
- (iii) Requests for Records for Incarcerated Individuals. The FBI can neither confirm nor deny the existence of records which could reasonably be expected to endanger the life or physical safety of any incarcerated individual pursuant to FOIA exemptions (b)(7)(E), (b)(7)(F), and PA exemption (j)(2) [5 U.S.C. §§ 552/552a (b)(7)(E), (b)(7)(F), and (j)(2)]. This is a standard response and should not be read to indicate that such records do or do not exist.

Part 3: General Information:

- (i) Record Searches. The Record/Information Dissemination Section (RIDS) searches for reasonably described records by searching systems or locations where responsive records would reasonably be found. A standard search normally consists of a search for main files in the Central Records System (CRS), an extensive system of records consisting of applicant, investigative, intelligence, personnel, administrative, and general files compiled by the FBI per its law enforcement, intelligence, and administrative functions. The CRS spans the entire FBI organization, comprising records of FBI Headquarters, FBI Field Offices, and FBI Legal Attaché Offices (Legats) worldwide; Electronic Surveillance (ELSUR) records are included in the CRS. Unless specifically requested, a standard search does not include references, administrative records of previous FOIPA requests, or civil litigation files. For additional information about our record searches, visit www.fbi.gov/services/information-management/foipa/requesting-fbi-records.
- (ii) FBI Records. Founded in 1908, the FBI carries out a dual law enforcement and national security mission. As part of this dual mission, the FBI creates and maintains records on various subjects; however, the FBI does not maintain records on every person, subject, or entity.
- (iii) Requests for Criminal History Records or Rap Sheets. The Criminal Justice Information Services (CJIS) Division provides Identity History Summary Checks – often referred to as a criminal history record or rap sheet. These criminal history records are not the same as material in an investigative “FBI file.” An Identity History Summary Check is a listing of information taken from fingerprint cards and documents submitted to the FBI in connection with arrests, federal employment, naturalization, or military service. For a fee, individuals can request a copy of their Identity History Summary Check. Forms and directions can be accessed at www.fbi.gov/about-us/cjis/identity-history-summary-checks. Additionally, requests can be submitted electronically at www.edo.cjis.gov. For additional information, please contact CJIS directly at (304) 625-5590.
- (iv) National Name Check Program (NNCP). The mission of NNCP is to analyze and report information in response to name check requests received from federal agencies, for the purpose of protecting the United States from foreign and domestic threats to national security. Please be advised that this is a service provided to other federal agencies. Private Citizens cannot request a name check.

INTERNAL SECURITY - MISCELLANEOUS

ReWFOairtel wherein it is stated that Stokely Carmichael has applied for a passport.

Atlanta, through established sources, should endeavor to determine any plans Carmichael has to travel outside the United States. WFO should closely follow this matter with the Passport Office and promptly report any pertinent information to the Bureau.

Carmichael and the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee Organization have been most outspoken regarding United States participation in Vietnam.

It is noted that in the past Carmichael has indicated he might attempt to visit North Vietnam. He has indicated he might participate in a "war crimes tribunal" to "indict" President Johnson "and other war criminals responsible for American atrocities in Vietnam." This "tribunal" is now scheduled to be held in Paris, France, during March, 1967. It is possible that Carmichael may desire a passport to go to Vietnam and/or attend the "tribunal" to be held in Paris.

Upon Carmichael's appearance, the reception committee began to chant "black power" and "awake Puerto Rico, defend what is yours." Carmichael addressed the group in Spanish explaining that although he could not express himself clearly in Spanish at this time, he intended to master the language enough so that on his next trip to Puerto Rico he could address the islanders in their own language. There was no provocation or incident at the airport but numerous agents from the [redacted] of that organization were present.

[redacted] stated that from the airport, Carmichael and the people in the reception committee drove to La Perla, a slum area, which borders the ocean in San Juan, Puerto Rico, in the vicinity of Fort Brooke. From La Perla they went to a cemetery which lies adjacent to the walls of Fort Brooke to visit the grave of Pedro Albizu Campos, who for a long time had been the titular head of the Nationalist Party of Puerto Rico (NPPR) until his death in April, 1965.

The NPPR has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

[redacted] commented that Carmichael had stated that the plight of the Puerto Ricans living in La Perla was similar to the situation in which American negroes find themselves in the United States.

From the cemetery the group journeyed to the Mallorquina Restaurant in Old San Juan, where Carmichael read a statement in Spanish to a group of reporters.

COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF
THE STUDENT NONVIOLENT CO-ORDINATING COMMITTEE (CNCC)

The "San Juan Star," an English language newspaper published in San Juan, Puerto Rico, carried an article on pages one and fourteen of its January 26, 1967 edition dealing with a protest march staged on January 25, 1967, by members of the FUPI and MPTR and lead by Stokley Carmichael. According to the article approximately 250 marchers left the vicinity of the University of Puerto Rico, Rio Piedras, Puerto Rico, and marched a distance of approximately ten miles to Fort Brooke, site of an armed forces induction center in San Juan, Puerto Rico. The marchers carried a large banner which read "We Support Black Power in the United States." The marchers were escorted by helmeted police of the Riot Squad of the Police of Puerto Rico, who carried night sticks and guarded the marchers on both sides of the column. As the marchers passed in front of the Inter American University Building in Hato Rey, Puerto Rico, rocks, beer cans, and oranges were thrown from the direction of that building.

Police prevented further violence by intervening between the marchers and the students hurling the missiles. Another minor incident occurred in the vicinity of Central High School, Santurce, Puerto Rico, where more rocks were thrown by hecklers. Two marchers were slightly injured. The marchers who were carrying red and black flags on long poles brandished them as weapons at this point and yelled insults to the hostile crowd gathered along the sidewalks. As many as three thousand spectators observed the march and accompanied it part of the way. They were generally hostile and yelled insults at the marchers keeping the police constantly on guard.

At the marchers termination point, Fort Brooke, San Juan, Puerto Rico, Carmichael, who was accompanied by the SNCC Chairman in New York, Ivanhoe Donaldson, addressed the audience as "Brothers and Sisters" and stated that "We black Americans will not fight the dirty war in Viet Nam." Following the address by Carmichael, Juan Mari Bras, Secretary General of the MPIPS addressed the crowd stating that the MPIPS in New York is ready to join with the SNCC "when fighting the common enemy." At approximately 7:45 p.m. the rally was broken up because of rain. The marchers were instructed by their leadership not "to leave alone from Fort Brooke."

On January 26, 1967, SJ T-1 advised that Stokely Carmichael would not fly to Mayaguez, Puerto Rico, as originally scheduled but would travel there as part of a small group using an automobile belonging to the wife of Juan Mari Bras. According to the source, the group would leave the San Juan area at approximately 6:00 a.m. They were scheduled to return to San Juan from Mayaguez on Caribair 1:00 p.m. flight from Mayaguez. Carmichael according to source will address the student body at the College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts (CAMA), Mayaguez, Puerto Rico, at approximately 10:30 a.m. Source advised that a group of twelve individuals would travel to Mayaguez and five or six would return on the 1:00 p.m. flight.

Stokely Carmichael Plans to Travel Abroad

According to the files of the Passport Office, Department of State, Carmichael filed application for a passport at New York City on January 6, 1967, for proposed travel for six weeks to Europe and Africa "to visit other places for pleasure." He stated in this application that he intended to depart from the United States about March 1, 1967, not by organized tour, but did not list the port of departure or means of transportation. As of January 13, 1967, this application was under consideration in the Passport Office.

It was previously reported that Carmichael has been invited to visit Puerto Rico in January, 1967, to participate in the activities of Movimiento Pro Independencia de Puerto Rico, the largest of the militant groups seeking independence for Puerto Rico.

A confidential source has advised that in connection with Carmichael's trip, he is scheduled to confer with members of the Movimiento Pro Independencia de Puerto Rico in New York City on January 23, 1967. Carmichael will depart for Puerto Rico from New York City on January 24, 1967, and will remain in Puerto Rico from January 24, 1967, through January 26, 1967. During his stay, several meetings have been arranged for Carmichael with leaders of the Movimiento Pro Independencia de Puerto Rico and the Federacion de Universitarios Pro Independencia, a militant student group advocating independence for Puerto Rico.

INTERNAL SECURITY - COMMUNIST

On January 26, 1967, SJ T-1, who has provided reliable information in the past, advised that Stokely Carmichael, leader of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), had traveled to Mayaguez, Puerto Rico, in the early morning of January 26, 1967, via an automobile which belonged to the wife of Juan Mari Bras, Secretary General of the Movimiento Pro Independencia De Puerto Rico (Puerto Rican Independence Movement) (MPIPR).

A characterization of the MPIPR appears in the appendix attached.

SJ T-1 stated that upon arrival in Mayaguez, Puerto Rico, Carmichael addressed an audience at the College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts consisting of approximately 500 individuals. Carmichael's theme was Black Power and the struggle of Puerto Rico against the colonization of the island by the United States.

SJ T-1 stated further that although the MPIPR was claiming a crowd in excess of 800 people who received Carmichael's address with enthusiasm, in reality a large number of the audience was hostile to his remarks and those who exhibited the most enthusiasm were MPIPR members and members of the Federacion De Universitarios Pro Independencia (Federation of University Students for Independence) (FUPI) from the Mayaguez area.

STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE
STEHOEY CARMICHAEL

Due to the interest of the President in the activities of Steholy Carmichael and his organization, we have prepared a summary setting forth the current activity in this matter. A copy of the summary is attached for ready reference.

On 1/26/67, Carmichael received a passport valid for three years travel to all countries except Albania, Cuba and those portions of China, Korea, and Vietnam under communist control.

It is noted on 1/28/67 during a noon conference at San Juan, Puerto Rico, when asked if he wanted to visit Cuba Carmichael stated, "Nobody will stop me from going where I want to go. I will not be intimidated about who my friends are and what countries I will visit."

Two offices of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee in Philadelphia are to be closed on instructions from the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee Headquarters, Atlanta, Georgia. This decision was based on unfavorable publicity received last fall when Committee members were arrested in Philadelphia for illegal possession of dynamite.

RECOMMENDATION:

That copies of the enclosure be forwarded by routing slips to the Honorable Marvin Watson, Special Assistant to the President; Mr. William Welch, Administrative Assistant to the Vice President; Acting Attorney General; Deputy Attorney General; Assistant Attorneys General Yeagley, Boer, and Vinson; Secret Service and the military agencies.

Stokely Carmichael

A confidential source who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on February 27, 1967, that he had learned that Stokely Carmichael attended a Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) Cocktail Party, held in New York City, on February 26, 1967, and is planning to leave for Puerto Rico, on March 1, 1967. Carmichael will remain in Puerto Rico until March 9, 1967, at which time he will return to New York City. He will then depart from New York City, on March 10, 1967, for Mc Gill University, in Canada, where he is scheduled to give a speech.

Stokely Carmichael is Chairman of SNCC.

The April, May, June, 1966 issue of "Rights", a self described publication of the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee (ECLC), states that at the annual meeting of the National Council of the ECLC, which was held in New York City, on April 23, 1966, "Stokely Carmichael, Organization Executive, Atlanta", was elected a member of the National Council of the ECLC.

A characterization of the ECLC is attached hereto.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

12/11/86 381 ag/gth

Due to the interest of the President in the activities of Stokely Carmichael and his organization, we have prepared a summary setting forth the current and planned future activity in this matter. A copy of the summary is attached for ready reference.

On 2/22/67, Carmichael spoke at a memorial service in New York City commemorating the death of Malcolm X Little.

Little was a former leader of the Nation of Islam who split with the group and formed his own political and religious groups in New York City. In February, 1965, Little was assassinated by members of the Nation of Islam while addressing a mass rally at the Audubon Ballroom.

The Nation of Islam is an all-Negro semireligious organization which advocates a doctrine of violent hatred of the United States Government and the white race.

On 2/27/67, Carmichael sent a telegram to Fred L. Shuttlesworth, a Negro civil rights leader in Birmingham, offering his services to assist Shuttlesworth in endeavoring to obtain greater Negro participation and recognition in community affairs. A confidential source advised Shuttlesworth remarked Carmichael would be his "ace in the hole." However, he did not believe Shuttlesworth is seriously considering bringing Carmichael to Birmingham at the present time.

On 2/27/67, Carmichael appeared at a political rally in Chicago, Illinois, to urge support of independent Negro candidates for Chicago aldermanic offices.

Carmichael is scheduled to speak at McGill University, Canada, on 3/10/67.

STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE

Stokely Carmichael Promises to Support Adam Clayton Powell

It was previously reported Carmichael would visit former Congressman Adam Clayton Powell at Bimini, the Bahamas, the weekend of March 11, 1967.

Stokely Carmichael and Adam Clayton Powell held a news conference at Bimini on March 11, 1967. Carmichael blamed "pure unadulterated racism" for Powell's exclusion from Congress. Carmichael said the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee would campaign actively for Powell to help him get reelected in the April 11, 1967, special election in the Harlem District, New York City.

Appearance of Stokely Carmichael at Lafayette College, Easton, Pennsylvania

On March 14, 1967, Carmichael spoke at Lafayette College before approximately 1500 students. Carmichael was critical of United States involvement in Vietnam and stated he would refuse to fight. He also criticized law enforcement in the South.

Stokely Carmichael to Stand Trial

It was previously reported that Carmichael and other members of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee were arrested by the Atlanta Police Department, Atlanta, Georgia, on charges of inciting to riot in connection with a racial disturbance in Atlanta on September 6, 1966. They were subsequently released under $1,000 bond.

According to a press release, Stokely Carmichael and 14 other individuals are scheduled to stand trial March 20, 1967, in Fulton County Superior Court, Atlanta, as a result of the above arrests.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL
INTERNAL SECURITY-MISCELLANEOUS

On June 16, 1967, an article appeared in the "Peace ENG News", London, England, reflecting that in July, 1967, the International Congress Dialectics of Liberation would be held in London and that numerous distinguished thinkers from all over the world, including the third world, and Eastern Europe, would be attending as well as many students who are dissatisfied with what they are being taught in their own universities. The article continued that Stokely Carmichael, described as a political activist, would speak on Tuesday, July 18, 1967, at 10:30 a.m.

On June 30, 1967, a source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that Carmichael would be leaving the United States from Washington, D. C. on July 13, for London where he would participate in the aforementioned Congress.

Stokely Carmichael is the former National Chairman of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee who was not re-elected to this position in May of 1967, by the Central Committee of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee. Carmichael has publicly stated that he will continue his association with the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, but in the capacity of organizer.

The information set forth is based on the comments and views of local government officials, police officers, leaders of various racial groups, established sources and public source information and pertains to the racial situation as of the time the comments and views are expressed; the possibility that the racial situation in a particular area may abruptly change at any time must be taken into consideration.

AT CHATTANOOGA, TENNESSEE:

GENERAL RACIAL CONDITIONS

The Chattanooga Times, Chattanooga, Tennessee, a daily publication, in issue of June 11, 1967, reported that WILLIAM T. UNDERWOOD, Jr., a lawyer and president of Chattanooga NAACP Branch, in an interview stated he disagreed with STOKLEY CARMICHAEL's views entirely. UNDERWOOD is ~~reported to have stated~~ he disagreed with CARMICHAEL's approach to the racial problem. He stated equal job opportunity is the NAACP's primary objective in Chattanooga. He was reported as saying the Civil Rights problem is both social and economical and the problem will only be solved when society and government "learn to accept a man as a man". He is reported to have stated despite progress made Chattanooga has several sore spots that could very well bring about a conflict of people. It was reported UNDERWOOD outlined three steps of action used by NAACP to confront "sore spots" he said existed in Chattanooga. He stated first an attempt is made to solve problems through negotiations, court action is the next step, and demonstrations are only the last resort. It was reported he takes issues strongly with those leaders who attempt to link the Civil Rights Movement to the war in Viet Nam.

Tennessee, advised he had received information on that date from a confidential source, whose identity he would not reveal but who has furnished him reliable information in the past, that STOKLEY CARMICHAEL and representatives of SNCC had made plans to visit Chattanooga in the past. According to this source, CARMICHAEL reportedly said he will come to Chattanooga either in about ten days or during August, 1967, and will bring with him approximately 100 of his supporters. This source stated that CARMICHAEL is reported to have made the statement that since the "Niggers" in Chattanooga did not support him he would bring his own supporters; and, reportedly, several buildings on one of the Chattanooga streets have been marked for burning by CARMICHAEL and his supporters.

[redacted] advised [redacted] he had been informed of the information reported by [redacted] and he held a called meeting of the [redacted] on that date concerning this and also alerted the Chattanooga Police Department. He stated after talking to the members of the Committee, composed of both Negro and white leaders at Chattanooga, he believed if such visit by CARMICHAEL does occur, the majority of the Chattanooga citizens will ignore CARMICHAEL.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Stokely Carmichael appeared at Goddard College, Plainfield, Vermont, on the afternoon of November 14, 1966, and addressed the students, estimated at between 150 to 200, in the collegedining hall. According to information obtained, Carmichael termed the United States' involvement in Vietnam a "racist war", and called the draft the "Black power removal program", referring to the alleged high percentage of Negroes fighting in Vietnam. He indicated the fight against discrimination of Negroes must be led by the Negro community, though White efforts will also be welcome, and they can contribute money to the cause.

Addressing approximately 450 to 500 students in the same afternoon at the University of Vermont, he again referred to the United States' participation in Vietnam as a "racist war". He explained that "Black Power" was an attempt by the Negroes to gain political control of their own Black community.

The lecture was sponsored by the Vermont Student Movement, which at the time was a newly-formed organization presenting widely diverse viewpoints.

No demonstrations were present at either speech and both were very orderly.

On January 5, 1967, Stokely Carmichael was the guest speaker at the State University of New York College, at Cortland, New York. Carmichael spoke before a crowd of approximately 500 students, and the subject of his talk was "Black Power" -- its uses, needs, and substance. The context of his speech was as follows:

~~ENCLOSURE~~

The trouble with the Civil Rights movement has been that its leaders have spent their time reacting to the White man's definition of their own terms; whereas, the Negroes must be the ones that define the terms. He defined "Black Power" as taking control by Negroes of the governments of communities and by creating a political power base from which they may fight. He stressed that Blacks must stop White supremacy and then there will be opportunities for the Negroes as a whole and not for a selected few. He attacked coalition politics and the American press, claiming that the press has become political.

Following his speech, there was a question and answer period, during which time Carmichael stated that the leaders in the Civil Rights movement would like to change the name from Civil Rights to Human Rights, but that this is difficult to do. He again stressed the right to be able to define terms by the Negroes, stating that if you can define, you can then create. He stated that "Black Power" is humanistic and will help in civilizing America.

Carmichael was asked whether he had any Marxist remnants in his background, to which he refused to give a direct answer. He then replied that he had read Marx and that Marx was right concerning White Western Europe.

Carmichael stated that the Black Muslims was a name given to that organization by the American press and that he considered that group as a religious organization and not as a political movement. He denied that the

RE: STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Black Muslims was an extremist organization but stated rather that it was a withdrawal movement.

Carmichael maintained that the Whites have always made the decisions and that the Blacks have not. He stated that integration is not relative to the real struggle for Black Power. He stated that Congressman Adam Clayton Powell should retain his seat because the people of Harlem voted for him.

In answer to the concluding question at the appearance, Carmichael stated that his hatred for racism made him join the movement and that he wants the Black people to overthrow White oppression. After that has been done, he maintained that the Negroes can do anything they want to without any concern to him.

During the week of February 27, 1967, the Cornell University (CU) Inter-Fraternity Council (an organization of representatives of all Cornell fraternities) sponsored a "Soul of Blackness Week" at the CU campus, Ithaca, New York. The purpose of this program was to present various speakers and to promote discussion relative to the American Negro and the civil rights problem. One of the featured speakers was Stokely Carmichael, Chairman of SNCC.

Carmichael arrived on campus February 28, 1967, and departed March 1, 1967. He was housed during this period as a guest of the Sigma Phi Fraternity.

Carmichael participated in a seminar with professors from the Government Department during the afternoon of February 28, 1967. In this seminar he claimed that the Civil War was not fought for humanitarian reasons, and that Abraham Lincoln was a racist. He said that he would fight to death for his own liberation, and that he feels it honorable to pull down the rest of society if this is necessary to gain his liberation. He claimed that the Negro must confront, rather than withdraw, and he predicted that policemen will soon be killed in the black gattoes because they provide no protection for black people. He said that he was in favor of violent groups, such as the Deacons, as a means of survival.

Carmichael gave a speech at Bailey Hall on the subject "Soul and Black Power" at 7:30 p.m., February 28, 1967, before an audience of two thousand. This formal speech was followed by a question and answer period. In his speech, he claimed that "black power" - the power for Negroes to control their own destinies, to organize Negro communities so they have self-control and independence - is the answer to the Negro's plight, not integration. He said that most of the country's twenty million Negroes live in captive communities with white-controlled political, economic and social forces to run them.

Carmichael denounced white supremacy, defended Adam Clayton Powell, criticized the draft and condemned the war in Vietnam, both in his speech and in the question and answer period thereafter. He referred to lowered conscription standards as "black urban removal". He stated his position on the draft when one is called is to say "hell no", and that after seeing the rights of freedom and equality in the United States, he would not fight to give these rights to anybody.

RE: STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Concerning the Vietnam war, Carmichael said that the United States stands on the brink of becoming a nation of murderers, and that it is already a nation of thieves, claiming that it historically first stole the country from the Indians and then stole Negroes from Africa. He said that he expects to be sent to jail for his refusal to fight in Vietnam.

Carmichael also participated in a panel discussion which was open to the public and held on campus on March 1, 1967. He attended this discussion dressed in a yellow sweatshirt on which was a picture of Malcolm X. He complained of police brutality and he called the Christian church the best organization for murder in the country, claiming that "a cat like Cardinal Spellman will tell the people to kill the Vietnamese for Christ."

He further said that the solution to the Negro's problem is to fight for more money or to reduce those who have more by the power of disruption.

Stokely Carmichael, National Chairman of SNCC, delivered a speech at Syracuse University (SU), Syracuse, New York, on the evening of March 15, 1967, at Hendricks Chapel. His topic was "Freedom and Alienation". A panel of three Syracuse University faculty members and a representative of the Syracuse Negro community participated in the panel discussion following Carmichael's talk. Carmichael was sponsored at SU by "Footprints", a student organization whose function is bringing eminent speakers to the Syracuse campus in order to stimulate intellectual excitement.

RE: STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Prior to giving his talk, Carmichael attended a student dinner at Graham Hall, SU, at 6:00 p.m., March 15, 1967. He was housed at the Mohawk Motor Inn, 1060 East Genesee Street, Syracuse, New York. He departed Syracuse, New York, on March 16, 1967.

Carmichael gave a speech at Hendricks Chapel, SU, on the subject "Freedom and Alienation" at 8:00 p.m. March 15, 1967, before an audience of about 1500. In his speech, Carmichael stated that the "Black Power" concept has been misunderstood because it was distorted by the news media, that "these agencies reflected a white racist interpretation of the idea, rather than what was intended by its Negro advocates". "Black Power" does not mean "taking over the country". What it does mean, according to Carmichael, is that black men should take over control of the black community--they must develop the political and economic power of the black community so that it can become a functional and honorable segment of the total society, with its own cultural identity and institutions. He stated that what must be abolished is not the black community, but the dependent colonial status that has been inflicted upon it.

Carmichael in making reference to the freedoms provided by our constitution added the phrase "and all that garbage". It was felt that there was an unfavorable student reaction to that statement.

Carmichael made a comparison between individual racism and institutionalized racism. When white terrorists bomb a Negro church and kill five children, Carmichael said that this represents an act of individual racism and most people are appalled by this. On the other hand, when 500 Negro babies die each year because of poor nutrition and inadequate medical attention, this is an act of institutionalized racism and much of society pretends that the situation does not exist.

Carmichael was critical of the poll registration in the South since, by this action, the politicians were only interested in soliciting support for the Democratic party.

He stated that only five per cent of the black children in the South attend integrated schools and that the remainder still attend the schools that are understaffed, overcrowded and inadequately equipped.

The only reference Carmichael made to Vietnam was in pointing out that although the Negro represents ten per cent of the population in the United States, thirty per cent of the troops in Vietnam are Negro.

Carmichael, after his one-hour speech, participated in a question and answer session.

During this session when one student asked him how he was going to enforce "Black Power", he stated that this would be done by "any means that is necessary." During the session one of the SU faculty members said that Carmichael was vague about the means of achieving the minority community power he advocated and that it was difficult to imagine any technique by which a minority of ten per cent of the population could maintain a stable autonomy.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Our country can't thank you enough for the wonderful job you have done. Its too bad you cannot continue to do your work. We all know that LBJ has curbed your work. It make us decent Americans sick, to see how the negro leaders tear up our communities, and the President of this wonderful country, will not stop these people.

The man whom I talking about is Stokely Carmichael and his hench men. He causes all sorts of riots, but he is never there to get hurt. This man has said many things about our country, he has also told his followers not to go into service of this country, has has called LBJ - a buffoon, a clown, and many other things. Why is this man allowed to do these things? Are not the laws of this country for all? If a white man caused so much destruction all over the country, he'd be arrested, sent to prison or deported. Why then hasn't this happen to this man? What right has he to destroy people's homes, businesses, even kill or hurt people? I think its time this man, and others were punished. I think he should be deported since he doesn't like our country. How can he call him self an American, when he abuses the laws and rights of others. He is not helping his people, he is promoting hate. I have also read there is a law against going into other states to start riots. Why, then isnt this man punished? I have written to senators and Congressmen, but not one has enough guts to do anything about it. Not even the ones whose state suffers from this riots. A man's home or property is his not for a bunch of wild eyed, keyed up rioters to ruin it. Don't we people who pay taxes, have any rights? I know you can't do much about it, but its time to stop these people, before we end up with a civil war again in our country. I hope you can give me some answers, and what can citizens do to protect them selves and their homes.

FBI Study Indicates Riot Pros Are Trained Better Than Policemen

as there are laws but not for the Negro rioters.

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—The urgent need for a federal riot-control law is clearly indicated by a confidential FBI report on the latest outbreaks of local racial disturbances.

Prepared for the White House, the well-documented FBI study warns that local police are no longer dealing with amateurs in riots and demonstrations in their cities. Southern

It bluntly points out that hard-core agitators and demonstrators, more skilled than some policemen, are beginning to "show up over and over again in areas that explode with violence."

"The same faces are beginning to appear in riot after riot," states the FBI report. "No longer are we dealing with amateurs. Professional agitators are traveling from city to city inciting, organizing, and encouraging riots." Let's do something

While a large part of the FBI's investigation was devoted to the nationwide activities of Stokely Carmichael, the 26-year-old organizer of the Black Panther Negro group, the agency's report contained names of dozens of other agitators including several of Carmichael's aides known to be trying to touch off a Negro revolution in the U.S. throw him out

For instance, the report reveals that a top aide to Carmichael was spotted in several cities moving through crowds urging students and Negroes to "take an eye for an eye, arm for arm, and a life for a life." In this way

In most of his riot-provoking activities, this top aide is usually accompanied by another highly trained agitator, according to the FBI report. He can do it but we can't protect our selves.

FOLLOWING THE BOOK—Equally disturbing to the federal investigators is the recent establishment of training schools for the agitators by the militant civil rights and Communist groups. AGAINST THE LAW

The FBI study quotes Raymond M. Momboisse, attorney with the California Department of Justice:

"There are at least four training schools for demonstrators in California, and they are effective. By the time one of these agitators hits the streets he is probably better trained than many of our police."

Other training centers for the professional riot-makers are in New York, Pennsylvania, and Ohio. In these centers, the demonstrators are taught both violent and non-violent techniques of turning a peaceful demonstration into a riot.

month, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover revealed that one militant Negro group, the Revolutionary Action Movement (RAM), was training its members in guerrilla warfare.

Hoover linked Carmichael with RAM, pointing out that the Black Power leader had been in frequent contact with Max Stanford, field chairman of the Communist-controlled group. Several members of this organization were arrested recently on charges of plotting to assassinate moderate civil rights leaders.

Under the controversial riot-control bill approved by a House Judiciary subcommittee, it would be a federal crime to travel or communicate across state boundaries to incite, organize, or encourage a riot. Conviction would carry a maximum penalty of $10,000 fine and/or a five-year sentence. *He still does it **

KEEPING HANDS OFF—The Justice Department's failure to endorse this riot-control measure is due in part to President Johnson's hands-off policy. How nice

The President instructed Attorney General Clark to neither support nor oppose this controversial legislation. However, administration supporters succeeded in adding to the bill a Justice Department proposal for protecting civil rights workers.

In a meeting with Democratic House leaders, the President explained his position saying that he favored leaving the problem of racial violence this summer to local governments, as far as possible. BUNK

By earmarking $75 million for the cities for work programs, job training facilities, and summer recreation projects, the federal government was doing about as much as it could, the President said. NO GOOD

Concerned about the outbreak of rioting in several cities, the President stressed that the best way to dampen down this violence is to provide jobs for Negro youths. BUNK LOOKING AHEAD—The President's Crime Commission is planning to wind up its business by June 30. Executive Director James Vorenberg is returning to Harvard to teach, despite those rumors that President Johnson would appoint him to a high position in the Justice Department. . . . The average wage settlement increase for 1967 is running at five per cent, 1.5 per cent above White House "guidelines," according to a study by the President's Council of Economic Advisers. . . . The council also reports a 14-year high in strikes during the first four months of the year. . . . U.S. intelligence sources are warning American shipping companies that the Suez Canal will be blocked for from three to six months. . . . The canal is obstructed by a sunken oiler, including one barge completely filled with cement. In 1956, it was five months after the end of hostilities before the canal was open for traffic.

Shoot Looters

Editor, The News:

A few weeks ago, when tornadoes struck Oak Park, Ill. and nearby communities, the familiar, traditional order came down from those in authority: "All looters will be shot on sight." And as usual in these natural disasters when such orders are issued, looting was held to an absolute minimum.

Why is it then that when current man-made disasters are taking place night after night in city after city no one has the guts to say: "All looters will be shot on sight?" V.H.J.

Does anyone seriously doubt that if a dozen or so of lawless were shot during the initial outbreak then at least the stricken city could escape repetitive nights of the same mess?

When will we Americans stop turning the other cheek? THEY HAVE

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

The following is a verbatim transcript of a speech delivered by Stokely Carmichael at Portland State College, Portland, Oregon, between the hours of 1:30 and 2:30 p.m., February 16, 1967, held under the sponsorship of the Portland State College Educational Activity Board:

It is a pleasure to be at your school today, Portland, Oregon. You still can't hear me? The reason why you can't hear me is when I was small I'd come home and I'd say, "Heah, Mom, I'm home", and she'd say, "Shh! Negroes are so loud." And so I didn't want to be a Negro so I got soft. That was long ago, today I'm fighting hard to be black and for the brothers. I thought that I would read a paper that is a much finer article than the one which appeared in the "New York Review of Books". Since then I've condensed it and re-written it and sort of given it a loose title, entitled, "Black Power, Its Needs and Substance", and perhaps we could use that for the content of our discussion today.

One of the basic requirements of any successful social movement is the necessity to call into question long-standing values, beliefs, and institutions of the society involved. Several observers have noted the need for this. One writer has stated, notably Mr. Kean, in his book, "Politics, Parties and Pressure Groups", that to carve out a place for itself in the political, social order, a new group may have to fight for a re-orientation of the values of the old order. The struggle involved in any political change cannot, by its very nature, be a nice, quiet, harmless, painless affair. If anyone tries to make it so, it is not capable of that process. Frederick Douglas clearly stated the case when he said, I quote, "Those who profess to favor freedom and yet deprecate agitation, are men who want crops without plowing up the ground, they want rain without thunder and lightening. They want oceans without the awful roar of its waters." Power conceives nothing without demand. It never did and it never will. Find out just what some people will quietly submit to and you have found out the exact measure of injustice and wrong which will be imposed upon them and these will continue until they are resisted with either words or blows or with both. The limits of tyrants are prescribed by the endurance of those whom they oppress. It may be more or less clearly understood that the struggle of black people in the United States is precisely a struggle to modernize, indeed to help civilize this country, and to achieve this, black people must raise hard questions. Questions about the very nature of the society itself. Another American writer has concluded, "The struggle to modernize is what has given meaning to our generation. We should test our cherished institutions and our beliefs. So compelling a force has it become that we are forced to ask new questions of our own institutions. Each country which is modernized or modernizing stands in both judgement and fear of the results. Our own society is an exception that must appear in the politics of modernization. The reality is that this nation from top to bottom is racists. That is not primarily the problem of human relations, but when exploitation is maintained, either actively or through silence by the society as a whole. Can a man condemn himself, can whites, particularly liberal whites, condemn themselves, can they stop blaming blacks and start blaming their own systems? Are they capable of the change, which might become a revolutionary emotion? We have found that they usually cannot condemn themselves, and since black Americans are Negroes they have decided that we will do it. We must face the fact that the civil rights movement in this country has not really called into question the basic values and institutions of this system. If anything, it has accepted these values and institutions. One of the tragedies of the struggle against racism is that up to this point there has been no massive organization which could speak to the growing militancy of young black people and the black doves of this country. There has been only a civil rights movement whose stoney voice is adapted to an audience of liberal whites. It serves as a sort of buffer zone between that audience and the angry young blacks. None of the so-called leaders could go into a community that was in rebellion and be listened to. In a sense, the blame must be shared, along with the mass media, by those leaders, for what happened in Watts, Harlem, Chicago, Cleveland and all over in many of our major cities in the past few years. Each time the people in those cities saw Dr. Martin Luther King get slapped, they became angry. When they saw five little black children bombed to death in a church, they were angrier, and when nothing happened, they were steaming. They had nothing to offer that they could see, except to get out and be beaten again. We helped to build their frustrations. We have only the old language of love and suffering and in most cases it is from the liberals we got back the old language of patience and progress. The civil rights leaders turned to the country. Look, you guys are supposed to be nice guys and we are only going to do what we are supposed to do. Why do you beat us up? Why don't you give us what we ask? Why don't you straighten yourselves out? And to the masses of the black people this language has resulted in virtually nothing. In fact, their objective day-to-day conditions worsen. The unemployment rate among black people increased, while that among whites declined. Housing conditions worsened. Schools, rather than getting better, continued to plod along on out-moded techniques, with tired and indifferent teachers. And all the time the President picks up the refrain of we shall overcome, Congress passes civil rights laws after civil rights laws, only to have them effectively nullified by deliberate enforcement. Progress is being made was the official language and this was simply not true.

When a few in a black community ultimately came to realize this and began to articulate a new language, submit new questions, to seek a re-definition of goals, short-term and long-term, they were blasted by whites and some blacks as extremists, racists, and even accused of contributing to the defeat of the proposed Civil Rights Bill in the summer and fall of 1966. Again, white America was unable to blame itself, and thereby face the real issues, but instead insisted on blaming those who were calling for the achievement of black power. The significance of this development must not be overlooked. An organization which claims to speak for the needs of the community must speak in the tone of that community, not as somebody else's buffer zone. For one, black people are going to use the language they want to use, not just the language whites want to hear. An organization which claims to be listening to the needs of the community must hope to provide that community with a position of sense, from which to make its voice heard. The old language of yesterday is indeed good evidence, integration, progress, compromise, responsible vs. irresponsible, non-violent and love. This language, love, is somewhat a disillusioned belief that the present course was the only course to follow. It misled several into believing that a black minority could actually get into meaningful position of power. The notion is absurd. A white society devised the language, adapted the views, and had the black community narcotized into believing that the language and the views were in fact relevant. The black community has heard time and time again how other immigrant views finally won acceptance, that is by work and achievement. They worked hard, thus they achieved. Now our comment to that is that obviously this country was lying to the black people. Because if that is true, that is - that people who work hard achieve something, black people would own this country. But we will not say it was precisely through the development of Irish power, Polish power, or Jewish power, etc., that these groups got themselves together and operated from positions of strength. John F. Kennedy became President of the United States precisely because he started out in an Irish Catholic position of strength in Boston, Massachusetts. The Irish Catholics take care of their own without a lot of apologies for doing so. You have heard that dubious language from timid leadership about back-lash. This was the case because everyone understood this to be precisely the legitimate way to proceed. Of course there would be a back-lash. Organization begets counter-organization, but this is no reason to default. Therefore, it is very important to get it clear - crystal clear - that black people will no longer be bound by someone else's definition of themselves, their goals, and their fates. In the usual concept of black power, it is crystal clear in our minds what we mean and that, and only that, is the prime prerequisite. Black power can be clearly defined for those who do not attach the spirit of light and welfare to their questions about it. We should begin with the basic fact. Black Americans face two problems in this country. First, they are black; and secondly, they are poor. All other problems arise from this two-sided reality. Lack of education, the so-called apathy of black men, etc. Any program to end racism must address itself to this double reality. Almost from its beginning, the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee sought to address itself to those conditions, with a program aimed at winning political power that impoverished southern blacks. It had to begin with politics because black Americans are a property-less people in a country that values property above all else. Now if you want to get a clear example of property rights vs. human rights you ought to analyze rebellion that is occurring around the country. For example, inside any black sector in this country there is more concentrated violence than anywhere else in that given city, that is black people fight, cut, and shoot themselves more than anybody else in that given city, especially on Friday and Saturday nights. Also in that given area there is more police power in terms of number, than there is anywhere else in the city. For example, in Harlem you see three policemen to a corner, just shivering in their white nakedness nowadays. You don't see three policemen on a corner in a white suburb. You hardly ever see a policeman in the white suburbs, but while black people cut and shoot each other, there is never any attempt by the policemen to stop violence on black people. In the black community if your house is robbed, there's no need to call the policemen because you know they're not going to do anything about it. But now, if in that same given city, one black boy throws a Molotov cocktail through some store window of people who have been expecting it, then they call in the whole damn National Guard. And what that clearly illustrates is that property rights are more important than human rights in this country and that is the problem of white America, not of black people - not of black people. It also clearly points out where the power is vested in our communities. The white people who own stores in our communities have more power than do we ourselves, and then finally what it illustrates is that after every major rebellion so-called "responsible" Negroes are called to do their role - you know - after rebellion Negro leaders are called to play their role, and their role is to condemn black people, that's their only function in society as a matter of fact. The first thing they get them to do is to say, we don't believe in violence, and then they turn around and say, but we're training all our young black men to go to Vietnam. And then they say the people who are starting these riots are really a group of small vagabonds in our neighborhoods. They do not reflect all our people and what is really reflected is that these cats don't have the strength, guts, and the courage to condemn the white people who have been exploiting us. They can only condemn black people. They do not have the guts to say the white grocery store has been exploiting us for 15 years, which store should have been bombed 12 years ago. And it is equally clear to us that precisely because black people do not have channels open to them that other people in society have, they must take their own action into their own hands. America advocates that. They gain deadlier things in Vietnam because they don't just bomb the hell out of it. You have to work with power because this country doesn't function on morality, love and non-violence, but on power. Thus the determination was made to gain political power with the idea of moving from there into activity that would have economic effect. With power, the masses could make and participate in making the decisions which govern their destiny and thereby create basic change in their day-to-day lives. But if political power was the key to self-determination, it would also be obvious the key had been thrown back many decades earlier. This enfranchisement nurtured by racist terror made it impossible to talk about organizing for political power in 1960. The right to vote had to be won. And some workers devoted their energy to that task from 1961 to 1965. We set up voter registration drives in the deep South, in places previously unheard of, in terms of meaningful protest action - like Hattiesburg, Mississippi, and Selma, Alabama. We created stature for the vote by holding mock elections in Mississippi in 1963, and by helping to establish the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party in 1964. That struggle was eased, though not won, with the passage of the voting rights act of 1965 - the country was very white to allow us to vote in 1965. SNCC workers could then address themselves to the question, whom can we vote for to have our needs met? How do we make our vote meaningful? SNCC had already gone to Atlantic City, New Jersey, in August of 1964, for recognition of the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party by the National Democratic Convention and had been rejected. They also went to the House early in 1965 and they could not unseat the racist Mississippi Democrat, yet in 1967, they could unseat Mr. Adam Clayton Powell because he did the same things they did, with more style. The established political institutions of the society were proving themselves bankrupt. Few people, if any, denied the legitimacy of the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party charges against the white Democratic Party in Mississippi, but they were unable to condemn themselves, that is they were unable to come to terms with the idea that a vital part of themselves had to be rejected and displeased and so they were non-responsive to legitimacy. They were more willing and able to perpetuate an intolerable status quo, that is intolerable to the masses of black people no longer willing to bestow respect and dignity on a dying dynasty. 30 blacks ran for school board elections, all but one was defeated and there was evidence of fraud and intimidations sufficient to cause this defeat. In several states black people ran in elections to agricultural committees which make crucial decisions concerning land use, loans, and other farming day-to-day materials. Although we won places on a number of committees, we never gained the majority needed to control those communities and control is what we are fighting for. All of these efforts were attempts to gain black power. And in Alabama opportunity came to see our blacks could organize on an independent party basis - an unusual Alabama law provides that any group of citizens could nominate candidates to county offices and if they win 20 percent of the vote, they will be recognized as a county political party. The same thing applies on the state level. SNCC proceeded to organize in several counties, such as Lions County, where black people constitute 86 percent of the population and have an average income of $543. We felt we could accomplish nothing within the framework of the Alabama Democratic Party because of its racism and the filing fee for the 1966 election was raised from $50 to $500, an increase of 90 percent, in order to prevent those black people from becoming candidates. On May 3, 1966, five freedom organizations convened and nominated candidates for the offices of sheriff, tax accessor, and to the school board.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

The battle symbol is the black panther - a bold, beautiful animal, representing the strength and dignity of black man today. And man needs a black panther on his side when his family must endure, as hundreds of Alabamians have endured loss of jobs, eviction, starvation, and sometimes death for political activities. And you also need a gun. In the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, we avenge the right of black men everywhere to defend themselves when threatened and attacked. This belief shall never be a piece of irrelevant language - non-violence. For years it has been said that blacks would not literally fight for their lives in the United States. They would do it in Germany, they'll do it in Japan, they'll do it in Korea, they'll do it now in Vietnam, but somehow they just can't do it over here. Why this is not entirely true, because neither this society nor blacks are noted for their passivity. Apparently the notion stems from the years of massive sit-ins and demonstrations where blacks did not strike back. The violence was always from white mobs. There are surely many who sincerely believe in that approach. But rampaging white mobs must be made to understand that in many instances their days of free head hitting are over. Black people should and must fight back. Nothing is more soothing to the soul than to have a man approach you with a gun and tell him that he has the same risk that you have of dying if he messes with you. When the concept of black power is used, admittedly many people immediately conjure up notions of violence. This is quite understandable, because these same white people who are so fearful of violence by blacks are saying in no uncertain terms that if they were subjected to the injustices and oppressions heaped on black people, they would react violently. So the astonishment is not that blacks do not become violent, but that they have contained themselves for so long. The black power has far more implications than mere physical self-defense. In Lions County for example, black power will mean that a black sheriff can end police brutality, a black tax accessor can collect and channel funds for the building of better roads, and schools so that black people can advance from political power into the economic arena. In such areas as Lions where black people have the majority, black power means proper representation and sharing of control. Would everyone think for example, looking at the political power structure of the Island of Manhattan that 60 percent of that island was populated by black people? It means the situation of power bases from which black people can work to change statewide or nationwide patterns of oppression through pressure from strength instead of weakness. Politically, black power means a coming together of black people to elect representatives and to force those representatives to seek to our needs. It does not mean merely putting a black face into office. A man or woman who is black and from the slums cannot automatically be expected to seek to the needs of black people. Most of the black politicians around the country today are not examples of black power. Most of them, and one notable example, is an example of Republican power - not black power. The power must be that of the community and emanate from there. The black politicians must start from there. Black politicians must stop representing downtown machinery.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

It should be crystal clear that in order to achieve those initial political goals, black people must not weaken their ranks by falling for the irrelevant rhetoric called "integration". It should be crystal clear before a group can enter the open society it must first close ranks. This is as much a physical matter as it is psychological. All too frequently integration has meant that a few blacks may leave the black community sapping it of the highly needed leadership. They become absorbed into a white mass - those token Negroes of no value to the remaining black masses and meaningless show pieces for a conscience fevered white society. Such absorbed people will state they prefer to be treated as individuals not as Negroes and that they are not and should not be preoccupied with race. This is totally unrealistic.

While ultimately it may be a sound goal - we must realize that in this historical period race is an overwhelming fact in our lives. There is no black man in this country who can simply live as a man. His blackness is an ever-present fact of this racist society, whether he recognizes it or not. Therefore, to realize this and to attempt to deal with it does not make one a racist or overly preoccupied with race, it puts one in the forefront of a significant struggle. It is unlikely that this or the next generation will witness a time when the contrary to this will be the case. But the struggle is significant. The end results must be postponed. Suffice it to say absent the struggle - absent any meaningful results tomorrow. It is absolutely essential that trained black people return to the ghetto and help to develop that indigenous faith. Too much black talent is wasted on middle-class rights. Black power directors should go to and develop one of these curriculums in black colleges. Black professionals and technicians should see the ghetto as their first call to duty. This may be asking more than many are able to give, but let us not delude ourselves into thinking that anything less will suffice. Again, the essential emphasis - a people must close ranks before it can enter the open society. The language of integration has confused all of us today. Moreover, integration speaks of the problem of blackness in a most despicable way. As a goal - it has been placed on the complete acceptance of the fact that in order to have decent education, blacks must move into a white neighborhood or send their children to white schools. This reinforces among blacks and whites the idea that white is automatically better and black is by definition inferior. This is why integration is a subterfuge for the maintenance of white supremacy. It allows the nation to focus on a handful of southern black children who get into white schools at a great price and to ignore the 94 percent who are left behind in schools all black, just as segregated schools. Such institutions will not change until black people have the power to control their own school board. The blacks can only then become equal in a way that means something and integration ceases to be a one way street. Then integration does not mean draining skills and energies from the ghetto into white neighborhoods. It can then mean white people moving from Beverly Hills into Watts - that's integration. Then and only then does integration in fact become relevant. A white reporter made the following observation in 1966 about white Mississippi's manipulation of the anti-poverty program. He said, and I quote, "The War on Poverty has been predicated on the notion that there is such a thing as a community which can be defined geographically and mobilized for a collective effort to help the poor. This theory has no relationship to reality in the deep south. In every Mississippi county there are two communities, despite all the pious platitudes of the moderates on both sides - these two communities habitually see their interests in terms of conflict rather than cooperation. Only when the Negro communities muster enough political, economic and professional sense to compete on somewhat equal terms can Negroes believe in the possibility of true cooperation and whites accept this necessity. The Negro community needs to develop greater independence, a chance to run its own affairs and not cave in whenever demand knocks - or so it seems to me and to most of the minority people with whom I talked in Mississippi. To Oleo this judgement may sound like black nationalism." That's Mr. Christopher James in the "New Republic", issue of April, 1966.

In line with these accurate conclusions, there is a very obvious prerequisite of black people leading and running their own organizations. Only black people can convey the revolutionary idea that black people are capable of doing things themselves. Only they can help create in the community an alive and continuing black consciousness that will provide the basis for political strength. Also, only black people can make black children make up other heros. Too long have our heros been George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. It is time that our heros be the Frederick Douglasses, the Du Bois, the Richard Wrights, the Malcolm X, and bring people up-to-date. In the past the white allies have favored white supremacy without the whites involved realizing it or even wanting it. Black people must do things for themselves. They must conduct educational programs themselves so that black children can identify with black people. This is one reason why Africa has so much importance to us. The reality of black people ruling themselves gives blacks elsewhere a sense of proximity of power which they do not now have. I only wish the CIA would leave the African countries alone. It is an interesting commentary on the racial nature of things in this country to have to articulate this openly. No other group would submit to being led by others. No other group would submit to that - Italians do not run the Anti-Defamation League, Irish do not carry the Christopher Columbus Societies, but yet black organizations are immediately classed in society with the Ku Klux Klan. This is interesting and ironic. But by no means surprising. The very simple fact is that this society does not expect black people to be able to take care of their own business. And of course there are many who prefer it precisely that way. Likewise, this is interpreted as a design to rid the civil rights movement of white people. Nothing could be further from the truth. There is a definite, much needed role whites can play. One of the most disturbing things about almost all white supporters to the movement has been that they are afraid to go into their own communities, which is where the racism exists. And to work inside those communities to rid it of racism. They want to run from Westchester to tell blacks what to do in Mississippi. Let them look instead at Westchester, which does not allow black people to live there. They admonish black people to be non-violent. Let them seek non-violence in the white communities where it belongs, starting with Lyndon Baines Johnson. They come to teach black history to blacks. Let them go to the suburbs and open up freedom schools for whites who desperately need it. Let them stop America's racist foreign policy, let them pressure this government and businesses here to stop supporting the racist government and exploiting the economy of South Africa. Let them realize there is a poverty of another kind in the sumg white communities across this country. A poverty of belonging, a poverty of humanity, indeed a poverty of ability to act in a civilized manner toward other human beings. There is a vital job to be done among poor whites. It is so bad eventually there will be a coalition of poor blacks and poor whites. This is the only coalition which seems acceptable to us and we see such a coalition as the major internal instrument to change the American society. It is thoroughly academic to talk about bringing poor whites and blacks together. The task of creating a poor white power block must be attempted. The responsibility for this task falls upon white activists. Too many young, middle-class white Americans, like some sort of Pepsi generation, have wanted to come alive through the black community. They have wanted to be where the action is and the action has been in the black communities. They have sought refuge among blacks from a small, meaningless, irrelevant life in middle-class America. They have been able to come to terms with the oppressive, parochial, split-level mentality of their parents, teachers, and friends. This is highly understandable. The reaction should be engagement, not withdrawal. Just as blacks must attack the fear and hesitancy rampant in the black communities. Black power speaks as much to this division of labor as it does to anything else and those who would panic and scoff at these conclusions are betraying their inability to accept reality. Thank you.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Period of Questions and Answers

First question put by

b7C

Question: First of all, it's difficult to quarrel with Mr. Carmichael on any of the statements he has made or the majority thereof. Certainly the criticisms which he levels against our society are well taken. We have much to be ashamed of. However, in terms of the mechanics for the attainment of ends which I think we share and I would suspect both Mr. Carmichael and I share the objective of the attainment of human dignity and to be responded to on the basis of a person rather than as a member of a category, rather that category be Negro, white, rich, poor, but rather as an individual. Now, the question I would like to raise is this. And it has to do with the mechanics for the attainment of the end. It seems to me that the categories of black and white are certainly social reality. But they are social realities which have been imposed by the majority, so-called white society. And it seems to me that by responding to a social definition, not a biological one, there is some question as to the legitimacy of the racial definition into black or white, Negro, Caucasian. There is no question about the social reality of the categories. But as I have said before, these categories are imposed by whites and one questions the utility of responding to that definition, accepting that definition, and in short, fall into the white group - the white definition. Rather, it would seem to me that this focuses upon the race distinction. A distinction which I suggest again to be a false one, one which stands in the way of human dignity. Consequently then, even though there is no question that group cohesion will obtain within the so-called Negro community, yet insofar as the struggle is an intra-group struggle, will not the emphasis upon black power delay, if you will, the attainment of this human dignity for all. This is the question I would like to ask at this time.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Answer: Before I answer the question, I would like to introduce [redacted] who is here with us today. The reason I want to introduce [redacted] is because a lot of the content from which I'm going to answer comes from his philosophy. I want to make a distinction between individual racism and what we in SNCC call institutionalized racism. And once we got rid of that we can then talk about whitey's need to rid this country of institutionalized racism, not individualized racism, because that is what the doctor talked about. In a black community that means a lot. If I don't call you a doctor and you're a doctor he'd cut my head off. It's that middle-class nonsense. Let me give you an example of individual racism and the response of the country to it, and an example of institutionalized racism and the response of the country to it. When an unidentified white terrorist bombed and killed five black children who were in church, that is an act of individual racism - widely deplored by most segments of this country, both white and black. But when in that same city, Birmingham, Alabama, not five, but 500 black babies die each year because of lack of proper food, medical facilities, etc., and 1,000 more black people are being physically, emotionally, educationally, and psychologically harmed because of conditions in the ghetto - that is an act of institutionalized racism, and this country says that it doesn't even recognize institutionalized racism or is incapable of doing anything meaningful about it, and that is precisely why they suggest our approach should be on an individual basis - but we're not going to get put in that trick bag in 1967. No! We understand in our minds that it is institutionalized racism that we are attacking. - That runs rampant from Rochester to Watts. That in every major city in this country, in every state, black people are segregated into ghettos and this country says it doesn't even know how it happens. They say they didn't even plan it and if that is true it only shows how subconscious racism is in this country - that in every major city you can have a ghetto without it being planned by some malignant racist planning unit. Now then, we must then attack institutionalized racism, not the individual actions. We're going to take care of those ourselves from now on. In order to counteract institutional racism, which is able to perpetuate itself only because it has the power to do so, one must institute the power inside black communities to counteract those institutions of racism, then once you've done that maybe you can talk about individualism. Secondly, I want to make it crystal clear that we do not believe in that nonsense about individualism. Individualism is a luxury that black people can no longer afford. We are oppressed as a group, not as individuals, and we must present a front as a group. Only when we are able to wield that group power will white America recognize our power and let's let individualism go for us. So Brooks can become Senator to satisfy a self-justifying white America - to create a clear conscience for what it has done to black people? Is that what we want? We are not concerned about the Dicks who are Republicans, we are concerned about the black people in the ghettos who are black and that is where our concern will center and we must build those institutions of power. Now then, on the second part of his question about definitions. I want to read to you my favorite quote. I found it in an excellent book by Mr. Felix Green, called "Vietnam-Vietnam". The quote doesn't deal with Vietnam, don't get scared. One of my favorite books when I was small was "Alice in Wonderland" and as I grew up I re-read it and there was a little passage I always loved and I found it in Mr. Green's book. It says, I want to quote, "When I use the words, Humpty Dumpty said, in a rather scornful tone, it means just what I choose it to mean. Neither more nor less. The question is, said Alice, whether you can make words mean so many different things. The question is, said Humpty Dumpty, who is to be master. That is all." You have got to understand the importance of definition in your mind. The first necessity of a free people is that they are able to define themselves and their slogans and that they must have those recognitions recognized by their oppressor. If they are not able to do that they will not even begin to move toward their liberation. On the very first page of "The Rebel" it says, "When and only when, the slave says no to the master does he begin to create for himself - when he says no, I will no longer be bonded and contained by your definition. I will now create my own. I am not a slave. I am a free man. Then and only then does he begin to understand what liberation is all about. And that must be crystal clear to black people because we have been defined by white people all our lives - all our lives - and from now on we will define ourselves. Let me give you an example why that is so important. The other thing white America does to us - every time we mention our liberation they try to put us under the census and we have to defend our children by explaining because they don't meet the criteria of white America. For example, a couple of years ago when poor Dr. King would get up and talk about integration, in his mind and in black peoples' minds it was clear he was talking about good schools, better jobs, better houses, good life - the white people began to jump up, "You want to marry my daughter!" And so what would happen is that our poor black leaders at that time would start to jump. Oh, no we don't want to marry them. We don't want to be your brother-in-law we just want to be your brother. We don't want to sleep in your bedrooms. We just want to sleep next to you - and all that nonsense. By the time they stopped reacting to a white man's definition, they were out the window. Now we don't do that in SNCC. Today if somebody asks me do I want to marry their white girls, I'd tell them quite clear. "Your daughter, your sister, your mama - they're white women. The white woman is not queen of the world, she is not the Virgin Mary, she can be made just like anybody else - let's move on, let's move on." We will not allow them to define us and have us react to them and that's what they do. When we say black power, you mean violence don't you, and then they want us to get mad.. We will be master of our own terms. We will define it, they will recognize it. Therefore, to define ourselves as black and to say that what we need is black power, is not to accept their definition, but to give our own definition. Certainly the reaction of white America to the term black power is enough for us to know it is precisely what we need. Because if so many whites are against it I know it's good.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

The second question will be put by Question: I'd like to ask him several questions. It will not take very long to ask and the first field - not very long to answer. Can we both be up here together? I thought I was going to stand and talk to that when we started but I'd like you to comment for a minute on whether or not black power, as a concept and idea, as you've developed it, is a means or an end. If it is an end, then that would be relatively definitive. If it is a means, then I would like to have you comment on what it's a means toward. What is the end, if it is the means? And then your answer will determine a couple more questions.

b7C

Answer: Well, it is both end and means. The first means is that black people recognize that they do not depend upon anybody, from liberal whites to conservative whites, to fight their own battles. That they stand up and begin to fight it themselves. That is the first means. And then the second means - psychologically, black people must understand that this is our fight. That nobody else can fight it for us, we must fight it for ourselves. The importance of that means is that black people will be able to control the momentum of our own movement and direct it the way we want it to go. Now dig it. Old President Johnson can get up and fight Dr. King over the movement see and he can get up and say we shall overcome and everybody'll say, wow, he's for us you know. And he takes the movement and leads it down the road, but I'll be damned if he can ever get up and say I want black power. This means that we will control our movement. The end is that black people in this country are powerless. They have been robbed of black power by white America. Our job is to regain that power, by any means necessary.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Question: To the extent it's an end. It's a very raceless end it seems to me, since it continues the racial distinction and if it continues the distinction being made on the basis of race and avoids something which has progressed much further in South America than North America where various parts of our physical anatomy can of course be relevant or irrelevant - we can vary on height, color of eyes, on size of eyes, on size of ears. In South America race has been rendered considerably less relevant as a national concern - as an individual concern - as a social concern, and it seems to me the black power movement isn't moving away from that end and I'd like you to comment on whether that's desirable and whether my interpretation is correct in your eyes.

Answer: Let me say first that to understand that I'm black and to try to deal with the racism in America is not to say I'm a racist. A philosopher, in commenting on the movement says that what is being developed is an anti-racist racism. That is to say we are opposed to racists. I recognize that I am black. I recognize that white America denies me all sort of equalities because I am black. That is to say I am accepting my blackness and shall not be ashamed of it any longer as white America has made me for the last 400 years. I will beautify it, I will use it, accept it, be proud of it, and move on. That is not to say that I am a racist. It is to say the question of racism in this country exists because white people want it to exist. Integration is not so because white people do not want integration. Any of you who are white can move into any black community if you can rise above your own racism, and nobody will throw rocks and stones at you. We won't gather and march. Do you think any of us can move into a white community? Absolutely not. The question then is for white America to civilize itself and to recognize black people as human beings. I will not de-humanize myself to prove to white America that I am a man and as good as they are. I am - I am black, therefore I exist. Period. White America will deal with that.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

So because you call for group cohesion to yield group power to confront white America is not to say you're a racist - it is to say you recognize the racism of white America. If white America does not want segregation - by 90 percent - as they so often remind us, let them pass local bills - if they can rise above their own racism - let them deal with the question of integration. We are concerned with black people - not with white America.

Question: The issue in the whole racial distinction of black and white in the world and especially in this country, and especially at this time, is not a black problem. It's a white problem and it's a white problem that has to be coped with and changed. With this definition being made, we have a number of other social groups which are stigmatized and which are discriminated against - the American Indian, the Mexican, the Oriental, less so in recent years, but this type of group - and I wonder if the black power definition could not be transferred to these other groups. I wonder if it would be appropriate to transfer it because they are so small they could never acquire enough power to do them much good at all. With this being the case I wonder if it wouldn't be a better strategy to instead of promoting black power as an opponent force, to rather manipulate to change the white definition of the situation, to eliminate the iniquities, rather than to continue the conflict.

Answer: I would think that I am not in a position to speak for the Mexican communities, the Chinese communities, or the Indian communities. They have to speak for themselves. We can urge and help them in any way fit. I read in the newspaper the other day that a tribe was calling for red power and I think they're learning, that's good. They will now begin to fight. Maybe they'll take back the country, who knows? My only concern is that when they yell for red power, HUAC might investigate and kill them because they'd rather have people dead than red! That means the Chinese community should call for yellow power and the Mexican community and the Puerto Rican community are already calling for brown power, so obviously those people will develop their own indigenous groups and begin to fight. We will aid them because we recognize that they are fighting the same people that we are - who oppress and exploit us.

Question: I gotta stop, but I want to ask one more. The most classical example in the world of a non-violent movement, is of course the movement spearheaded by Ghandi in India and which was imminently successful in changing political definitions and gradually successful in changing actual social conditions of people. It did have some degree of success. I wonder if this couldn't be conceived as brown power in the sense that they were acquiring power in a non-violent way and I'd like to have your comments on similarities between that type of a definition of what went on in India and what's advocated here.

Answer: I'm not quite sure I accept your definition. Because while Ghandi was fighting there were an awful lot of powerless groups and certainly Ghandi's real power lied in the fact the British knew that if they ever laid a hand on his followers, India would blow up in flames. That was Ghandi's real threat to the British. Not the fact that he, himself, was non-violent. As a matter of fact, Ghandi went to jail several times to protest against the Indians because they would not become non-violent. I do not dis-accept that Ghandi was the one who lead that movement and certainly his most solid and most faithful disciples as soon as he got into power, started bombing the hell out of Pakistan. So I don't see how the non-violence theology or doctrine, or whatever, went all the way through. Now I do think that this country is one of the most violent countries that I know today. They trained me to kill in Vietnam. They trained my parents to kill in World War II. My cousin and my uncle in the Korean War, they told them they were fighting for democracy. Well I'm ready to fight for democracy right here, so that I cannot be contained by white America's definition of non-violence. If white America were to be non-violent, they can start by stopping with Ho Chi Minh. If they know about non-violence. This country cannot tell anybody about non-violence, not after what it's done - raped, plundered, everywhere it went. Drop a bomb on Hiroshima and Nagasaki and then turn around and talk to me about non-violence. If they were not so critical I would not become schizophrenic. The very entertainment of this society is violence. You can't turn on your T.V. set without seeing some violence and nowadays they become super-realistic in their violence. Kill a man he doesn't even know he's dead. Not only have they done this, but they have begun to incorporate black people in that violence, notably Bill Cosby on "I Spy". Now, if this country is serious about black people being non-violent and fighting for their rights, when I look at "I Spy" and I see our man Bill Cosby get hit upside the head by a Russian spy and comb his hair and start singing "We Shall Overcome", to that Russian spy, I'll be non-violent.

STUDENTS FOR A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY (SDS)

The Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), as it is known today, came into being at a founding convention held at Port Huron, Michigan, in June, 1962. The SDS is an association of young people on the left and has a current program of protesting the draft, promoting a campaign for youth to develop a conscientious objector status, denouncing United States intervention in the war in Vietnam, and to "radically transform" the university community and provide for its complete control by students. Gus Hall, General Secretary, Communist Party, USA, when interviewed by a representative of United Press International in San Francisco, California, on May 14, 1965, described the SDS as a part of the "responsible left" which the Party has "going for us." At the June, 1965, SDS National Convention, an anticommunist proviso was removed from the SDS constitution. In the October 7, 1966, issue of "New Left Notes," the official publication of SDS, an SDS spokesman stated that there are some communists in SDS and they are welcome. The national headquarters of this organization as of April 18, 1967, was located in Room 206, 1608 West Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois.

NATIONAL COORDINATING COMMITTEE TO END THE WAR IN VIETNAM (NCCEWV)

A source stated on August 20, 1966, that the National Coordinating Committee to End the War in Vietnam (NCCEWV) had its origin in August, 1965, when some participants in the March on Washington of August 7, 1965, decided to establish a center to co-ordinate all anti-Vietnam war activities in the United States. A Steering Committee was formed and at a National Convention, held in Washington, D. C., November 24-28, 1965, the NCCEWV was formally organized and a constitution approved. The Steering Committee included delegates from the W.E.B. DuBois Clubs of America (DCA) and the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA).

Characterizations of the YSA and DCA are attached.

A [] source stated [] that at [] meeting of the Steering Committee of the NCCEWV, held at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, [] the committee included several members of both the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) and the Communist Party.

The SWP has been designated by the Attorney General pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

The [] source further stated that a struggle for influence over the NCCEWV at its founding had taken place between the DCA and the YSA, with the DCA and its supporters winning out to become one of the major forces in the NCCEWV.

The NCCEWV has, since its formation, [] located, since January, 1966, at 420 West Washington Avenue, Madison, Wisconsin.

During the Fall of 1964, Special Agents of the FBI observed [redacted] in attendance at meetings of the Madison chapter of the DCA. b7C

"The Milwaukee Journal," in its edition of July 1, 1965, characterized FRANK EMSPAK as President of the Wisconsin Socialist Club (WSC).

The NCCEWV issues a newsletter, "Peace and Freedom News," distributes material attacking U. S. policy in Vietnam, and coordinates demonstrations and protests against the Vietnam war in the United States and abroad.

YOUNG SOCIALIST ALLIANCE

The May, 1960, issue of the "Young Socialist" (YS), page 1, column 3, disclosed that during April 15 - 17, 1960, a national organization entitled "The Young Socialist Alliance" (YSA) was established at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. This issue stated that this organization was formed by the nationwide supporter clubs of the publication YS.

The above issue, page 6, set forth the Founding Declaration of the YSA. This declaration stated that the YSA recognized the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) as the only existing political leadership on class struggle principles, and that the supporters of the YS have come into basic political solidarity with the SWP on the principles of revolutionary socialism.

A source advised on May 7, 1965, that the original YSA was an organization formed during October, 1957, in New York City, by youth of various left socialist tendencies, particularly members and followers of the SWP. The leaders of this group were the guiding forces in the establishment of the national organization.

The source further advised on May 7, 1965, that the YSA is dominated and controlled on a national basis by the SWP through having SWP members comprise exclusively the National Executive Committee (NEC) and through an official SWP representative at all YSA NEC meetings. The YSA, in reality, is the youth and training section of the SWP and the main source of new SWP members.

The headquarters of the YSA are located in Room 535, 41 Union Square West, New York City.

The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

W.E.B. DU BOIS CLUBS OF AMERICA (DCA)

A source has advised that on October 26-27, 1963, a conference of members of the Communist Party (CP), including national functionaries, met in Chicago, Illinois, for the purpose of setting in motion forces for the establishment of a new national Marxist-oriented youth organization which would hunt for the most peaceful transition to socialism. The delegates were told that it would be reasonable to assume that the young socialists attracted into this new organization would eventually pass into the CP itself.

A [] source has advised that the founding convention for the new youth organization was held from June 19 - 21, 1964, at 150 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco, California, at which time the name W.E.B. DuBois Clubs of America (DCA) was adopted. Approximately 500 delegates from throughout the United States attended this convention. The aims of this organization, as set forth in the preamble to the constitution, are: "It is our belief that this nation can best solve its problems in an atmosphere of peaceful coexistence, complete disarmament and true freedom for all peoples of the world and that these solutions will be reached mainly through the united efforts of all democratic elements in our country, composed essentially of the working people allied in the unity of Negroes and other minorities with whites. We further fully recognize that the greatest threat to American democracy comes from the racist and right wing forces in coalition with the most reactionary sections of the economic power structure, using the tool of anti-Communism to divide and destroy the unified struggle of the working people."

Over the Labor Day weekend, 1965, the DCA held a conference in Chicago, Illinois, and a new slate of officers was elected to the National Executive Committee (NEC) of the DCA. Since Labor Day, 1965, identities of those serving on the NEC has varied; however, according to a [] source as of May, 1966, thirteen of the fifteen members of the NEC were members of the CP in the San Francisco Bay area.

As of July, 1966, the headquarters of the DCA was located at 180 North Wacker Drive, Chicago, Illinois.

TO : The Director

FROM : N. P. Callahan

SUBJECT: The Congressional Record

JP2-166-17941-3103

Original filed in:

Page H7557. Congressman Brinkley, (D) Georgia, spoke concerning civil disobedience and stated "our Nation cannot tolerate insurrection led by Stokely Carmichael, or anyone else, cannot afford to defer to him, cannot afford to honor him with preferential treatment." He included a letter he directed to Attorney General Clark in which he cites section 2383 (rebellion or insurrection statute) of title 18, United States Code. The letter states "It appears to me that a strong case can be made against Carmichael under this Statute. I call upon you in your capacity as Chief Legal Officer of the United States to investigate Carmichael's activities carefully and quickly and to initiate appropriate action under this or other Statutes."

MR. TOLSON:

With the Director's approval, I saw []
[] at the White House at 2:30 p.m. this afternoon.
[] stated that he personally had noted, after reading a memorandum from [] [] that the same names were turning up each time with regard to civil rights matters as well as anti-Vietnam activities. [] asked if we had noted this. I replied in the affirmative and stated that the Director had sent numerous communications to the White House reflecting this fact.

Stokely I told [] that self-styled civil rights leaders such as King, Carmichael and McKissick were now seeking to replenish their empty larders by turning from civil rights to anti-Vietnam activities.
I stated that all of these men had realized that there was more financial gain and more publicity in being in anti-Vietnam activities than in heading up civil rights drives. It was indicated that the general public is gradually beginning to realize that the civil rights activities of these men have been phoney since their start. [] stated he agreed.

[] then indicated that the President had told him that the next time I was over there he wanted to see me. He then took me in to see the President. The President appeared to be deeply tanned, greatly relaxed, and had his feet up on the desk. The real basis for [] requesting me to come over then became apparent.

The President stated that he had recently had a discussion with [] whom he regarded most highly.
[] told the President that the way to handle the anti-Vietnam activities in this country was through positive demonstrations on the part of patriotic groups. The President stated he concurred with [] and he felt that the American Legion, rather than placing flowers on black coffins when dead servicemen were returned, should in the future institute programs of meeting troop ships, having parades, giving presents to returning servicemen and generally stirring up great publicity

The President next asked if the FBI knew anything regarding the activities of King, Carmichael and McKissick, as mentioned above. I told him the Director had constantly sent communications over to him regarding these individuals and the FBI kept abreast of all their activities. The President asked who was behind these people. I told him that Stanley Levinson, prominent member of the National Committee of the Communist Party, and Bayard Rustin were behind King, and that although McKissick and Carmichael had left wing individuals supporting them, they obviously were self-styled civil rights leaders who were seeking only to get as much money out of a troubled situation as possible. I told the President of the situation at the University of Wisconsin where Carmichael arrogantly demanded $1,800 prior to speaking and had raised hell simply because the students could only raise $1,300. I briefed the President generally regarding King and McKissick.

The President inquired as to whether the information concerning Carmichael and his speech making activities had been given to the press. I told him it had not. He asked that we give it to Drew Pearson. I told him I doubted Pearson would print derogatory information concerning these characters. The President then stated that we should consider giving it to [redacted] on an off-the-record basis. He stated that [redacted] was an old friend of his and would understand the circumstances. I told the President I would bring this to the Director's attention. b7C

The President next asked if I knew [redacted] [redacted] I told him that the FBI was well aware of [redacted] and his background. I stated that the Director had sent me up to see [redacted] on one occasion in connection with the [redacted] some b7C years ago and that [] had attempted to record our conversation. I stated I had told [] at the time that he would have to cut off his recording machine or else I would leave his office. The President was advised that [] had constantly issued false statements concerning the FBI and was slippery as an eel and not to be trusted. I stated that he was anti-Vietnam and had many associates who had very questionable backgrounds. The President stated that we should send [] a memorandum on [] however, the memorandum should not reflect that he had specifically requested this information.

b7C

The President asked if Bobby Kennedy saw [] while he was in the United States. I told the President that at [] request we had checked very carefully on this matter and there had been no indication that Kennedy had seen []. The President stated that apparently the Soviet Government had decided to turn down Kennedy's invitation.

b7C

The President turned once again to the subject of Carmichael and McKissick. He obviously avoided bringing up King's name again. He asked if the FBI could have [] hold hearings concerning Carmichael and McKissick. I told him I thought it would be out of order for the FBI to make the request of [] and besides, [] appeared to be in very bad physical condition at the present time. I stated also that the President might like to consider the fact that the House Committee on Un-American Activities has little reputation at the present time and that hearings on McKissick and Carmichael might react to their advantage rather than hurting them.

b7C

The President then asked how such information could get out. I told him that handling such matters with newspapers was perhaps the best way, however, there obviously had been a reluctance on the part of some individuals to leak anything against King. (I, of course, meant the Attorney General.) The President made no comment but stated that he hoped the anti-Vietnam activities of all these people could be watched most carefully.

The President asked about the Director and I told him the Director was fine and working as hard as ever.

ACTION:

(1) If the Director approves, I will call [] and give him the above information concerning Stokely Carmichael.

Since President has ordered it, I assume we have to do it but I don't like it.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

I want to apologize for being late, but we ran into some trouble on the road. We ran into some trouble on the road, we had some flat tires. That's because the CIA is cutting off the circulation of the electricity. Say, I wanted to apologize for us being late. We had some trouble on the road and we have some flat tires.

As I was coming in, a young man said, "The nigger's here." That's right, baby, the nigger's here, and I'm going to blow. But we hope the young man will be able to deal, we hope the young man will be able to deal with this paper because this nigger is going to deliver an intellectual paper for you. This article is entitled To Want Black Liberation. It was written for the Massachusetts Review. I hope the Hunkie who called me a nigger reads the Massachusetts Review. Not only him, I hope his mama reads it too, she needs to.

The paper theoretically deals with the concept of black power. It ends up by programmatically explaining black power. It attacks the concept of integration as it's currently practiced in this country and then it deals with the concept of coalition politics as explained by the major coalition exponents in the country, notably Mr. Bayard Rustin. It then goes on to, it then goes on to point out the difference between individual acts of racism and institutionalized racism. One of the most pointed illustrations of the need for black power as a positive and redemptive force in a society degenerating into a form of totalitarianism is to be made by examining the history of distortion that the concept has received in the national media of publicity. In this debate, as in everything else that affects our lives, black people are dependent on and at the discretion of forces and institutions within white society which have little interest in representing us honestly. My experience with the national press has been that where they have managed to escape a meretricious special interest in

"Get Whitey" sensationalism and race war-mongering individual reporters and commentators have been so conditioned by the enveloping racism of the society to the point where they're incapable even of objective observation and reporting of racial incidents, much less the analysis of ideas. But, this limitation of vision and perception is an inevitable consequence of the dictatorship of definition, interpretation and consciousness along with the censorship of history that the (heckling from audience)... See, they're only upset cause we've learned their language better than they. I ought to speak it in Swahili. ...is an inevitable consequence of the dictatorship of definition, interpretation and consciousness along with the censorship of history that the society has inflicted upon black people and, consequently, upon itself.

Our concern for black power addresses itself directly to this problem. The necessity for black people to reclaim our history and our identity from the cultural terrorism and depredation of self-justifying white guilt. To do this, we shall have to struggle for the right to create our own terms through which to define ourselves and our relationships to the society and to have these terms recognized. This is the first necessity of a free people and the first right that any oppressor must suspend. Now, I think that's very important, the need to define. The existentialist philosophers talk about that all the time, notably Mr. Camus and Mr. Sartre. I read them in the white school. And what happens is that if you cannot define, you are defined by forces greater than you.

Now, white western society, as opposed to white western civilization, has defined everybody in the world. An example for us would be the cowboy and the red man pictures. You know, you see them fighting all the time and the white man is losing, so, he calls out the cavalry and the cavalry come out and they ride very white and very proper and they get off their horses and they shoot all the red men. And, they ride back to the fort and at the fort there's a white woman standing there and she says, "What happened," and he says, "We've won. We've had a victory." Everybody's happy. Now, when the reverse happens, when the red man beat the hell out of the white man, and he goes back to the fort and the white woman asks him what happened, he says, "The dirty Indians. They massacred us." And, you got to understand the difference because the connotation is that a victory is much more honorable than is a massacre. In a victory you shoot people to death. In a massacre you cut them to death. And we all know that if we are going to die, we would rather be shot to death than cut to death. Now you see that even more with the editorial twins of America, Huntley and Brinkley and the (laughter).... What they usually do is that when they talk about Vietnam, they say, "Dirty, filthy Vietnam, Vietcong, communist guerrilla forces threw a molotov cocktail, wounding our civilians." You get a flashback and the other cat's in Washington, Brinkley says, "Meanwhile, our good boys have been bombing the hell out of North Vietnam."

So, that the questions and definitions are very important and since I'm in such a good group, I ought to show what they did to us a couple of years ago. Black people would get up and say that we want to integrate. And, in their minds and the minds of all black people, they were talking about good schools, good houses, good jobs and good places to live. But, some Hunkie would jump up and say, "You want to marry my daughter," and they would start defining the black man's term for him and the black man would start reacting to their definition. He would say, "Unh-unh, we don't want to marry your daughter. Unh-unh, we don't want to be your brother-in-law. Unh-unh, we just want to be your brothers," and all that nonsense.

Now, they ask us in SNCC and we tell them to the point. Your sister, your daughter, your mama, dig it! The white woman is not the queen of the world. She's not the Virgin Mary. She can be made like anybody else. Let's move on. Move on. Move on.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

And, you now have an attempt to do that today. When we say black power, some Hunkie jumps up and says, "You mean violence." And they want me to say, "Unh-unh, bossman, we don't mean violence." Later, for you! We know what we mean. That's all that counts. You will recognize our definition. Okay.

The white fathers of American racism knew this instinctively it seems, as is indicated by the continuous record of the distortion and omission in their dealings with the red and black men. And the same way with the Southern apologist, for the Jim Crow Society have so obscured, muddled, and misrepresented the record of the Reconstruction Period until it is almost impossible to tell what really happened. Their contemporary counterparts, the racist press, who never have any black members with them, are busy doing the same thing with the recent history of the civil rights movements. In 1964, for example, the National Democratic Party led by L. B. Johnson and "Boy Wonder" H. H. Humphrey, we call them Batman and Robin in SNCC because they run a very camp government, and in the black community H. H. Humphrey stands for Handkerchief Head Humphrey - a Handkerchief Head is someone who is more obsequious than an Uncle Tom; he's an unconditional yes-man. Uh, did you dig television January-February when Johnson delivered his State of the Johnson Message to the Union? Well, if you noticed that the cameras were posed on Lyndon Baines Johnson. In the background you could see Humphrey, heh, heh, heh (laughter). Well, these two cats cynically undermined the efforts of Mississippi's black population to achieve some degree of political representation. We'll speak now of the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenge that took place in 1964 at Atlantic City at the National Democratic Party Convention. Yet, whenever the events of the convention are recalled by the press, one sees only that version fabricated by the press agents of the Democratic Party. A year later the House of Representatives, in an even more vulgar display of political racism, made a mockery of the political rights of Mississippi's black people when they failed to unseat the Mississippi delegation to the House which had been elected through a process which systematically excluded over 450,000 voting age black people, almost one-half of the total electorate of that state. Yet, two years later, the same House is unable to unseat Mr. Adam Clayton Powell because he does the same thing they do but with more style.

Whenever this event is mentioned in print, it is in terms which leaves one with a rather curious impression that some of the oppressed black people of Mississippi are at fault for confronting the Congress with a situation in which they have no alternatives but to endorse Mississippi's racist political practices. I mention these two examples because having been directly involved in them, I can see very clearly the discrepancies between what happened and the versions that are finding their way into general acceptance as a kind of popular mythology. Thus, the victimizations black people in this country takes place in two phases. First, it occurs in fact and deed and, then, this is equally sinister, it occurs in the recording of those facts and deeds.

The black power program and concept which is being articulated by the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, the Congress of Racial Equality, and the host of community organizations in the ghettos of the North and South, has not escaped that process. The white press has been busy articulating their own analysis, their own interpretations, and criticisms of their own creations. We were quite disturbed about that 'cause all we said was two simple words, black power, and the whole white world came down on us for it and they began to tell us what was wrong. And I couldn't figure out what was happening until I read George Bernard Shaw. He's got a phrase which is quite apropos for all people who criticize black power. He says all criticism is in fact an autobiography. For example, while the press is giving wide and sensational dissemination to attacks made by figures in the civil rights movement, foremost among which are Mr. Roy Wilkins of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and Mr. Whitney Young, of the National Urban League, and to the hysterical rantings about black racism made by that political chameleon that now serves as Vice President, it has generally failed to give accounts of the reasonable and productive dialogue which has taken place in the black community and in certain areas in the religious and intellectual communities.

A national committee of influential black churchmen affiliated with the National Council of Churches, despite their obvious respectability and responsibility, had to resort to a paid advertisement to articulate their position, while anyone shouting the hysterical yappings of black racism got ample space. Thus, the American people have gotten at best a superficial and misleading account of the very terms and tenor of this debate.

I wish to quote from the statement by the National Committee of Churchmen which I suspect the majority of Americans will not have seen. It appeared in the New York Times July 31 of last year. I want to quote it at length because I think it is important for you to know that inside the black community there are some intelligent people, other than the ones you always see denouncing black power. I quote:

"We, an informal group of Negro churchmen in America, are deeply disturbed about the crisis brought upon our country by historic distortions of important human realities in the controversy about black power. What we see shining through the variety of rhetoric is not anything new, but the same old problem of power and race which has faced our beloved country since 1619. The conscience of black men is corrupted because having no power to implement the demands of conscience, the concern for justice in the absence of justice becomes a chaotic self-surrender. Powerlessness

"breeds a race of beggars. We are faced now with a situation where powerless conscience meets conscienceless power. (I would like to repeat that phrase because I believe it is axiomatic to race relations in the country today.) We are faced now with the situation where powerless conscience meets conscienceless power, threatening the very foundations of our nation. We deplore the overt violence of riots, but we feel it is more important to focus on the real sources of these eruptions. These sources may be abetted inside the ghetto but their basic cause lies in the silent and covert violence which white middle class America inflicts upon the victims of the inner city. In short, the failure of American leaders to use American power to create equal opportunity in life as well as law. This is the real problem and not the anguished cry for black power.

"Without the capacity to participate with power, that is, to have some organized political and economic strength to really influence people with whom one interacts, integration is not meaningful. America has asked us Negro citizens to fight for opportunity as individuals, whereas in certain points in our history, what we have needed most has been opportunity for the whole group, not just for selected and approved Negroes. We must not apologize for the existence of this form of group power for we have been oppressed as a group and not as individuals. We will not find our way out of that oppression until both we and America accept the need for Negro-Americans, as well as for Jews, Italians, Poles, and white Anglo-Saxon Protestants, among others, to have and to wield group power."

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Traditionally, for each new ethnic group, the route to social and political integration into America's pluralistic society has been through the organization of their own institutions with which to represent their communal needs within the larger society. Simply stated, this is what the advocates of black power are talking about. The strident outcry, particularly from the liberal community, that has been evoked by this proposal can only be understood by examining the historic relationship between black people and white power in this country. Blacks are defined by two forces, our blackness and our powerlessness. There have been traditionally two communities in America - the white community which controls and defines the forms that all institutions within the society would take and the black community which has been excluded from participation in the power decisions that shape the society and has traditionally been dependent upon and subservient to the white community. This has not been accidental. The history of every institution of this society indicates that a major concern in the ordering and structuring of this society has been the maintaining of the black community in its condition of dependence and oppression. This has not been on the level of individual acts of racism between individual whites against individual blacks, but as total acts by the white community against the black community.

This facts can not be too strongly emphasized, that what the racist assumptions of white superiority have been so deeply ingrained in the structure of this society that it infuses the entire functioning and is so much a part of the national subconscious that it is taken for granted and is frequently not even recognized.

Let me give an example of the difference between individual racism and institutionalized racism and the society's response to both. When unidentified Hunkies bomb a black church and kill five black children, that is an act of individual racism, widely deplored by most segments of the society, black and white. But, when in that same city, Birmingham, Alabama, not five but 500 black babies die each year because of lack of proper food, shelter, and medical facilities, and thousands more black people are maimed physically, emotionally, and intellectually because of conditions of poverty and deprivation in the ghetto, that is a function of institutionalized racism.

But the society either pretends it doesn't know of this situation or is incapable of doing anything meaningful about it. And this resistance to doing anything meaningful about conditions in the ghetto comes from the fact that the ghetto is itself a product of the combination of forces and special interests inside the white community. And, the groups that have access to the resources and power to change that situation benefit politically and economically from the existence of that ghetto. It is more than a figure of speech to say then that the black community in America is the victim of white imperialism and colonial exploitation. This is in practical economic and political terms true. It is a truism.

There are over twenty million black people comprising ten per cent of this nation. For the most part, we live in well defined areas of the country, in the shanty towns and rural black belt areas of the South and increasingly in the slums of northern and western industrial cities. If one goes into any black community, whether it be Jackson, Mississippi, Cambridge, Maryland, Harlem, New York, or Austin, Texas, one will find the same combination of political, economic, and social forces are at work. The people in the black community do not control the resources of that community, its political decisions, its law enforcement, even its housing standards. Even the physical ownership of the land, houses, and stores lie outside that community. It is white power that makes the laws and it is violent white power in the form of armed white cops that enforces those laws with guns and nightsticks. The vast majority of black people in this country live in these captive communities and must endure these conditions of oppression because, and only because, we are black and powerless.

I do not suppose that at any point the men who control the power and resources of this country ever sat down and designed these black enclaves and formally articulated the terms of their colonial and dependent status as was done, for example, by the apartheid government of South Africa which this country supports. Yet, one cannot distinguish between one ghetto and another. As one moves from city to city, it is though some malignant racist planning unit had done precisely this, designed each one from the same master blueprint and, in deed, if the ghetto had been formally and deliberately planned, instead of growing spontaneously and inevitably from the racist functioning of the various institutions that combine to make the society, the situation would be somehow less frightening. The situation would be less frightening because if these ghettos were the result of design and conspiracy, one could understand their similarity as being artificial and consciously imposed upon quantities, rather than the result of identical patterns of white racism which repeats themselves in cities as distant as Boston is to Watts.

Without bothering to list the historic factors which contribute to this pattern, economic exploitation, political impotence, discrimination in employment and education, one can see that to correct this pattern will require far-reaching changes in the basic pattern relationships and the ingrained social patterns within the society. Their question is, of course, what kind of changes are necessary and how is it possible to bring them about?

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

In recent years the answer to these questions, which has been given by a most articulate group of black people and their white allies, the liberals of all stripes, has been in terms of something called integration. According to the advocates of integration, social justice will be accomplished by and, I quote, "integrating the Negro into the mainstream institutions of the society from which he has been traditionally excluded." It is very significant that each time I have heard this formulation, it has been in terms of the Negro, the individual Negro, rather than in terms of the entire black community. This concept of integration had to be based on the assumption that there was nothing of value in the black community and that little of value could be created among the black people, so, that the thing to do was to siphon off acceptable black people into the surrounding middle class white community. Thus, the goals of the movement for integration was simply to loosen up the restrictions barring the entries of black people into the white community. Goals around which the struggle took place, such as public accommodation, open housing, job opportunity on the executive level, are quite simply middle class goals articulated by a tiny group of black people who have middle class aspirations.

Now, I do think that the press media had quite a bit to do with the interpretation of that movement because we used to watch, sit and watch, them interpret our movement. For example, I would be in Alabama and I would see the editorial twins on TV and they would say, "Black people were marching today in Alabama. They were beaten down by Jim Clark, they were shot at, they were ridden over, they were horse-whipped, they were cattle-prod, but, alas, they are still marching to integrate." And, on the next day, he would say, "The black people from the North have come to join their black brothers from the South. They are marching again in Summer. They have been beaten, they have been ridden over with horses, they have been whipped, they have been kicked, they have been cattle-prodded, they have been sent to jail, but they're still marching to integrate." I sat down and figured out the logical conclusion of that. It meant that I.....(break in tape)

..... was reflected not only in the programs and goals of the civil rights movement but in its tactics and organizations. It is significant that the two oldest and most respectable civil rights organizations have consti..... I can only say three-fifths of that word. Let me spell it for you - constitutions. When we become five-fifths, I'll be able to say the whole word. But, any way, they have these things which specifically prohibit participant political activity. The Congress of Racial Equality once did, but changed that clause when it changed its orientation towards black power. But, this is perfectly understandable in terms of the strategy and goals of the older organizations. The civil rights movement saw its role as a kind of liaison between the powerful white community and the dependent black one. The dependent status of the black community apparently was unimportant since if the movement were successful, it was going to blend into the white community any way. We made no pretense of organizing and developing institutions of community power in the black community, but, in appealing to the conscience of white institutions of power, the posture of the civil rights movement was that of the dependent, the suppliant. The theory was that without attempting to create any organized base of political strength itself, the civil rights movement could by forming coalitions with various of the liberal pressure organizations in the white community, such as liberal reform clubs, labor unions and church groups, progressive civic groups, and, at times, one or other of the major political parties, influence national legislation and national social patterns.

I think we've all seen the limitations of this approach. We have repeatedly seen that political alliances based on appeals to conscience and decency are chancy things, simply because institutions and political organizations have no consciences outside their own special interests. The political and social rights of black people have been, and always will be, negotiable and expendable the moment they conflict with the interests of our allies. If we do not learn from history, the philosopher Santayana reminds us, then, we are doomed to repeat it. And that is precisely the lesson that we have learned from the Reconstruction Period. During that time there came into being something which was called the Populist Party. One of its major spokesmen was a man by the name of Mr. Tom Watson who hailed from Georgia. Mr. Watson was running for a county position in Georgia. The black population percentage-wise in that county was 40 per cent voting age population. He needed that 40 per cent in order to win and so, just like some modern day liberals who need the black vote in order to win the Presidential election in 1972, he began to expostulate some liberal nonsense, encouraging black people to vote with poor whites, and black people went into the Populist movement unorganized. When Mr. Watson tried to make the Populist Party a national party and decided to extend it first to the West before trying to take on the industrial East, the economic interests of the farmers whom he wanted to ally with conflicted with the economic interests of black people so he became a racist, led lynch mobs, and drove black people out of the party. This was developed before black people could develop any independent base of political strength in the South strong enough to challenge that decision.

Obviously we're learning from history. Today we will not go into any party unless we are first organized independently and know our strength, so, if they decide to throw us out of the party, at least we can disrupt it. Thus, at this point in the struggle, black people have no assurance, save a kind of idiot optimism and faith in a society whose history is one of racism that, if it were to become necessary, even the painfully limited gains thrown to the civil rights movement by the Congress will not be revoked as soon as a shift in political sentiment should occur. But, the major limitation of this approach was that it tended to maintain the traditional dependence of black people and of the movements. They depended upon the good will and support of various groups within the white community whose interests were not always compatible with ours to the extent that we depended on the financial support of other groups we were vulnerable to their influence and domination. Also, the program that evolved out of this coalition was really limited and inadequate in the long term and one which affected only a small selected group of black people. Its goal was to make the white community accessible to qualified blacks and presumably each year a few more blacks armed with their passports, a couple of university degrees, would escape into white middle class America and adopt the attitudes and life styles of that group and one day the Harlems and the Watts would stand empty, a tribute to the success of integration.

This is simply neither realistic nor is it particularly desirable. You can integrate communities but you assimilate individuals. Even if such a program were possible, its result would be not to develop the black community as a functional and honorable segment of the total society with its own cultural identity, life patterns and institutions, but to abolish it, the final solution to the race problem in this country.

Karl Marx reminds us that the working class is the first class that wished to abolish itself. If one were to listen closely to some of our moderate Negro leaders, you would think that black people were the first people that wished to abolish themselves. The fact is that what must be abolished is not the black community, but the dependent colonial status that has been inflicted upon that community. The racial and cultural personality of the black community must be preserved and the community must win its liberation by preserving its cultural integrity. This is the essential difference between integration as it is currently practiced and the concept of black power.

And what has the movement for integration accomplished to date? That a black person graduating from MIT with a doctorate will have better job opportunities available to him than to Lynda Bird Johnson? But, the rate of unemployment in the black community is steadily increasing, while that in the white community decreases. More educated blacks hold executive jobs in major corporations and federal agencies than ever before, but the gap between white income and black income has almost doubled in the last 20 years. More suburban housing is available to black people, if they can stand the rocks, but, housing conditions in the ghetto are steadily declining. While the infant mortality rate of New York City is at its lowest rate ever in the city's history, the infant mortality rate of Harlem is steadily climbing. This explains why the rate of school drop-outs is increasing among black teenagers who then express their bitterness, hopelessness, and alienation by the only means they have in imitating this society via violence. As long as people in the ghettos of our large cities feel we are the victims of misuse of white power without any way to have our needs represented, and these are frequently simple needs, we will continue to have rebellions. These are not the products of black power but in the absence of any organization capable of giving the community the power, the black power, it needs to deal with its problems.

SNCC proposes that it is now time for the black liberation movement to stop pandering to the fears and anxieties of white middle class in the attempt to earn its good will and to return to the ghettos to organize these communities to control themselves. This organization must be attempted in the Northern and Southern urban areas, as well as in the real black belt areas in the South. The chief antagonist to this organization is in the South, the overtly racist Democratic Party and, in the North, the equally corrupt and just as racist, big city machine.

The standing argument presented against independent political organization is that you are only 10 per cent. I cannot see the relevance of this observation since no one is talking about taking over the country since God knows we wouldn't know what to do with this monster, but taking control over our own communities. The fact is that the black population, 10 per cent or not, is very strategically placed because, ironically, of segregation. What is also true is that black people have never been able to utilize the full voting potential of our numbers. Where we could vote, the case has always been that the white political machine stacks and gerrymanders the political subdivisions in our neighborhoods so that true voting strength is never reflected in political strength. Would anyone looking at the distribution of political power in Houston, Texas, ever think that black people represented 25 per cent of the population there? Just as often, the effective political organization in black communities is absorbed by tokenism and patronage, the time-honored factors of giving certain offices to selected black people. The machine thus creates a little machine which is subordinate and responsive to the machine inside the black community. These so-called black political leaders are really vote deliverers more responsible to the white machine and the white power structure than to the community they allegedly represent. Thus, the white community is able to substitute patronage control for what Mr. Powell calls audacious black power in the black community. This is precisely what LBJ tried to do even before the Voting Rights Act of 1965 was passed. The National Democrats made it clear, crystal clear, that the measure was intended to register Democrats, not black people. The President and top officials of the Democratic Party called in almost 100 selected Negro leaders from the Deep South. Nothing was said about changing the policies of the racist state parties. Nothing was said about repudiating such leadership figures, as Eastland and Ross Barnett in Mississippi or George and Lurleen Wallace in Alabama. But, we have nothing to say about the lady from Alabama because we've just come to find out that the Governor of Alabama is a mother. And in SNCC we're for motherhood. What was simply said, and, I quote, was "Go home and organize your local people into the Democratic Party, then we'll see about poverty money and appointments, my fellow Americans."

We must organize black community power to end these abuses and to give the black community a chance to have its needs expressed, a leadership which is truly responsible not to the white press and to the power structure but to the community which will be developed. Such leadership will recognize that its power lies in the unified and collective strength of the black community. This will make it difficult for the white leadership group to conduct its dialogue with individuals in terms of patronage and prestige and will force them to talk to the community's representatives in terms of real black power.

The single aspect then of the black power program that has encountered most criticism is this concept of independent political organization. This is presented as third partyism which has never worked or a withdrawal into black nationalism and black isolationism which yields to reverse racism. If such a program is developed, it will not have the effect of isolating the black community, but the reverse. When the black community is able to control local offices and negotiate with other groups from a position of organized strength, the possibility of meaningful political alliances on specific issues will be increased. That is a rule of politics and there is no reason why it should not operate here. The only difference is that we will have the power to define the terms of these alliances.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

The next question usually is, "Can it work? Can the ghettos, in fact, be organized?" The answer is that this organization must be successful because there are no viable alternatives, not the war on poverty which was at its inception limited to dealing with effects, rather than causes, and has become simply another source of machine patronage and integration is meaningful only to a small chosen class within the black community. The revolution in agricultural technology in the South is displacing the rural black community into the Northern and Southern urban areas. Both Washington, D. C., and Newark, New Jersey, already have black majorities. One-third of Philadelphia's population of two million people is already black. The inner city in most major urban areas is already predominantly black and, with the white rush to suburbia, blacks within the next two decades control the hearts of these great cities. These areas can become either concentration camps with a bitter population whose only power is the power to destroy or organized and powerful communities able to make constructive contributions to the total society. Without the power, the black power, to control our lives and our communities without effective political institutions from which to relate to the total community, our communities will exist in a constant state of insurrection. This is a choice that white America will have to make. Thank you.

A question and answer period followed, among which are the following:

- Q. What Stokely thinks about a positive reaction. He says there has been a positive reaction by people like Bill Buckley, of conservatives, to the idea of black power. We would like you to comment on it.
- A. I don't know what their reasons are for being for black power. I would think that if they knew what was happening, they'd be against black power. I have no reaction to it because I'm not really concerned with the reaction of white people to black power. I'm concerned with the reaction of black people to black power.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Q. What if the ghetto can't be organized?

A. I've just never entertained that in my mind. I know that it can be organized. Black people can come together. I don't know how it could not be organized, but.... I understand.... what do you mean, on the part of black people.... are they just not willing to come together? That's true. That's true. We're gonna organize ourselves this time around.

Interruption from audience.

Q. The man says he has a friend who just went to jail for two and a half years, rather than go to Vietnam. He would like to know what Mr. Carmichael thinks of that?

A. I think he's great, absolutely great, because I feel it is more honorable to suffer than to inflict suffering. I think it is more honorable to be confined in jail, knowing that one is not a murderer than to be walking outside, knowing that one is a murderer.

Q. Is there any chance that the civil rights and peace movements can unite?

A. I think they can form coalitions. I don't think they can unite 'cause I think the peace movement is talking about peace and black people talking about liberation and there is a big difference, 'cause as far as we are concerned, there ain't gonna be no peace till we get our liberation.

Q. Is he to understand what he used to think was a brotherhood movement is contradictory with the black power movement?

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

- A. I'm not sure I understand that. Will you explain that a little bit more? The difference is that in the past people were fighting to integrate. I don't think integration is what you fight for. Oh, I'm refuting that. I think that the approach of the black people must be a institutionalized racism, not individual acts of racism.
- Q. What active part can a concerned, compassionate white person play in this part?
- A. Well, he can move into the white community and start organizing it on several levels. The first level he can begin to organize are poor whites who are politically and economically disfranchised, so that they can begin to fight for the power from which they have been robbed. On the second level, he can begin to organize them and teach them nonviolence because they really need it. That is, he can teach it to people like Jim Clark and to Ross Barnett, and those cats, rather than to us. They should get some (unintelligible)
- Q. If they're a minority, why are they governing?
- A. I'm afraid that Lurleen Wallace governs Alabama. I'm afraid she does, I'm afraid Eastland is the Senator from Mississippi with his racist counterpart, Stennis. I'm afraid that Strom Thurmond Talmadge and Russell are all sitting up there in the Senate. I'm afraid that Paul B. Johnson is, in fact, Governor of Mississippi. I'm also afraid that De La Beckwith is running for a position in the State of Mississippi and will probably win. Oh, Jim Clark is indeed Sheriff of Dallas County. I can just go down.... That's not what I read in the newspaper.... Oh, no, black people have always been willing to communicate. White people know that; they've always communicated with us after sundown.I would think that the best thing you can do is to move into the white community and start to begin to help civilize it so it will recognize the humanity of black people.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

- Q. Why Stokely's followers, if not he, call other colored brothers Uncle Tom's?
- A. You would have to ask my so-called followers that question.
- Q. What are we going to do with the Uncle Tom's who do not agree with us. Are we going to slit their throats?
- A. No. They're going to be our token integration boys.
- Q. Stokely has talked about political power and about people having domination in ghettos. The man says that economics governs the country as well as politics and what would Mr. Carmichael suggest be done to give black people more economic power than they have?
- A. I do not think it is possible for black people to move into the economic arena of the country right now because it's just too tight in terms of the fact that it is governed by stocks and bonds and there are no openings to get there. So, one of the things we can begin to do then is our own community, begin to develop cooperative programs which we can use as a stopgap measurement until we can develop enough political power to then bargain for economic power.
- Q. He wants to know if Mr. Carmichael thinks that black people are going to come back from fighting in Vietnam not fight for themselves? Laughter.
- A. Well, the question is, and he who laughs last, laughs best and, well, my brother, here is a veteran, he wants to know if I think it is possible for black people who have been used to fight in Vietnam a white man's war can come back and not fight for his rights. Laughs. Well, you know the answer to that question is some of us ain't even going to Vietnam; we're going to fight here first.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Q. Unintelligible.

A. It's from Nigeria which is in Africa and they build some beautiful things. It's not a beatnik shirt.

Q. Okay, Mr. Green has a question. The question is

A. whether or not I believe in the Constitution of the United States or whether or not I believe in overthrowing the Government here at home? Is that your question? Which one of the Constitutions, the one which makes me three-fifths. I want to know which one you're talking about. Now, you're talking about the United States Constitution. I understand the United States Constitution started off with a Declaration of Independence which said, "When in the course of human events it becomes necessary for one people to (interrupted)... I'm answering your question, I gave you courtesy. ...When in the course of human events it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which shall have connected them with another or to assume among the powers of the earth a just and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's gods entangle them, a decent respect to the opinion of mankind, states that they should declare the reason that caused them to this separation. We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equally, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights (applause), that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, and that when any form of government or governments are instituted among people deriving their right to govern from the consent of the governed and that when any government becomes destructive to these ends, it is the right of the people to alter and to abolish it, laying its foundations on such principles that (unintelligible because of shouts from crowd) so as to insure their happiness..."

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

If we're talking about that Constitution or fighting to uphold that Constitution, I'm just trying to show the Hunkies that they have to uphold it too because they taught it to me. But, if you talk about a Constitution which for 100 years denied me the right to vote, then, I'm trying my best to overthrow that mumbojamma. (Because of background noise of audience, last word not too clear)

Q. What can the black students here at this college do? At any time? The first thing you ought to do at this college is organize yourselves 'cause you need help. What you ought to do is to get the skills and techniques that you learned at this college and bring them back to your black brothers in the rural areas and ghettos who need your skills. You should bring your education back to us so we can use them to better ourselves as a race of people.

Q. When does Mr. Carmichael think the black people in America will achieve full black power?

A. We gear our program in terms of a long struggle. We won't begin to see the semblance of that until around 1972 but hopefully, if organized, we can make the weight of our strength felt in the national elections and then move in on from there. It's at least a five-year organizing plan. (Laughs.) Oh, we're going to do it.

Q. The question is whether or not Mr. Carmichael sees black people in the United States as a permanently identifiable minority?

A. Yes, I do and we're proud of it.

Q. (Garbled)

A. I don't know if that's possible. I think that that's really up to white activists who should start moving into the white communities starting to speak about oppression. I do not want white people to speak of the oppression of the black people. I will not be as presumptuous as to speak to the oppression of white people.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Q. He wants to know if Mr. Carmichael is going to San Antonio this week?

A. No, I'm not.

Q. He wants to know if Mr. Carmichael would revise the poverty program?

A. I think the poverty program works on two basic assumptions which I disagree with. I think they're really fallacious. No. 1, they work on the assumption that you can bring together a coalition of forces which makes a tripartite coalition, that is, poor people, public figures, Government-established structure and technicians, and what you usually have is two-thirds outnumbering the one-third, the poor, that is, the technicians are not poor, and the power structure is not poor. And, so that, both of them together outbid the poor. So, they never really have a voice. Secondly, I think the assumption of the poverty program is that if someone is poor, it is because of his own individual blank, that is, he was born on the wrong side of the tracks or had too many children, didn't go to school and all that nonsense. I believe the poverty is well calculated in this country and it is systematic so that if you want to talk about smashing poverty, you must talk about getting rid of Government officials who exist, their positions exist out of the poor, and getting rid of technicians, letting the poor people control those programs themselves. Completely.

Q. Other than economic boycott, what other means does Mr. Carmichael advocate for bringing economic power to recognize black power?

A. I can't think of any right now. We're just going along with the economic boycotts.

Q. Did Harlem or Watts riots have any place in the black power movement?

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

A. They're not riots, they're called rebellions. And what they represent is that black people are no longer going to let a Hunkie cop come into our neighborhood, beat us up and walk out scot-free. When they touch one of us, they're going to have to face all of us. So that at least the police in Nashville and Watts and Harlem know that their days of head-whipping and free-hand whipping on black people are over. A recognition of that allows for us to do the type of organizing that we have to do and to put them out our community. Let the Nashville cops come and police your community; they're white, you're white, you can have them. We want black cops.

Q. What are the future possibilities of black people with the Republican Party?

A. There's no hope.

That's got it.

SPEECH BY STOKELY CARMICHAEL AT THE

POWER" DAY, OCTOBER 29, 1966

[REDACTED] has maintained a tape recording of the speech given by Stokely Carmichael at the Greek Theater, UCB, on October 29, 1966. Stokely Carmichael, who was then head of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, gave the following speech:

(Applause and mumbling)

"An example would be the Nazis. Any prisoner, any Nazi prisoners who admitted after he was caught and persuaded that he committed crimes that he killed all the many people that he killed that he committed suicide. The only ones who were able to stay alive were the ones who never admitted that they committed crimes against people. That is the ones who rationalized the Jews were not human beings and deserved to be killed or that they were only following orders.

"On a more immediate scene the officials and the population, the white population, in Eshoba County, Mississippi, that's where Philadelphia is, could not, could not condemn Rainey, his deputies and the other fourteen men that killed three human beings. They could not because they elected Mr.
Rainey to do precisely what he did, and for them to condemn them would be for them to condemn themselves.
In a much later view SNCC says that white America cannot condemn herself and since we are liberal we have done it - you stand condemned.

SPEECH BY STOKELY CARMICHAEL AT THE
GREEK THEATER, UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA,
BERKELEY, ON THE OCCASION OF "BLACK
POWER" DAY, OCTOBER 29, 1966

"Now a number of things that arises from that answer how do you condemn yourselves seems to me that the institutions that function in this country are clearly racist and that they are built upon racism. The question then is how black people inside this country move and then how can white people who say they're not a part of those institutions begin to move, and how then do we begin to clear away the obstacles that we have in this society and let us live like human beings. How can we begin to build institutions that will allow people to relate to each other as human beings. This country has never done that, especially around the country white and black. Now several people have been upset because we said that integration was irrelevant when initiated by blacks and that in fact it was a subterfuge. The city is subterfuge for the menace of white supremacy.

"Now we maintain that in the past six years or so this country has been feeding us off the lattermaudrag (ph) of integration and that some Negroes have been walking down a dream street talking about sitting next to white people and that does not begin to solve problems. That when we went to Mississippi we did not go to sit next to Ross Barnett, we did not go to sit next to Jim Clark, we went to get them out of our way and that people ought to understand that. That we were never fighting for the right to integrate, we were fighting against white supremacy. (Applause)

"Now then in order to understand white supremacy we must dismiss the fallacious notion that white people can give anybody their freedom. No man can give anybody his freedom. Man is born free. You may enslave a man after he is born free and that is in fact what this country does, it enslaves black people after they are born. So that the only acts white people can do is to stop denying black people their freedom - that is they must stop denying freedom they never give it to anyone.

SPEECH BY STOKELY CARMICHAEL AT THE
GREEK THEATER, UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA,
BERKELEY, ON THE OCCASION OF "BLACK
POWER" DAY, OCTOBER 29, 1966

"Now we want to take through logical extensions so that we can understand then what its relevancy would be in terms of new civil rights bills. I maintain that every civil rights bill in this country was passed for white people, not for black people. (Applause) For example, I am black, I know that. I also know that while I am black I am a human being. Therefore, I have the right to go into any public place. White people didn't know that. Everytime I tried to go into a place they stopped me so some boys had to write a bill to tell that white man, he's a human being - don't stop him. That bill was for the white man not for me, I knew it all the time. (Applause) I knew it all the time. (Applause) I knew that I could vote and that it wasn't a privilege it was my right. Everytime I tried I was shot, killed or jailed, beaten or economically deprived. So somebody had to write a bill for white people to tell them when a black man comes to vote don't bother him. That bill again was for white people not for black people. So that when you talk about open occupancy, I know I can live any place I want to live. It is white people across this country who are incapable of allowing me to live where I want to live - you need a civil rights bill, not me. I know I can live where I want to live. (Applause) So that the failures of passing civil rights bill isn't because of black power, isn't because of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, is not because of the rebellions that are occurring in the major cities, it is incapability of whites to deal with their own problems inside their own communities - that is the problem of the failure of the civil rights bill. (Applause) Its the law must say that the black people move. (?)

"But the question of the greatest sense is how can white people who are the majority and who are responsible for making democracy work make it work. They have miserably failed on this point.

SPEECH BY STOKELY CARMICHAEL AT THE
GREEK THEATER, UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA,
BERKELEY, ON THE OCCASION OF "BLACK
POWER" DAY, OCTOBER 29, 1966

They have never made democracy work, be it inside the United States, Vietnam, South Africa, Philippines, South America, Puerto Rico - wherever America has been. She has not been able to make democracy work. (Applause) So that in the larger sense we not only condemn the country for what it has done internally, but we must condemn it for what it does externally. We see this country trying to rule the world and someone must stand up and start articulating that this country is not God and cannot rule the world. (Applause)

"Now then before we move on, we want to develop the white supremacy attitude that we are either conscious or subconscious of and how they run rampant through the society today. For example, the missionaries were sent to Africa. They went with the attitude that blacks were automatically inferior. As a matter of fact, the first act the missionaries did you know when they got to Africa was to make us cover up our bodies because they said it got them excited. We couldn't go bare breasted any more because they got excited. Now when the missionaries came to civilize us because we were uncivilized, educate us because we were uneducated and give us some literate studies because we were illiterate, they charged a price. The missionaries came with the Bible and we had the land. When they left they had the land and we still have the Bible. (Applause) And that has been the rationalization for western civilization as it moves across the world, stealing and plundering and raping everybody in its path.

"One rationalization is that the rest of the world is uncivilized and they are in fact civilized, and they are uncivilized. And that runs on today because you see we have what we call modern day Peace Corp missionaries. They come into our ghettos and start -----bound us to the white society. Because they don't want to face the real problem which is a man is poor for one reason and one reason only because he does not have money.

SPEECH BY STOKELY CARMICHAEL AT THE
GREEK THEATER, UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA,
BERKELEY, ON THE OCCASION OF "BLACK
POWER" DAY, OCTOBER 29, 1966

If you want to get rid of poverty you give people money, period. And you are not to tell me about people who don't work, you can't give people money without working, because if that were true you'd have to start stopping Rockefeller, Bobby Kennedy, Lyndon Baines Johnson, Lady Bird Johnson, the whole Standard Oil, the Gulf Corporation - all of them. Including probably a large number of the Board of Trustees of this university. (Applause)

"So the question then clearly is not whether or not one can work its who has power. Who has power to make his or her acts legitimate - that is all, and that in this country, that power is invested in the hands of white people and they make their acts legitimate. It is now therefore for black people to make our acts legitimate. (Applause) We are engaged in a psychological struggle in this country, and that is whether or not black people will have the right to use the words they want to use without white people giving their sanction to us. (Applause) And that we maintain, whether they like it or not, we are going to use the word black power and let them address themselves to that. But that we are not going to wait for white people to sanction black power - we're tired waiting.

"Everytime black people move in this country they're forced to defend their position before they move. It's time that the people who are supposed to be defending their position do that - that's white people. They are to start defending themselves as to why they have oppressed and exploited us.

"Now it is clear that when this country started to move in terms of slavery, the reason for a man being picked as a slave was one reason, because of the color of his skin. If one was black one was automatically inferior, inhuman and therefore made for slavery. So that the question of whether or not we are individually suppressed is

GREEK THEATER, UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA,
BERKELEY, ON THE OCCASION OF "BLACK
POWER" DAY, OCTOBER 29, 1966

nonsensical and is a downright lie. We are oppressed as a group because we are black, not because we're lazy, not because we're apathetic, not because we're stupid, not because we smell, not because we eat watermelon and have good times. (Applause) We are oppressed because we are black and in order to get out of that oppression one must wield the group power that one has. Not the individual power which this country then sets the criteria under which a man may come into it. That is what is called in this country integration. You do what I tell you to do and then we'll let you sit at the table with us. And that we are saying we have to be opposed to that. We must now set a criteria and that if there's going to be any integration it's going to be a two-way thing. If you believe in integration you can come live in Watts. You can send your children to the ghetto schools. Let's talk about that. If you believe in integration then we're going start adopting us some white people to live in our neighborhoods. (Applause)

"So it is clear that the question is not one of integration or segregation. Integration is a man's ability to want to move in there by himself. If someone wants to live in a white neighborhood and he is black, that is his choice. It should be his right, it is not because white people will not allow him. So visa versa, if the black man wants to live in the slums that should be his right. Black people will let him, that is the difference and it's a difference in which this country makes a number of logical mistakes when they begin to try to put themselves above the program articulated by SNCC.

"We maintain that we cannot afford to be concerned about six percent of the children in this country. Black children who you allow to come into white schools. We have ninety-four percent who still live in shacks. We are going to be concerned about those ninety-four percent. You ought to be concerned about them too. The question is, are we willing to be concerned about those

GREEK THEATER, UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA,
BERKELEY, ON THE OCCASION OF "BLACK
POWER" DAY, OCTOBER 29, 1966

ninety-four percent? Are we willing to be concerned about the black people who will never get to Berkeley, who will never get to Harvard and cannot get an education. Who will never get a chance to rub shoulders with them and say, well he's almost as good as you are (inaudible). You ought to be concerned about them too. The question is are we willing to be concerned about those ninety-four percent? Are we willing to be concerned about the black people who will never get to Berkeley, who will never get to Harvard and cannot get an education so you'll never get a chance to rub shoulders with them and say well he's almost as good as we are. He's not like the others. The question is how can white society begin to move to see black people as human beings. I am black therefore I am. Not that I am black and I must go to college to prove myself. I am black therefore I am, and don't surprise me of anything and say to me that you must go to college before you gain access to XY and Z. It is only a rationalization to one question. For we see that - (Applause) My friend Ivanhoe said that's called white organizer, (Laughter) that type.

"We want - the political parties in this country do not meet the needs of people on a day to day basis. The question is how can we build new political institutions that will become the political expressions of people on a day to day basis. The question is how can you build political institutions that will begin to meet the needs of Oakland, California. The needs of Oakland, California is not 1,000 policemen with submachine guns - they don't need that - they need that least of all. (Applause) The question is how can we build institutions where those people can begin to function on a day to day basis. Where they can get decent jobs. Where they can get decent houses and where they can begin to participate in the policy and major decisions that affect their lives. That's what they need, not

SPEECH BY STOKEL CARMICHAEL AT THE
GREEK THEATER, UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA,
BERKELEY, ON THE OCCASION OF "BLACK
POWER" DAY, OCTOBER 29, 1966

Gestapo troops because this is not 1942, and if you play like Nazis we playing back this time around - get hip to that. (Applause)

"The question then is how can white people move to start making the major institutions that they have in this country function the way it is supposed to function. That is the real question. Can white people move inside the old community and start tearing down racism where in fact it does exist - where it exists. It is you who live in Cicero and stop us from living there. It is white people who stop us from moving into the neighborhood. It is the white people who make sure we live in the ghettos of this country. It is white institutions that do that. They must change. In order for America to really live on a basic principle of human relationships, a new society must be born. Racism must die. The economic exploitation of this country of non-white peoples around the world must also die - must also die. (Applause)

"Now there is several programs that we have in the south amongst the poor white communities. We're trying to organize poor whites on a base where they can begin to move around the question of economic exploitation and political disfranchisement. We know we've heard the theories several times, but few people are willing to go into it. The question is not can the white activist tied to the "Pepsi generation" come alive in the black community, but can he be a man who's willing to move into the white community and start organizing where organization is needed. (Applause) Can he do that? (Applause) The question is can the white society or the white activists disassociate himself with two clowns who waste time harrying with each other rather than talking about the problems that are facing people in this state. Can you disassociate yourselves with those clowns and start to build new institutions that will eliminate all idiots like them? (Applause) And

GREEK THEATER, UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA,
BERKELEY, ON THE OCCASION OF "BLACK
POWER" DAY, OCTOBER 29, 1966

the question is if we are going to do that when and where do we start, and how do we start.

"We maintain that we must start doing that inside the white community. Our own personal position politically is that we don't think the Democratic Party represents the needs of black people - we know it don't. (Applause) And that if in fact white people really believe that the question if they're going to move inside that structure, how are they going to organize around the concept of whiteness based on true brotherhood and based on stopping exploitation, economic exploitation, so that there will be a coalition base for black people to hook up with. You cannot form a coalition based on national sentiment.
That is not a coalition. If you need a coalition to redress itself to r_____ of this country white

SPEECH BY STOKELY CARMICHAEL

THE OCCASION OF "BLACK POWER"
DAY, 10/29/66.

people must start building those institutions inside the white community. And that is the real question I think facing the white activist today. Can they in fact begin to move into and tear down the institutions which have put us all in a trick bag, that we've been into for the last hundred years. I don't think that we should follow for many people say that we should fight to be leaders of tomorrow. Frederick Douglas said that youths should fight to be leaders today and God knows we need to be leaders today because the men who run this country are sick. (Applause) are sick (Applause). So that, can we on a larger sense begin now, today, to start building those institutions and to fight to articulate our position, to fight to be able to control our universities we need to be able to do that - to fight to control the basic institutions which perpetuate racism. Destroying them and building new ones. That's the real question that faces today. And it is a dilemma because of most do not know how to work and that they excuse that most white activists find to run into the black community.

"Now we maintain that we can have white people working in the black community and we made it on psychological grounds. The fact is that all black people often question whether or not they are equal to white because every time they start to do something white people come around showing them how to do it. If we are going to eliminate that for the generation that comes after us then black people must be seen in positions of power, doing and articulating for themselves. (Applause) For themselves. (Applause). That is not to say that one is a reversed racist - it is to say that one is moving in a healthy ground. It is to say what the Philosopher SOARTS (ph) says - one is becoming an anti-racist racist. And this country can't understand that, maybe it's because it is all caught up in racism. But what I think you have in SNCC is an anti-racist racism.

SPEECH BY STOKELY CARMICHAEL
AT THE GREEK THEATER, UCB, ON
THE OCCASION OF "BLACK POWER"
DAY, 10/29/66.

"We are against racists. Now if everybody who is white see themselves as a racist and then see us against them, they're speaking from their own guilt positions not ours. (Applause) Now then the question is how can we move to begin to change what's going on in this country? I maintain as we have in SNCC, that the war in Vietnam is an illegal and immoral war. (Applause) And the question is what can we do to stop that war? What can we do to stop the people who in the name of our country are killing babies, women and children? What can we do to stop that? And I maintain that we do not have the power in our hands to change that institution to begin to recreate it so that they learn to leave the Vietnamese people alone, and that the only power we have is the power to say Hell No to the draft. We have to say. (Applause) We have to say to ourselves that there is a higher law than the law of the racist named Mc Namara. There is a higher law than the law of a fool named Rusk and there is a higher law than the law of a buffoon named Johnson - it's the law of each of us. (Applause) It's the law of each of us. (Applause) (extensive applause) It is the law of each of us saying that we will not allow them to make us hired killers. We will stand pat. We will not kill anybody that they say kill, and if we decide to kill we're going to decide who we're gonna kill. (Applause)

"This country will only be able to stop the war in Vietnam when the young men who are made to fight it begin to say Hell No we aint going (Applause) Now then it's the failure because the peace movement has been unable to get off the college campuses where everybody has a '2-S and is not going to get drafted anyway. The question is how can you move out of that into the white ghettos of this country and begin to articulate a position for those white students who do not want to go. We cannot do that. It is sometimes ironic that many of the peace groups have begun to call us violent and say they can no longer support us and we are in fact the most militant organization, peace or civil rights, or human rights against the war in Vietnam in this country today.

SPEECH BY STOKELY CARMICHAEL
AT THE GREEK THEATER, UCB, ON
THE OCCASION OF "BLACK POWER"
DAY, 10/29/66

"There isn't one organization that has begun to meet our stand on the war in Vietnam cause we not only say that we are against the war in Vietnam we are against the draft. We are against the draft. No man has the right to take a man for two years and train him to be a killer. A man should decide what he wants to do with his life. (Applause) So the question then is it becomes crystal clear for black people because we can easily say that anyone fighting in the war in Vietnam is nothing but a black mercenary and that is all he is. Any time a black man leaves a country where he can't vote to supposedly deliver the vote for somebody else - he's a black mercenary. Any time (Applause) Anytime a black man leaves this country, gets shot in Vietnam on foreign ground and returns home and you won't give him a burial in his own homeland - he's a black mercenary, a black mercenary (Applause) And that even if I were to believe the lies of Johnson. If I were to believe his lies that we are fighting to give democracy to the people in Vietnam. As a black man living in this country I wouldn't fight to give this to anybody. I wouldn't give it to any body. (Applause) So that we have to use our bodies and our minds in the only way that we see fit. We must begin like the philosopher Kamoo (ph) to come alive by saying No - that is the only act in which we begin to come alive.

"We have to say no to many many things in this country. This country is a nation of thieves. It has stole everything it has, beginning with black people, beginning with black people. (Applause) and then the question is how can we move to start changing this country from what it is - a nation of thieves. This country cannot justify any longer its existence. We have become the policemen of the world. The Marines are at disposal to always bring democracy. If the Vietnamese don't want democracy well, damn it, we'll just wipe them to hell out because they don't deserve to live if they won't have our way of life. (Applause)

SPEECH BY STOKELY CARMICHAEL
AT THE GREEK THEATER, UCB, ON
THE OCCASION OF "BLACK POWER"
DAY, 10/29/66

"There is then in a larger sense, what do you do on your university campus? Do you raise questions about the hundred black students that were kicked off campus a couple of weeks ago. Eight hundred? And how does that question begin to move. Do you begin to relate to people outside of the ivory tower or university walls. Do you think you're capable of building this human relationships as the country now stands. You're fooling yourself. It is impossible for white and black people to talk about building a relationship based on humanity when the country is the way it is - when the institutions are clearly against us. We've taken all the (?) of this country and found them to be downright lies. This country told us that if we worked hard we would succeed. If that were true, we would own this country, lock, stock and barrel - lock, stock and barrel. (Applause) Lock, stock and barrel.

"It is we who have picked the cotton for nothing. It is we who are the maids in the kitchens of liberal white people. It is we who are the janitors, the porters, the elevator men. It is we who sweep up your college floors. Yes, it is we who are the hardest workers and the lowest paid, and the lowest paid. It is nonsensical for people to start talking about human relationships until they're willing to build new institutions. Black people are economically insecure. White liberals are economically secure. Can you build an economic coalition? Are the liberals willing to share their salaries with the economically insecure people they so much love? Then if you're not are you willing to start building new institutions that will provide economic security for black people. That's the question we want to deal with - that's the question we want to deal with. (Applause)(long pause)

"We have to, we have to seriously examine the histories that we been told, but we have something more to do than that. American students are perhaps the most politically unsophisticated students in the world,

SPEECH BY STOKELY CARMICHAEL
AT THE GREEK THEATER, UCB, ON
THE OCCASION OF "BLACK POWER"
DAY, 10/29/66

in the world. In the world. (Applause) Across every country in this world, while we were growing up, students were leading the major revolutions of their countries. We have not been able to do that. They have been politically aware of their existence in South American and neighbors down below the border have one every 24 hours, just to remind us that they are politically aware. (Applause) And that we have been unable to grasp it because we have always moved in a field of morality and love while people have been politically delving with our lives. And the question is how do we now move politically and stop trying to move morally. You can't move morally against a man like Brown and Reagan. You've got to move politically to put them out of business. (Applause) You've got to move politically (Applause) You can't move morally against Lyndon Baines Johnson because he is an immoral man. He doesn't know what it is all about. So you've got to move politically - you've got to move politically. (Applause) And that we have to begin to develop a political sophistication, which is not to be a parrot. The two party system is the best party in the world, eh. (Laughter)

"There is a difference between being a parrot and being politically sophisticated. We have to raise questions about whether or not we do need new types of political institutions in this country, and we in SNCC maintain that we need them now. We need new political institutions in this country. (Applause) At any time, anytime Lyndon Baines Johnson can head a party which has in it Bobby Kennedy, Wayne Morse, Eastland, Wallace, and all those others supposed to be liberal cats, there's something wrong with that party. They're moving politically not morally, and that if that party refuses to seat black people from Mississippi and goes ahead and seats racists like Eastland and his clique, it is clear to me that they're moving politically and cannot begin to talk morality to people like that. We must begin to think politically and see we can have the power to impose and keep the moral values that we hold high.

SPEECH BY STOKELY CARMICHAEL
AT THE GREEK THEATER, UCB, ON
THE OCCASION OF "BLACK POWER"
DAY, 10/29/66

"We must question the values of this society. I maintain that black people are the best people to do that because we have been excluded from the society, and the question is we ought to think whether or not we want to become a part of that society. That's what we want to do. (Applause) And that is precisely what it seems to me that the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee is doing. We are raising questions about this country. I do not want to be a part of the American pie, the American pie means raping South Africa, beating Vietnam, beating South America, raping the Philippines. Raping every country you've been. I don't want any of your blood money. I don't want it, don't want to be part of that system. The question is how do we raise those questions. How do we raise them as activists? How do we begin to raise them? (Applause) We have grown up and we are the generation that has found this country to be a world power. That has found this country to be the wealthiest country in the world. We must question how she got her wealth. That's what we're questioning, and whether or not we want this country to continue being the wealthiest country in the world at the price of raping everybody else across the world. That's what we must begin to question. (Applause) And that because black people are saying we do not now want to become a part of you. We are poor reversed racists. Ain't that a gas? (Applause) Now then we want to touch on non-violence because we see that again as the failure of white society to make non-violence work. I was always surprised that Quakers who came to Alabama and counseled me to be non-violent, but didn't have the guts to start talking to James Clark to be non-violent. That is where non-violence needs to be preach to Jim Clark, not to black people. They have already been non-violent too many years. (Applause) The question is can white people conduct their non-violent schools in Cicero where they belong to be conducted, not among black people in Mississippi. (Applause) Can they conduct it among the white people in Granada, 6'2" men who kick little black children. Can you conduct non-violent schools there?

SPEECH BY STOKELY CARMICHAEL
AT THE GREEK THEATER, UCB, ON
THE OCCASION OF "BLACK POWER"
DAY, 10/29/66

That is the question that we must raise. Not that you conduct non-violence among black people. Can you name me one black man today who killed anybody white and is still alive? Even after rebellion when some black brothers throw some bricks and bottles, ten thousand of them have to pay the crime. Cause the white policeman comes in anybody who is black is arrested. Cause we all look alike. (Applause) So that we have to raise those questions. We the youths of this country must begin to raise those questions. We must begin to move to build new institutions that's going to speak for the needs of the people who need it. We are going to have to speak to change the foreign policy of this country. One of the problems with this peace movement is that it's just too caught up in Vietnam. If we pulled out the troops from Vietnam this week, next week you've to get another peace movement for Santo Domingo. And the question is how do you begin to articulate needs, to change the foreign policy of this country? A policy that is decided upon rape, a policy on which decisions are made upon getting economic wealth at any price, at any price. Now we articulate that we therefore have to hook up with black people around the world. That hookup is not only psychological but becomes very real. If South American today were to rebel and black people were to shoot the hell out of all the white people there, as they should, as they should, then Standard Oil would crumble tomorrow. (Applause) If South Africa were to go today, Chase Manhattan Bank would crumble tomorrow. (Applause)

SPEECH BY STOKELY CARMICHAEL
AT THE CREEK THEATER, UCB, ON
THE OCCASION OF "BLACK POWER"
DAY, 10/29/66

If Zimbatwee (ph) which is called Rhodesia by white people, were to go tomorrow, General Electric would cave in on the east coast. The question is how do we stop those institutions that are so willing to fight against communist aggression but closes their eye to racist oppression. That is the question that you raise. Can this country do that? Now many people talk about pulling out of Vietnam? What will happen if we pull out of Vietnam - there will be one less aggressor in there. We won't be there, we won't be there.

"And so the question is how do we articulate those positions and we cannot begin to articulate them from the same assumptions that the people in the country speak cause they speak from different assumptions than I assume the youth in this country are talking about. That we're not talking about policy or aid, or sending Peace Corps people into teach people how to read and write and build houses while we steal their raw materials from them. Is that what we're talking about? Cause that's all we do. What underdeveloped countries needs are information on how to become industrialized. So they can keep their raw materials where they have it, produce them, and sell it to this country, for the price it's supposed to pay. Not that we produce it and sell it back to them for a profit and keep sending our modern day missionaries in, calling them the sons of Kennedy. (Applause) And that if the youths are going to participate in that program, how do you raise those questions where you begin to control the Peace Corps program. How do you begin to raise them. How do you raise the questions of poverty.

"The assumption for this country is that if someone is poor they are poor because of their own individual blight or they weren't born on the right side of town. They had too many children, they went in the Army too early, the father was a drunk, they didn't care about school, they made a mistake. That's a lot of nonsense. Poverty is well calculated in this country. It is well calculated. And the reason why the poverty program won't work is because the calculators of poverty are administering it. That's why it won't work. (Applause) So how can we as the youth in the country move to

AT THE CREEK THEATER, UCB, ON
THE OCCASION OF "BLACK POWER"
DAY, 10/29/66

start tearing those things down? We must move into the white community. We are in the black community. The challenge is that the white activist has failed miserably to develop the movement inside the peace movement and the question is can we find white people who are gonna have the courage to go into white communities and start organizing. Can we find them? Are they here, and are they willing to do that?

"Those are the questions that we must face the white activist. We're never gonna get caught up on questions about power - this country knows what power is - knows it very well and knows what black power is cause it deprived black people of it for four hundred years. So it knows what black power is. But the question is why do black people, why do white people in this country associate black power with violence. The question is because of their own inability to deal with blackness. If we had said Negro power nobody would get scared. Everybody would support it, or if we said power for colored people everybody would be for that. But is the word Black, it is the word Black, that bothers people in this country and that's their problem not mine, their problem not mine. (Applause) Their problem. (Applause) Their problem. (Applause) Now there's one modern day lie that we want to attack and them move on very quickly, and that is the lie that says anything all black is bad.

"Now, you're all college university crowds, you've taken your basic logic course, you know about the major premise, the minor premise, so people that tell me anything all black is bad - let's make that our major premise, major premise. Anything all black is bad. Minor premise or particular premise, I am all black; therefore, - I'm never going to put in that trick bag - I am black and I am all good. (Laughter and applause) Anything all black is not necessarily bad. Anything all black is only bad when you use to force to keep whites out. Now that's what white people have done in this country and they're projecting the same fear and guilt on us and we won't have it, we won't have it. (Applause) Let them handle their own fears and their own guilt. Let them find their own psychology - We refuse to be the therapy for white society any longer. We have gone mad trying to do it. We

AT THE CREEK THEATER, UCB, ON
THE OCCASION OF "BLACK POWER"
DAY, 10/29/66

have gone stark raving mad trying to do it.

"I look at Dr. King on television every single day and I say to myself now there is a man who's desperately needed in this country. There is a man full of love, there is a man full of mercy, there is a man full of compassion, but everytime I see Lyndon on television I say Martin baby you've got a long way to go. (Laughter and applause) So that the question stands as to what we are willing to do, are we willing to say no, to withdraw from their system and to begin within our community to start to function and to build new institutions that will speak to our needs.

"In Lowndes County we developed something called the Lowndes County Freedom organization - it is a political party. The Alabama law says that if you have a party you must have an emblem. We chose for the emblem a black panther, a beautiful black animal, which symbolizes the strength and dignity of black people. An animal that never strikes back until he's backed so far into the wall he's got nothing to do but spring out, and when he springs he does not stop. (Applause) Now there is a party in Alabama called the Alabama Democratic Party - it is all white. It has as its emblem a white rooster and the words white supremacy for the right. Now the gentlemen of the press because they're advertisers and because most of them are white, and because they are produced by the white institution, never calls the Lowndes County Freedom organization by its name, but rather they call the Alabama Democratic Party the White Cock Party. It's fair to us (Laughter and applause) It's fair to us. (Applause)

"It is clear to me that that just points out America's problem with sex and color, not our problem - not our problem. And it is how white America is gonna deal with those problems of sex and color if we were to be real and to be honest. We would have to admit, we would have to admit, that most people in this country see things black and white - we have to do that - all of us do. We live in a country that's geared that way. White people have to admit that they are afraid to go into a black ghetto at night - they are afraid. That's a

AT THE CREEK THEATER, UCB, ON
THE OCCASION OF "BLACK POWER"
DAY, 10/29/66

fact. They're afraid because they be beat, lynched, booted, cut up, etc. etc. Perhaps the black people inside the ghetto every day incidentally, and white people are afraid of that. So you get a man to do it for you, a policeman, and now you figure his mentality where he's afraid of black people. The first time a black man jumps that white man gonna shoot him. He's gonna shoot 'em. So police brutality is going to exist on that level because of the incapability of that white man to see black people come together and to live in the conditions.

"This country is too hypocritical and that we cannot adjust ourselves to its hypocrisy. The only time I hear people move to defend themselves against white people. Black people cut themselves every night in the ghetto don't everybody talk about non-violence. Lyndon Baines Johnson is busy bombing the hell out of Vietnam - don't nobody talk about non-violence. White people beat up black people every day - don't nobody talk about non-violence, but as soon as black people start to move the double standard comes into being. You can't defend yourself that's what you say. Cause you show me a man who would advocate aggressive violence that will be able to live in this country. (Pause) Jumps that white man's gonna shoot 'em, he's gonna shoot 'em. So police brutality is going to exist on that level because of the incapability of that white man to see black people come together and to live in the conditions.

"This country is too hypocritical and that we cannot adjust ourselves to hypocrisy. The only time I hear people talk about non-violence is when black people move to defend themselves against white people. Black people cut themselves every night in the ghetto - don't everybody talk about non-violence. Lyndon Baines Johnson is busy bombing the hell out of Vietnam - don't nobody talk about non-violence. White people beat up black people every day - don't nobody talk about non-violence, but as soon as black people start to move the double standard comes into being. You can't defend yourself, that's what you say. Cause you show me a man who would advocate aggressive violence that would be able to live in this country. Show him to me. The double standards again come into self, is it

dutiful and hypocritical for the political civilian who calls himself the Vice President of this country (Applause) to stand up before this country and say murdering never got anybody anywhere. (Laughter and applause) Isn't it hypocritical for Lyndon to talk about murdering, that you can't accomplish anything by murdering and you must accomplish it by the legal ways. What does he know about legality? Ask HO Chi-minh, he'll tell you. (Applause)

"So that in conclusion let me say that number one, it is clear to me that we have to wage a psychological battle - on the right the black people to define their own terms. Define themselves as they see fit and organize themselves as they see it. Now the question is how is the white community gonna begin to allow for that organizing because once they start to do that they will also allow for the organizing that they want to do inside their community. It doesn't make a difference cause we gonna organize our way anyway. We gonna do it.

"The question is how we gonna facilitate those matters. Whether it's gonna be done with thousand policemen with submachine guns or whether or not it's gonna be done in the contest where it is allowed to be done by white people wanting more policemen. That is the question and the question is how are white people to call themselves activists ready to start move into the white communities, of building new political institutions to _____ the ones we have and to move around the concept of white refusing to go into _____. That we can start then to build a new world. It is ironic to talk about civilization in this country, this country is uncivilized. It needs to be civilized. It needs to be civilized. (Applause) And that we must begin to raise those question so civilization, what it is and who do it and so we must urge you to fight now.

"To be the leaders of today, not tomorrow - we've got to be the leaders of today. This country, this country is a nation of thieves. It stands on the brink of becoming a nation of murderers. We must stop it. We must stop it. We must stop it. (Applause) We must stop it. (Applause)

And then therefore the lord just sent us the question of black people. We are on the move to our liberation. We have been tired of trying to explain to white people that we're not going to hurt them. We are concerned with getting the things we want. The things that we have to have to be able to function. The question is can white people allow for that in this country. The question is will white people overcome their racism and allow for that to happen in this country.

"If that does not happen brothers and sisters, we have no choice but to say very clearly Move over or we gonna move on over you. (Applause) (Long applause) Don't move. (pause) (another man) Two announcements - we need people to come that take the step, contribute, come and clean up. Second announcement - Give. There's gonna be baskets at both ends - Give to SNCC. (3rd man) I think we all have a consensus here on one challenge that we'd all like to voice. I think a lot of us here would like to voice, especially the black people, and that is that I would like for the news media for once to go back and tell Whitey just what was here today and don't distort us. (Applause) And give all you got, money, we need money."

DIXIE KLANS, KNIGHTS OF THE KU KLUX KLAN, INC.
(Tennessee)

Confidential sources reported September 17, 1957, that some former leaders of Klavern #1, U. S. Klans, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, Inc. (USK, KKKK, Inc.) Chattanooga, Tennessee, and their close associates had been banished from this organization in September, 1957. Sources advised that these banished individuals formed a new klan organization known as Dixie Klans, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, Inc., (DK, KKKK, Inc.) with headquarters in Masonic Hall, 2523 Glass Street, East Chattanooga, Tennessee. A general welfare charter was secured from the State of Tennessee on October 21, 1957, which charter lists some of the purposes of the organization as freedom of speech and association, rejection of forced integration, preservation of the Constitutions of the United States and of Tennessee, and preservation of the sovereignty of each state.

In August, 1966, sources stated that the DK, KKKK, Inc., only has one active klavern of this organization, this being located in East Chattanooga, Tennessee. Other klaverns which were located in the State of Georgia are no longer associated with the DK, KKKK, Inc.

A confidential source advised during the Fall of 1960 there was a "den" of Klavern #1, DK, KKKK, Inc., Chattanooga, Tennessee, consisting of [] members, []

[] and [] then [] These individuals, all members of Klavern #1, DK, KKKK, Inc., during the Summer of 1960 reportedly were responsible for five bombings of residences in Hamilton County, Tennessee, during July and August, 1960. They reportedly held [] meetings and discussed bombings and other acts of violence. Their existence and activities reportedly were unknown to rank and file members. All "den" members and alternates were interviewed during another investigation, denied knowledge of bombings or acts of violence, denied knowledge of "den" of DK, KKKK, Inc., and majority admitted current membership in the DK, KKKK, Inc.

b7D

Sources reported in August, 1966, that for the past four and a half years, none of the DK, KKKK, Inc. members or leaders have discussed acts of violence. They reported that the individuals previously identified as members of the "den" in 1960 are no longer members or associated with the DK, KKKK, Inc.

During the period 1962 to present, Negroes have demonstrated at Chattanooga, Tennessee, seeking integration of public and municipal facilities. They have held demonstrations concerning integration of public schools in Chattanooga, Tenn., and Hamilton County, Tennessee, in the Fall of 1962 and the Fall of 1963, and since then the schools have been integrated, all public facilities, Chattanooga, Tennessee, have been integrated, and on May 24, 1966, a Negro family moved into a previously all-white housing project, which is located in the immediate proximity of a number of residences of DK, KKKK, Inc., members. During the period of all of the above, leaders of the DK, KKKK, Inc., have instructed their members at [] meetings and on an individual basis to stay away from the areas where demonstrations were occurring, not to participate in any counter demonstrations, not to commit any acts of violence or advocate any acts of violence or become engaged in any arguments over the above integration.

In September, 1965, a near racial riot occurred near a housing project, East Chattanooga, which began with an argument between Negro and white teenagers. Demonstrations occurred for a few nights, which included heckling of police officers, throwing rocks at police cars and policemen. All demonstrators were white. A large number of youthful members of the DK, KKKK, Inc., were involved in this incident.

Within a few days following this demonstration, Negroes and white youth became engaged in a fight in East Chattanooga near the DK, KKKK, Inc., headquarters, resulting in the shooting of one Negro. A number of arrests were made; charges later dismissed. Majority of the white youths were members of the DK, KKKK, Inc.

Sources report that in 1965, the DK, KKKK, Inc., had a group known as the "claw" or "black-card" members, which was formed for the purpose of taking any necessary acts of violence, violation of the laws, discipline of klan members, or intimidation of others when and if needed. These members are not known to have participated in any acts of violence and majority of the identified members terminated their membership in the DK, KKKK, Inc., in December, 1965, when a split in leadership and membership occurred. The members and leaders who have continued to be active in the DK, KKKK, Inc., during 1966 are not known to have been a part of this special group or to favor violence.

In view of current racial violence in the U. S. and presence in Cuba of Stokely Carmichael, foremost "Black Power" advocate of violence, Special Agent in Charge (SAC) Letter being sent alerting field to possibility of future Castro involvement in U. S. racial strife.

The press today carried item disclosing that Stokely Carmichael had arrived in Havana by air from Prague, Czechoslovakia, as an official guest of the Castro government and would attend the Latin-American Solidarity Organization (LASO) conference which commences 7/31/67. It was indicated he expected to see Premier Fidel Castro during his stay and shortly before his arrival in Cuba, the Cuban news agency "Prensa Latina" published an interview with Carmichael in which he was quoted as saying: "In Newark, we are applying the tactics of guerrilla warfare. We are preparing groups of urban guerrillas for our defense in the cities. This struggle is not going to be a mere street meeting. It is going to be a struggle to the death."

Although we have no information which would indicate that any of the current racial violence is directed in any manner from Cuba, we are, of course, alert to the possibility that Castro at any time may give his support to such violence on a clandestine basis. In view of the fact that the avowed purpose of the LASO conference in Cuba is to plan ways and means to overthrow U. S. "imperialism" in Latin America by revolutionary violence, Stokely Carmichael's presence could be significant and could possibly presage Castro involvement in this country's racial situation.

Accordingly, we feel it is most timely to instruct the field to be alert to any indications of Castro involvement (consisting of support, direction or influence) in racial violence and riots here.

ACTION:

If you approve, attached SAC Letter in line with the above will be sent.

LBJ Pledges Punishment of Rioters

WASHINGTON, July 25 (UPI)—President Johnson, faced with a crisis at home as grave as any overseas, has pledged that his administration will be relentless in suppressing and punishing rioters.

"Pillage, looting, murder, and arson have nothing to do with civil rights," the Chief Executive declared in a nationally televised and broadcast statement last night shortly after he ordered federal troops into shattered Detroit.

"We will not tolerate lawlessness. We will not endure violence. It matters not by whom it is done or under what slogan or banner. It will not be tolerated. This nation will do whatever is necessary to suppress and punish those who engage in it," Johnson said.

CALL TO PEOPLE

"I call upon all our people, in all of our cities, to join in a determined program to maintain law and order—to condemn and combat lawlessness in all of its forms—and firmly to show by word and deed that riots, looting, and public disorder will not be tolerated."

Johnson said it was "with the greatest regret" that he issued the proclamation sending two brigades of paratroopers into Detroit. But, he said, "the fact of the matter is that law and order have broken down in Detroit."

The President referred repeatedly to the pleas of Mich-

Carmichael to Attend Havana Revolt Talks

MIAMI, July 25 (AP)—Stokely Carmichael, American black power advocate, plans to attend next week's Havana conference aimed at brewing revolutions, the Cuban radio said today.

Carmichael confirmed in London his plans to attend the conference as an observer, said a broadcast monitored in Miami.

"We are going to be reunited with you in Havana because we think the Cuban victory is our victory and the courage of the Cuban people inspires our fight," the radio quoted Carmichael as saying.

Leftists and revolutionaries from throughout Latin America have begun arriving in Communist Cuba for the conference sponsored by the Latin American Solidarity Organization—OLAS—an outspoken anti-United States body.

STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE
STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Due to the interest of the President in the activities of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee and its former chairman, Stokely Carmichael, we have prepared a summary setting forth current and planned future activity in this matter. A copy of the summary is attached for ready reference.

It was previously reported that Stokely Carmichael flew from London, England, to Prague, Czechoslovakia, on 7/24/67. On 7/26/67, Carmichael flew from Prague to Havana, Cuba. He is an official guest of the Castro Government and is scheduled to attend the Latin-American Solidarity Organization conference which begins 7/31/67.

The avowed purpose of the Latin-American Solidarity Organization conference is to overthrow United States "imperialism" in Latin America by revolutionary violence.

On the evening of 7/26/67, Fidel Castro, Premier of Cuba, spoke in Santiago, Cuba. Castro gave special attention to Carmichael who attended this meeting and sat in a place of honor.

Carmichael told a news reporter he did not care what the State Department did to him for visiting Cuba without permission.

The Immigration and Naturalization Service had received information that Carmichael was scheduled to return from Cuba to the United States via Montreal, Canada. He was to enter the United States in Chicago, Illinois, the evening of 7/27/67. According to the Immigration and Naturalization Service, Carmichael is not known to have arrived in Canada.

STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE
STOKELY CARMICHAEL

There is set forth below a summary of current and planned future activities of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee and its former chairman, Stokely Carmichael.

It was previously reported that Stokely Carmichael flew from London, England, to Prague, Czechoslovakia, on July 24, 1967.

According to a press release, Carmichael arrived in Havana, Cuba, on July 26, 1967, by air from Prague, Czechoslovakia, as an official guest of the Castro Government. He is scheduled to attend the Latin-American Solidarity Organization conference which begins July 31, 1967, in Havana, Cuba.

The avowed purpose of the Latin-American Solidarity Organization conference is to overthrow United States "imperialism" in Latin America by revolutionary violence.

Shortly before Carmichael arrived in Cuba, the Cuban news agency, Prensa Latina, published an interview with Carmichael in which he was quoted as saying, "In Newark, we are applying the tactics of guerrilla warfare. We are preparing groups of urban guerrillas for our defense in the cities. This struggle is not going to be a mere street meeting. It is going to be a struggle to the death."

Carmichael also forwarded a message of greeting to the Latin-American Solidarity Organization delegates in which he said, "We are going to meet with you because we feel that your victory is a victory for us and your unlimited courage inspires us." He also pointed out that he is convinced that the Afro-Asian Latin-American Peoples Solidarity Organization is one of the most important elements contributing to the just struggle of the United States Negro.

Carmichael also declared that his first contact with the Cuban revolution took place in Harlem, New York, in 1960 during the historic appearance by Fidel Castro, Premier of Cuba, before the United Nations. He emphasized that visit marked a historic moment in the struggle of the North American Negro who can never forget the presence of Castro in Harlem or turn against the Cuban revolution.

According to another press release, Carmichael sat in a place of honor as Castro spoke for two and one-half hours on the evening of July 26, 1967, in Santiago, Cuba. Castro gave special attention to Carmichael calling him "the representative of the Negro people of the United States." Castro said, "American Negroes are rebelling and are fighting because they have been criminally exploited and oppressed."

On July 27, 1967, it was reported that Carmichael was interviewed in Havana, Cuba, by a reporter from the evening newspaper, "Juventud Rebelde" (Rebellious Youth). Carmichael referred to a recent message said to have come from former Cuban revolutionary leader Ernesto "Che" Guevara urging the creation of several Vietnams in Latin America. He said, "We must internationalize our struggle, and if we are going to turn into reality the words of Che to create two, three, or more Vietnams, we must recognize that Detroit and New York are also Vietnam."

Carmichael told the reporter he did not care what the State Department did to him for visiting Cuba without permission.

Opportunity (OEO) to refund the Crusade for Opportunity (CFO) for 60 days under a trusteeship arrangement has served to stabilize matters. A critical factor in assessing the potential for racial violence in Syracuse is whether or not the trustees, as yet unannounced, are acceptable to the neighborhood people. On June 28, 1967, a confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, related that the eight double rooms reserved for June 29, 1967, at the Dinkler Motor Inn, Syracuse, New York, under the name of CARMICHAEL, had been cancelled, telephonically, at 9:37 p.m., June 28, 1967. The [redacted] at the Dinkler asked for the person's name and number in an effort to identify the person making the cancellation. However, source stated that this information proved to be fictitious.

Source observed that the persistent rumors concerning the visit of STOKELY CARMICHAEL to Syracuse, New York, appeared to be a "power play" to insure refunding of the Crusade for Opportunity, Inc. (CFO), the official "war on poverty" agency in Syracuse, New York. The deadline for refunding is June 30, 1967.

During the period from June 30, 1967 through July 11, 1967, numerous articles appearing in the Syracuse Herald Journal and the Syracuse Post-Standard, Syracuse, New York, evening and daily newspapers, respectively, have revealed the following information concerning the CFO controversy:

b7C

[redacted] of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO), New York City, announced on June 30, 1967, that CFO will be placed in a trusteeship for 60 days or longer. The trustees will be charged with the responsibility of: (1) recommending revision in CFO by-laws so that the Board of Directors will be a governing body in compliance with the requirements of the Economic Opportunity Act. (2) establishing a new community action agency for Syracuse and Onondaga County in the event of failure to achieve an acceptable reorganization of CFO.

(3) Supervising, in all respects, the administration of grant programs during the period of trusteeship.

Trustees will theoretically take over the reins of CFO at midnight, June 30, 1967. CFO will be provided with a 60-day Federal grant to run its program, pro-rated on the agency's request for about $2.16 million for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1967.

OEO Director, Sargent Shriver, indicated that OEO has no intention of permitting the Anti-Poverty Program, in Syracuse, to terminate abruptly.

NORMAN HILL, Chairman of the Board of Directors of CFO, at a meeting of neighborhood leaders on June 30, 1967, called on them to boycott Anti-Poverty Programs "until this thing is cleared up".

News articles have indicated that neighborhood residents are being urged to contact their neighbors over the weekend to keep their pre-Kindergarten children home from the Head Start registration centers.

On July 3, 1967, a [] confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, stated that the rumors had been circulating in the neighborhood (Negro community) that if the trustees, to be appointed by OEO, are not acceptable to the current CFO leadership, crusade buildings will be burned to the ground. Source said that some civic leaders in Syracuse had been approached for appointment as a trustee but have declined. It was rumored that OEO prefers a small number of trustees, perhaps three or four, whereas the community would like to see a larger number of trustees, perhaps seven.

According to an article appearing on page 13 of the Syracuse Herald-Journal, issue of July 11, 1967, captioned "CFO Trustees' Naming Near", the delay in naming trustees has been caused by difficulty in getting people for

On July 21, 1967, [redacted] advised he had not received any additional information regarding the activities of [redacted] attempting to cause unrest among the Negroes in Chattanooga, Tennessee. He stated that in addition to the normal steps being taken by the City of Chattanooga to eliminate racial discrimination, racial prejudice and unrest, that he had taken three special steps on July 21, 1967, aimed at combatting efforts of [redacted] to organize racial unrest in Chattanooga.

b7C

He advised that on July 21, 1967, he and City Commissioners for Chattanooga had approved the appointment of [redacted] to be Assistant Chattanooga City Attorney. He had requested the Chattanooga Housing Authority to study areas north of McCallie Avenue, including Orchard Knob, Churchville, Avondale, Bushtown, and others all predominantly Negro residents, to be made a part of the Urban Renewal Rehabilitation Project of Chattanooga. He and Commissioners on this date also visited a one-half million dollar building construction of an addition to the Alton Park Junior High School to be completed September 1967. This addition is to be of great assistance to the predominantly Negro residents in that neighborhood. It will be a community service building available for recreation of all ages of residents in that vicinity. Nurses will be on hand for health benefits; staff of the Tennessee Department of Employment for job opportunities; vocational rehabilitation program; dental treatment; pre-vocational training and public welfare.

COORDINATING COMMITTEE, PROPOSED VISIT CHATTANOOGA, TENNESSEE SUMMER 1967

b7C [] advised that all three of these actions by the Commission would be given front page news coverage in all three daily publications, Chattanooga, Tennessee, July 21-22, 1967. He advised he hoped the Negro citizens would thus become more aware that Chattanooga is far advanced from other cities in offering assistance to Negroes and attempt to eliminate any discrimination or racial prejudice. He stated he hoped this would cause the Negro citizens to realize their benefits and assist in every possible way to resist efforts of [] [] STOKLEY CARMICHAEL, SNCC and "Black Power" advocates who may attempt to stir up unrest among the Negroes of Chattanooga.

Pages H9244-H9248. Congressman Rarick, (D) Louisiana, stated "the explosive literary work--'Communist Revolution in the Streets,' by Gary Allen-is a must for our fellow colleagues and every American who questions the 'why' and 'how' of the bloodshed, looting, and violence taking place on the streets and avenues today. Poverty and ignorance are far less the causation that education and subsidization by anti-American forces. Education against the dignity of man and exploitation of his individual liberty play a key role. I follow my remarks with a review from the book called 'The Plan To Burn Los Angeles.'" [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] The article also quotes the Director as having stated "that Stokely Carmichael, - - - 'has been in frequent contact with Max Stanford, field chairman of the Revolutionary Action Movement, a highly secret all-Negro, Marxist-Lennist, Chinese-Communist-oriented organization which advocates guerrilla warfare to obtain its goals.'" The article also quoted the Director concerning the Students for a Democratic Society and the DuBois Clubs.

Pages H9437-H9438. Congressman Bray, (R) Indiana, spoke concerning the rioting taking place in many cities. He also commented on the unauthorized travel of Stokely Carmichael to Cuba. Mr. Bray cited section 1544, title 18, United States Code, which provides "Whoever willfully and knowingly uses or attempts to use any passport in violation of the conditions or restrictions therein contained, or of the rules prescribed pursuant to the laws regulating issuance of passports - - - Shall be fined not more than $2,000 or imprisoned not more than five years, or both." He pointed out that the travel ban to Cuba was published in Public Notice No. 257 in the Federal Register for March 16, 1967, by authority of Executive Order No. 11293. Mr. Bray stated "the Attorney General is the chief law enforcement officer of the United States. He has working under his direction the FBI, all Deputy U. S. Attorneys General, all district attorneys, and deputy district attorneys, all U. S. marshals and deputy marshals. - - - I am aware that the Attorney General will say that the courts will not enforce this ban in the manner in which it is written. The Attorney General has not suggested to Congress laws in this regard which he believes can be enforced. - - - It is his solemn duty and responsibility to be suggesting laws which he can and will enforce to stop growing insurrection inside America and take action against those who travel abroad to plot against us. As yet, for reasons difficult to surmise, he has shown a minimum of interest in this field. The public demands action and is waiting to see what course he will take.

He stated "Here in Washington, evidence is mounting that officials fear a riot of major proportions in the Nation's Capital in the near future. Riot squads are being trained in the use of tear gas and automatic weapons. They are to be on standby for duty in August. - - - The prime question of the hour that demands an answer is, What is the relationship between Stokely Carmichael's call for guerrilla warfare from Communist Cuba and the outbreak of racial riots in major American cities? - - - These riots, Mr. Speaker, have nothing to do with civil rights. Carmichael Sees Long, Hot Summer

HAVANA (AP) — Stokely Carmichael says Negroes in American cities are going to wage a guerrilla "fight to the death," the Cuban news agency reported Tuesday as the U. S. Black Power leader arrived in Havana for a revolutionary conference.

The Prensa Latina agency quoted the fiery 26-year-old Negro as saying: "In Newark we applied war tactics of the guerrillas. We are preparing groups of urban guerrillas for our defense in the cities. The price of these rebellions is a high price that one must pay. This fight is not going to be a simple street meeting. It is going to be a fight to the death."

The Black Power leader came to Havana for the meeting of the Latin-American Organization of Solidarity opening July 31. U.S. racial problems are on the meeting's agenda.

Carmichael flew from London to Prague Monday and then to Havana. Non-Communist newsmen were not allowed to approach him at the Havana airport.

In the Prensa Latina interview, which the agency said Carmichael gave in London, he said he decided to come to Cuba because of an April message attributed to the vanished Cuban guerrilla leader Ernesto Guevara. The message urged Latin-American revolutionaries to stir up more Vietnam-like situations.

Carmichael said Guevara inspired American Negroes and that Prime Minister Fidel Castro's visit to Harlem in 1960 was momentous "in the history of the fight of North American Negroes."

In the United States, the Alabama state Senate in a resolution asked that Carmichael be denied re-entry to the United States and called him "a blasphemous and profane Communist revolutionary."

Recently the Topeka Capitol published a list of the ten most wanted criminals by the F.B.I. But Stokley Carmichael was not on that list. How, can a man like Carmichael get a passport to spread his hate around the world?

Martin Luther King's statement over TV yesterday " He was sorry for the riots" yes his "Long hot summer speech" from Chicago helped to start it all.

It's about time for Congress to start to work.

If there are no laws to take care of his kind, then Congress

The taped copies were obtained as follows: A speech made at Garfield High School, Seattle, 5/19/67, was obtained on 6/9/67 from [redacted] [redacted] another taped speech made 5/19/67 at University of Washington was obtained from [redacted] on 6/16/67.

The above tapes were difficult for the stenographer to read and considerable time and effort was spent in a review of these tapes in an effort to maintain accuracy.

A copy of a tape was also received from [redacted]

This tape was received by SA [redacted] on 6/23/67. It is a copy of a tape made concerning a speech made by CARMICHAEL at Central Washington State Teacher's College, Ellensburg, Washington on 5/21/67. This tape is even more difficult to interpret and after a review of the typed copy there appears to be no evidentiary material and the tape is mostly illegible. Unless advised on the contrary by the Bureau, a copy of this tape will not be forwarded.

ENCLOSURE

STOCKELY CARMICHAEL at GARFIELD HIGH SCHOOL
May 19, 1967 - Seattle, Washington

(Good Evening, It's good to be here.

You know what usually happens is that in the newspapers they call us racists and anti-whites and say we hate white folk and all that irrelevant nonsense, and they do that because they use white people as the measuring stick. But I want you to look clear before you and you notice that in all their beautiful liberal press media, there isn't one black man. So when the honkeys talk tomorrow about violence and anti-white and hating white people, tell them they ought to have a black man reporting it because they don't understand because we are talking to black folk anyhow.

Tonight we want to do several things. We want to talk about some of the basic assumptions from which the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) moves and then move into an area of pragmatics and what in fact black people will have to do if we are going to survive in this country and live as human beings. The first thing we want to talk about is the theory of self condemnation, and we want to move on and talk about denying one one's freedom as opposed to giving one one's freedom and we want to talk about the importance of definition and the need for black people to define themselves as they see fit in this society and to have those definitions recognized by our press's white society. And we want to talk about violence because it is going to be important, because I don't know why everybody is so scared about it and they are going to draft you all and send you all to Vietnam, I guess you are going to go over there and make love to the Vietnamese. Then we want to talk about the lies that this country has told about black people to make us ashamed of ourselves and want to move on and talk about developing a concept of people which we desperately need in this country today and we want to instill among our people, particularly among the young in our generation, the will to fight back when messed over by anybody.

We want to talk about self condemnation. Self condemnation is impossible. No body can condemn themselves or no people can condemn themselves. If they do they have to punish themselves. If I did something wrong and I admitted that I did it wrong then I have to punish myself, but if I can keep that in line so I can rationalize away my guilt then I never feel guilty. Let me give you some examples:

The Nazis who were brought to trial after Hitler was, after the Hitler regime was brought down, they said, the ones who allowed themselves to live, they said that they killed Jews but the Jews weren't human beings, they were inferior so they didn't really commit a crime or they said they didn't know what was going on in Germany at the time that Hitler was killing all the Jews or they say what most white Americans are saying today we were just following law and order. If they said they rationalized away their guilt they just served their sentences and waited until they got out. But now the ones who admitted that they killed human beings had to commit suicide. You've got to understand that. For us in this country a clear example of that would be in Neshoba County in Philadelphia, Mississippi. A honkey by the name of Rainey (sp) decides with 18 other honkeys to kill three people. Now the entire county of Neshoba cannot indict Rainey because they elected him to do just what he was doing, to kill anybody who troubled with the status quo. If they indicted him then all of them would be guilty and they can't do that, they cannot admit that they are guilty and in SNCC we say that white America, the total community, cannot condemn herself for the acts of brutality and beastiality that she has heaped upon us as a race, black people, It's impossible for her to do it. She must rationalize away her guilt. She must blame us or blame everybody else but herself because if she were to blame herself, she would have to commit suicide. MY brother LEROY JONES reminds me that wouldn't be a bad idea.

Now we want to move from there into the concept of denying one one's freedom, and this is very, very important because white people have assumed that they are gods, that they can give somebody their freedom, and so if they don't like the way you act they won't give you your freedom. But now what you have to get crystal clear in your minds is that no-body gives anybody their freedom, people can only deny somebody their freedom. This is very important. We are all born free. We are enslaved by the institutions of racism that white America produces. Our job is to stop America from being racist, not to give us our freedom, so in reality our fight is to civilize white America. Now then if you take that to its logical conclusion you would say that any civil rights bill that was passed in this country would have eased the struggle for black people but it helped civilized white America. Let me give you an example:

I'm black, I know that I'm black. I know that I am a human being and I know that with that comes certain dignities that all human beings have. One of those is that I am able to enter a public place.. But now there are some dumb hunkeys who don't know that so that every time I try to enter a store the hunkey gets in my way, shoots at me, bombs my church, kills my children or beats me up because he doesn't know that I'm a human being so the white folk in Washington, D. C., got to write a Civil Rights Bill to tell this hunkey, when I come, get out of my way. So that what they have done is they have civilized this hunkey because I'm the same man I was, I still go into the store. The only trouble is that he is not forced to recognize my humanity. That is very important. It is the same thing that is true about the voting rights act. We're black, we know we should be able to vote, but everytime we try to vote some hunkey stops us, so they got to pass a civil rights bill to stop them from denying us our rights. They don't give us anything. You've got to get that clear in your mind.

Now then we want to talk about definitions because they are very, very important. You see White Western Society and you should use the word Western Society never Western Civilization, because they don't know nothing about it. White Western Society has been able to define everybody and they just define them and put them in places, and when they define, they can't get out those definitions and people just stay there. Let me give you some examples so you can understand better:

You watch the red man and the white man on TV fighting each other. If the red man is winning then the white man calls for the calvery and here come the calvery, and they are riding very white and very proper, and when they get up to where the battle is they all get out their guns and they systematically shoot all the red men, you know, kill them dead. They get back on their horses and they ride back to the fort, and at the fort there is a white woman standing there, and she says, "What happened?", and there is always this Lieutenant who says, "We had a victory, we killed all the Indians". This is very good. Now the next time when the reverse happens, when the red man beats the hell out of the white man and there is one of them left dragging on the horse and she says, "What happened?" "Those dirty Indians, they massacred us." There was a feeling in there that a massacre is not as good as a victory. A victory is much better. She say 84 red people who all there lives are going to fight and they are never going to have a victory. Here is Sittin Bull, the greatest strategist you have in the world, he has won all these wars, but he ain't never going to win a victory, he's always going to win a massacre. And a massacre is dirty. You've got to understand that in your mind. You see that on television all the time, even today about the Vietnam war. Do you ever hear, "Those dirty, filthy, rotten, Communist, rebels, they threw a Molotov cocktail and killed civilians"? And then the other guy comes back and says, "That the same time our good GI boys have been bombing the hell out of North Vietnam." Or even better would be a group of students at Nashville decide to take care of some hunkey cops because they are picking on them, and its Fish Students Riot and in Fort Lauderdale hunkeys go and throw bottles and beers at policemen, they are going to say College Students go on a spree. So the white people have been defining us all our lives and we have been forced to react to those definitions and see they call us negroes, so I guess you all came from negro lands. You have allowed white people to name you. When we were in Puerto Rico a couple of months ago we were speaking in spanish, I looked through the dictionary to find a word for negro in Puerto Rican. There is no such word. The closest word is negro, it means black. In french there is no word for negro. In german there is no word for negro. In Swahili there is no word for negro. You wouldn't want me to leave out Swahili, it's what's happening. So that they have defined that, and with the word negro comes dumb, stupid, apathetic, love water melon, and got good rhythm. But now they do something even more insidious with definitions. Let me give you an example, so then we can get into black power and the definitions of black power.

Now you remember, especially from my generation when this whole thing broke out with integration, and we used to sit glued to the TV set, you know and our black leader would get up and say "We want to integrate" and in our minds we knew the cat was talking about good schools, good houses, good jobs, and a good way of life. That was in the minds of all black people, but some dumb hunkeys going to jump up and say "You want to marry my daughter, don't you?" And then instead of our black leaders being aggressive and saying later for you hunkey, at that time they would react to the hunkey, see they would let him define their own term, integration and he would say "Uh Uh we don't want to be your brother, we want to be your brother". And they just go to sweaten and puffin and "we don't want to sleep in your bedroom, we just want to live next door to you". And so they were doing what ever the hunkey who defined their term, and they were reacting to his definition. They don't pull that junk with us in SNCC because we tell them right out when they come with that nonsense about marrying their daughter, your=daughter, your sister, your mama, we tell them. We tell them crystal clear the white woman is not the queen of the world she's not the virgin Mary, she can be made like any other woman. Let's move over to something important, so that we will not be caught in a bind about reaction to their definitions and the same thing happens. We say black power, and some hunkey going to jump up and say "Oh you mean violence" and he wants us to say "Oh no boss man, we don't mean violence". Later for the hunkey, it's our term, we know what it means. Later for them. Black power is the coming together of black people to fight for their liberation by any means necessary. Now we want to talk about violence. Because I understand that some of your so called negro leaders have been saying that we violence. I won't deny it, yea I'm violent, somebody touch me I'll break their arm. But the problem isn't one of violence see, the problem is one of hitting back white people when they hit you, that's the real problem, because we've never done that all of our lives. They have been able to walk over us, bomb our churches, beat us up, shoot into our houses, lynch us, and do everything they wanted to do and we would just sit there and whisper about it behind closed door. It's a new day today. But what really upsets me is these people who talk about violence and not concerned about black people because there is more violence in our neighborhood on Friday and Saturday night then there is anyplace else. We cut and we shoot each other more than we touch anybody in the world and don't nobody talk out against that violence. And the reason they don't do it is because they don't give a damn about us, they are only concerned about white folks. If they were against violence they would be preaching non violence in the black community because that's where we need it most. We need it there. We need it to learn to love and respect each other and stop cutting and shooting each other but they don't care about us. The only time you hear these preachers talk about non violence is when a hunk hits you and you're getting ready to take care of business. Then you see them on television. The only rule they have is to comdemn their own people or we don't believe in violence those vagabonds throwing rocks and bottles, oh yes, we believe in the war in Vietnam, we think our boys should go over there and shoot, but we don't believe in violence at all, what is that junk. They're going to put you in a uniform and send you 8,000 miles to shoot a man who ain't never called you a nigger, get out of here. And you get cats like Lyndon Bains Johnson get up on TV and say "Ma fellow Americans every night before I go to sleep, I ask myself what have I done to preserve peace for this country". And here he is talking about preserving peace and dropping bombs all over Hanoi, bomb, bomb, bomb, bomb, bomb. And then he get up before national TV and he says violence never accomplishes anything. Well if the hunkey believes that then tell him to use non violence in Vietnam. What they are saying is violence is OK against everybody except the white man, that's what they are saying, and you ought not to get fooled by it, you ought to understand that in the world ~~there~~ exists, especially in this country, a victim and executioner relationship. We are the victims and white people are the executioners, and they have kept ~~us~~ ~~is~~ down by force and by violence and that if we're violent, it's just that we have learned well from our teachers. They have bombed our churches, they have shot ~~us~~ in the streets, they have lynched us, they have ~~cattle~~ prodded us, they have thrown lye over us, they have dragged our children out in the night, we have been the recipients of violence for 400 years. We have just learned well how to use it today. Don't you ever condemn people for using violence, and those black Preachers get up, you tell them to get the guts to condemn white folks for the violence they heap on us. If they can't do that, if they can't condemn the white folks, tell them to keep their mouth shut. So don't you get caught up in no discussion about violence, we're just making it crystal clear to the hunkey today that if you try to shoot us, we're going to kill them, so God get the noose. Now if he doesn't want to get shot, tell them to stay home because they leave their beds and their wives at 3:00 in the morning and come to our community and going to work out their frustrations by shooting into our community. If they got frustrations, tell them to go see a psychiatrist. So you've got to understand that one in your mind and don't get carried away with that nonsense about riots, you ought to understand, you ought to be proud of your black brothers in Nashville, you ought to be proud, because what happened was on Friday night two hunkey policemen go walk into the middle of the neighborhood, and go startin to beat upon a black brother, and when the others brothers told them they didn't have to, they go and turn on them, but they forgot it's a new day. See they didn't recognize that this generation is saying if you wear a sheet at night or a badge in the day, if you put your filthy white hands on our beautiful black skin we're going to TCB. So you just dismiss that nonsense about violence when they tell you about violence, you tell them yea we dig your non violence in Vietnam. We've dug your non violence in Hiroshima and Nagasaki. You tell them we've dug it, yea. We ain't going to forget the Congo baby, we dig it there too. We dug the tried violence in Cuba, but Castro took care of them. Now we want to talk then pragmatically about how these things affect our lives as black people? What white America has done in order to rationalize away guilt for what she has done to us is that she's told a number of lies about us that she believes. Now that's expected. Hitler said if you tell a lie long enough and hard enough, everybody will think it's the truth and white America has done that. But what is pathetic and what is bad, is that some black people believe those lies about themselves. And so what we have to do tonight is begin to clarify those lies for ourselves. (You all don't mind if I take off my jacket do you?) (Us draw heat you know). Now the first lie that white America told about us is that we are a lazy people. Are you hep to tat. And here goes some of us down the street. "Uh, Uh we're just lazy, we, we just like white folk, they're always working hard and trying to get somewhere but we're so lazy". You got to get it in your mind, We're not lazy, we're hard workin, white people are lazy. Look here, they were so lazy they came to Africa to steal us to do their work for them. We're not lazy, we are the hardest working people in this country, we are. The trouble is that we are the lowest paid, and the most oppressed and the most exploited people in this country. We're not lazy. If you ride up and down the delta in the south today, you'll see black people chopping and picking cotton for $2.00 per day, while white folks sit on the porch, drink scotch, and talk about us. We're not a lazy people its our mothers who take care of their own family and then go across town to take care of Miss Ann's family. So that you should get that out of your mind. We're not lazy we are hard working industrious people, always have been. Our sweat builds this country.

Now the next lie she tells is what she tells our kids in school. If you work hard you will succeed. Now you all know that's a lot of junk. Because if that were true, black people would own this country, lock, stock and barrel. It's not a question of hard working, it is a question of he who has power and he who has control. That's all, that's all it's about, because we are the people who really build this country. We are the domestics, we are the share croppers, we are the fruit pickers, we are the janitors, we are the elevator men, we are the garbage men, we are the hardest working people in the country. If it were true that you have to work hard to succeed, then the contrary of that would be true. That people who didn't work hard would be poor, and Bobby Kennedy would be the poorest Hunkey in this country. So then we must begin to get it crystal clear in our minds, it is simply a question of he who has power and we don't have that, we've got everything else but that and the white man ain't got nothing but that. We got love, we got non violence, we got morality, we got christianity, we got rhythm, we got everything you need, but we ain't got power. The hunkeys don't have love, can't spell non violence, they don't know what religion is all about, you know they ain't got rhythm, but (unintelligible). But they have power, that's what they have, power over our lives, so we got to get it clear the thing we need is power.

The next lie they tell us is this thing about education. You go to school and get a degree, you're going to make it. All of our college students, when they get out of college, with a college degree, make less money than a hunkey with a high school degree. Not only that, the education system that they teach us is riddled with racism, filled with racism. We can't see ourselves projected anywhere, they show us as a stupid people to let us keep thinking we're stupid, they start out with their elementary books about Tom, Dick and Jane. Tom is white, Dick is white, Jane is white, even their dog Spot is white. And the only time we see ourselves is Little Black Sambo on the last page eaten water melon. But not only is it riddled with out right racism it is riddled with subtle racism and the history books just lie, lie. And they have to lie because white people have got to lie because white people have to lie to themselves, they cannot tell the truth about themselves. And what happens is they fill our minds with all those lies and have us accept them as truths. Let me give you an example of one that's very hard but you don't dig it.

If I said to you that MR. Quami Enkruma, (who is a brilliant black man, he is out of sight, he should be your hero, don't let them white folk fool you, he's out of sight). Now if I said to you that Mr. Quam (you wouldn't know about him because he is the leader in Africa, or was until the CIA overthrew him) Now if I said to you that Mr. Quami Enkruma discovered England in 1961, you'd laugh, but if that was the first time that that black man had set foot on England and if we as black people did not recognize the existence of non black people, he would have discovered England. If I said to you that Christopher Columbus discovered America in 1492 you say that's right, if you were my teacher you would give me an A, all right, now dig. Here comes this hunkey from Europe, steps foot on this country, there are red people here but they don't exist so he discovers it. And this has been the history of white society. They have never recognized anybody who is non white, so nothing happens until they come and find you. But now you've got to dig this thing about Columbus real deep because you hate telling you that he discovered America and he was a dumb hunkey, I mean he was stupid, he died thinking he was in India. That's how dumb he was. And because he was stupid he titled the red man Indians and to this day they have the name because some dumb Hunkey thought he was in India. So you've got to understand that. That's how riddled with racism it is that you can't even recognize it. They don't even recognize how racist it is to say that Christopher Columbus discovered America and they never will admit it. They can't, They can't. Not only that if you wrote the rehistory of this country we would say that this country is a nation of thieves. It started off by stealing the country from the red men and committing genocide against him. Not only did it steal the country from the red man, it wasn't satisfied, it turned around and it stole us from Africa. You've got to understand that this country has been a nation of thieves, and is moving to become a nation of murders in Vietnam and we've got to stop this. Because we have to save our humanity. Let white America do as she will, but as black people we will save our humanity. This is very, very important. They start our kids off with the Roman Empire, with the Greek Empire, they never teach you about Africa, they make you ashamed of Africa. You ask kids, where are you from, I'm from Seattle, where is your grandmother from, from Kansas, and where is your great grandmother from, from Texas, and where your great great grandmother from mmmmmmmmmmm. SHE IS FROM AFRICA!!!!!! But you don't know anything about Africa because you have let white people define Africans as savages. You let them define them for you and you don't want to be a savage. You want to be white. You want to be so white that you don't want to be part of your brothers in Africa, you want to be so white that you'll go to the movies to watch Tarzan. You want to be so white that you sit up on that movie seat and yell for Tarzan to beat up your black brother, that's how white you want to be. You should recognize what they are doing to you. Here you are jumping up there, identifying with a white man, when he is dumb, he is dumb, he can't even speak, all he says is (Tarzan's war hoop). And your over there identifying with this white man because what they're telling you is here comes a hunkey from Europe, and because he's so smart and so intelligent and we're black and stupid he comes over to Africa and he knows the jungle better than us and we've been living there all of our lives. And when ever we get into trouble with the elephants we got to go to the great white father to talk to the elephants for us. Ain't that (something). What you have to recognize is what they have done is brain washed us. When you see Tarzan on TV you yell for your black brothers to come together and beat the hell out of that white man. But see that has been calculated by white America, that we will never find out about ourselves, because a people without its roots or people without its history is like a tree without its roots and we've been floating for 400 years. Disgustin. They didn't tell you that the first University in the world was the University of Timbuktu in Africa did they? They couldn't tell you that because you would begin to identify with Africa and feel proud with other black people. They tell you about the Roman Empire conquering the world. Did they tell you that Hannibal, a black man caught the (something) and beat the living day lights out of the Romans. That's right, Hannibal did it. And when they get ready to put Hannibal in the movies they put a hunkey like Victor Mateur playing Hannibal. Because they don't want you to know that Hannibal was black, but I'm here to tell you that he was a full black man. And clear up the alps and went into Italy and smashed the Romans, you ever see those Italian hunkeys running around here with dark complexion and brown eyes. Hannibal did that. The next time some Italian hunkey call you a nigger, tell him get away from my face, I'm your daddy. But they can't afford to tell you about the things that black people did because you would identify with them. They tell you about Napoléon Bonapart, did they tell you the little black man who was a slave named Tousad, in Haiti, beat him up and sent him back to France crying like a baby. They leave that out of your history books because they want you to be ashamed and when Napoleon got back to France his wife was Pregnant for a Pygmy. And when Napoleon looked at his wife he asked her what happens when the baby was born black, she said the little man was staring at me, and he said he must have had an awful penetrating stare, my dear. But they won't give you that in the history books, they give you white heroes to identify with, they mesmerize our minds, they give you George Washington, he's supposed to be a hero, here is a man who had you enslaved, sold a black woman for a barrel of molasses, and he's supposed to be my hero? Later for him. They can't tell you about Ned Turners and the Denmark Bessies can they. They can't tell you about them because they were fighters who beat up all kinds of white folk who were trying to make them slaves, that's why they won't tell because they want you to keep on being slaves, they want to define your very actions, it ain't going to happen today. All of those things in the schools are calculated to make us ashamed of ourselves. The most insidious things they could have done to us is to make us believe as a people that we are ugly. The criteria for beauty in this society is set by white folk, in the books you read, in the television programs you see, the movies, the magazines, the newspaper. If she is beautiful she's got thin nose, thin lips, skinny hair and white skin, and that's beauty. And they have made you believe that beauty so much that our women run around here bathing in (something) from morning til night. They have got us believing that so that our young men go out and 'conk' their hair so they can have straight hair to look beautiful. I hope you can take the truth, because they have mesmerized our women's minds so that they process their hair every Friday night. And the rest of them get their $50.00 and buy wigs. We have to as a people, gather strength to stand up on our feet and say our noses are broad, our lips are thick, our hair is nappy, we are black and beautiful. So that we don't have to be any longer ashamed of our selves and make our children think that they are ashamed so our parents won't tell us don't drink coffee because it makes you black. Bite in your lips because it's too thick. And I was surprised when I was at college to find a young man who wore a nose clip on his nose every night, but that's how they have messed up our minds. They have messed it up so much that every time you get ready to pick somebody who is beautiful, you'd pick somebody who is light, bright and damned near white. And our mother's keep telling us when you marry somebody make sure there hair is straight because I want to be (blank). That's how much they have messed up our minds, we are ashamed of ourselves and of our color of our skin. If you want to start a fight, call somebody black. YOU ARE BLACK AND BEAUTIFUL, STOP BEING ASHAMED OF WHAT YOU ARE!!!!

Once we stop being ashamed, we can move on because we can then begin to develop a concept of people hood. Are we so ashamed of each other, yea I'm going to (something), we'll stand here and here she come, she going to stand next to us. We're so Clanish won't go stand anywhere else, we always got to be together. We're so ashamed, we don't even want to see each other in a group. We are so ashamed of ourselves that we walk down the street and see a hunkey cop beating up one of us and know the hunkey cop is beating him up because he's black and keep walking right on by. We are so ashamed of ourselves that we watch our brothers and sisters get put out of their houses, put their furnitures on the street and we wait till night time to go and steal what we want.

We are so ashamed of ourselves that we're raping, plundering and murdering each other. That's how much ashamed we are. We have to build a concept of people hood where we recognize that we are all the same people, the same brothers and sisters so that we can move to the strength to tell them when you touch one of us you got to touch all of us. And when we can begin to move to that position, ain't none of them going to mess with any of us. But the reason is they know that they can come into our communities, beat us up, take our women, and we won't do nothing because we don't even want to associate with them. You better wake up, the rest of your brothers and sisters are coming together, They're not letting them come in there and pick on one anymore. That's what we've got to do. If they touch one they got to touch all. That is the only way we are going to survive as a people. You've got to understand that. Now I'm going to point out something to the older folk who get upset about this thing called law and order. They say well the trouble with that nigger and SNCC is they're going around there and they're stirring up trouble and breaking law and order and they talk so bad and so mean. Let me tell you. All the harsh words that we say in SNCC, we can never begin to match the treatment that white America has heaped upon us and continues to heap upon us. We can call them hunkeys until they turn red, we ain't even begun to match what they have done to us, so don't you get disturbed about the words. It's about time somebody spoke up. But you see our older folk talk about law and order because they don't recognize that you can have law and order and have injustice. This country has law and order, it don't have justice for black people. This land has the most efficient system of law and order, he couldn't spell justice. So what we are saying to them is that you may have law and order, but if you ain't got justice you ain't going to have no law and order. We tell them like Jesus Christ told them, I've come to bring the sword not the shield. I have come to turn son against father, mother against daughter, nation against nation, for where there is injustice there shall be no peace. And wherever the hunkeys are heaping injustices upon us in every city, we are going to tear it up. If they want peace in their country, they had better learn how to administer justice, if they don't know how we will teach them how. So you just explain to them law and order without justice ain't nothing but facism. Understand that, because we have to understand that these folks ain't playing with us. You see a lot of folk out there thinking they're playing. You remember Noah, he told the place, come on, everybody better get in this ark, you all come on and build this ark, the man's going to rain on you all for forty days and forty nights. UnUn we ain't going, the man's good to us, he ain't going to rain on, un un, I know the man, I worked for him all my life. He give me his old clothes, he's good to me. Noah went on and built the ark, and he rained on them for forty days and forty nights. And don't you all forget Moses, he told all them Uncle Toms you all better come on and leave this Pharo. Un Un this Pharo's good to me, Un Un he's good to me, yes sir, he pat me on the head, I could speak to him any time I wanted to speak to him. I go through his back door and have tea and cookies with him. And Moses said you all better come on with me through this Red Sea, because this Pharo is a mean man. Un Un, you're just a trouble maker, Pharo, You're just a trouble maker Moses, Pharo ain't done nothing to us, and Moses just went on through the Red Sea, he left them behind. When we walk on through today, we're leaving a whole lot of Uncle Toms behind. We have to begin to instill in our young people the right and the will to fight back. We don't have it. Did you ever see our young kids, ask them what their name is, mumble mumble mumble. What's your name? Mumble, mumble, mumble. You shouldn't laugh, it's very serious. You ask a white boy what his name is. MY NAME IS RICHARD!! We are so ashamed of ourselves that kids won't even hold their heads up high. They learn to bow down before white folks by the time they are nine years old and out there those people call themselves Christians. Did they forget the first commandment. Thou shalt have no other Gods before me.

They have taught us to bow down before white folk as if they were god and white people believe they are god. And that has been the fault of black folk because we lettthem believe they were God, we let them play god, but they don't understand when we tell them that play period is over and they better come on home. They think that everybody was put on this earth to benefit them and they use us against each other. Now I want to say two things before I sit down, I want to develop this concept to fight back and then I want to talk about Vietnam.

Now see, the only people that our children can identify with in school, in a school like this, is George Washington Carver and Booker T. Washington. Booker T. Washington was a super Tom and George Washington Carver was an ignorant Super Tom. Now the reason they teach our kids about Booker T. Washington was because he used his mouth to do two things. Eat and to say yea sir. And they want our kids to do the same thing, but I guess the reason they teach us about George Washington Carver, is because if white folk didn't have him they would eat Jelly Sandwiches for the rest of their lives. He was so stupid that every peanut butter factory in this country today is owned by white folk and he invented over one hundred uses for the peanut, and white folk got it all. He was so nice to them, did you see him? He used to go around and teach them, how to use the peanut and wouldn't come to his own people because we were too dumb and stupid and wern't cultured enough. Before I name our heroes for you I want to talk about this thing called culture. Cause the hunkeys are still the finest today. Did you ever hear them?

They are culturally deprived children. Are you up to that, and here you send you kids to school and they write in a paper "The cultural dep~~ro~~vation of the black race" Ain't that some junk? They say that we are culturally deprived. You all better let them in because they are going to charge me with inciting a riot. They wouldn't let us have the gymnasium and they are going to charge us with inciting to riot. Now let me tell you. Don't you ever let anybody say you are culturally deprived. Because what white folk are talking about is that they don't recognize our culture until they legitimatize it. Here they were teaching you in schools way down upon the Swannee River and My Old Kentucky Home was written by Stephen Foster. Ain't that some junk. They're going to tell you some hunkey wrote music like that about us and for us. He stole it, that's all he did. How could he know how to write it. The trouble is that they steal our music from us and then give it back and call it culture. Here come the Beatles singing our music they can't even harmonize and they are going to talk about (unintelligible). Here they come taking our kids to school talking about Music Appreciation. They teach them Bach, Grigaldi, Ragmonakov and all those others. And they say now lets bring it down to Modern Music and they play Gerschwin and they say and now we want to talk about Jazz. Kids here's the man who has led Jazz in America more than any other man. Benny Goodman. Brothers and Sisters. Do you know that Benny Goodman cannot carry the empty trumpet case of Miles Davis. They say we are culturally deprived. Culture is anything man made. If they say we are culturally deprived, they are denying our very existence. Don't let them do this to you. We've got culture, we've got Dr. W. E. B. DuBois. We've got County Coolin, we've got ~~Larry~~ Roy Jones, we've got Mahalia Jackson we've got (unintelligible). We've got the Stable Singers, we've got the mighty clouds of joy, we've got James Brown, we've got (unintelligible). And to put the icing on the cake we've got Rev. C. L. Franklin and his soulful daughter, Aretha Franklin. Sock it to me, Sock it to me, etc... The problem is that our culture is not legitimized. They have made us ashamed of it. Forget it. They have never had any culture, they have always stolen ours. That's a fact. The blues ain't theirs. Common be serious. We might let them get away with Bach, Beethoven was black, they won't even tell you that in school. He was a Spanish Moor, black as you and I. But they don't tell us that. It's calculated. I'ts calculated. We need for our kids, when they go to our school, to learn a number of things. They need to learn about Africa. It should be included in their curriculum. We don't want them teaching our kids German, they should teach them Swahili. You should learn Swahili so you can talk to your African brothers and the white man won't know what you are talking about. We need to know who our heroes are. Our books must have Frederick Douglas, they must have Denmark Bessie, they must have Nat Turner, they must have Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, they must have Richard Wright, they must have J. A. Rodgers, they must have Lerone Bennett, they must have County Collon, they must have Lané Lock, they must have Leroy George, and when you get the Judge, tell them you want to know about Malcom X. But you don't know anything about Malcom X, what do you know except what the hunkeys tell you. He preached hatred, he hated white folks, and white folk, right in the paper, they put black people on the last page on a special sheet, call you niggers and describe you every time you rape somebody and they got the nerve to tell you that one of your own hates white folk. And you believe them. You ought to get your copy of Malcom X Speaks or the Autobiography of Malcom X and read it yourself. And then when you read it you will stand up when you hear his name called. But you ought to know that. The history is that white people never let any black man who is speaking for you speak to you they always castrate, they always lynch him, they always kill him or today they kick him out of congress. You ought to know that anything they are against you should automatically be for. That's how come we knew black power was so good, we said the word and the whole white world came out against it, and we said that's it, we got it, black power. Now finally, about the war in Vietnam. Oh before we do that black people also have to learn how to support their movement. They give money to religion but we don't give money to our movements. So we will pass the collection plate during this and you should give some money to support what you believe in. You can't have nobody else pay for the Music they are going to call the tune. If you want to call the tune you've got to pay for the Music. Oh yes, somebody reminded me to use Paul Robeson, I apologize for leaving him out, a great black man. MARCUS GARVEY, got to do it, got to do it. We know all the rest, we don't want to talk about the Senators from Massachusetts. Bomb Hanoi. We have more bombs in Hanoi. Look how white we are. Don't call me a negro, call me a man first. Have you ever heard somebody Jewish get up and say changed my name, don't call me Goldberg, call me Smith because they're ashamed of their name, they're ashamed of their heritage. Have you ever heard a black man get up and say don't call me black, I'm a man. For me American first. That's what we want to talk about. American First. Because that has been the ~~dilemma~~ of the black man in this country. We have always tried to be Americans first and black people all the way down the end, and that's why we're catching hell, the way we are catching it today. You ask anybody in this country what they are and they say Polish American, Jewish American, etc. Hey what are you little boy? American Negro. Wants to be American first because he is so ashamed of himself. The very first man to die for the war of independence in this country was a black man named Christus Addis. The very first man. He was a fool. He died for white folk country while the rest of us black brothers were enslaved in this country. He should have been fighting white folk instead of dying for white folk but that has been the history of black people. We've always been dying for white folk. In the American Revolutionary War, they wouldn't let us fight because we were black and stupid and ignorant. Oh but we wanted to be Americans, brothers and sister, we wanted to be American so bad that we got out in our bare feet and tramped up and down the Eastern Shores of this country, training with wooden rifles, begging white folk to let us fight, and finally they came and they said good you can fight. And they had us fight, and we went out and fought the Indians in the war for independence like fools we should have teamed up with the Indians. But that was alright, we fought and we won the war.

Our blood was shed and they gave us a purple heart and patted us on the head and said that's a good nigger. The rest of our brothers was still in slavery, but we were fighting because we were good Americans. We wanted to prove to America how good we was to her. The Mexican - American War came and they were yelling about remember the Alamo. They never told you the Alamo was on Mexican territory but that's ok we went out there and we begged to fight. Here we were again fighting non white people, dying for the white man. The war wasn't even over and we were still in slavery. Then came the civil war. Our great white father, Abraham Lincoln was supposed to free us. Started the war in 1861 and didn't sign the Emancipation Proclamation of 1863 because the south was beating the living day lights out of the north and wouldn't even let us fight in the Civil War. He said we wern't fitting to fight. And Frederick Douglas, a great black man had to go to him and urge him to let us fight. And when the south was still winning he let us fight, but in segregated units. Said Mr. Lincoln, we wern't fitting to fight next to white men. Oh but we wanted to prove to America how good we were so we went out and fought in the Civil War. Then came World War I and they were drafting white people and they wouldn't draft us and we were ashamed. Oh draft us we cried. Please draft us. The NAACP begged them to draft us. Our forfathers ran to the draft table, we are good Americans, let us fight and they sent us over to Europe to make the world safe for democracy and we couldn't even spell the word democracy. That was in World War I. We didn't even come back. We didn't have a chance to take our uniforms off after World War I when they hung an entire platoon in Texas with our uniforms on our backs. Oh but we wern't, Oh not

us. We got to prove what good Americans we are so here come World War II and we're going to fight we are going to prove how good we are. Let us fight on the front lines. Let us stop this war. We must fight, we are good Americans, let us take Pork Chop Hill.. Let us fight in Poland to stop Hitler and our fathers gave their lives in Poland to stop Hitler from running over the Poles and in 1966 a Polish hunkey in Cigero will throw a rock at us and tell us get out of this neighborhood. Oh, but not us, we were good Americans, we were going to fight. And you ought to read MR. Langston Youths, Will Fight for Freedom, the History of the NAACP. He tells you in Texas there was a prison camp and black Americans soldiers who were going to Europe to fight for this country were bringing home Nazi Prisoners and they put them on a train in New York and when they get to Washington, D. C., the white Nazi who were enemies of this country sat in the front of the train and the niggers had to sit in the back. Oh but we wanted to prove what good Americans we are. May I remind you that in World War II we fought in segregated units. Oh but that wasn't enough, we wanted to be good Americans, so Mr. A. Philip Randolph in 1947 and 1948 mounts a campaign to integrate the troops and Truman get white enough and he integrates the troops and here comes our chance Korea, at last our chance to fight with our white brothers. Oh we must stop Communism at any price was the cry and it was our blood that paid the price. It was our blood that stopped Communism at any price. And our uncles came back to this country with one leg and one arm, only to walk into a store and have some foreigner slam the door in his face and say get out my store, nigger. But we wanted to prove what good Americans we were in the Vietnamese war, let America prove something to us. We will not fight in their war. How could you let them destroy your humanity. How could you let them put you in a uniform and go fight people who have never done anything to you. How could you? When are we going to get the strength to tell this country we will not let her destroy us. You see that hunkey MacNamara on television. He ain't nothing but racist standing up there talking about Yes we're going to draft 30% of the negros in the Army. This is where they can have equal opportunities. Yes, Yes it's true that they're only 10% of the population but this is a better chance for them. When that Hunkey talk about drafting about drafting 30% of black people he is talking about Black Urban Removal. Nothing else. You have got to understand that that war on Vietnam is calculated to get rid of us. 35% of the people who die in Vietnam are us, by their figures. So you know what the true figures really are. You are to stand up like the greatest, the prettiest Muhammad Ali, and you are to tell them we are not going to fight your war. You get up on your feet and tell them that war is for the birds. Lynden Bird, Lady Bird and Lucy Bird. You tell them we are no longer going to kill people just because a hunkey says kill. You tell them when we decide to kill we will decide who we are going to kill. You have to recognize what they are doing. Dr. Martin Luther King was a great leader of his people until he came out against the war in Vietnam. Then all of a sudden he's not fitting to lead us anymore because the hunkey still think they are picking our leaders for us today. You stand back behind Dr. Martin Luther King, 100% behind him. And you tell them that on the question of Vietnam he is nice to them on how we really feel about it. So you tell them they better be happy with Dr. King. Because when some of us get going we know who we are going to kill. So you tell them they better be happy Dr. King is as nice as he is about that war in Vietnam. OUR BLOOD HAS BEEN SPILLED INSIDE OUT FOR THIS COUNTRY, AND ALL WE GOT TO SHOW FOR IT IS SOME HUNKEY CALLING US NIGGER, RAT AND WRECHED AND SLUM, ALL OVER THE MOST POWERFUL COUNTRY IN THE WORLD!!! OUR GUTS AND BLOOD HAVE BEEN SPILLED FOR THIS COUNTRY AND WE GO TO THE WORST SCHOOLS CAN PRODUCE. We who have spilled our guts and blood for this country. Our Guts and our blood have been spilled for this country. It's time we spill them for our people. Thank You.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL AT THE

May 19, 1967

Seattle, Washington

Why don't you all read an article with the depth of the Massachusetts Quarterly Review entitled Towards Black Liberation (unintelligible) paper and then we could have some discussion afterwards. I understand that the press has not been doing too good a job covering the activities of SNCC. I don't think they will be able to cover the lecture today because it is on an intellectual level. But since you are college students I know you'll be able to deal with the lecture. I'm sorry that Professor Hunt had to take so much time reaffirming free speech, I just assumed it was a natural thing, they taught it to me in school. One of the most pointed illustrations of the need for black power as a positive and redemptive force in a society degenerating into a form of totalitarianism is to be made by examining the history of distortion that the concept has received in the national media of publicity. This debate as in everything else that affects our lives black people are dependent on and at the discretion of forces and institutions within the white society which have little interest in representing us honestly. Our experience with the National Press has been that where they have managed to escape the most vicious special interests in "Get whity" sensationalism and race war mongering, individual reporters and commentators have been conditioned by the developing racism of the society to the point where they are incapable even of objective observations and reporting of racial incidents much less the analysis of ideas.

But this limitation of visions and deception is an inevitable consequence of the dictatorship of definition, interpretations and consciousness along with the censorship of history that the society has inflicted upon black people and consequently upon itself. Our concern for black power addresses itself directly to this problem. The necessity for black people to reclaim our history and our identity from the cultural terrorism and depravation of self justifying while guilt. To do this we shall have to struggle for the right to create our own terms through which to define our selves and our relationship to the society and to have these terms recognized. This is the first necessity of a free people and the first right that any oppressor must suspend. Now we feel very strongly about that in SNCC, the right to define, the (unintelligible) philosophers feel that it is very important, the ability for man to define himself, (?) for example, on the first page of the Rebel tells us that when the slaves stop accepting the definition of slave imposed upon him by his master, then and only then does he begin to create a life for himself. That's very important, we see examples of that all the time. The trouble with the world today is that white western society as opposed to western civilization which has been a misnomer, white western society has named and defined everyone, and the people are trapped by those definitions. Let me give an example. We watch the television (idiot box) and we have the red man and the white man, and they are engaged in a battle, the white man is losing and he calls for the calvary and the calvary comes out and they are riding very white and very proper and they get off their horses and they load their guns and they systematically shoot all the red men. They kill them all and then they ride back to the fort and there is a white woman standing at the door and she said, "what happened?" And they answered, "we had a victory, we killed all the Indians". And everyone applauds. Now when the reverse happens, when the red man beat up the white man and there is one man left hanging over a horse and she says, "what happened?" and he says, "those dirty Indians came and massacred us." You've got to understand that in your mind. What they are saying is that a massacre is less honorable than a victory so that the red man will never be able to match the white man, he will always have a massacre and I guess maybe they have something to that, because in a victory you shoot people to death and in a massacre you cut them to death, and I guess if we're going to die we'd rather be shot than cut. That's also very prevalent today on television in the news. I don't know if you ever watch the editorial twins of America, Huntley and Brinkley, but if you ever watch them, particularly when they talk about the war in Vietnam, one usually says those dirty, filthy communist Viet Cong Rebels, disgusting people, threw a molotov cocktail today and wounded 17 of our civilians. Then the other guy comes on and says, "In the mean time our good GIs have been bombing the hell out of the North Vietnam. And the implication is that it is bad to throw molotov cocktails but it is ok if you bomb. The white fathers of American racism knew this instinctively it seems, as it is indicated by the continuous record of the distortion and the omission in their dealings with the red and black men. That is also very clear with this cat called Christopher Columbus who discovered America even though there were people here when he got there. But because white Western society had the power to define, they had defined the red man as an Indian and they did that because Columbus was stupid, he died thinking he was in India, that's how dumb he was and he called red people Indians and because of that they're stuck with the name Indians and he didn't even know that he was in the United States of America. In the same way the Southerner apologises, for her Jim Crow society have so muddled, obscured and misrepresented the records of the reconstruction period until it is almost impossible to tell what really happened during that period. Their contemporary counter-parts are busy doing the same thing with the history of the civil rights movement.

Just one word about the gentlemen of the press. They ~~are~~ usually have names that they give to us like racists, reverse racists, and anti-whites and I have yet to see one black man among them when they come to report about SNCC. In 1964 for example, the National Democratic Party, lead by L. B. Johnson and boy wonder H. H. Humphreys. In SNCC we call them Batman and Robin because they run a (unintelligible) Government. In the black community H. H. Humphrey stands for Handkerchief Head Humphrey. Handkerchief Head is someone who is more (?) than an Uncle Tom, he's an unconditional yes man. I don't know if you dug Lynden when he delivered his State of the Johnson message to the Union back in January or February, but if you were able to dig him, while he was speaking the cameras

and deeds and then and this is equally sinister, it occurs in the recordings of those facts and deeds. The black power program and concepts which is being articulated by the Student Non Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), the Congress of Racial Equality and the hosts of community organizations in the ghettos of the north and the south has not escaped this process. The white press has been busy articulating their own analysis, their own interpretations, and criticisms of their own creations and we were very disturbed about that and all we said were two simple words, black power, and the white world came down against us and I couldn't figure out why, we hadn't even been given a chance to define it, but I was reading Mr. George Bernard Shaw a couple of weeks after and he has a phrase which I think is quite apropos for the press. This phrase is "All criticism is in fact an autobiography". For example while the press is giving wide and sensational dissertations to attacks made by figures in the civil rights movement, foremost among which are Mr. Roy Wilkins of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and his counter part, Mr. Whitney Young of the National Urban League and to the hysterical rantings about black racism made by the political (?) that now serves as a Vice President. It has generally failed to give accounts of the reasonable and productive dialogue which is taking place in the black community and in certain important areas in the white religions and in the intellectual communities of this country. A national committee of influential black church men affiliated with the National Council of Churches despite their obvious respectability and responsibility had to resort to paid advertisements to articulate their positions while anyone shouting the historical yappings of black racisms got ample space. Thus the American people have gotten at best a superficial and misleading account of the very terms and tenure of this debate. I wish to quote from a statement made by the National Committee of Churchmen which I expect the majority of Americans would not have seen. It appeared in the New York Times, last years July 31. The churchmen had to pay to get their views articulate in the three quarter section advertisement. I wanted to read this quite at length because I wanted to let you know that inside the black community there are some intelligent black people other than the ones you always see who are ignorant and usually denouncing black power, their only fame to claim. I wish to quote. "We, an informed group of negro churchmen in America are deeply disturbed about the crisis brought upon our country by historic distortions of important human realities in the controversy about black power. What we see shining through the variety of rhetoric is not anything new, but the same old problem of power and race which has faced our beloved country since 1619. The conscience of black men is corrupted because having no power to implement the demand of conscience, the concern for justice in the absence of justice becomes a chaotic self surrender. Powerlessness breeds a race of beggers. We are faced now with the situation where powerless conscience meets conscienceless power". I wish to repeat that phrase because I feel that it is axiomatic to race relations in this country today. We are faced now with a situation where powerless conscience meets conscienceless power threatening the very foundations of our nation. We deplore the overt violence of riots but we feel it is more important to focus on the real sources of these eruptions. These sources may be imbedded inside the Ghetto but their basic cause lies in the silent and covert violence which white middle class Americans inflict upon the victims of the inner city. In short the failure of American leaders to use American power to create equal opportunities in life as well as law, this is the real problem and not the angry cry of black power. Without the capacity to participate with power, that is to have some organized political and economic strength to really influence people with whom one interacts, integration is not meaningful. American has asked its negro citizens to fight for opportunity as individuals whereas at certain points in our history what we have needed most has been opportunity for the whole group, not just for selected and approved negroes. We must not apologize for the existence of this form of group power for we have been oppressed as a group and not as individuals. We will not find our way out of that oppression until we and American accept the need for negro Americans as well as the Jews, Italians, Poles and White Anglo Saxon Protestants among others to have and to wield group power. Traditionally for each new ethnic group the route to social and political integration in to America's pluristic society has been through the organization of their own institutions with which to represent their communal needs within the largest society. Simply stated, this is what the advocates of black power are talking about. This flagrant outcry, particularly from the liberal communities that has been evoked by this proposal can only be understood by examining the historic relationship between black people and the white power structure in this country. Blacks are defined by two forces. Our blackness and our powerlessness. There have been traditionally two communities in America. The white community which is controlled and defines the forum that all institutions within the society would take. And the black community, which has been excluded from the participation in the power decisions that shaped the society and have traditionally been dependent upon and subservient to the white community. This has not been accidental. The history of every institution of this society indicates the major concern in the order and structuring of the society has been the maintaining of the black community in its condition of dependence and oppression. This has not been on the level of individual acts of racism between individual whites against individual blacks but as total acts by the white community against the black community. This fact cannot be too strongly emphasized but racist assumptions of white superiority have been so deeply engrained in the structure of this society that it infuses its entire functioning and is so much a part of the national subconscious that it is taken for granted and is frequently not even recognized. Let me give an example of the difference between individual racism and what we in SNCC call institutionalized racism and the societies response to both.

When unidentified white terrorists bomb a black church and kill five black children, that is an act of individual racism widely deplored by most segments of the society, both white and black. But when in that same city, Birmingham, Alabama, not five but 500 black babies die each year because of lack of proper food, shelter and medical facilities and thousands more black people are destroyed and maimed physically, emotionally and educationally because of conditions of poverty and deprivation in the Ghetto, that is a function of institutionalized racism. But the society pretends either that it doesn't know of the situation or it is incapable of doing anything meaningful about it. And this resistance to doing anything meaningful about conditions in the Ghetto comes from the fact that the Ghetto is itself a product of a combination of forces and special interests inside the white community, and the groups who have access to the resources and power to change that situation, benefit politically, economically from the very Ghetto. It is more than a figure of speech to say then that the black community in America is the victim of white imperialism and colonial exploitations. This is in practical, economic and political terms true. For those of you who take philosophy it is called a truism. There are over 20,000,000 black people, comprising 10% of this nation. For the most part we live in well defined areas of the country in the shanty towns and rural black bug areas of the south, and increasingly in the slums of northern and western industrial cities. If one goes into any black community, whether it be Jackson, Mississippi; Los Angeles, California or Boston, Massachusetts, one will find that the same combination of political, economic and social forces are at work. The people in the black communities do not control the resources of that community, its political decisions, its law enforcement, its housing standards, even the physical ownership of the land, houses and stores lie outside that community. It is white power that makes the laws. It is violent white power in the form of armed white cops that enforces those laws with guns and night sticks. The vast majority of black people in this country live in these communities and must endure these conditions of oppression because and only because we are black and powerless. I do not suppose there is any point when the men who control the power and resources of this country ever sat down and designed these black (unintelligible) and formerly articulated the terms of their colonial and dependent status as was done for example by the (unintelligible) government of South Africa which this country supports, yet one cannot distinguish between one Ghetto and another. As one moves from city to city it is as though some malignant racist planning unit has done precisely this, designed each one from the same master blueprint, and in deed if the Ghetto had been formally and deliberately planned instead of growing spontaneously and inevitably from the racist functioning of the various institutions that combine to make the society it would be somehow less frightening. The situation would be less frightening if these Ghettos were the result of design and conspiracy one could understand their similarity as being artificial and consciously imposed rather than the result of identical patterns of white racism which repeat themselves in cities as distant as Boston is to Watts. Without bothering to list the historic factors which contribute to this pattern, economic exploitation, political impotence, discrimination of employment and education, one can see that to correct this pattern will require far reaching changes in the power relationships and the in-grown social patterns within the society. The question is, of course, what kind of changes are necessary and how is it possible to bring them about.

According to the advocates of integration, social justice will be accomplished by, and I quote, "integrating the negro into the mainstream institutions of the societies for which he has been traditionally excluded". It is very significant that each time I've heard this formulation, it has been in terms of the negro, the individual negro, rather than in terms of the entire black community. This concept of integration had to be based on the assumption that there was nothing of value in the black community and that little of value could be created among black people. For the thing to do was to syphon off the acceptable black into the surrounding middle class white community. Thus the goals of the movement to integration was simply to loosen up the restrictions barring the entry of black into the white community. Goals around which the struggle took place, such as public accommodations, open housing, job opportunities on the executive level, are quite simply middle class goals articulated by a tiny group of black people who have middle class aspirations. Now I do believe that the press had quite a bit to do with that again because they were interpreting once again a movement for us in the early 1960s. You know you would see them on television and they would say black people have been marching in Selma,

Alabama today, Jim Clark has ridden over them with horses, he has beaten them up, he's (unintelligible), he's shot at them, he's whipped them, but still they are marching to integrate and on the next day they would say black people from the north have come to join their brothers in the south. They are marching in the streets again, Jim Clark has beaten them, rode his horses on them, saddle (unintelligible) them, horse whipped them, taken them to jail, but they are still marching to integrate. So I decided to carry that out to its logical conclusion. It appeared to me that what they were saying was that I left the north to go to Alabama to sit next to Jim Clark's daughter, sister or his mama. Obviously I never went there to sit next to Mr. Clark's daughter, sister, or his mama. I went to Alabama to render that hunky impotent over my life and there is a big difference. The difference is in the first you are fighting to sit next to Jim Clark so somehow you are going to civilize him. I don't think that it is possible. The other is and the most correct position is that you are fighting against white supremacy and that is where the fights have always been. Nobody wants to sit next to Jim Clark, he's uncivilized. But what people want to do is to render the white supremacists powerless. That is very important and I understand why the news reporters couldn't say that because for them to say that they would have to admit that in the land of the home and the gree and the brave and all that other garbage there existed some white men who were white supremacists who had power and they used their power against black people whenever they felt like it but it should be crystal clear in your minds to day that black people weren't fighting to sit next to anybody who was fighting against white supremacy because the concept of the forum was really bad you know, we've become Joe black, (Unintelligible). Such a limited class (unintelligible) was reflected not only in the programs and goals of the civil rights movement but in its tactics and organization. It is very significant that the two oldest and most respectable civil rights organizations have constitutrönn (when I become five fifths I'll be able to say the whole word). Anyway they have these things which specifically prohibit partisan political activities. (Complete sentence unintelligible) But this is perfectly understandable in terms of the strategy and goals of the older organizations. But the civil rights movement serves a role as a kind of liason between the powerful white community and the dependent black community. The dependent status of the black community apparently was unimportant since if the movement was successful it was going to belnd into the white community anyway. We made no pretense of organizing and developing institutions of community power in the black community but in appealing to the conscience of white institutions of power. The posture of the civil rights movement was that of the dependent, the suppliant. The theory was that without attempting to create any organized base of political strength itself the civil rights movement could by forming coalitions with various liberal pressure organizations in the white community liberal reform clubs, labor unions, church groups, progressive civic organizations and at times one or other of the major political parties influence national legislation and national social patterns. I believe we have all seen limitations of this approach. We have repeatedly seen that political alliances based on appeal to conscience and decency are chancy things. Simply because institutions and political organizations have no consciences outside their own special interest. The political and social rights of black people have been and always will be negotiable and expendable the moment they conflict with the interest of our so called allies. If we do not learn from history the philosopher (?) reminds us then we are doomed to repeat it and this is precisely the lesson that black people must learn from the reconstruction period. In the south they come into being a party called the Populist Party. One of its major spokesmen was Tom Watson. Mr. Watson was running for office in a county in Georgia which had forty percent black people of voting age. In order for him to win the position he needed the black votes. So Mr. Watson like some liberal people who will need the black vote in 1972 to become President, went around Georgia articulating a liberal philosophy. Said Mr. Watson, "Poor black and poor white should come together and they should vote because they are fleeced and oppressed by rich white. Black people believed Mr. Watson and joined the Populist Party and organized as an independent force. That was a decision made by a white man, Mr. Watson. No blacks were asked about that decision. When Mr. Watson tried to make this party National, to bring it out of the south, he started to coalesce with the farmers in the west. His party was too weak to take on the Industrial East. When he tried to coalesce to the economic interests of the Farmers in the west conflicted with the economic interest of the blacks. Mr. Watson became a vicious racist leading lynch mobs himself and driving black people out of the party. Just because black people had not organized themselves independently first Mr. Watson could make two major decisions affecting our lives and we could not even threaten any of those decisions. Today that is not going to happen again. We will first organize ourselves independently, if people become racist at least we can disrupt. Thus, at this point in the struggle blacks have no assurance save a kind of idiot optimism and faith in a society whose history is one of racism but if it is to become necessary even the painfully limited gains thrown to a civil rights movement by the congress will not be revoked as soon as a shift in political sentiment should occur. The major limitation of this approach was that it tended to maintain the traditional dependence of black and of the movement. We depended upon the good will and support of various groups within the white community whose interests were not always compatible with ours. To the extent that we depended upon their good will and support we were vulnerable to their influence and domination. Also the program that evolved out of this coalition was really limited and inadequate in the long term and one which affected only a small selected group of black people. Its goal was to make the white community accessible to qualified black people and presumably each year a few more black people armed with their passports, a couple of university degrees would escape into white middle class

America, adopt the attitudes and life styles of their group and one day the Harlems and the Watts would stand empty, a tribute to the success of integration. This is simply neither realistic nor is it particularly desirable. You can integrate the communities but you assimilate individuals. Even if such a program was possible its results would be not to develop the black community as a functional and honorable segment of the total society with its own cultural identity, life patterns and institutions but to abolish it. The final solution to race problems in this country, Karl Marx reminds us that the working class is the first class of people that ever wished to abolish themselves. If one were to listen very closely to some of our moderate negro leaders, you would think that the black people were the first people that wished to abolish themselves. The fact is that what must be abolished is not the black community but the dependent colonial status that has been inflicted upon it. The racial and cultural personality of the black community must be preserved and the community must win its liberation while preserving its cultural integrity. This is the essential difference between integration as it is currently practiced and the concept of black power. And what has the movement for integration accomplished to date, that the black person graduating from MIT with a doctorate will have better job opportunities available to him than to Lynda Bird Johnson. But the rate of unemployment in the black community is steadily increasing, while that in the white community decreases. More educated black people hold executive jobs in major corporations and federal agencies than ever before but the gap between white income and black income has almost doubled in the last 20 years. More suburban housing is available to black people if they can stand the rocks, but housing conditions in the Ghetto are still declining. While the infant mortality rates of New York City is at its lowest rate ever in the city's history the mortality rate of blacks in Harlem is steadily climbing. There has been an organized national resistance to the Supreme Court order to integrate the schools. Less than 6% of black children in the south attend so called integrated schools and 94% of our youth are still left in segregated schools which are increasingly decrepit, over crowded, under staffed, inadequately outfitted and under funded. It is time we turn our attention to the 94% of our youth. This explains why the rate of school drop outs is increasing among black teenagers who then express their bitterness, hopelessness and alienation by the only means they have through immitating this society, via violence. As long as people in the Ghettos of our large cities feel that we are the victims of the misuse of white power without any way to have our needs represented and these are frequently simple needs, we will continue to have rebellions. These are not the products of black power. But the absence of any organization capable of giving the community the power, the black power that it needs to deal with its problems. SNCC proposes that it is now time for the black liberation movement to stop pandering to the fears and anxieties of white middle class America in an attempt to earn its goodwill and to return to the Ghettos to organize these communities to control themselves. This organization must be attempted in northern and southern urban areas as well as in the rural black belt areas of the south. The chief antagonists to this organization is in the south. The overly racists democratic party and in the north the equally racist and just as corrupt big city machines. The standard argument presented against independent political organization is that you are only 10%. I cannot see the relevance of this observation since no one is talking about taking over the country, God knows we wouldn't know what to do with this monster, but taking control over our very own communities. The fact is that the black population 10% or not, is very strategically placed ironically because of segregation. What is also true is that blacks have never been able to utilize the full voting potential of our numbers. Where we could vote, the case has always been that the white political machine stacks and gerrymanders the political sub division in the black community so that true voting strength is never reflected in political power. Would anyone for example looking at the distribution of political power in Manhattan ever think that black people represented 60% of the population there. Just as often the effective political organization in black communities is absorbed by tokenism and patronage, the time honored practice of giving certain offices to selected negroes. The machine does create a little machine which is subordinate and responsive to it in the black communities, the so called black political leaders are really vote deliverers more responsible to the white machine and the white power structure than to the community they allegedly represent, thus the white community is able to substitute patronage control for what Mr. Powell called audacious black power in the black community. This is precisely what Lynden Bains Johnson tried to do even before the voting rights act of 1965 was passed.

The National Democrats made it clear, crystal clear that the measure was intended to register Democrats, not black people. The President and top officials of the Democratic party called in almost 100 selected black leaders from the deep south. Nothing was said about changing the policies of the racist state parties. Nothing was said about repudiating such leadership figures as Eastlund and Ross Barnett in Mississippi or George and Lurleen Wallace in Alabama, but in SNCC we don't say anything about her because we have come to find out that the Governor of Alabama is a mother, and we are for motherhood. What was simply said, and I quote, was "Go home and organize your people into the local Democratic Party, then we will see about poverty money and appointments, mah fellow Americans". We must organize black community power to end these abuses and to give the black community a chance to have its needs expressed. A leadership which is truly responsible not to the white press and the white power structure, but to the community will be developed. Such leadership will recognize that its power lies in the unified and collective strength of the black community. This will make it difficult for the white leadership group to conduct its dialogue with individuals in terms of patronage and prestige and would force them to talk to the community representatives in terms of real black power. The single aspect then of the black power program that has encountered most criticism is this concept of independent political organization. This is presented as third partyism which has never worked or it would grow into black nationalism and black isolationism which leads to reverse racism. If such a program is developed it will not have the effect of isolating the black community but the reverse. When the black community is able to control local offices and negotiate with other groups from a position of organized strength, the possibility of meaningful political alliances on specific issues will be increased. That is a rule of politics and there is no reason why it should not operate here. The only difference is that we will have the power to define the terms of these alliances. The revolution in Agricultural Technology in the south is displacing the rural black community into northern-western urban areas. Both Washington, D. C., and Newark, New Jersey have black majorities. One third of Philadelphia's population of two million people is already black. The inner city in most major urban areas is already predominately black, and with the white rush to suburbia blacks will in the next two decades, control the heart of our great cities. These areas can become either concentration camps with a bitter population whose only power is the power to destroy, or organized powerful communities, able to make constructive contributions to the total society. Without the power, the black power, to control our lives in our communities without effective political institutions through which to relate to the total society our communities will exist in a constant state of insurrection. This is a choice that white America will have to make. Thank you.

[REDACTED] TO JACKSONVILLE, FLORIDA
AUGUST 9, 1967

On July 19, 1967, Levy Wilcox, President, Jacksonville Chapter, Southern Christian Leadership Conference, (SCLC) held a press conference in Jacksonville, Florida, and advised local news media that Stokely Carmichael, ex-Chairman of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) has accepted an invitation to speak in Jacksonville, Florida, on August 9, 1967. He advised that Carmichael will be accompanied by H. Rap Brown, current Chairman SNCC and probably several other representatives of SNCC.

The Florida Star, weekly Negro newspaper, Jacksonville, Florida, dated July 22, 1967, carried headlines "Stokely Carmichael Coming to Jax." The article is quoted as follows:

"Black Power" Advocate Due in Jacksonville.

"Violence shy citizens stirred somewhat uneasily this week when it announced last Wednesday that "Black Power" advocate Stokeley Carmichael is coming to Jacksonville, to deliver an address.

EXECUTIVE SECRETARY SOUTHERN

It isn't that Stokely's name is synonymous with riots or violence. One of his co-workers, Moses Davis, President of the Jacksonville Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) pointed out there have been riots in Tampa and Newark and Stokeley was not there. However, none can forget that violence broke out in Nashville, Tenn., Atlanta and Prattville, Ala., when the Black Power advocate and his sidekick H. Rap Brown appeared on the scene.

British ban on Stokely Carmichael

BY A STAFF REPORTER

Mr. Stokely Carmichael, aged 26, the militant American Negro leader and advocate of black power, who recently visited Britain will not be permitted to return.

Mr. Jenkins, Home Secretary, gave the Commons this assurance yesterday.

In a written reply he said: "Having considered a report on this man's recent activities I have decided that his presence here is not conducive to the public good. He has now left, and I do not propose to allow him to reenter the country."

The ban on Mr. Carmichael comes after complaints that his speeches were virulently anti-white and called for racial violence.

Mr. Carmichael left Britain unexpectedly on Tuesday, after cancelling a speech at Reading.

Stokely Going To Cuba Parley

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) —Stokely Carmichael, American Black Power advocate, plans to attend next week's Havana conference aimed at brewing revolutions, the Cuban radio said today.

Carmichael confirmed in London his plans to attend the conference as an observer, said a broadcast monitored in Miami.

"We are going to be reunited with you in Havana because we think the Cuban victory is our victory and the courage of the Cuban people inspires our fight," the radio quoted Carmichael as saying.

Leftists and revolutionaries from throughout Latin America have begun arriving in Communist Cuba for the conference sponsored by the Latin-American Solidarity Organization — OLAS — an outspoken anti-United States body.

Carmichael left Britain Monday for Prague amid reports he was on his way to North Vietnam. For more than a week in Britain, Carmichael spoke at meetings in the sections of London where most Negroes live.

Stokely Says Negroes Plan Fight to Death

HAVANA (AP) — Stokely Carmichael was quoted by the Cuban news agency Prensa Latina Tuesday as saying American Negroes are organizing urban guerrillas for "a fight to the death."

The U.S. Black Power advocate arrived in Havana to attend a conference of the revolution-bent Latin American Organization of Solidarity, opening July 31.

Wearing a black jacket and white shirt open at the collar, Carmichael stepped off a Cuban Airline plane from Prague, Czechoslovakia, and was taken to a private room at the airport, where Western newsmen were unable to talk with him.

He was met by Capt. Osmany Cienfuegos, secretary-general of the leftist Tricontinental Congress and a member of the Central Committee of the Cuban Communist party. Carmichael was booked at the Hotel Habana Libre.

Carmichael flew Monday from Britain to Prague.

Though he was screened from Western correspondents at the Havana airport, Prensa Latina quoted him as saying in a London interview that racial disorders in New Jersey and Michigan were virtual rebellions.

According to the agency's account:

"In Newark we applied war tactics of the guerrillas," he said. "We are preparing groups of urban guerrillas for our defense in the cities. The price of these rebellions is a high price that one must pay. This fight is not going to be a simple street meeting. It is going to be a fight to the death."

Black Power Leader Vows 'Fight To Death'

HAVANA (AP) — Stokely Carmichael says Negroes in American cities are going to wage a guerrilla "fight to the death," the Cuban news agency reported Tuesday as the U.S. Black Power leader arrived in Havana for a revolutionary conference.

The Prensa Latina agency quoted the fiery 26-year-old Negro as saying: "In Newark we applied war tactics of the guerrillas. We are preparing groups of urban guerrillas for our defense in the cities. The price of these rebellions is a high price that one must pay. This fight is not going to be a simple street meeting. It is going to be a fight to the death."

The Black Power leader came to Havana for the meeting of the Latin American Organization of Solidarity opening July 31. U.S. racial problems are on the meeting's agenda.

Carmichael flew from London to Prague Monday and then to Havana. Non-Communist newsmen were not allowed to approach him at the Havana airport.

Revolutions Urged

In the Prensa Latina interview, which the agency said Carmichael gave in London, he said he decided to come to Cuba because of an April message attributed to the vanished Cuban guerrilla leader Ernesto "Che" Guevara. The message urged Latin-American revolutionaries to stir up more Vietnam-like situations.

Carmichael said Guevara inspired American Negroes and that Prime Minister Fidel Castro's visit to Harlem in 1960 was momentous "in the history of the fight of Northland."

American Negroes."

In the United States, the Alabama state Senate in a resolution asked that Carmichael be denied re-entry to the United States and called him "a blasphemous and profane Communist revolutionary."

The resolution, sponsored by the legislature's lone Republican, Sen. Leland Childs of Jefferson county, charged that Carmichael has gone through the country "advocating and initiating riots, rebellions and the overthrow of law and order."

Carmichael has apparently gone to Cuba without the U.S. passport authorization normally required for such travel.

A State Department spokesman in Washington said that to the best of his knowledge Carmichael's passport has not been validated for a visit to the Communist Caribbean is-

NEWS ANALYSIS

Carmichael's Cuban Role Disservice to U. S. Negro

By James Reston

HAVANA — Stokely Carmichael is playing a miserable game down here. He is not only condemning his own country abroad, but he is misleading Fidel Castro and the other revolutionary Communists from Latin America about the condition and power of the Negroes in America.

The facts are fairly plain. His black power policy has not gained popular support among the Negro community in the United States. He has lost his base as head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. He has come here from Communist Europe without a legal passport to take part in a viciously anti-U.S. meeting of the most revolutionary fragments of the Latin-American Communist parties, and he is strutting around Havana as a symbol of the American Negroes, most of whom have rejected his leadership.

He is clearly operating now, not only outside the legal framework of the U.S. government, but outside the structure of the Negro protest movement in the United States as well. Even the official Communist newspapers in Havana are confused about him. One of them referred to him, not as an advocate of racial separation and black power, but as a leader of the integrationist movement in the United States. One of his aides remarked: "They obviously haven't got Stokely's message."

CARMICHAEL IS TOO intelligent and cynical not to know what he is doing. He has given up on trying to persuade the Negroes at home to follow his black power thesis, and, either consciously or unconsciously, is making an alliance with the radical revolutionary Communists in Latin America. He is using them, and they, in turn, are using him, probably to the detriment of both the American Negroes and the militant Latin-American Communists.

Carmichael does not even pretend that he is trying to make an objective case for his argument. At least he is apparently not willing to submit it to questioning. He called a news conference here in Havana Tuesday, and excluded everybody from the United States. He had two lists for the news conference, not only those invited, but those excluded, and even the representative of the U.S. Communist party press was not allowed to attend.

Nevertheless, Castro seems very pleased with Stokely's adventure. He has not only introduced Carmichael publicly to half a million Cubans and the entire Havana diplomatic corps as "one of the most distinguished pro-civil rights leaders in the United States," but has taken him off on a two-day tour of Eastern Cuba alone.

EVEN CASTRO'S MOST sympathetic supporters in the diplomatic corps think the dramatic liaison between Stokely and Fidel is very odd. It obviously does not help the Negro struggle in the United States to have Castro identifying it as one "front" in the Communist war against "U.S. imperialism." And it does not help Castro to follow the Carmichael thesis that "in the event of serious trouble between the United States and Cuba, the American Negroes will oppose their own government."

Yet that is the impression that is being given here by Carmichael's visit to Havana, and Castro's emphasis on the significance of Stokely's presence here. The Cuban government has gathered here for a meeting of the Organization of Latin American Solidarity, an astonishing collection of Communist revolutionaries who are more militant than most of the established Communist parties of the hemisphere. The theme of the conference is that the way to frustrate and defeat American imperialism is to have a number of armed revolts against the established governments, including especially the U.S. government, and the Negro revolt in the United States is included in those revolts, with the support of Carmichael.

He is quite blunt about it. He told this reporter the other day in Santiago de Cuba: "If the United States gets into serious trouble with Cuba, the white boys are going to fight it out alone. And the rest of us will be fighting against any U.S.-Cuban battle at home."

CASTRO MAY NOT believe Stokely, but he is obviously using him, and this is highly ironical. For whatever else Cuba is, it is not a racist state. There is probably less antiracial and antireligious feeling here than in any other nation in the hemisphere. Carmichael, with his policy of racial separatism and black power, could not be further from Castro's policy of total racial integration. But Stokely is here, representing little more than himself, and Castro is playing him up as if he had the support of the entire Negro community in the United States. It is a squalid business, which hurts everybody concerned: Carmichael especially, Castro, the revolutionary movement in the hemisphere, and particularly, and sadly, the American Negro.

Carmichael Issues Call For Uprisings

By FENTON WHEELER

HAVANA (AP) — Black Power advocate Stokely Carmichael called yesterday for Negro guerrilla uprisings in U.S. cities and made threats against President Johnson, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and other high U.S. officials.

Declaring that Black Power advocates "are moving into urban guerrilla warfare in the United States," the militant Negro agitator told a three-hour news conference:

"We have no alternative but to use aggressive armed violence in order to own the land; houses and stores inside our communities, and to control the politics of those communities."

U.S. newsmen were barred from the news conference, but Carmichael's remarks were quoted by Havana Radio, George Ware of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, and Felix Greene, a British subject reporting for the San Francisco Chronicle.

Carmichael declared that Negro guerrillas "must develop a consciousness so that when people who are struggling get killed, the retaliation will be against the leaders of the West."

"Let us develop a consciousness that when they touch one guerrilla, Lyndon Johnson, Dean Rusk, Robert McNamara and Harold Wilson must pay the price," he said. "We are not waiting for them to kill us. We will move to kill them first—or rather, we are working towards that goal."

He presumably included Wilson because the Home Office last week banned him from Britain.

"One good thing about the Vietnam war is that the United States has taught us how to kill," Carmichael declared later. "Our brothers returning from Vietnam are going to use that training well in the cities of the United States."

Asked about the role of white people in the Negro struggle, Carmichael replied: "the only whites we can use in our struggle are those who are ready to pick up guns with us to destroy the capitalist system."

Asked about the possibility that he might be assassinated, Carmichael said the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency has international license to kill and if the CIA continues to assassinate fighters and guerrillas, vengeance must be taken against Western leaders.

Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Enclosed is a clipping blaming rioting on the two agitators, Stokely Carmichael and [redacted] b7C

Your claim according to this article that there is no evidence of a masterminding conspiracy and then add that some outside agitators were involved. We do not believe this is not a conspiracy.

The American public and tax payers are mighty fed up with the way the Justice Department is handling these Black Power leaders and their followers. No white person could get by with such antics. Why then the negro?

We, the public, aren't afraid if you justifiably exercise punishment toward these obvious pro-communists. Deport them. You owe it to the American people who obey and respect the laws of this country. It is the Government's responsibility.

Act now while it's time. Show the commies we mean business.

According to our newspaper, the Black Power movement is planning a revolution to separate the country between White and Black. Give these Jungle characters something to remember. Thank you.

2 SNCC Leaders Blamed In Rioting

Carmichael, Brown Speeches Acted As Spark, Police Claim

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON—Three police officials yesterday laid race riots in their communities to inflammatory speeches by Stokely Carmichael and H. Rap Brown.

Police Chief Jacob W. Scott of Cincinnati told the Senate Judiciary committee that rock-throwing, fire-bombing violence erupted in the streets after Carmichael urged Cincinnati Negroes to fight the police and burn the city.

That was April 29, he said, and now after four months of sporadic outbreaks "we're undergoing a guerrilla type operation, with kids operating from cars."

Police Capt. John A. Sorace of Nashville, Tenn., said a riot there on April 8 was caused by Carmichael, Brown and "other functionaries of the Student Non-violent Co-ordinating committee."

Sorace said the trouble began after SNCC held its week-long annual meeting in Nashville. He said Carmichael had given speeches in the area for three days prior to the trouble, and SNCC leaders from all parts of the country were in the city.

Police Chief Brice Kinnamon put the blame for a July 24 riot in Cambridge, Md., squarely on Brown, who succeeded Carmichael recently as chairman of SNCC. Kinnamon said a "highly inflammatory speech" by Brown "was the sole reason for our riot."

"The street was full of guns seconds after the speech," Kinnamon said. "It was a well organized and well planned affair."

As the senate hearings opened, the House Committee on Un-American Activities voted to launch a full investigation of the role of subversive groups in racial rioting.

Chairman Edwin E. Willis (D-La) said a report by investigators "clearly indicates certain subversive elements have been involved in some of these riots and in the creation of racial unrest generally."

Both Shott and Kinnamon contended there was racial harmony in their communities until the arrival of Black Power advocates Carmichael and Brown.

He said 95 per cent of Cincinnati's Negroes are "heart-sick over these riots" and feel their opportunities have been diminished by the violence.

The city's riot toll was one death, 70 injuries, 405 arrests and nearly $3 million in fire damage.

Carmichael is in Havana as a guest of Fidel Castro. Brown is free on bond pending an extradition hearing on charges of inciting a riot and being an accessory to arson in Cambridge. The senate committee plans to hear further from Sorace today and then from Police Detective William Millard of Newark, N.J., Police Commissioner Mark H. Tuohy Jr., of Rochester, N.Y., and Police Chief John B. Layton of Washington D.C.

As other congressional groups marshaled forces for investigations and hearings into the violent series of racial outbreaks, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said there is no evidence of a masterminding conspiracy behind the disorders.

But David Ginsburg, executive director of the President's new 11-member commission on civil disorders, said Hoover did indicate at a commission meeting Tuesday "some outside agitators were involved."

Staff investigators for the House Committee on Un-American Activities pointed the blame at such groups as SNCC the Revolutionary Action Movement (RAM) and a militant Negro rights group called ACT.

(F) CUBAN CLANDESTINE OPERATIONS IN THE UNITED STATES --
Recent information in the press discloses that Stokely Carmichael, foremost "Black Power" advocate of violence, has been in Cuba as an official guest of the Castro government attending the Latin-American Solidarity Organization (LASO) conference. Since the avowed purpose of the LASO is to plan ways and means to overthrow U. S. "imperialism" in Latin America by revolutionary violence, Carmichael's presence at the conference takes on added significance and could presage Castro's clandestine involvement in the current racial strife in the U. S.

Accordingly, all offices be most alert to any indication of such involvement on the part of Castro agents or sympathizers or any indication that support, direction or influence of current or future racial violence in the U. S. is emanating from Havana.

Very truly yours,

John Edgar Hoover

My dear Congressman:

Thank you for your letter of August 3rd.

In response to your request, Stokely Carmichael was born on June 29, 1941, at Trinidad, West Indies, and is a citizen of the United States by derivation. He is, therefore, not subject to exclusion from the United States as an alien. In addition, the FBI is strictly an investigative agency of the Federal Government and, as such, does not determine whether prosecution will be undertaken in any situation. Such decisions concerning violations of Federal law are within the province of the United States Department of Justice.

You may be assured, however, the FBI is aware of the activities of this individual and any information obtained which might indicate a violation of Federal law over which this Bureau has investigative jurisdiction will be furnished to the United States Department of Justice for prosecutive consideration.

Sincerely yours,

SUBJECT: The Congressional Record

Pages H9920-H9922. Congressman Rogers, (D) Florida, spoke concerning a telegram he sent to the Attorney General on July 26 asking the Justice Department to proceed to arrest Stokely Carmichael on his return from Cuba on grounds of sedition. He advised that eight days later he received "a rather fuzzy reply from the Assistant Attorney General informing me that the Department is alert to those activities which may pose a threat to the best interests of our Nation. Based on recent performances, I would question whether or not the Department is indeed alert to such situations and whether the Department plans to take action against Carmichael. - - - I think there is an overwhelming amount of evidence—indeed more than one would require to be alerted—which points out the need for action on the part of the Justice Department, both against Carmichael and Brown. It is not too late to exercise and display some leadership. I would hope that those in the Justice Department would respond to the alert."

Mr. Rogers pointed out that he had the Library of Congress research the law concerning sedition and how the courts have upheld them and placed this material in the Record "so that the Justice Department may better inform itself with this phase of the law and be better equipped to implement it when and if indeed Stokely Carmichael sets foot again on American soil."

Pages H9940-H9942. Congressman Downing, (D) Virginia, spoke concerning the riots and cited the activities of Stokely Carmichael and H. Rap Brown. He advised that he was drafting legislation to make it possible to prosecute persons for such activities. Congressman Kornegay, (D) North Carolina, commended Mr. Downing for his remarks and advised that he was introducing a concurrent resolution (H. Con. Res. 450) expressing the sense of the Congress that Stokely Carmichael should be prosecuted for sedition if he returns to the United States. A copy of this measure will be obtained.

STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE

Due to the interest of the President in the activities of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) and its leaders, we have prepared a summary setting forth current and planned future activities in this matter. A copy is attached for ready reference.

Carmichael, who is presently in Cuba as a guest of the Cuban Government to attend a conference sponsored by the Latin-American Solidarity Organization, telephonically contacted SNCC Headquarters on 8/6/67 and said that he would return to the United States between 8/10-13/67. SNCC officials are reportedly disgusted with his actions and statements in Cuba and may reprimand him. b7D

A source of the [redacted] has advised that Carmichael may go to Chicago on 8/11/67 for a three-day speaking engagement.

H. Rap Brown, current leader of SNCC, was a principal speaker at a rally in New York City on 8/6/67. Other speakers included a member of the Workers World Party, a communist splinter group, and a member of the Socialist Workers Party, which has been cited by the Attorney General. Brown referred to the President as "lynching Johnson." He described recent race riots as "dress rehearsals for revolution."

[redacted] may visit Jacksonville, Florida, on 8/9/67. b7C
An official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has said that such a visit will increase racial tension and is contacting Negro leaders in an effort to maintain racial peace.

STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE

There is set forth below a summary of current and planned future activities of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, its former chairman Stokely Carmichael, and its current chairman H. Rap Brown.

Activities of Stokely Carmichael

It was previously reported that Carmichael has been in Cuba since July 26, 1967, as a guest of the Cuban Government. He has been attending a conference sponsored by the Latin-American Solidarity Organization where he has made numerous anti-United States statements.

According to a source [redacted]

b7D

[redacted] Carmichael is expected to return to Chicago on August 11, 1967, for a three-day speaking engagement. The Deacons of Defense and Justice, Inc., a militant civil rights group advocating armed Negro self-defense, is making preparations to guard Carmichael if he appears at Chicago. No further details concerning this engagement of Carmichael's have been received.

Carmichael telephonically contacted the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee Headquarters in Atlanta, Georgia, on August 6, 1967, and stated that he would return to the United States between August 10 and 13, 1967. Other Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee officials are reportedly disgusted with Carmichael's recent actions and statements in Cuba and are planning to call a meeting of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee Central Committee to discuss his actions and to possibly reprimand him.

A source on July 27, 1967, made available a published report of [redacted]

[redacted] This association, on a daily basis, monitors broadcasts from Cuba, and thereafter publishes a transcription of the more important news items. The published reports made available by the source contain information from broadcasts from Cuba that were monitored on July 25, 1967. The information obtained is as follows:

Radio Progreso

Stokely Carmichael confirmed in London that he will attend the First Conference of Latin American Solidarity Organization as an observer. In a message he said, "Your victory is our victory." He also said that the message of Che Guevara to the Tri-Continental has great significance "to us because in the United States we Afro-Americans are part of a third world."

Radio Habana Cuba

Stokely Carmichael reported the measures which his organization is taking to establish contacts with the movements of national liberation in Latin America. He said, "Puerto Rico is a colony outside the United States; we are a colony in the United States. For 400 years, we have existed inside the United States, and the results have been beatings and lynchings. To postpone a situation for 400 years is long enough. Our generation is tired."

Carmichael said that his first contacts with the Cuban Revolution occurred in Harlem in 1960, at the time of the first visit of Prime Minister Fidel Castro to the United Nations. "This event," said Carmichael, "marks a moment in the history of the U. S."

Negro fight, because the Negroes can never forget the visit of Fidel Castro, and they will never be able to turn against the Revolution."

In conclusion, Carmichael said that this time imperialism will try to assassinate him, but he is not afraid.

b7D

The source, on August 2, 1967, made available the published report of [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] which contained information from broadcasts from Cuba monitored on August 1, 1967. The information received is as follows:

Radio Progreso

At the opening session of the Conference of Latin American Solidarity Organization, Stokely Carmichael, U. S. Negro leader, expressed his complete approval of the appointment of Major Ernesto Guevara as Honorary Chairman of the Conference. "I approve of his politics 100%," he said.

Radio Habana Cuba

The U. S. Negro leader, Stokely Carmichael expressed his thanks to the newspaper "Granma" for having been appointed Honorary Delegate to the First Conference of Latin American Solidarity Organization. He said that he was very proud of the honor. "We accept the honor in the name of the North American Negroes, for we are waiting for the revolutionary movement for our liberation in the United States. Our fight," said Carmichael, "is the same which is being waged by the peoples of Latin America. That is why we should obtain unity between the peoples of Latin America and the Negro movement of the United States in our mutual fight against Yankee imperialism."

Radio Rebelde

Stokely Carmichael held a press conference at 11:15 A. M., August 1, 1967, in the Hotel Habana Libre which was attended by representatives of the national and foreign press accredited in Cuba. He began by thanking the delegates for appointing him Honorary Delegate to the Conference. He then said that the fight of the Negro people in the United States is the same fight which is being waged in other parts of the world against oppression, racism and imperialism. He said that Black Power is the getting together of the Negro population of the United States with the oppressed peoples of other countries in order to fight for their liberation, using whatever means might be necessary against the capitalist structure. "Our fights," he said, "are being carried on from New York to California and from Canada to Mexico."

He said that from August 18, 1965, about the time of the Negro fight at Watts, in California, the question of a non-violent fight in the movement for Negro liberation was shown to be a mistake, and that the "armed fight is the only way the U. S. Negro can fight," "Our fight," stressed Carmichael, "is advancing toward guerrilla warfare in the cities in the United States itself."

A journalist asked Carmichael what effect Senator Bob Kennedy's proposal about searching the civilian population for arms would have on the Negro movement in the United States. Carmichael answered energetically that the U. S. Negroes would have arms somehow, in order to continue their fight for liberation.

Concerning the solidarity of the U. S. Negroes with the Vietnamese fighters, Stokely Carmichael said that solidarity consists of the refusal of the Negroes to enlist as U. S. soldiers in order to go and attack the people in Vietnam.

The August 2, 1967 issue of the "Miami Herald" contained an article captioned "Stokely Unworried About His Passport". This article stated that Havana radio said Saturday "the black power spokesman, Stokely Carmichael, is unconcerned about the possibility of US action against him because of his unauthorized visit to Cuba.

Re: STOKELY CARMICHAEL

"The broadcast monitored in Miami said Carmichael, asked about a report that his passport might be lifted on his return to the U. S., replied:

'I am not interested in any measures taken against me.'

Cuba
"The radio said Carmichael is touring Oriente Province and met Friday at Punta Maisi with Labor Minister Jorge Risquet, a member of the Central Committee of the Cuban Communist Party."

[redacted] United States Navy
 Serial Number [redacted] Field Medical Service School, Camp Lejeune, North Carolina, furnished the following information:

b7C

He and H [redacted] attended a speech given by STOKELY CARMICHAEL at Waukegan High School, Waukegan, Illinois, during May, 1967, while both were stationed at Great Lakes Naval Base, Illinois. The speech was attended by approximately two hundred to three hundred persons, approximately 85 percent of which were of his race, Negro, and 15 percent of which were Caucasian. The speech given by CARMICHAEL was approximately forty-five minutes in duration and was part of a program lasting two to two and one-half hours consisting of awards given to prominent Negro leaders in Waukegan, a singing group, and other speeches.

b7C

The audience consisted mainly of mature persons with a few teenagers present. He recalled that appropriate portions of CARMICHAEL's speech were applauded and there was no booing or jeering at any time. There were no disturbances before the speech, during the speech, or following it.

Due to the time period which has elapsed from the time of the speech until the present, he cannot recall many specific statements made by CARMICHAEL. He recalls that the main theme of the speech was that Negro persons are as good as anyone and they should condone violence in order to obtain their rights if they cannot obtain them any other way.
 CARMICHAEL indicated that Negroes should stay at home and fight for their rights rather than go to Vietnam as a United States military man to fight. CARMICHAEL did not relate any specific method of evading the draft; he merely stated if drafted not to go. He does not recall any statements made by CARMICHAEL which would constitute obstruction of voluntary enlistments for military service or any statements which would constitute obstruction of recruiting for military service.

 SA [redacted] B/pgl Date dictated 8/8/67

b7C

100-446080-449

It was his impression that the audience agreed with what CARMICHAEL said; however, after the speech, he overheard several persons indicating that they did not agree with everything CARMICHAEL said. He cannot recall any specific points of disagreement.

He does not recall if there were any statements such as, "Hell no, we won't go" during the speech. He recalled that a question and answer period followed the speech but cannot recall any questions asked. He does not recall any discussions by parts of the audience after the speech and was under the impression that immediately following the speech, CARMICHAEL was to travel to Chicago, Illinois, to deliver another speech.

He related that the Waukegan High School is approximately one mile from the Great Lakes Naval Station, Illinois.

b7C

[REDACTED] He does not know if any other military persons were present and stated that the high school auditorium where the speech was given was not filled to capacity.

CARMICHAEL's speech did not influence his outlook on his military obligation at all, and a couple of days after the speech, he did not give it any further thought.

It is his opinion that CARMICHAEL's speech consisted of a synopsis of the Negro problems in present day America and no undue emphasis was placed on any one particular area.

[redacted]
[redacted] Field Medical Service School, was interviewed at Camp Lejeune, North Carolina, and he furnished the following information:

[redacted] advised that he and his friend [redacted] who is also a sailor, were stationed at the Great Lakes Naval Station in Illinois, during May, 1967, and that on a Saturday evening during the middle of May, they were shopping for records in Waukegan, Illinois, when they noticed some white people looking at a hand-printed placard in the record store which advertised that STOKELY CARMICHAEL was to speak at the high school in Waukegan the following day, which was on a Sunday. [redacted] advised that they purchased tickets, price unrecalled, and went to hear CARMICHAEL speak. [redacted] related that he and [redacted] arrived early at approximately 3:00 p.m., and they approached a white policeman where the speech was to be given and they entered and sat in the second row in the high school auditorium. [redacted] advised that prior to their leaving the base they had checked with appropriate officials and no objections were interposed to their attendance at the speech.

[redacted] stated that he and [redacted] although he recognized others who were from the Great Lakes Naval Station who were wearing civilian clothes. He estimated that there were approximately 200 to 300 people in attendance, 95 per cent of which were Negroes [redacted] He estimated that the audience was generally composed of mature adults, with the exception of a few teenagers who shouted and clapped during CARMICHAEL's oration. [redacted] stated that in his opinion CARMICHAEL's speech covered the whole Negro situation on the domestic scene as well as the Negro involvement in the Armed Forces in Vietnam.

b7C

b7C

[redacted] advised that by this he meant CARMICHAEL alluded to the ~~Negro death rate as compared to the percentage of the Negroes~~ in the United States. [] further related that he did not feel that CARMICHAEL emphasized Vietnam any more than he emphasized the domestic problems of the Negroes in Waukegan, Illinois. [] stated he could not remember CARMICHAEL's counseling in any way not to serve in the military service, but he did state Negroes should fight on the domestic scene for their rights, using force, if necessary to protect themselves.

b7C

[] stated CARMICHAEL's talk lasted approximately one hour and there was a brief question and answer period dealing with Vietnam in general, but he could not give any further detailed information as to the questions asked and the answers given, except that they were very similar to what were in several magazines at that time.

b7C

[] ~~advised that~~ were no discussion groups, as CARMICHAEL left immediately after the speech to go to Chicago, Illinois, where he was to give another speech on the same evening. [] further stated it (the speech) did not change his views on serving in the military in any way as he does not agree with CARMICHAEL in all respects. [] stated that due to the length of the time since he heard CARMICHAEL's speech, he cannot remember what his exact points of disagreement with CARMICHAEL were but that he did not agree with him in full. [] advised he did walk up to CARMICHAEL after the speech and shook his hand.

[] advised []

[] that he felt that some of the audience did not really understand what CARMICHAEL was saying but that he was in general enthusiastically applauded and well received during the speech.

A confidential source on [redacted] advised that [redacted] an employee of [redacted] Florida, had been responsible for coverage of Stokely Carmichael's speech made at Daytona Beach, Florida, on April 18, 1967. According to the source, Carmichael's speech had not been recorded in its entirety, but only pertinent statements made by Carmichael were recorded.

b7D

b7C

Portions of Carmichael's speech as recorded are as follows:

"I am black, I know that. I am a human being, I know that, and with a human being comes certain dignities such as the right to enter a public place. Now some hunkies don't know that. They don't know I am a human being, so that everytime I attempt to enter a public place, the hunkie gets in my way, shoots at me, beats me up, burns my church or does some uncivilized act, telling me that I cannot come in. So, the white folks in Washington, D.C. have to pass the Civil Rights Bill for this hunkie to tell him that when I come to his store, he should get out of my way.

"The whole white world will remind you that violence never accomplishes anything, and isn't it amazing for the leaders of this country to talk about violence never accomplishing anything when they are bombing Viet Nam. How can they possibly tell me that violence doesn't accomplish anything when they are in Viet Nam burning, shooting, killing and bombing. Either violence does or it does not. Or, are they saying to us that violence is o.k. if you use it on black people, red people and yellow people, but God forbid you should use it against white people. And so what we have to be very clear in our minds is not to get thrown off with those questions of violence, but since 1960 there are twenty-four murderers running around this country scot free because the areas in which they committed the murders the people are incapable of condemning them. It is very very important, that theory, because we then go one step further and we say that white America, the total community of white America, not individual whites, but the total community of white America, is incapable of condemning herself for the acts of brutality that she has heaped upon the black community starting with slavery all the way down to the present date. Were she to condemn herself, the entire community would have to commit suicide. My friend Leroy Jones reminds me that that wouldn't be such a bad idea.

"Here you are fighting for democracy, peace, freedom and equality and you don't even know anything about it. You got to wake up, you got to back and be with the greatest, Muhammad Ali, and tell them 'hell no, we ain't going', amen."

Dear Sir:

You have been quoted in newspapers and on TV recently as saying words to the effect that there is no indication of conspiracy or organization behind recent riots in our large cities.

I submit to you 3 articles with by lines from the local newspaper. These articles certainly give indication to me of planning conspiracy, and organization which, if not contributing to starting the riots, apparently contributed greatly to the total damage done.

As a citizen, I ask that you use these articles as a starting place to investigate the people & the organizations mentioned in the articles.

Further, the Mr Carmichael who went to Cuba by his own words as reported in various news media is a leader, planner, and inviter to riot.

Snick—Castro's Arm in U.S. Omaha World Herald 6 Aug 67

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak Washington.

The sudden appearance of Stokely Carmichael in Havana, rubbing elbows with Fidel Castro and the hemisphere's Communist guerrilla leaders, is an inevitable development in the Student Non-Violent Co-ordinating Committee's long evolution.

Sentimental white liberals who have consistently blinked away the worst about Snick now attribute Snick's alliance with Castro to deep disillusionment over Vietnam and civil rights. However, covert links between Snick and Havana stretch back at least to 1964.

The flamboyant Carmichael is merely the outward manifestation of the Snick-Cuban alliance. Principal responsibility for moving Snick violently to the left must go to two men who, unlike Carmichael, seldom appear on television or the front page.

One is James Forman, who today holds no formal office in Snick but is still believed to be its most important internal force. When Snick was spawned in the southern sit-in movement in February, 1960, by idealistic Negro college students, Forman was already a hardened radical and an associate of Negro terrorist Robert Williams (who fled to Cuba to escape Federal prosecution).

Even less familiar to the public is Jack Minnis, a white intellectual radical who, as an instructor at Tulane University in 1961, was a leader in pro-Castro activities in the New Orleans area.

With Forman in absolute control of the Snick apparatus, Minnis was named to its central committee and given command of its research operation. Despite Snick's current blacks-only policy, Minnis still wields backstage influence.

By the time of the Mississippi Summer Project in 1964, Snick's admiration for Castroism was apparent. Snick workers were distributing Castroite propaganda and material printed in Cuba by exile Williams advocating guerrilla warfare by American Negroes and describing how Molotov cocktails could be used in American cities.

The clearest revelation of Snick's link with Havana did not come until 1966, when Snick leader Julian Bond was barred from his seat in the Georgia Legislature. His case was being ably handled by white lawyer Charles Morgan of the Atlanta office of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Suddenly a new face appeared: Victor Rabinowitz, a Manhattan lawyer with intimate Havana contacts. He was long associated with far left causes and a leader in the National Lawyers Guild and the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee, organizations specializing in defending Communists.

Forman insisted that Rabinowitz supplant Morgan as Bond's attorney. In accordance with standard ACLU practice of deferring to other attorney's, Morgan stepped aside.

At about the same time, Snick's treasury—empty since the disaffection of white liberal contributors—suddenly began to fill again.

Although there is no documentary evidence to support the suspicion that the money came from Cuba, this belief makes sense. At precisely this time in 1966, Castro abandoned his Moscow-ordered policy of co-operating only with the regular Communist parties throughout the hemisphere. He declared he would support, with arms and money, any revolutionary movements. Snick would qualify for such help.

Nor has there been much doubt lately about Snick's revolutionary nature. After this year's Negro riots at Jackson (Miss.) State College, Mississippi Snick leaders met secretly to discuss plans for more effective "guerrilla warfare" in the future.

Effective or not, there is no longer any doubt that Snick today is Fidel Castro's arm in the United States.

How Revolutionaries Fanned Detroit Flames—

Agitators Used Twists of Fate, Human Weakness in Rioting

Following is the second of two articles by a noted Negro newspaper man and author.

By Louis E. Lomax

North American Newspaper Alliance.

Detroit, Mich. — Sunday dawn broke over a Detroit that was already beginning to belch flames. It was as if God himself was on the side of the organized revolutionaries. Everything worked; twists of fate and human weaknesses gave agitators every advantage.

Methodically breaking store windows, the revolutionaries urged the milling Negro people to loot and steal. But — and at least a dozen observers confirmed this — the professionals did no looting of their own. They are not thieves; they are men at war, revolutionaries bent on reducing the nation to ashes.

The looters unknowingly co-operated by having a happy time. The streets teemed with whites and Negroes who stole with abandon and glee. People came in cars from miles away and hauled off freezers, sofas, television sets and clothing.

Meanwhile, the Detroit police instituted a maneuver that called for them to move in on the looters. Chase them away, but not shoot. The result was a wild game during which the looters mocked the police for being stupid.

'Orders'

The police would move in on one set of looters; the looters would break and run across the street and enter yet another store. A store window a block away would crash and other looters would move in. The police would then take off down the streets, their lights blinking and sirens wailing. The first group of looters, openly laughing at the police, then resumed their stealing.

Why don't you guys stop this thing?" Dr. James Boyce, a Negro professor at Wayne University, asked a policeman.

"We're following orders," the policeman replied.

Then the human element began to play into the hands of the revolutionaries.

A Negro woman on relief set fire to a furniture store because she felt she would never be able to pay the bill she owed there. Due to the interest rate, she was being forced to pay $910.12 to satisfy an original debt of 285 dollars.

"Yes," she said. "I burned that damn Jew store down. That's one bill I will never have to pay. I made sure the office and all the records went up in flames first!"

Clifford Williams, a Negro, owned a combination drug and liquor store at Twelfth and Philadelphia. For more than a year civil rights organizations, notably the Congress of Racial Equality, had been urging Mr. Williams to cease his harsh treatment of Negroes.

"He told us all niggers steal," a CORE leader said. "He would make Negro customers stand in the middle of the store, their hands at their side while he waited on them. He said they would steal from his shelves. He also once drew a gun on some Negro women who complained about his attitude."

Picket Line

A month ago CORE put a picket line around Mr. Williams's store. Dewey Shanks, who is attached to the Mayor's Human Relations Committee, headed the picket line.

"Williams came out and told us we could march until our feet fell off," Mr. Shanks said. "If you niggers don't like the way I treat you, if you don't like my prices, then dammit go buy in Grosse Pointe!" he bellowed.

Mr. Williams's store was the first Negro store burned to the ground. The revolutionaries did not do it. They didn't have to.

At a time when they ordinarily would have been headed for their pulpits a group of Negro ministers were closeted with Ray Girardin, Detroit's Police Commissioner. They urged the Commissioner to keep his men in check, that the looters not be fired upon.

Their reasoning was that once the police opened fire hundreds of Negroes would be killed. This, they contended, would start a major riot. They further contended that if left alone the looting would simply run its course and end. The Commissioner agreed.

They were all correct but for the fact that they did not know about the agitator element, hard at work stroking the uprising.

* * *

'Linwood Next'

The pattern spread to Detroit's East Side. Vignettes reveal what happened next:

A weary but happy arsonist approached a Negro school teacher on La Salle Street. "We have Twelfth Street in flames," he said. "Linwood is next."

A half hour later Linwood Boulevard was aflame.

A Negro woman approached a Negro doctor on Euclid and bragged that she was getting paid to set fires.

An elderly Negro man who lives on La Salle went to buy groceries on Linwood. He watched in horror as six Negroes set fire to a supermarket. He drove over to Lindy's Market along Joy Road and had barely finished shopping when the same six men drove into the parking lot there. He fled home too quickly to see Lindy's Market go up in flames.

By late Sunday the uprising had spread to the fashionable, integrated Gold Coast near Seven Mile Road. Kenneth Mines, a distinguished Negro lawyer and his wife Shirley, a school teacher, shuddered with horror as a supermarket a block from their 50-thousand-dollar home burst into flames.

Mr. Mines stationed himself at his front door in hopes of hosing down the house lest it catch fire also. "Halt or I'll shoot", a state policeman shouted. And Kenneth Mines, one of the most brilliant and promising young Negro lawyer in America, eased back inside.

* * *

'Let Us Hide'

The Mines family, one of the few Negro families in the area, stayed indoors wondering if their white neighbors would seek revenge against them for what was happening. After two hours they emerged to discover that their white neighbors held them blameless.

Some 10 miles away, along Lamothe Street, a white neighbor pounded on the door of a Negro school teacher. "Please," the white man begged, "let us hide in your home!"

The Negro school teacher said "yes."

A few minutes later, another white neighbor, while listening to reports of the uprising, teacher's husband, an Episcopalian minister, rushed to the white home to give first aid.

Nor was that the wife of a Negro doctor watering her lawn late Sunday when a car bearing five Negro men drove up.

* * *

'Rich Next'

"You black middle-class bitch" one of the looters shouted. "You rich niggers next!"

The police cracked with reports that Negroes were making a mob in front of several middle-class Negro homes. The report is that these homes were marked for burning," a cop said.

The sun set Sunday on a Detroit of flames, hate, racial suspicion and mobbing of many young. And by noon, dedicated revolutionaries used their mission down the city, both physically.

It is clear that the revolutionaries who Detroit and won military mirage and gone. Everybody knows there; many say they were. Reports that some of them would prove their organizational. Nevertheless, the threat become reality. The dedicated revolutionaries have Detroit—bound for other

Detroit Proved A Fertile Field For Riot Seed

Detroit, Mich.—Three days before the Detroit riots, that city's summer task force, a civilian riot-control group, was assigned to control and end a simulated riot. The explosion point was Twelfth and Clairmount, the corner where the riots erupted early the following Sunday.

The group attacked its assignment and failed—because it overlooked the fact that an organized group, largely from outside the Detroit area, had been operative in the city for more than a month.

And like the riot-control group, this second group had an assignment: burn and destroy.

This second group, a very real group, is highly organized and well trained and is not made up of thieves and arsonists in the ordinary sense of these words.

Leave Ashes

They are, instead, causers—revolutionaries committed to the conclusion that the power structure does not have the moral fiber to repent its socio-economic sins; that the only truly corrective measure is to leave the nation in ashes.

The principal United States cities have been chosen as the initial battleground simply because they afford the kind of co-operation by the innocent and uninformed that every such revolution needs.

"Operation Detroit" started several weeks ago when a small band of young Negro men fanned out in the ghetto posing as magazine salesmen. Once allowed in a home or an apartment, the "salesman" would say that he was from the South, that he had recently graduated from high school and was selling magazines in order to earn his college tuition.

The salesman offered the customer a wide range of Negro magazines. The price of the package was 18 dollars, of which 12 dollars was to be given the salesman, and six dollars to be sent to a legitimate magazine circulation service in New Jersey. The salesman represented the New Jersey company and provided the customers with a receipt along with a printed envelope to be used when the customer made his payment to the New Jersey firm.

Asked Questions

But the "sale" did not stop there. The salesman went on to sell black power.

"I thought I was helping a worthy Negro boy get to college," one of the subscribers said. "I really couldn't afford the subscription but I sacrificed to help one of my own kind. Then he started talking to me about black power. He asked me 'why the hell we let whitey, particularly the Jews, run the stores in our neighborhood.'"

"Then he started asking questions about the community; who was who; who had guns; who owed big bills at local stores and might be interested in seeing the building burn down. I told the fellow I didn't know all that information.

"He left. But he went to the house next door. I later learned he had done the same thing all along our block. I also learned that other salesmen had called on friends I have many blocks away."

Battle Plan Simple

Within a week the salesmen had produced such concern along Euclid that several responsible citizens—a neighborhood association—decided something should be done. The leaders of the group were immediately threatened by young Negro men they had never seen before. Honestly frightened, they remained silent until after the riots.

The battle plan was simple: Remain as obscure as possible until police-ghetto dynamics provided the proper setting for "the revolution."

Young Negroes Planted Riot Seeds

The uprising all but occurred a month before when a Negro was shot and killed while allegedly protecting his wife from three white men bent on rape. But the needed trigger in the street did not appear. Two weeks later, a young Negro woman, an alleged prostitute, was killed by the police who said the woman had drawn a knife on them.

Again what the dynamics needed—milling angry Negroes—did not materialize. But early Sunday morning, July 23, the proper ingredients were mixed in the right proportions at Twelfth and Clairmount. Even then, the riot needed the "assistance" of the Detroit police.

Just before dawn the police raided a "blind pig," an after-hours joint neighborhood residents had been complaining about for six months. The police, however, had known about its existence for months. After all, 50 people at an all-night drinking and gambling party every night of the week without the knowledge of the policemen on the beat is stretching credulity a bit far.

The merry-makers and gamblers were given the usual searching and then herded into police cars. Then the dynamics began to congeal.

* * *

Negroes Congregated

Negroes were milling along Twelfth Street. They congregated at the corner of Clairmount to watch the raid and the arrests.

"They called us niggers!" a woman who was in the blind pig said.

"I heard them calling people niggers," a bystander reiterated. "And I shouted that we ought to tear up the hunky town. Then somebody threw a bottle through a window! And, baby" he laughed, "that's when the fun got clogged!"

What happened immediately after the first window was broken is common fare in the poverty-ridden Negro areas of our cities. More windows were broken, people started looting.

"I was standing on the street when the looting started," a Negro professor at Wayne University, who also lives in the area, said. "It was a normal breaking and looting scene. They happen all the time. Then the people became aware of the fact that the police, following orders, were not interfering with the looters."

At this point the professionals moved in. Acting with precision, one squad moved along Twelfth Street with hammers and crowbars, smashing windows.

* * *

'Help Yourself, Baby'

"Come on baby, help yourself," they shouted to the milling and running Negroes along the street.

Another professional revolutionary squad raced along the street several blocks away, shouting: "Hey, man, the fuzz is letting the people take all they want. Get up to the corner of Clairmount."

"I split like hell to the corner," one looter said. "I got me a TV set."

The looter did not realize that he, like the others, was a pawn in the revolutionaries game. The professionals wanted hundreds of people running, yelling and looting near the corner of Twelfth and Clairmount. Add to that the nonaction by the police and you have a recipe for chaos and riots—perfect food for revolutionaries.

Within two hours, Twelfth Street was a human jungle. Dewey Shanks, who not only lives in the ghetto, but also is attached to the Mayor's Human Relations Committee under a poverty program grant, was at the corner. One of the agitators was hard at work smashing windows. He shouted to Mr. Shanks: "Hey baby, I haven't seen you since Newark!"

Dewey Shanks was not at Newark. The revolutionary had been.

Next: Agitators at work.

[redacted] Seattle, stated that she is a housewife and attended a speech given by STOKELY CARMICHAEL at Garfield High School, Seattle, on the evening of May 19, 1967. She stated that she left the meeting about 20 minutes before the end of CARMICHAEL's main speech as she was worried about getting out of a traffic jam. She now recalled that during the speech STOKELY CARMICHAEL made a statement such as "If somebody gives me a gun, I know who I would shoot". He had been referring to war in Vietnam and had stated that Negroes should not be shooting other persons of colored skin, in Vietnam, when they had a greater problem at home. Other than this remark, [redacted] could not recall any particular controversial remark made by CARMICHAEL. She estimated the audience at approximately 4,000 persons, mostly adults, and those of draft age in the audience about 15%. She also stated that the audience was approximately 60% Negro, and she did not hear any "chanting" to answers or remarks made by CARMICHAEL. She said that the closest military establishment to Garfield High School is approximately ten miles away. She did not see anyone in military uniform at this meeting.

TEX.

Before I begin I wanted to introduce our program director, Mr. CLEVELAND ~~SELLERS~~. Before I begin the lecture, I wanted you to note the people who are in front of me. They have become my self-appointed critics. If you would note they have pet phrases for me like racism, anti-white. I have yet to see one of them bring a black reporter to report when I am speaking. I guess black people are the only people who have a monopoly on racism. The talk tonight is an article which I wrote for the Massachusetts Quarterly Review. It deals with a number of things. It deals first theoretically with the concept of black power and it explains it programmatically. It attacks the concept of integration as it is currently practiced in this country and shows it as it is currently practiced in this country for nothing but the benevolence for white supremacy and an insidious subterfuge. It also attacks then the main exponents of the coalition theory notably Mr. BYRON WATSON (phonetic) and his fellow proponents of the coalition theory explaining that before coalitions are possible for black people in this country there are certain prerequisites that must be accomplished and then we deal with that and finally we point out very, very importantly the difference between individual racism and institutionalized racism and the reason why it is important for black people in this country to focus their attention on institutionalized racism rather than individual active racism. And then finally we note the press will try to deal with what we have to say tonight. I don't think they'll be capable of doing that because the lecture is on an intellectual level.

One of the most pointed illustrations of the need for black power as a positive and redemptive force in a society degenerating into a society of totalitarianism is to be made by examining the history of distortion that the concept has received, in the national media of publicity. In this debate as in everything else that affects the lives of black people, black people are dependent on and at the discretion of forces and institutions within the white society which have little interest in representing us honestly. Our experience with the national press has been that where they've managed to escape ameritritious special interests in get-whitney sensationalism and race war mongering, individual reporters and commentators have been so conditioned by the developing racism of the society to the point where they're incapable even of objective observation and reporting of racial incidents much less the analysis of ideas. But this limitation of vision and perception is an inevitable consequence of the dictatorship of definitions, interpretations and consciousness along with the censorship of history that the society has inflicted upon black people and consequently upon itself. Our concern for black power addresses itself directly to this problem, the necessity for black people to reclaim our history and our identity from the cultural terrorism and degradation of self-justifying white guilt. To do this we shall have to struggle for the right to create our own terms through which to define ourselves and our relationships and to have those terms recognized by society.

This is the first necessity of a free people and it is the first right that any oppressor must suspend. I really believe strongly in the need to fight to define oneself, the ~~existentialist~~ philosophers notably Camus and Sartre spend quite a bit of time on the need for definition. Camus states on the first page of the Rebel when the slaves start accepting the definitions imposed upon them by his master and then and only then does he begin to move into his own sphere and create a life for himself. Now for us that's very important, I guess oh well an example would be the red man and the cowboys in the movies or the television screen to see how definitions can define people. You ever watch them, the white man is losing the war with the red man and he sends for the cavalry and they come riding very white and very proper and they blow the charge and they get down off their horses and they line up with their guns and they shoot everybody, all the red men are dead, and they get back on their horses and they are very white and very proper ride to the fort and there's this white woman standing by the gate says "What happened?" and the lieutenant who's always yelling and dashing at a victory, "We killed all the Indians". Now the next time when the reverse happens, when the red man beat up all the white men and kill them, one escapes and he's hanging over his horse and he makes it to the fort and the white woman says "What happened" and he says "These dirty Indians, they massacred us" and that's very important because you see what it means is that white society can define for Indians whether or not they have a victory and they will never have a victory because everyone knows that in victory you shoot people to death with guns. In a massacre, you put them to death and the connotation is that a victory is much more honorable than is a massacre as it must be because if we were going to die we would rather be shot to death than stabbed to death.

I think that now is the problem that the world is now rebelling against, the fact that white western society, note I say society as opposed to civilization, white western society has defined everybody. The red man has been called Indian because a stupid white man by the name of COLUMBUS thought he was in India and black people have been defined as Negroes. I guess somebody thought they were in Negroland. Now that also works very clearly even today and the concept of the two definitions is very important. LEWIS CARROLL deals with it very clearly in Alice in Wonderland. When he points out that those who can define are the masters of the world.

You watch today the editorial twins of America, HUNTLEY and BRINKLEY and they talk about the war in Vietnam, and they start out by saying "Dirty Communists, filthy terrorists, rebels, Vietcongs threw molotov cocktails and wounded civilians today," and there is a flash and then you see HUNTLEY sitting in Washington very properly and he says "But in the meantime our good boys have been bombing the hell out of Vietnam," so that the need to define is practically precisely the fight that I think black people are waging in the country. We will define ourselves as we see fit and we will use the terms that will gather the momentum for our movement. White America will respect them. The white fathers of American racism knew this instinctively it seems as is indicated by the continuous record of the distortion and omission in their dealings with the red and black men.

In the same way that the southern apologist for the Jim Crow society have so obscured, muddled and misrepresented the reconstruction period until it is almost impossible to tell what really happened. Their contemporary counterparts are busy doing the same thing with the recent history of the civil rights movement.

In 1964, for example, the National Democratic Party led by L.B. Johnson and boy wonder H.H. HUMPHREY and then SNCC, we call them Batman and Robin because they have a cast government. Oh, incidentally in the black community, H.H. HUMPHREY is called Handkerchief Head Humphrey and the reason why he is called that is because Handkerchief Head is more obsequious than an Uncle Tom. It is sort of an unconditional yes man. Did you, I don't know if you dug television in January when JOHNSON was delivering his State of Johnson message to the union. We call it the State of the Johnson message because we never seen anybody quote themselves three times from all the speeches they make in a major speech they're presenting but he did it.

Now if you noticed the speech if you were watching television in the background you could see HUBERT H. HUMPHREY. He has developed frog like features. When JOHNSON says jump, he says "How high, boy". Well, anyway, these two cats cynically undermine the efforts of the Mississippi's black population to achieve some degree of political representation. I'm speaking of the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenge which took place in 1964 in Atlantic City at the ~~National~~ Democratic Party Convention. Yet whenever the events of that convention are recalled by the press one sees only that version fabricated by the press agents of the Democratic Party. A year later the House of Representatives in an even more vulgar display of political racism made a mockery of the political rights of Mississippi's blacks when it failed to unseat the Mississippi delegation to the House which had been elected through a process which systematically excluded over 450,000 voting age black people, almost one half of the total electorate of that state. Yet that same House of Representatives two years later was unable to unseat Mr. ADAM CLAYTON POWELL because he did the same things they did but with more style. While Congressman HAYES, you know, he's the hunkie who brought the charges against Mr. POWELL, well he went across Europe and spent more money on that trip and spent more money than Mr. POWELL did on all the trips to Bimini. He took his butler with him. At least ADAM POWELL took beautiful girls. Whenever this event is mentioned in print it is terms which leaves one with the rather curious impression that somehow the oppressed black people of Mississippi are at fault with confronting the Congress with the situation in which they had no alternative but to endorse the Mississippi racist political practices. For that then refers to the Congressional challenge brought by the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party in January, 1965. I mention these two examples because having been directly involved in them I can see very clearly the discrepancies between what happened and the versions that are finding their way into general acceptance as some kind of a popular mythology.

Thus the victimization of black people in this country take place in two phases, first in fact and deed, then and this is equally sinister, in the recording of those facts and deeds; the black power program in concept which is being articulated by the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, Congress of Racial Equality and a host of community organizations in the ghettos north and south has not escaped that process. The white press has been busy articulating their own analysis, their own interpretations and criticisms of their own creations. I was very disturbed about that because all we said were two simple words, black power, and everybody was saying what it meant and how bad it was and I was very worried why would they make all these criticisms and I was reading a book by Mr. GEORGE BERNARD SHAW and I came across a phrase which I can quote for the press which is quite apropos for the press. He says all criticism is in fact an autobiography. For example while the press had given wide and sensational dissemination to attacks made by people in the civil rights movement, foremost among which are Mr. ROY WILKINS of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and his counterpart, Mr. WHITNEY YOUNG of the National Urban League and to the hysterical ravings about black racism made by the political chameleon that now serves as Vice President it has generally failed to give accounts of the reason and productive dialogue which has taken place in the black community and in certain important areas in the white religious and in many intellectual communities.

A national committee of influential black churchmen affiliated with the National Council of Churches despite their obvious respectability and responsibility had to resort to paid advertisement to articulate their position while anyone shouting the hysterical yappings of black racism got ample space. Thus the American people profess a superficial and misleading account of the very terms and tenor of this debate. I wish to quote the advertisement which the men took out. It appeared in the New York Times, July 31 of last year. It was twelve pages and was taken out by 250 black churchmen around the country. I want to quote from this because I want you to understand that inside the black community there are some intelligent black creatures. You usually see the ones who are condemning black power. I quote and I want to quote it in length because I think it is a very important statement. We, an informal group of Negro church men in America are deeply disturbed about the crisis upon our country brought by historic distortions of important human realities in the controversy about black power. What we see shining through the variety of rhetoric anything new but the same old problem of power and race which has faced our beloved country since 1619. The conscience of black men is corrupted because having no power to implement the demands of conscience the concern for justice in the absence of justice becomes chaotic self-surrender. Consciouslessness creates a race of beggars. We are faced now with the situation where powerless conscience meets consciousless power. I would like to repeat that phrase because I believe acromatic to race relations within the country today. We are faced now with a situation where powerless conscience meets consciousless power, threatening the very foundation of our nation. We deplore the overt violence of riots but we feel it is more important to focus on the real sources of these eruptions. These sources may be bedded inside the ghettos but their basic cause lies within the silent and covert violence which white middle class America inflicts upon the victims of the inner city. In short, the failure of American leaders to use American power to create equal opportunity in life as well as law, this is the real problem and not the anguished cry for black power. Without the capacity to participate with power, that is to have some organized and political and economic strength to really influence people with whom one interacts, integration is not meaningful. America has asked its Negro citizens to fight for opportunity as individuals, whereas at certain points within our history what we have needed most is opportunity for the whole group not just for selected and approved Negroes.

We must not apologize for the existence of this form of group power for we have been oppressed as a group and not as individuals. We will not find our way out of that oppression until both we and America accept the need for Negro Americans as well as for Jews, Italians, Poles and white Anglo Saxon protestants among others to have and to yield power. Traditionally for each new ethnic group the group route to political and social integration into America's pluralistic society has been through the organization of their own institutions with which to represent their communal needs with the larger society. Simply stated this is what the advocates of black power are saying. The strident outcries particularly from the liberal community that has been avowed by this proposal can only be understood by examining the historic relations between black and white power in this country.

Blacks are defined by two forces, our blackness and our powerlessness. There have been traditionally two communities in America, the white community which controls and defines the forms all institutions within the society will take and the black community which has been excluded from participation in the power decisions that shaped the society and have traditionally been dependent upon or subservient to the white community. This has not been accidental. That used to be baby we changed it. This has not been accidental.

The history of every institution of this society indicates that a major structuring of the society has been containing of the black community in its condition of oppression and dependence. This has not been on the level of individual acts of racism between individual whites and individual blacks, but as total acts by the white community against the black community. This fact cannot be too strongly emphasized that racist assumptions of white superiority have been so deeply ingrained in the structure of the society that it infuses the entire functioning of that society and is so much a part of the national subconsciousness that it is taken for granted and it is frequently not even recognized. Let me give an example of the difference between individual racism and what we in SNCC call institutionalized racism and the societies responsible to both. When unidentified hunkies bomb a black church and kill five black children that is an act of individual racism widely deplored by most segments of the society, both white and black. But when in that same city, Birmingham, Alabama, not five but five hundred black babies dies each year because of lack of proper food, shelter, and medical facilities and thousands more are destroyed and maimed physically, emotionally and intellectually because of conditions of poverty and deprivation in the ghetto that is a function of institutionalized racism. But the society either pretends it doesn't know of this situation or is incapable of doing anything meaningful about it. And this resistance to doing anything meaningful in the ghetto comes from the fact that the ghetto is itself a combination of the forces and special interest inside the white community and the groups that have access to the resources and power to change that situation benefits politically and economically from the existence of that ghetto. It is more than a figure of speech to say then that the black community in America is the victim of white imperialism and colonial exploitation. This is impractical, economic and political terms true. For philosophy students it is a truism.

There are over 20 million black people comprising ten per cent of this nation we are told. I believe there are more. They for the most part live in well defined areas of the country from the shanty towns in the rural blackbelt areas of the south and increasingly in the slums of northern and western industrial cities. If one goes into any black community whether it be Jackson, Mississippi, Cambridge, Massachusetts or Houston, Texas, one will find the same combination political economic and social forces are at work. The people in the black community do not control the resources of that community. Its political decisions, its law enforcement, its housing standards, even the political ownership of the land, houses and stores lie outside that community. It is white power that makes the laws and it is violent white power in the form of armed white cops that enforce those laws with guns and nightsticks. The majority of black people in this country live in these captive communities and must endure these conditions of oppression only because we are black and powerless. I do not suppose that at any point the men who control the power and resources of this country ever sat down and designed these black enclaves and formally articulated the terms of their colonial and dependent status as was done for example by the Apartheid government of South Africa which this country supports. Yet one cannot distinguish between one ghetto and another. As one moves from city to city, it is as though some malignant racism planning unit had done precisely this, had designed each one from the same master blueprint. And indeed if the ghetto had been formally and deliberately planned instead of growing spontaneously and inevitably from the racism functions of the various institutions that combine to make this society it would be somehow less frightening. The situation would be somehow less frightening because if these ghettos were the result of design and conspiracy one could understand their similarity as being artificially and consciously imposed quality rather than the result of identical patterns of white racism which repeats itself in cities as distant as Boston is to Watts. Without bothering to list the historic factors which contribute to this pattern, economic exploitation, political impotence, discrimination in employment and education, one can see that to correct this pattern will require far reaching changes in the basic power relationship in the ingrained social patterns within the society. The question is of course what kinds of changes are necessary and how is it possible to bring them about. In recent years, the answer to these questions which have been given by a most articulate group of black people and their white allies, the liberals of all stripes, has been in terms of something called integration.

According to the advocates of integration, social justice will be accomplished by and I quote integrating the Negro into the mainstream institutions of the society from which he has been traditionally excluded. It is very significant that each time I've heard this formulation it has been in terms of the Negro, the individual Negro rather than in terms of the entire black community. This concept of integration has to be based on the assumption that there was nothing of value in the black community and that little of value could be created among black people. So the thing to do was to siphon off the acceptable blacks into the surrounding white middle class community. Thus the goal of the movement for integration was only to loosen up the restrictions barring the entry of black people into the white community. Those around which the struggle took place such as public accommodations open housing, job opportunities on the executive levels, are quite simply middle class goals, articulated by a tiny group of black people who have middle class aspirations. Now I do believe that the editorial twins really had something to do with this because in 1960 they were again interpreting our movement for us as they continue to do even today, but for example I would remember when I was in Alabama specifically I would look at television at 5:30 and here would be HUNTLEY and BRINKLEY and they'd say black people today were marching today in the streets of Selma, Alabama. They were beaten by Jim Clark, they were ridden over by his horses, they were shot at, they were driven down the road, they were prodded with cattle prods, but they were marching to integrate. Then the next day he would say black people in the north have come to join their black brothers in the south. They were again beaten by Jim Clark, ridden with his horses, whipped with his whips, prodded with cattle prods, beaten, stepped on, sent to jail, but they were still marching to integrate. Since I had a little philosophy, I thought I would take that to its logical extension. I said what he's telling me is that I left New York to come to Alabama to sit next to Jim Clark's daughter and his sister or his mama. Obviously that's not what I came to do. I left New York to come to Alabama to render a hunkie like Jim Clark impotent over my life, over my life. Now then there's a big difference because when you're fighting to integrate it means that you want to sit next to white people because they're so good and so great so no matter what they do to you you'll keep fighting; you know, since we're very biblical, I usually take Job, but though they slay us, yet will we serve them. But now the other concept under which we were operating was that we were fighting against white supremacy, there is a big difference, there's a big difference. But I understand the editorial twins of America could never say that because then they would have to admit that the home of the free and the brave and all that other junk which was never true, that there existed some white people who were white supremacists and who were in power, so they had to say that we were fighting to sit next to them or to convert them.

I don't ever want to sit next to that hunkie, his mama, his sister, his daddy or ... Before I sit next to him, he has to be civilized. So I think you at least should get clear in your minds what things we're fighting for. They're fighting against oppression, not to sit next to anyone. This country is 90 per cent white. White people have the power, if they want integration they know where to come. They've always known where to come after sundown.

Such a limited class orientation was reflected not only in the programs and goals of our older civil rights movement but in its tactics and organizations. It is very significant that the two oldest and most respectable civil rights organizations have consti-- I'm sorry, I can only say three fifths of that word -- constitution. When I become five fifths, I'll be able to say the whole word. But, anyway, they have these things which specifically prohibits partisan political activities. The _____ ones did but changed that clause when it changed its orientation toward black power. But this is perfectly understandable in the strategy and goals of our older organizations. The civil rights movement --- goal as a kind of liaison, between the powerful white community and the dependent black community. The dependent status of the black community apparently was unimportant since if the movement were successful it was going to blend into the white community anyway. We made no pretence of recognizing and developing institutions of community power in the black community but we developed these institutions only to appeal to the conscience of white institutions of power. The posture of the civil rights movements was that of the dependent, the suppliate, the theory was that without organizing or attempting to organize any base of political strength itself the civil rights movement could, by forming coalitions with various of the liberal pressure organizations in the white community such as liberal reform clubs, labor unions, church groups, and progressive civic groups and at times one or other of the major political parties, influence national legislation and national social patterns. I think we've all seen the limitations of this approach.

We have repeatedly seen that political alliances based on appeals to conscience and decency are chancey things, simply because institutions and political organizations have no conscience outside their own special interests.

The political and social rights of black people have been and always will be dependable and negotiable the moment they conflict with the interests of our so called allies. If we do not learn from history, the philosopher Santayana reminds us then we are doomed to repeat it and this is precisely the lesson the black people must learn from the reconstruction period. There came into being what was known as the populist party which was called a coalition between blacks and for whites. One of the leading advocates of the movement was a Mr. TOM WATSON from Georgia. Mr. WATSON was running for a county position in which black people represented 40 per cent of the population. He recognized that in order for him to win that position he needed the black vote so he began like most of the liberal people in this country who will heed the black vote in 1972 when they run for President, began to articulate a philosophy of liberalism which said to black people that they should come and join his party. Now black people came and joined the populist party all around the south, from South Carolina to Louisiana. In Texas, you had the farmers alliances with the colored farmers alliances and the white farmers alliances. And what these black people did was to flock into the party unorganized and not independently organized so that the populist party always had the vote and we received some visible patronage. There were a couple of black people who were sent to some of the state legislatures. Now when Mr. WATSON wanted power in the country and decided to make his party a national party he decided to stretch his party first to the west, to the farmers because he was too weak to fight the industrial east in the north. And when he decided to broaden his party to the west, the economic interest of the farmers conflicted with the economic interests of the black people. Mr. WATSON then turned around and became a racist himself, leading lynch mobs to drive black people out of his party. Now you should note that in two cases two major decisions were made without the participation of black people. The one was that they should come into the populist party, the second was that they be driven out by the populist party, and this decision was made by a white man, TOM WATSON, our great white father I am told and it is important because black people had not organized themselves independently first, they could be driven out without challenging the decision Mr. WATSON made. This time around when we form coalitions we're going to be independently organized so when people decide to become racists at least we can't disrupt.

Thus at this point in the struggle, blacks have no assurance, save a kind of idiot optimism and faith in a society whose history is one of racism, that if it were to become necessary even the painfully limited gains thrown to the civil rights movement by the Congress will not be revoked as soon as the shift in political sentiment should occur. The major limitation of this approach was that it tended to maintain the traditional dependence of blacks and of the movement.

We depended on the good will and support of various groups within the white community whose interests were not always compatible with ours to the extent that we depended upon their good will and their support vulnerable to their influence and domination. Also the program that evolved out of this coalition was really limited and inadequate in the long terms and one which affected only a small selected group of black people. It goes to make the white community accessible to qualified blacks and presumably each year a few more black people armed with their passports, a couple of university degrees, will escape into white middle class America, adopt the attitudes and life styles of their group and one day the Harlems and Watts would stand empty, a tribute to the success of integration.

This is simply neither realistic nor is it particularly desirable. You can integrate communities but you assimilate individuals. Even if such a program were possible, the result would not be to develop the black communities as a functional and honorable facility of the total society with its own cultural identity, life patterns and institutions but to abolish it, the final solution to the race problems in this country. KARL MARX tells us that the working class is the first class in history that ever wished to abolish itself. If one were to listen very closely to some of our moderate Negro leaders, he would think that black people were the first race that wished to abolish themselves. The fact is what must be abolished is not the black community but the dependent and colonial status that has been inflicted upon us; the racial and cultural personality of the black community must be preserved and the community must win its liberation while preserving its cultural integrity. This is the essential difference between integration and it is currently practiced in the concept of black power. And what has the movement for integration accomplished to date. That the black person graduating from M.I.T. with a doctorate will have a better job opportunities available to him than to LYNDIA BYRD JOHNSON. The rate of unemployment in the black community is steadily increasing while that in the white community decreases. More educated black people hold executive jobs in major corporations or federal agencies than ever before but the gap between white income and black income has almost doubled in the last 20 years. More suburban housing is available to black people if they can stand the rocks but housing conditions in the ghettos are steadily declining. While the infant mortality rates of New York City is at its lowest rate ever, in its city's history, the infant mortality rate is steadily climbing. There has been an organized national resistance to the Supreme Court's order to integrate the schools and the federal government has not acted to enforce that order. Less than six per cent of black children in the south attend so-called integrated schools and black schools which the vast majority of black children still attend are increasingly decrepit, overcrowded, understaffed, inadequately equipped and funded. It is time that we turn our attention to 94 per cent of our black youth in this country.

This explains then why the rate of school dropouts is increasing among black teenagers who then express their bitterness, hopelessness and alienation by the only means they have, through imitating this society via violence. As long as people are in the ghettos of our large cities, feel that we are the victims of misuse of white power without any way to have our needs represented, and these are frequently simple needs, we will continue to have rebellions. These are not the products of black power but of the absence of any organization capable of giving the community the power, the black power it needs to deal with those problems. SNCC proposes it is now time for the black liberation movement to stop pandering to the fears and anxieties of the white middle class in the attempt to earn its good will, and to return to the ghettos to organize these communities to control themselves. This organization must be attempted in the northern and southern urban areas as well as in the rural black belt areas of the south. The chief antagonist to this organization is in the South, the overtly racist Democratic Party who also has liberal friends in New York, and in the North the equally corrupt and just as racist big city machine. The standard argument presented against independent political organization is, but you are only 10%. I cannot see the relevance of this observation since no one is talking about taking over the country. We wouldn't know what to do with this monster. But taking control of our own communities. The fact is that the black population, 10% or not, is very strategically placed because, ironically all segregation, what is also true is that blacks have never been able to utilize the power or voting potential of our members. Where we could vote the case has always been that the white political machine stacks and gerrymanders the political subdivision in the black neighborhood so the true voting strength is never reflected in the political strength. Would anyone looking at the distribution of the political power in Houston ever think that black represented 25% of the population here? This is often the effective political organization when black community is absorbed by tokenism and patronism, the time-honored practice of giving certain offices to selective Negroes. The machine thus creates a little machine which is subordinate and responsive to the inside the black community. These so-called Negro political leaders are really vote deliverers, more responsible to the white machine and the white power structure than to the community they allegedly represented. As a matter of fact their only act in speaking to the black community is condemning the black community. That is their full purpose. We call them rebellion coolers. After every rebellion they bring them out, we don't believe in violence. We support the war in Vietnam but we don't believe in violence. They usually have to find them in their suburban housing to bring them out. Thus the white community is able to substitute patronage control for what Mr. Powell calls audacious black power in the black community. This is precisely what Johnson tried to do. Even before the Voting Rights Act of 1965 was passed, the national democrats made it clear that the measure was intended to register democrats, not black people. The President and top officials of the Democratic Party called in almost 100 selected Negro leaders from the Deep South. Nothing was said about changing the policies of the racist state parties. Nothing was said about repudiating such leadership figures as Eastman and Ross Barnett in Mississippi, or George and Lurleen Wallace in Alabama. Now we don't say anything mean about Lurleen Wallace because we have just come to find out that the Governor of Alabama is a mother and we are for motherhood. What was simply said, and I quote, was "Go home and organize your peoples into the Democratic Party then we will see about poverty money and appointments, my fellow Americans." We must organize black community power to end these abuses and to give the black community a chance to have its needs expressed. A leadership which is truly responsible, not to the white press and the white power structure, but to the black community, will be developed. Such leadership will recognize that if power lies in the unified and collective strength of the black community, this will make it difficult for the white leadership group to conduct its dialog with individuals in terms of patronage and prestige and will force them to talk to the communities' representatives in terms of real black power. The single aspect then of the black power program that has encountered most criticism is this concept of independent political organization. This is presented as third partism, which has never worked, or a withdrawal into black nationalism and black isolationism leads to black racism. I tried logically to figure it out but it is totally invalid. If such a program is developed it will not have the effect of isolating the black community but the reverse. When the black community is able to control local offices and negotiate with other groups from a position of organized strength, the possibility of meaningful political alliances on specific issues will be increased. That is a rule of policy and there is no reason why it should not operate here. The only difference is that we will have the power to define the terms of these alliances. The next question usually is, can the ghetto in fact be organized. The answer is that the organizations must be successful because there are no Bible alternatives, not towards poverty which was a deception limited to dealing with defects rather than causes and become simply another source of machine patronage and integration is meaningful only to small chosen class within the black community. The revolution in agricultural technology in the South is displacing the rule of black community into the northern and southern urban areas. Both Washington, D.C., and Newark, New Jersey, already have black majorities. One-third of Philadelphia's population of two million people is already black. The inner city in most major urban areas is already predominantly black and with the white rush to suburbia, black will, in the next two decades, control the heart of their great cities. These areas can become either concentration camps with a bitter population whose only power is the power to destroy, or organized and powerful communities able to make constructive contributions to the entire society without the power, the black power to control our lives and our communities. Without effective political institutions through which to relate to the total society, our communities will exist in a constant state of insurrection. This is a choice that white America will have to make.

(At this point another individual apparently took the speakers podium to receive questions for Mr. Carmichael.)

We will now have a question and answer period. But first of all, I would like for Ronald ~~Brown~~ and Del ~~Boudreau~~ to meet me back stage after the show is over, please. ~~Y~~ ~~TEX~~ ~~AKA ADELL BODREAU~~

Also, outside in the lobby we have literature about SNCC and black power and Mr. Carmichael, possibly you would be interested in reading.

And now we will have a question and answer session. You ask the questions and I will try to repeat them to him.

I think you misunderstood what I said. I said I wanted to assimilate individuals and maintain the cultural pattern. No, I said that you can integrate communities but you assimilate individuals. I am against the assimilation of individuals.

What are SNCC's specific plans for Houston?

We will organize black folks that take 25% of the political structure.

You want to know if Harlem is closed off? I'm sorry, I don't understand the question. What do you mean closed off? She has heard that Harlem has been closed off to VISTA, what was the other group you mentioned, young lady? Yes, and she went on to say what is VISTA's purpose there?

I don't know if it is closed off but I would be supposing _____ they will send a lot of white kids in their communities again.

The question was, what do we plan to do about country schools like Prairie View A&M College?

Well we are moving now on black college campuses to do a number of things. Number one, we want to radicalize black college campuses in this country. In order to do that we do a number of things. Number one is that we get rid of compulsory ROTC on all our college campuses. Secondly, we want to establish a basic student power where black students will have the right to invite anybody they want to invite to speak on their campuses. Thirdly, we want to rid the black schools in this country of the white dominations they have suffered under for so many years. We want Swahili incorporated the language. Not only at Prairie View but in all the high schools of this country. Black people need to know how to speak Swahili so they can talk to African brothers without outsiders listening in. We want to incorporate a concept of the eastern society with western society as opposed to the teaching of western civilization. And then finally we want to make those black colleges throw their attention to giving their skills and techniques to the black community. If we don't get that we gonna disrupt the schools.

The question is, you want him to repeat his views on integration as compared with Dr. King.

Dr. King did you say? I'm sorry, we never publicly attack any black man. We have been doing that too long.

I have just read an article to you _____ black liberation which I wrote which expresses a lot of programatic concepts of SNCC. You can pick it up outside. It appears in the Massachusetts Review, the last fall of 1966. You can read it. Dr. King has written three books you can read them, then you can make the analysis yourself.

The question is, what does Mr. Carmichael think of the recent TSU movement?

He was a long time coming.

The question is, does Stokely Carmichael think Muhammad Ali should go to Vietnam?

I want to tell you that Mr. Muhammad Ali is the greatest. And this is a book entitled "Vietnam Vietnam" by Mr. Felix Green. I know you don't often get a chance to read it but you should try and pick it up. I will read you two quotes from it because not only do I think that Mr. Muhammad Ali should not go, I don't think any man in his right mind should go. I want to read the quotes. Now we want to make it clear, we are against compulsory conscription, completely against it. We don't think anybody should be drafted. If a man wants to be a killer that's his right. He has the right to be a killer, let him. If some people don't want, they have that right to, let them, let them. And now particularly against the war in Vietnam we want to read some quotes which were made by some people who run the country because we maintain that the war in Vietnam is not fought for freedom, democracy, equality and all that junk, and certainly as black people we should know that it is nothing but junk, though we have lived here under freedom, democracy, equality. This quote was made August 4, 1953, in Seattle, Washington, before the United States state governors. I quote. In 1953 we weren't fighting the war, the French were fighting it, we were just paying for 80% of it. The quote is, "Now let us assume that we lost Indochina, the tin and tungsten that we so greatly valued from that area would cease coming, so when the United States votes four hundred million dollars to help that war we are not voting a give-away program, we are voting for the cheapest way that we can to prevent the occurrence of something that would be of most terrible significance to the United States of America. Our security, our power and ability to get certain things we need from the riches of the Indochinese territory and from Southeast Asia." That quote was made by the President of the United States at that time, Dwight D. Eisenhower. Now we say Ike really was not too smart. And certainly he was not one of the best spokesmen the country could find in Harlem because he spoke so well we used to call him the white Joe Lewis. Go ahead with that war and I'll be right home, mama. Now see that was August, 1953, we say the country changed, we always learn from our mistakes, so we would want to come up then to 1966, and we want to use somebody who is articulate, who is tall, impressive looking, blond hair, blue eyes, Henry Cabot Lodge. This is his quote. "Geographically Vietnam stands at the hub of a vast area of the world, Southeast Asia, an area with the population of 249,000,000 persons. He who holds, or has influence in Vietnam, can effect the future of the Philippines and Formosa to the east, Thailand and Burma with their huge rice surpluses to the west, and Malaysia and Indonesia with their rubber, ore and tin to the south. Vietnam thus does not exist in a geographical vacuum. There its large storehouses of wealth and population can be influenced and undermined." It is clear to us that's what the war in Vietnam is all about and they should go fight it, they should go fight it. And we are opposed to it then on two grounds, first on a Christian ground, and I certainly hate to talk about Christianity in this country because they are so hypocritical about Christianity. They are. White people taught us about the church and about Jesus Christ, they want us to be Christians, and the cross was their symbol, and they had so much respect for it that just before they came to get us they used to burn it. Not only that, the Bible tells me that Jesus Christ had the head of a _____ lamb and white people don't even let us worship with them in their churches because they have a monopoly on Christ, I guess. So we really had to talk about Christianity in this country, but if people are Christians, Jesus Christ said, "It is more honorable to suffer than to inflict suffering." It is crystal clear to us that when one is called you have a choice, either you go to jail, you suffer, or you inflict suffering, you kill somebody 8,000 miles away. We would say it is much better to suffer. We would advocate that people say to hell with the draft and go to jail. And we would remind them that it is more honorable to sit in jail knowing that one is not a murderer than to be outside in the streets knowing that one has killed somebody and not sure why you have even killed them. So that certainly on those grounds it is crystal clear to me.

Now there are other grounds under which we are opposed to conscription and that is on a moral ground, that this country is so amoral that to talk about morality is another joke. But let us joke for a while, let us enter the theater of the absurd. You know how they joke about LBJ on TV, "Every night before I go to bed I ask myself what have I done to preserve peace in this country," bombs away on Negro leaders. But even on a moralistic ground, we maintain in SNCC that the highest crime to commit against your fellow man is to kill him, to take his life. That must be an individual decision, it cannot be a mass decision. If you decide to kill, you ought to decide who you want to kill. And then particularly for Mr. Muhammad Ali because he is black, there are hosts of reasons why he ought not to even fight the hunkies' war. The first one is that he was born in Louisville, Kentucky. He is going over to Vietnam to fight for democracy. The school they sent him to, he can't even spell the word democracy. Here is Mr. Muhammad Ali who is going to go 8,000 miles to fight some Vietnamese and he ain't never called him nigger. But certainly Mr. Ali, as a brilliant and great and a proud black man knows the history of black people in this country. We have tried over and over again to prove to this country what good Americans we are, the very first man to be shot in this country for the war in independence was a black man named _____ Adams. He was a fool because he was fighting the white man's war while his brothers were enslaved in this country. He should have been helping his brothers beat the living daylights out of the slave masters. But be that as it may, we wanted to prove to America what good Americans we were. So the few of us who were living in New England who were free got together and organized a battalion and begged the white folks to let us fight for the independence. We begged them and they wouldn't let us, and we drilled in our bare feet up and down the sand, and marched, and finally they came and saw us and what a good job you boys are doing, go ahead and fight the Indians, and like fools we got out there and fought the Indians, instead of teaming up with the Indians and taking care of _____. We wanted to prove to America what good Americans we were. While millions of us were enslaved we were fighting for the independence of this country, only to come back and find ourselves in slavery. Along came the war with Mexico and they were yelling to us "Remember the Alamo." They never told us the Alamo was on Mexican territory, did they? And here we were again flocking to fight because we wanted to prove what good Americans we were, again teaming up with other non-white people. Stupid, stupid, stupid. That was not enough, along came the Civil War. We wanted to fight for our liberation so we had to beg them to let us fight, they said we weren't fit to fight and they wouldn't let us fight until the South was winning and then Frederick Douglas went to see Abraham Lincoln, and he said let them fight in segregated units, behind the lines and dig the ditches. We wanted to prove that we were good Americans, we would do anything. Along came World War I and they really started to draft people because compulsory conscription started in the country in the Civil War because the good white folks in the North were not about to fight, and World War I came along and they wouldn't draft us but we wouldn't hear of it, what do you mean not drafting us? Good Americans, yes, draft us, we must go. Yes, sir, and the NAACP in a crisis in its editorials attacked this country for not drafting black people, and here we were, they were drafting us and we were going across the seas to make the world safe for democracy. We couldn't even spell the word but we wanted to make the world safe for democracy. Well we came back, our uniforms were not even off our backs, when they hung an entire platoon right here in Texas, right after World War I.

But we were not satisfied, no sir, we wanted to prove what good Americans we were, we wanted to prove to this country how much we love it, so along comes World War II and we got to fight on the front lines, yes sir. We went to Poland, we gonna stop Hitler in Poland, and in 1966 some Polish hunkie gonna throw a rock in Cicero and tell us we don't belong in that community. We were going to prove what Americans we were, we were going to die on the front lines, proving how good we were, and Mr. Langston News in his book documents, in "A Fight to Freedom", the history of the NAACP, that when black soldiers in Europe captured Nazi prisoners, enemies of this country, and were transporting them in this country, bringing them to a Texas prisoner camp, when they got in Washington, D.C., the Nazis, who were enemies of this country, were made to sit up front and the niggers who fought overseas were sent to the baggage car.

But we were not satisfied, we wanted to prove what good Americans we were, so in 1948, Mr. A. Philip Randolph led a fight to integrate the troops and Truman became white and liberal and integrated the troops, theoretically, because I must remind you that in World War II we fought in segregated units.

But along came the Korean War and we went out, communism must be stopped at any price, and it was usually black blood that paid that price. But that was O.K., our uncles got their legs shot off, got their arms shot off, and came back to this country, walked in a restaurant and had some hunkie slam the door in his face and say nigger get out.

In the Vietnam war, let Americans prove something to us, we are not going, we are not going. I urge all my black brothers to send letters to Mr. Muhammad Ali telling him that he is the greatest and we are behind him 100%, and that you get up and you say the war in Vietnam is for the birds, Linda Bird, Lady Bird, and Loonie Bird.

In case you didn't hear the man, that was a statement. His statement was a direct appraisal of the work of Hubert Humphrey and Lyndon Baines Johnson and other liberals.

My good man, you have fallen a victim of white western society to again think that you are the only one who can define, you cannot define progress for me. I will define progress for me. Either a country is racist or it is not racist. There is no in-between point. Either a man is a citizen or he is not a citizen, there is no such thing as second-class citizenship. So that maybe you can define for white people what they can do if they were black. I am black, I will define for me what I will do. Since you were suggesting what progress was for me, let me define what progress would be for the white race. You see, I am very disgusted, white people are always defining for me what progress should be. I would rather face a Ross Barnett than face a Humphrey. I would much rather face a Ross Barnett than to face a Humphrey because I know where I'm at when I face Barnett. But now progress for the white race would be when white people can begin to civilize the white race. When they can go into the communities and convert the Ross Barnetts, convert the Eastlands, convert the Lester Maddoxes, convert the Talmadges, convert the Strom Thurmonds, convert the Russells, all the people that have the power in this country. That would be progress, so that you should define progress for yourself, I will tell you things ain't at all better, baby, considering that our sweat built this country.

The question was, everybody hear the question?

I didn't know the name of the paper was the "Forward Times", I thought it was the "Backward Times". The editorial deals with the fact that I am supposed to be a salesman of happiness. Obviously the man who wrote the editorial never heard me speak, I'm a salesman of manhood, there is a big difference. But now to the trouble in Nashville, I am told in this country that someone is innocent until proven guilty. I have not been proven guilty of inciting to riot in Nashville. The hunkie cops don't even have enough evidence to arrest me, but everyone is sure that I have incited to riot in Nashville, Tennessee. Why don't they arrest me if I have in fact incited to riot? It is because the hunkies can't prove nothing. So that until I am found guilty of that crime you will say that I am innocent, so to waste my time defending it is to get caught up in idle prattle and self-serving intellectual _____. We have more important things to do. Then finally to the time which says that I am a rabble rouser. This country has law and order. Unfortunately it does not have justice. Hitler had the most efficient system of law and order, he didn't even know how to spell justice and that what we say is just what Jesus Christ said, I come to bring the poor not the _____. I have come to turn son against father, daughter against mother, nation against nation, for where there is injustice there shall be no peace, and if white America don't know how to give justice to black people, there is going to be no peace, we're going to tear it up. So as a rabble rouser I stand guilty and still there is oppression of black people, I will continue to rabble rouse until there is no breath left in my body.

Now the question is what is SNCC's views on white people helping the black power movement and why?

I don't think that white people can help the black power movement. They can help white people. I think that what we have come to find out is that the help of white people has cost us too much. We started off with the missionaries, you know, white people came to help us. We had the land, they had the Bible. When they left they got the land and we still have the Bible. Now I think the need is for white people to organize inside the white community, the white community to know how to be civilized, that is how to recognize the humanity of black people, that is the job of so-called white liberals, if they have the guts to face the racism in their own community where it exists and work to eradicate it there. We don't need any help, we just need white people to get off our backs. We have been together for 400 years, you know, it has always been white society that's been messing with us. They have sold us from Africa and they were not even satisfied with that, they still keep messing with us right here. We built their country free, worked in slavery for them and they are still not satisfied, they still got to mess with us. We don't know what is wrong with them. We really don't. And maybe white liberals can help us by telling us what is wrong with them and help get them straight and everything will be all right. But on a political level, too, we think it is very, very important for white students to move into the poor white communities and start organizing them, if they are really concerned about building a movement because poor white communities are politically and economically disenfranchised and they should be organized but what is happening it is white activists like some sort of Pepsi generation, they want to come alive where the action is. They run through the black community and the poor white community becomes more hostile because they see everybody running into the black community and there is a need for the black community to be organized to stop the oppression, economically and politically, so we urge white activists to move into white communities.

First, there is ideology that we must fight. It is a white ideology, that is the white ideology that white, people are civilized.

Let me tell you something, have you ever heard of the Nuremberg trials? Do you know what the Nuremberg judgment said? It said there is a higher law than the law of Government, there is a law of the individual conscience which tells him that which is right and wrong.

Oh, you're telling me what is right and wrong? That's been my trouble, I have been listening to what's been right for the last 100 years. You made me a slave, that was right. You made me work hard, that was right. What do you mean you gonna tell me what is right? I will tell myself what is right. My good man, numbers are a majority, never equal truth, remember that.

You don't give it to me, it belongs to me, you are denying it to me. No, no, there is a big difference. You don't give me anything, you stop denying me. Your trouble is that you are defining terms, white people won't give me my freedom, they got to stop enslaving me, there is a difference.

My good man, just because you're 75% does not mean that you are right. I will not let you make me a hired killer. If I don't do it I am willing to accept the consequences of my act. I said very clearly I would rather to go jail, recognizing that you have the power, a situation I don't like, but I recognize it. I'm willing to face the consequences of my act, I believe that is an honorable deed, don't you? I believe that black people in this country must fight to save their humanity. We cannot let white America destroy their humanity. If she feels that she must bomb, plunder, rape and murder the rest of the world, let her, let her. We will save our humanity.

The question is, since the white man isn't civilized and the black man is, how can we justify the situation that there are riots in places like Watts, how can you justify your destruction of places like Watts, that is your question.

A white man named Patrick Henry said, "Give me liberty or give me death." Black people are saying "we gonna get liberation under any means necessary." To destroy does not mean that you are uncivilized. I think what black people are saying to white America is that we recognize your barbaric nature. We can't civilize you but we gonna stop you from being barbaric towards us. That means that in a place like Watts there ought not to be any hunkie cops in there. We ought to control the police force in Watts, completely, if we can't control it, there is gonna be no police force in Watts. So that you're absolutely wrong if you compare the results of say, the analogy and therefore the reasoning is the same. You can do the same thing for different reasons. They even recognize that a murder isn't just a murder, there is justifiable homicide, there is first degree murder, there is second degree murder. There are all sorts of reasons for murder. That is the fact that because you burn, it appears to me that those people are burning because they have no way to have their needs met, no way to have anyone listen to them, no way to get out of the oppression and exploitation that we have to suffer. Absolutely no way, none whatsoever. We have tried, we have listened, we have obeyed, and we have ended up with rats and roaches. And so what we are saying is crystal clear in our mind that if you won't stop being uncivilized, that is your business, but we will stop your uncivilized manner penetrating toward us.

We have time for just one more question.

No I never did, as it is currently practiced.

O.K. I will define integrating as the coming together, the melting of cultures. If you can have that, if it is a two-way stream, if you can have white kids.

If you have to mix, then white people can also come to the black community, can't they? White students can also come to black schools.

This man wants to know the Stokely Carmichael definition of non-violence.

A non-violent person is someone who is not aggressively violent, that is to say I am non-violent right now, you are non-violent right now. If you hit me, I'm gonna break your arm. I think the confusion stems from non-violence and pacifism. A pacifist is someone who does not retaliate under any circumstances. I am not now, nor have I ever been, nor ever will I be a pacifist. So that is clear that one is talking about self-defense. In SNCC we say very clearly if the white man tries to shoot you, kill him before God gets the news. So that if he doesn't want to die, he doesn't want his arm broken, let him stay in bed with his wife at three o'clock in the morning instead of haunting our churches and houses and little children. If he's got a sex problem he ought to see a psychiatrist, don't work it out on us. Non-violent then will be the action of a man not being aggressively violent, unhampered, O.K.? I'm hampered, I'm the sweetest cat you know, you mess with me.

We would like to thank you for coming out tonight.

Ronald Brown and Adell Boudreau please meet me on stage immediately, please.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee spoke at Cullen Auditorium, University of Houston, Houston, Texas, during the evening of April 13, 1967. CARMICHAEL's appearance at the University of Houston was sponsored by the Committee on Better Race Relations (COBRR). At that time, [redacted] b7C

Cullen Auditorium has a seating capacity of 1680. Therefore, the University of Houston issued 1680 tickets for the event. About 300 of the tickets were issued to the faculty and students at Texas Southern University, Houston; about 100 tickets were issued to the faculty and students at Rice University, Houston, Texas; and the remaining were issued to the faculty and students at the University of Houston. b7C

[redacted] attended the event. The auditorium was filled to capacity and additionally, there were from 300 to 500 people standing outside the auditorium listening to the speech. Most of those in attendance were students and were probably somewhere between 18 years and 24 years of age. He would estimate that approximately one-third of those in attendance were Negro, and the remaining white. He knew of no military personnel in attendance. b7C

He said that it was his impression that the majority of the audience appeared to be sympathetic to most of CARMICHAEL's remarks. He said it would be difficult for him to say just what the audience's reaction was to CARMICHAEL's remarks concerning his opposition to the Vietnam war, particularly when CARMICHAEL commented it was better to go to jail than Vietnam, or words to that effect.

During the evening of April 13, 1967, when STOKELY CARMICHAEL spoke at Cullen Auditorium, University of Houston, Houston, Texas [redacted] was on duty in connection with his [redacted]

In preparing for CARMICHAEL's appearance, the university had calculated that more people would attend the event than Cullen Auditorium, whose seating capacity is 1680, could accommodate. With that contingency in mind, a loud-speaking system was set-up in front of Cullen Auditorium so those individuals who could not be seated inside the auditorium could hear CARMICHAEL's speech from outside the auditorium building.

During most of CARMICHAEL's speech, [redacted] was in the area immediately outside and in front of Cullen Auditorium. In that position, he was able to hear the speech over the loud-speaking system. At times he was inside the auditorium. Because of the passage of time which has occurred since the speech, [redacted] remembers only the general tenor and subject of CARMICHAEL's address. He recalled that during the latter part of the speech, or perhaps during the question and answer period following the speech, that CARMICHAEL made certain remarks in opposition to the United States Government's position with regard to the Vietnam war. He remembers that CARMICHAEL indicated one should go to jail before honoring the draft. [redacted] said that to [redacted] b7C the best of his recollection, when CARMICHAEL made such statements, the audience reacted to them in a favorable manner and would applaud.

He said that taking the CARMICHAEL speech as a whole, the majority of the audience seemed to be sympathetic to it. He said that he does not recall CARMICHAEL being "booed" by anyone in attendance.

[] estimated that there were at least 1680 individuals seated inside the auditorium, and perhaps as many as 200 persons standing outside in front of the auditorium, during the time CARMICHAEL spoke. With regard to those inside the auditorium, he estimated that one-third of them were Negro and the remaining white; that perhaps one-fourth of those outside the front of the building were Negro and the rest white.

He said the majority of those in attendance appeared to be of college age; namely, between 18 years and 22 years of age. He recalled seeing no one there in military uniform and had no knowledge of any military personnel being in attendance.

He recalled that immediately following CARMICHAEL's speech, in front of the auditorium a group of individuals formed and apparently engaged in some type discussion, the nature of which was unknown to []. He knew of no discussions by parts of the audience which took place away from the site of CARMICHAEL's appearance.

b7C

He said that to the best of his knowledge, no incident of violence occurred in connection with CARMICHAEL's appearance at the university.

He said that he could furnish no information concerning STOKELY CARMICHAEL's appearance at the University of Houston in April, 1967.

The University of Houston has an ROTC program in which they offer both two-year programs and four-year programs for the United States Army. The university has no ROTC program for the United States Navy or for the United States Air Force.

As of May 11, 1967, the day of final review for the University of Houston ROTC, there were 283 university students enrolled in the ROTC program at that university.

There is no military installation adjacent to the University of Houston. The closest active military installation is Ellington Air Force Base, which is located approximately fifteen miles from Houston, Texas. However, there is a U. S. Army Reserve Training Center, Houston Sub-Sector Command, located on the Old Spanish Trail, Houston, Texas, some several miles from the University of Houston.

She now recalled that during the speech STOKELY CARMICHAEL made a statement such as "If somebody gives me a gun, I know who I would shoot". He had been referring to war in Vietnam and had stated that Negroes should not be shooting other persons of colored skin, in Vietnam, when they had a greater problem at home. Other than this remark, [redacted] could not recall any particular controversial remark made by CARMICHAEL. She estimated the audience at approximately 4,000 persons, mostly adults, and those of draft age in the audience about 15%. He estimated the audience at about 3,000 with approximately 90% being college students. He said that of this 90%, there were approximately three-fourths male students of draft age. He said that he did not see any military personnel present in uniform and does not know how many of the students present are in the Reserve Officer Training Corps but believes that 50% of the males present are members of the Reserve Officer Training Corps. [redacted] said that the audience response appeared to be "warm" but not "exuberant". He said that there was no "chanting" by the audience of CARMICHAEL's remarks.

[redacted] remarked that CARMICHAEL appeared to deliver his speech in a normal tone of voice and in a deliberate manner. He did not become overly excited, and he spoke generally to all persons within sound of his voice. He may have used notes in delivering his speech, but they were not apparent. He was the main speaker for the afternoon and his announced topic was Negro Rights and Black Power.

b7C

[redacted] further related he had also made a tape of the question and answer period following CARMICHAEL's main address, however,

[redacted] Seattle, Washington, stated he attended the speech of STOKELY CARMICHAEL at Garfield High School on the evening of April 19, 1967, attended mostly by adults. He said the audience response was very warm and he would estimate the audience at about 4,000 persons. He said the audience consisted of very few persons of draft age. He does not recall any remarks being made by CARMICHAEL of a controversial nature which would be construed as counseling or obstruction to military service. He estimated that the number of draft age persons in the audience would be about 10%, and the number of Negroes in the audience would be 70%. He said there was no vocal response by the audience to CARMICHAEL's remarks and a question and answer period was held at the high school directly following his main address. He does not recall seeing any military personnel in uniform at the high school and does not know how many persons were there that might be in the military service.

University of Washington, Seattle, Washington, informed that he attended a speech of STOKELY CARMICHAEL which was held on the afternoon of April 19, 1967, at the University of Washington. He stated that he did not hear any comment made by CARMICHAEL which would indicate willful counseling or refusal for duty in military service or effort to obstruct recruiting into military service or enlistment into military duty. He said that the audience consisted of about 3,000 persons made up of students of which three-fourths were male persons of draft age. He said that the number of Negroes in the audience was very small and he would approximate no more than 5% of the audience. He added that the audience were warm in their reception but at no time did they appear to be "exuberant".

b7C

[redacted] stated that there is a Reserve Officer Training program at the University which includes a training program for Air Force, Army, and Navy. He said that to the best of his knowledge, there was no one in the audience in uniform. He stated that there was a question and answer period after the main speech by CARMICHAEL, and it was difficult for anyone to hear all of the questions and answers. He said he did not hear any changing to a question regarding the draft nor did he hear CARMICHAEL make an answer such as "Hell no, we won't go".

April 10, 1967

Why don't you all read an article with the depth of the Massachusetts Quarterly Review entitled Towards Black Liberation (unintelligible) paper and then we could have some discussion afterwards. I understand that the press has not been doing too good a job covering the activities of SNCC. I don't think they will be able to cover the lecture today because it is on an intellectual level. But since you are college students I know you'll be able to deal with the lecture. I'm sorry that Professor Hunt had to take so much time reaffirming free speech, I just assumed it was a natural thing, they taught it to me in school. One of the more pointed illustrations of the need for black power as a positive and redemptive force in a society degenerating into a form of totalitarianism is to be made by examining the history of distortion that the concept has received in the national media of publicity. This debate as in everything else that affects our lives black people are dependent on and at the discretion of forces and institutions within the white society which have little interest in representing us honestly. Our experience with the Nation Press has been that where they have managed to escape the most vicious special interests in "Get whity" sensationalism and race war mongering, individual reporters and commentators have been conditioned by the developing racism of the society to the point where they are incapable even of objective observations and reporting of racial incidents much less the analysis of ideas.

STOCKELY CARMICHAEL at GARFIELD HIGH SCHOOL

April 19, 1967, Seattle, Washington

Good Evening, It's good to be here.

You know what usually happens is that in the newspapers they call us racists and anti-whites and say we hate white folk and all that irrelevant nonsense, and they do that because they use white people as the measuring stick. But I want you to look clear before you and you notice that in all their beautiful liberal press media, there isn't one black man. So when the honkeys talk tomorrow about violence and anti-white and hating white people, tell them they ought to have a black man reporting it because they don't understand because we are talking to black folk anyhow.

Tonight we want to do several things. We want to talk about some of the basic assumptions from which the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) moves and then move into an area of pragmatics and what in fact black people will have to do if we are going to survive in this country and live as human beings. The first thing we want to talk about is the theory of self condemnation, and we want to move on and talk about denying one one's freedom as opposed to giving one one's freedom and we want to talk about the importance of definition and the need for black people to define themselves as they see fit in this society and to have those definitions recognized by our press's white society. And we want to talk about violence because it is going to be important, because I don't know why everybody is so scared about it and they are going to draft you all and send you all to Vietnam, I guess you are going to go over there and make love to the Vietnamese. Then we want to talk about

b7C

[redacted] stated that the tape recording of the STOKLEY CARMICHAEL speech provided to [redacted] was the first copy or "dup", of his original recording, which was on two tape recording cassettes which he used to record CARMICHAEL'S speech at Tougaloo College, Jackson, Mississippi, on the evening of April 11, 1967.

b7C

[redacted] recalled that on April 11, 1967, he arrived on the Tougaloo College Campus at about 6:30 PM in order to have time to make preparations to cover STOKLEY CARMICHAEL'S speech which was scheduled to start at 7:30 PM. The CARMICHAEL talk, according to [redacted] actually began at about 7:45 PM and lasted for a period slightly over two hours.

b7C

Because [redacted] at the time only had two cassettes of tape (two hours of recording time) he was forced to erase a part of the second 30 minute portion of CARMICHAEL'S speech from the 1st cassette so that he would have sufficient tape to be able to record the last part of CARMICHAEL'S speech which he deemed to be more important or news-worthy.

[redacted] stated that he does not have the original cassettes or tape recordings of the CARMICHAEL speech and further commented that before he left Jackson, Mississippi after the speech he left the original recording of CARMICHAEL'S speech still in the cassettes in [redacted] b7C [redacted] stated that possibly [redacted] may be able to locate the original tape cassettes containing the recording of the CARMICHAEL speech. [redacted] further claimed that he can identify the cassettes containing the original recording, if found, because they are identified by his hand writing on the cassettes.

With respect to the tape recording he furnished to [redacted] b7C
[redacted] recalled that as he was leaving the Tougaloo campus after the speech [redacted] approached him and asked for a copy of his tapes. [redacted] promised to make a copy of the CARMICHAEL speech on tape for [redacted] on the following morning. This copy was made for [redacted] by [redacted] in the presence of both [redacted] and [redacted] on the morning of April 12, 1967. [redacted] stated that the copy produced for [redacted] was recorded on regular role tape rather than on tape in cassettes and that this copy was very good and contained all the recording of the CARMICHAEL speech which he obtained.

[redacted] further recalled that at the CARMICHAEL speech there were also a television team and a radio recorder from [redacted] b7C

[redacted] described the crowd in attendance at the CARMICHAEL speech as numbering about 400 persons, most of whom were estimated to be of draft age and the spectators were about evenly divided as to males and females. Those in the crowd were predominantly Negro except for about 40 or 50 white persons which included news media personnel.
The audience response of the crowd in attendance at STOKLEY CARMICHAEL'S speech was described by [redacted] as being "fantastically enthusiastic".

b7C

[redacted] stated that if afforded an opportunity to review the [redacted] copy or the original copy of his

of the speech he had repeated pertinent quotations from these pertinent news highlights even at this time. He stated that rather than trying to quote from memory exactly what CARMICHAEL said he would prefer to be able Bond, a member of the Georgia Legislature, was refused his seat in the Legislature due to statements he had made criticizing United States policy toward Vietnam. He subsequently obtained a court order directing that he be seated.

The Revolutionary Action Movement is an all-Negro, Marxist-Leninist oriented organization which follows the Chinese communist line and advocates achieving Negro rights by violence, if necessary.

Task Force for Black Development

Dr. Nathan Wright, Jr., who chaired the recent Newark, New Jersey, Black Power Conference, announced on August 13, 1967, that Hoyt Fuller, Editor of the "Negro Digest," and Gerald McWorter, former leader of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee at Chicago, will lead a "Task Force for Black Development." Wright criticized the Administration's Model Cities Program as "a product of paternal colonial minds." He said that middle-class Negroes must be put in charge of programs designed to improve ghetto conditions. He called black power a conservative force.

Wright said that the Chicago Task Force will find ways to "empower black people with self-sufficiency." The Task Force leaders will try to devise new roles for black professionals in the struggle for self-development. Wright also stated that attempts will be made to set up black power groups in major cities throughout the United States.

 Washington Post Staff Writer

Police officials from three riot-rocked cities told the Senate Judiciary Committee yesterday that racial violence began immediately after visits by Black Power activists.

In the opening day of hearings on the House-passed anti-riot bill, law enforcement officers from Cincinnati, Nashville and Cambridge, Md., accused H. Rap Brown, national director of the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee, and others, of stirring smoldering racial tensions into flaming riots.

But several Committee members indicated clearly that they had misgivings about the bill, which passed the House last month by 347 to 70.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-N.C.) said he doubted there could ever be a conviction under the bill as it is drafted. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.) called it a "fraud on the American people," because it may "present an appearance of action where there has in fact been only reaction; it may lull the Congress and the public into a sense of complacency about having done something to control riots when in fact we have done nothing."

The bill would make it a Federal crime to cross state lines with the purpose of inciting a riot.

"We are only fooling ourselves if we believe this bill will solve the basic problem facing our Nation," Sen. Edward V. Long (D-Mo.) said. And Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.) said that "this bill and 97 like it wouldn't have stopped what happened in Detroit."

Blames Agitators

Col. Jacob W. Shott, Chief of Police in Cincinnati, where a week of rioting in June followed a speech and presentation of 20 demands to the city by Brown, told the committee, "I don't think we'd have had any trouble if it weren't for these outside agitators."

Cincinnati had been considered "the place where it couldn't happen," Shott said. "But the problem is, what do you do with a fellow that hits and runs? He's in town one night and out the next, hitting somewhere else. The average police department doesn't have the resources to travel around the country, keeping tabs on people. If we could get Mr. Hoover involved. . . ."

Trouble had been simmering in Cincinnati since April 29, Shott said, when Stokely Carmichael, former head of SNCC, spoke to a group of Negroes and "urged the people to fight police instead of each other," Shott said.

Came After Visits

Capt. John A. Sarace of the Nashville Police Department said a week of rioting there in April "came right after Carmichael, Brown and other SNCC functionaries" had visited Nashville.

Cambridge Police Chief Brice G. Kinnamon said he was "confident that the speech (by Brown) was the sole reason for our riots; not only did his speech cause it, he led these people" in a march on the white business district.

Committee Chairman James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) called the recent series of riots "a threat to the very stability of this Nation" and he promised that "these hearings will not be long drawn out."

The Committee would attempt to learn what kind of people have been participating in the riots, what weapons were used and where they came from and what sort of police action has been most effective, Eastland said.

Chief John B. Layton of the Metropolitan Washington Police Department and police officials from Plainfield, N.J.; Tampa, Newark and Rochester will testify today.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, said it was "rather imperative" that Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh be called as a witness. He referred to remarks by Cavanagh saying Congress had failed to meet the needs of the cities.

Eastland said Cavanagh so far has refused to appear, but Hart defended Cavanagh, saying the mayor wants to testify but at the moment has matters of "a little more immediacy" to attend to.

Dear Sir: -

Is there any way you can prevent Carmichael from re-entry into the U. S. ?

Who wants him? In my opinion and the opinion of many others he is far worse than Benedict Arnold.

He is so flagrantly anti-American he should be forbidden this great country of ours. Who pays his way? He does lots of globe-trotting so the Commies must be paying for it. He doesn't work. All he does is spew hate. Some one ought to cement his big mouth shut. Harsh words but he has asked for it and the state Dept & their ilk just want to slap his wrist & call him a bad boy!

If this country was headed by a man like you, Mr. Hoover, we wouldn't be in this awful mess we are in. We need men with guts which we definitely don't have -- Mac Namara - Shriver & you can name the others should go down to oblivion-

Excuse this harangue but I do hope the F.B.I. can rid this country of Carmichael & the other rabid hate-monger Brown. They certainly do not help the decent negroes to a better life.

Stokely Vows To Crush U.S.

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP) — Black Power advocates "are moving into urban guerrilla warfare in the United States," Stokely Carmichael said at a Havana news conference Tuesday.

"We have no alternative but to use aggressive armed violence in order to own the land, houses, and stores inside our communities, and to control the politics of those communities," Carmichael said.

Felix Greene, a Palo Alto, Calif., writer with British citizenship, reported Carmichael's statements in a telephoned dispatch to the San Francisco Chronicle.

Greene is covering the Congress of the Revolutionary Organization of Latin America in Havana.

Greene's dispatch reported that Carmichael declared the Black Power guerrillas "must develop a consciousness so that when people who are struggling get killed, the retaliation will be against the leaders of the West."

"Let us develop a consciousness that when they touch one guerrilla, Lyndon Johnson, Dean Rusk, Robert McNamara and Harold Wilson must pay the price," Carmichael said.

"We are not waiting for them to kill us. We will move to kill them first—or rather, we are working towards that goal."

Greene reported that Carmichael said that Black people in the United States will not pick up guns to fight the Vietnamese.

Carmichael later said:

"One good thing about the Vietnam war is that the United States has taught us how to kill.

"Our brothers returning from Vietnam are going to use that training well in the cities of the United States.

"The fighters of an imperialist country are cowards.

"They don't like to fight hand to hand. In Vietnam when they find themselves fighting hand to hand, they call in bombers to drop napalm and high explosives.

"But in the United States they have to fight hand to hand.

"They cannot use napalm and bombs—and we will wipe them out."

Greene said Carmichael talked more than two hours to about 120 Latin American and European newsmen, answering questions.

Asked about the role of White people in the Negro struggle, Carmichael replied: "The only Whites we can use in our struggle are those who are ready to pick up guns with us to destroy the capitalist system."

Carmichael said, "Black Power is the joining of hands with the oppressed peoples outside the United States to smash the imperialist structure of the United States which oppresses us on the inside and you on the outside."

No Riot Plot — Hoover

a preliminary report set by President Johnson, but Hoover's report "impressed the fact that some of these things seem to start with little incidents."

"Little incidents" were blamed for the outbreak of rock-throwing by Negro youngsters in Washington, D.C. Monday night.

Helped by a sudden downpour, police in the capital succeeded in clearing the streets Tuesday morning and arrested 40 — 28 were charged but most were released later on $25 bond.

Police Chief John Layton told a news conference that the incident was nothing more than a spontaneous outburst by juveniles but "we are certainly alert to anything like this happening again."

Commissioners agreed also with the summation of Abe

Lincoln, a Negro anti-poverty worker who said: "This was just a bunch of kids who've been listening to too much rabble-rousing this past week."

In Congress part of the blame for giving the "rabble-rousing" so much publicity was laid at the feet of the news media.

House Democratic Whip Hale Boggs said he is amazed that so much time has been turned over to "agitators like (H. Rap) Brown and (Stokely) Carmichael."

Rep. Ed Edmonson, D-Okla., called on the newspapers to "exercise a more responsible role in helping maintain law and order than many have been."

In his speech, Boggs said: "Rather than beat our breasts so, we should look to answers to the problems that confront us."

"I suggest that we stop this business about who killed Cock Robin. While poverty doesn't justify riots—God knows it doesn't—this doesn't mean we can blind ourselves to these problems."

The House heard a succession of angry speeches about the rioting and complaints against Vice-President Humphrey's statement that Congress had been inexcusably slow to enact legislation.

Rep. Charles Jonas, D-N.C., accused the vice-president of "frantic efforts to find a scapegoat."

Meanwhile Rep. James Quillen, R-Tenn., told the House Rules Committee that passage of other civil right bills was a major cause of the rioting because it raised false hopes and thus deepened the resultant despair and frustration.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-

N.Y., replied that he hoped Congress, supported by White citizens, would have the moral courage to persevere in the cause of racial equality in spite of the riots.

However, the violence brought a warning that White reaction could "mean disaster to our social structure," from 22 prominent Americans, including New York Mayor John Lindsay and banker David Rockefeller.

In Detroit, federal troops were being pulled out as Gov. Romney lifted nearly all of that city's emergency restrictions.

He abolished the curfew and said residents may assemble freely once again. Restrictions on the sale of gasoline were removed but he continued indefinitely bans on the sale of weapons and explosives.

Meanwhile the commission which investigated the Watts riots of 1965 warned that that outbreak could be "only a curtain-raiser for what could blow up in the future."

The commission report said that no amount of money, training or effort would raise the Negro to the point he seeks "unless he himself shoulders a full share of the responsibility for his own well-being."

They listed the following findings in the Watts outbreak:

- "No reliable evidence of established plans for the rioting."

- The arrest of Negro Marquette Frye on a drunk driving charge was a "tinder-igniting incident" but the handling of the arrest by highway patrolmen was not criticized.

MESSAGE FROM STOKELY CARMICHAEL

The following message was read over Radio Habana Cuba by U.S. Negro leader, STOKELY CARMICHAEL:

"Havana, Cuba
August 1, 1967

"To Our Comrades in the Armed Struggle Against Imperialism and Racism:

"We of the Black Liberation Movement of the U.S. want all of you to know wherever you are that we are your comrades. We are no longer going to allow our enemies to make us fight against you, as they have done in the past. We will not fight in Vietnam, Santo Domingo or anywhere else in the world. Our fight will be inside the U.S. While we are fighting to destroy Imperialism from the inside, we know you will be fighting from the outside. We are dedicated with our very lives to destroy imperialism as you have proven time and time again that you have dedicated your lives. We look forward to the day which will be very soon, when we will overthrow decadent governments and will start the real Revolution of building a society based on humanity rather than a society based on

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

As regards to Carmichael's appearance at the International Congress for the Dialectics of Liberation, the following is set forth: (C)

An article appearing in "The American", London, England, of July 21, 1967, describes the Congress as a gathering of several leading intellectuals of the western world who are attempting to demystify human violence in all its forms. (C)

An article appearing in the "Evening Standard", London, England, July 24, 1967, making reference to Carmichael's appearance at the Congress, Carmichael has been quoted as saying, "It is time to let the whites know we are going to take over. If they don't like it, we will stamp them out -- using violence and any other means necessary." (C)

An article appearing in "The Evening News", London, July 24, 1967, reflected that Carmichael left England suddenly July 24, 1967, on an Air India flight for Prague to make a connection with a plane bound for Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital. (C)

An article appearing in the "Daily Express", London, July 25, 1967, quotes Carmichael at the Congress as having said, "If the British do not adopt our principles, I would burn down their homes and factories." (C)

An article appearing in "The Washington Post Times Herald" of July 26, 1967, written by Michael Arkus, reflects that Carmichael arrived in Cuba by air from Prague as an observer to the Latin American Solidarity Organization's conference of revolutionary forces in Havana. Carmichael was welcomed at the Havana Airport by Captain Osmany Cienfuegos, President of the Cuban Communist Party's Tri-Continental Revolutionary Organization. The article continues that shortly before Carmichael's arrival, the Cuban news agency, Prensa Latina, published an interview with him in London in which he was quoted as saying: (C)

"In Newark (New Jersey, where rioting was going on) we are applying the tactics of guerrilla warfare. We are preparing groups of urban guerrillas for our defense in the cities. This struggle is not going to be a mere street meeting. It is going to be a struggle to the death." (C)

He likened the racial disturbances in the United States to "real rebellions" and said the Cuban revolution was an inspiration to United States Negroes. (C)

Re: Stokely Carmichael

On June 29, 1967, a State investigative agency made available a transcript made from a tape recording of Stokely Carmichael's speech, made at the Fountain Street Church, Grand Rapids, Michigan, on May 17, 1967.

This transcript is as follows: (Blank spaces noted in this memorandum appear since portions of the tape were not audible.)

~~OF STUDENT NON-VIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE~~
"Good evening, a, it's a pleasure to be in Grand Rapids, Michigan, Before I begin I wanna introduce somebody else. You'll be seeing a lot more SNCC people a this year, I hope that you'll be seeing less, and less of me, I wanna get back to the field, do some real ~~organizin'~~ ^{APPROX 1964} so you'll be seein' our new chairman, Mr. Rap Brown, and if you think I'm bad, you should check him out, and he's only 23. We have with, tonight, a, with me is a former program secretary, Mr. Cleve Sellers, who also is goin' back to the field to do some ~~hard-organizin'~~ ^{OF STUDENT NON-VIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE}. Cleve is from Denmark, South Carolina, ^{DC} we were good friends in school together. Howard University, and a, we didn't like it, we tried to change it, we did some good work there. They got a homecoming queen, but a natural this year. I wanted please to speak because last week, a, Sam thought that he owned Cleve so he said, 'Boy, come on over here', and Cleve said, 'Hell no, I ain't goin'. And on Friday he'll probably be goin' to jail. That's awright, that's awright, we got a lot of brothers in jail and we need to organize 'em. Cause they been doin' business with the wrong people, we train 'em and get 'em a political ideology and we sure enough have a force in the country. So before I spoke I wanted you to listen to Mr. Cleveland Sellers.

"Well, I'm back to the field also, and, to begin with, aw, there sure are a whole lot a lights up here, but to begin with I would like to, to repeat a little slogan that we kinda created, the six, me with the other sixteen members of the organization who have said hell no, we're not going, and it is:

"Clean my cell, I'll be there soon, it is better feared than dear.

"So, I am trying to get other people to, like join in, so that when we go there we can go with a big bang instead of just one by one. Now, come on now, I gotta have more support than that cause.

Re: Stokely Carmichael

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

"This Friday I will be indicted and will probably go to jail, but, I would like to have people understand why I take this stand, and if you remember, or if you've been reading lately, just within the past two weeks, past week, there has been two, there have been two brothers, in Mississippi and Texas who have been shot in the back, by policemen, one died tomorrow. Now I think that black people will have to see their fight to liberation as being a fight within this country and that we have to begin to move to understand that we have no fight in Viet Nam. My enemy is not the Vietnamese, it's the Jim Clarks, the Wallaces, the Maddox, those are the people. The question I keep askin' myself is why must I have to die to prove a, why must I have to die in Viet Nam to prove my patriotism. I think that by going into the rule South and beginning to organize my brothers and sisters so that they can become liberated is proving to them who I am concerned with, my patriotism. I'd like to read to you a quote so you will understand some of the things that are in the back of my mind about the war and why it's being fought, because it's not being fought for freedom, equality and democracy. Back in 1953, August 4, President Eisenhower said, "Now let us assume that we've lost Indo China, the tin and tungsten that we've so greatly valued from that area would cease coming. So when the United States votes $400,000,000.00 to help that war, we are not voting a give-away program. We are voting for the cheapest way that we can to prevent the occurrence of something that would be of the most terrible significance to the United States of America, our security, our power and ability to get certain things we need from the riches of the Indo China territories and from Southeast Asia." Now some people might say that that was, that was old, that was a long time ago, 1953, but let me move on to February 28th, nineteen hundred and sixty five, an Ambassador, a, ex-Ambassador to South Viet Nam, Henry Cabot Lodge, made a statement that followed the same trend that President Eisenhower's statement followed.

"Geographically, Viet Nam stands at the hub of a vast area of the world, Southeast Asia. An area with the population of two hundred and forty nine million persons. He who holds or has influence in Viet Nam can affect the future of the Philippines and Formosa to the east, Thailand, Burma, with their huge rice surpluses to the west and Malasia and Indonesia with their rubber, ore and tin to the south. Viet Nam thus, does not exist in a geographical vacuum. From its large storehouses of wealth and population can be influenced and undermined. It is obvious to me that the war in Viet Nam is being fought in the, in the interest of industrialists, in the interest of the capitalist and in the interest of those who pressed us; therefore I cannot see myself participating in a war to press myself. Thank you. -Now Stokely Carmichael.

"We have, a, sixteen other people in our organization who'd refuse to go to the draft, the United States Government has tried to break up our organization by drafting them, but, a, as fast as they draft 'em we get new people who want to join, plus we got a whole lot a sisters who are out of sight. Well, I wanna talk tonight about a couple of things and to move from concepts into reality, cause I think that what is happening in this country is that white America is about to commit genocide against black people in this country, one way or the other, and that we have to talk about our survival in this country, especially in this day and age, because I don't think they're playing with us anymore, they're really goin' for broke. We want to talk about self condemnation as a theory, we want to move into the, to differentiate between the concepts of giving one one's freedom and denying one one's liberation. We want to talk about the importance of definitions and we want to talk about violence, and then we want to move pragmatically to see how those theories apply to black people in this country, talk pragmatically about the lies this country has told about black people, shame that is psychologically made is felt for ourselves, and our people, move on to talk about the need for developing a concept with people who are in this country and finally to instilling within all our people and especially our young, the will to fight back when touched on by anybody. I'm only wearing these shades cause the lights are in my eyes and I get tired and if I asked 'em to put 'em out they'd say I put the press out. I wish they would put 'em out. All they're doin' really is gathering information, they're gettin' ready to bring some charges against me. And one is as black in the body of black people in this country, especially within SNCC, baby, we're gonna tell it like it is and move to TCU. The only way they can stop us is to kill us and these days we take 'em with us when we go. We want to talk about self-condemnation now. It is impossible for someone to condemn themselves because if they condemn themselves, they have to punish themselves. Very important concept, um, now we have to understand that, and it's impossible for a nation to condemn theirself, impossible. Let me give you some examples. I really wish you'd take those lights out cause then I could see the folk, you know. Give it to the editorial twins of America tomorrow, Huntley and Brinkley. I'm talking about the editorial twins of America, Huntley

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Re: Stokely Carmichael

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

and Brinkley, you know. Do you ever dig on TV how they judge the whole world and black people with just a flick of the finger. Les says today they were on TV and they did something I did last night and Huntley said, "It is interesting to note that only with the exception of Britain is this young man free to run around except the United States." It is interesting to note that the United States is the world oppressor of black people, and that would be with the inclusion of Britain and France.

"Do you want the lights out?"

Carmichael: "I would like 'em out, I really would. I'm sorry gentlemen of the press, we're gonna have to have the lights out so the man can see. I mean I asked you nicely, I could just take 'em out myself. Hey, before you start to run, why don't you just put 'em out. I'd like the lights out, I don't know what the debate is. Hey, we didn't come to talk to the press, when we do we have a press conference."

"Now about self-condemnation. Let us give some examples. After World War II the United States, a, formed the Nuremburg trials with a lot of the white western societies and they began to bring Nazis to trial. Now the Nazis who were allowed, who committed suicide are the ones, who when they were brought to trial, admitted that they killed human beings. See after they admitted they killed human beings then they had to commit suicide. The ones who didn't commit suicide, the ones who allowed themselves to live, were the ones who said, and they were rationalizing away their guilt, "I didn't know what was happening in Germany at that time." Listen to the arguments because they sound very, every, every, very familiar. I didn't know what was happening, I didn't know things were so bad or they said, "Well, yeah we killed Jews, but they were, they were not human beings, they were subhuman, so there's nothing wrong with that." And then finally, what they said most sophisticatedly and what most Americans are saying today, "We were just following law and order." Now the ones who said that were able to live, they didn't condemn themselves. A more immediate example for us would be in Shubert County, Mississippi, that's Philadelphia, Mississippi in 1964. A hunkey by the name of Raney, along with 18 other of his friends, decided to kill three human beings because they were troubling the status quo. Now the entire county in Shubert County, Mississippi, in 1964, cannot indict Sheriff Raney for murder. They can't indict him for murder because he's doing what they really want him to do. They elected him to do that. If niggers get smart

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Re: 'Stokely Carmichael

CONFIDENTIAL

you kill 'em, period. So they can't indict him, cause if they indicted him, they would themselves be guilty. It's very very important to understand because we can turn inflict, but white America cannot condemn himself for all the brutality and that she's heaped upon black people as a total community. If she were to do that, a, my brother Leroy Jones reminds me, she'd have to commit suicide, and that might not be a bad idea. So that's very important, so what it means then is that black people cannot subjugate themselves to the mercy of white America hoping that someday she will admit all the wrong doings that she's done and somehow grant us our liberation. And that's very very important. A great black man by the name of Frederick Douglas recognized that in the 1870s when he wrote, "He who wants his liberation must strike his own blow."

"Now that moves into the second theory we want to talk about the difference between giving somebody their freedom and denying somebody their liberation. That's very very important, it's perhaps the most important concept we ought to deal with. In, a, the past the Civil Rights Movement has gone on the assumption that white people could give black people their freedom. That is not true. No man can give any man his freedom. All men are born free. What happens after they are born free is that they are enslaved by other people. Now black people are born free in this country, they are enslaved by white people. So that white people can't give us anything they've got to stop enslaving us, they've got to stop denying us our liberation, in other words, they've got to become civilized.

"And now if you agree with that we can move on and give some clear examples, if you agree with that then the logical extension would be that any civil rights bill passed in this country, while it might have eased the struggle for black people, it really helped civilize white people and, in fact, the civil rights bill was for white people, not for us. Let me give you an example. I am black, I know that I am a human being, you know, now, some, some hunkies don't know that, see. They don't. Now I know that with a human being comes certain dignity that I'm supposed to have. One of them is that I can enter any public place. So I try to enter a public place, a hunky gets in my way, he shoots at me, beats me up or carries me off to jail if I try to get in a store, so the white folk in D. C. got to write a civil rights bill for this hunky, tell 'em when I come to the store, get out of my way. So that I am totally unchanged by the process, I'm the same person, the only person that's changed is this hunky, he's not, that's right, that's right. He is first to recognize my humanity. That's the only difference. It's the same thing with the voting rights bill. I know that I can vote. Everytime I try to vote a hunky shoots me. That's right. So they've got to pass a civil rights bill for the hunky, tell 'em when I come to vote, get out of my way. And so finally you've gotten on the stand of concept because they're talkin' about this open occupancy nonsense and they make it sound like if we should push forth. Now we know we can live any place we want to live, everytime we try, hunkies go to actin' like savages, throwin' rocks and bottles. So then what they have to do is to pass a civil rights bill to tell hunkies when we move anyplace we want to move, don't go to actin' and showin' your color. So that if you really understand that, you would really recognize that the black power fighting this country is a fight to civilize white America because she is uncivilized.

Re: , Stokely Carmichael

CONFIDENTIAL

"Now then we want to move into the concept of definitions because they're very important. White western society, and notice I say white western society, never western civilization cause that's a misnomer, as a matter of fact, it's a lie, lie. White western society has been able to define everybody and everything and because she's had the power to define everybody and everything, she has been able to prescribe their actions. That's very very important. If you got to understand, let me give you some examples. Television, the red man and the white man are fighting, right. The white man beats up the red man. What happens, what happened? We beat up and we killed all the Indians, we had a victory, right? The red man beats up the white man, what happened? Those dirty Indians massacred us. And you've got to understand that concept because what they're saying is that a victory is honorable, and a massacre is not, a massacre is dirty, so the poor red man would be always fightin', but he'll never win a victory, he'll always get a massacre. I guess the difference is that in a victory you're shot to death and in a massacre you're cut to death, and if you're gonna die, we'd rather be shot to death. You can see that today, if you ever dig the editorial twins of America, Huntley and Brinkley, so that then today Viet Cong, dirty, rebel, filthy Communist forces, threw Molotov cocktails and wounded 17 civilians, and as a flash he says, "In the meantime, our good GI boys have been bombing the hell out of North Viet Nam. And that has to do with

Re: Stokely Carmichael

CONFIDENTIAL

definitions cause they're defining it, so these poor people are fighting for their country, a dirty Communist, you know, and they define us as Negroes and that means you're lazy, stupid, apathetic, eat watermelon and . . . Then there are the first fright of anybody or any people is to define themselves as they see fit, define the struggle as what they call it and to have those definitions recognized by the oppressor, and that's a big fight in the country, cause what they did in the past was they had us react to their definitions. Let me give you an example. You remember in 1954, Dr. King would get up and say, "We want to integrate." In the minds of our black people Dr. King was talking about good schools, good houses, good jobs and a good way of life, and that's what all black people knew, but not some hunky; he'd jump up and say, you wanna marry my daughter, don't ya? And so what would happen is that you would have the black man now getting scared of their term, integration and they would start reactin' to him. He'd say, oh, we don't wanna marry your daughter, or we don't wanna be your brother-in-law, we just wanna be your brother. We don't wanna sleep in your bedroom, we wanna sleep in the house next to ya, and all that junk, you know. What they allowed white people to do was to define their terms and to have them react to the definitions of white people's terms. They don't do that in SNCC. They ask us, you know what we tell 'em, your daughter, your sister, your mama. The white woman is not the queen of the world, she's not the Virgin Mary. She can be made like any other woman, let's move on to something important, so that we will never allow them to define our terms and have us react to 'em, that's what they try to do with black power. We say black power and they say, oh, you mean violence don't you? And they want us to say, uh, uh, boss man, oh we don't mean violence, no sir. We say black power, we will define it, you will shut your mouth and listen to the definition of it, period. Black power is the coming together of black people to fight for their liberation by any means necessary, period. And that's very important cause we must be able to define ourselves as we see fit because they have been defining us and we have been accepting the definitions of them, of us. We should say we're black people, beautiful; strong, intelligent and aggressive. We want to move and then to talk about violence, because I'm really upset. When I see a black man on television talking about violence, cause we the most violent people in this country. We cut and shoot each other more than we do anything on Friday and Saturday night . . . "But don't anybody in the country talk about the violence of black people to black people cause they don't care about black people, they don't care. The only time they talk about violence is when some brother moves to get rid of some hunky cop who can ride his back all his life, then they talk about violence, then they talk about violence. And that's very very important cause you've got to understand that, they try to put us in the trick bag. Humphrey gonna get up there and talk about violence gonna get nobody nowhere and he's bombin' the hell out of North Viet Nam. Who he kiddin'? Who's he kiddin'? Who's he kiddin'? They're talkin' about violence don't do us any good and the time we reach 18 they put a uniform on us and send us out to Viet Nam to kill people and they, oh, violence don't, what they're saying is that violence is okay against everybody except the white man. And what really annoys me about these black people who, after every rebellion, and not a riot, a rebellion, jumps up and says, aw, they shouldn't do that, they bad, they this, they that, is that they're using them to condemn their old people and that's the only power they have, the power to condemn black people, that's all, that's all. They do not have the power to condemn white people cause you never hear 'em speak out about police brutality. You never hear 'em speak out about white landlords who've been charging us high prices. They never talk about white merchants who charge us high prices for rotten meat. They never talk about it. Never talk about it. Half the time they livin' out in the suburbs and they only know somethin' goin' on when some brother moves to take care a natural business and then they open their mouths cause what they're saying is that, it's okay, you all shut and cut each other, but don't touch that white man. That's what they taught, cause if they cared about non-violence, if they cared about it, they would be preachin' non-violence in the black community cause we need it desperately in the black community, we need to love and respect each other. If they cared about non-violence they would be practicing it in Viet Nam, but it's not a question of violence, it's a question of black people moving for their liberation and every time we move they try to stop us and they use so-called leaders to stop us. So I just throw that junk out the window about violence. The most violent man in the black community is a white cop. He has the license to kill and the power to do it scott free, so it's not a question of violence. The real question is who is controlling the violence, that is the question. If I shot 30 yellow men with slanted eyes I would get a badge if I were in Viet Nam. If I shot 30 white men who called me nigger in this country I would get the electric chair. It's just a question of power. He who has power to make his acts legitimate and we don't have none. And that's why we where we at. Cause if we had the power we would make our acts legitimate, and you've got to understand that, cause that's what they're gonna do as we move this summer. Have you ever noticed them, they had that Fort Lauderdale thing, with kids throwin' bottles and bricks at policemen. The headlines, College Kids go on a Spree. A brother throws a rock, Negroes Riot. So that we ought to incorporate those concepts and I just say I'm not goin' to discuss violence, it happens to be a way of life of man, the question is who uses it, who controls it, I'm gonna fight to be able to control my violence to decide who I'm gonna kill. I'm not gonna let nobody tell me who I should kill. It's very important cause I'm not goin' to Vietnam I'm not goin' to Vietnam and I shoot nobody cause Lyndon Johnson tell me to go shoot 'em. The Vietnamese ain't never called me nigger. I know who I'm gonna shoot. Now then, if we can accept those four basic self-condemnation, the difference between giving one one's freedom and denying one one's liberation, the importance of definitions in the world today and violence we can end movement to how they been pragmatically applied to us as a people to oppress and suppress us. Now what white America's had to do like Nazi Germany is to lie about what she did, so what she does is that everything that happens to black people she blames us because she can't blame herself. Just like the Nazis blame the Jews. They said, well, they deserve to be killed, you know they were filthy and they were sloppy and they were trying to take over our economy and, you know, so they, and they had to believe those lies cause you got to believe 'em once you build 'em up. Now white America has told a lot of lies about us and she's got to believe 'em, cause if she ever stops she'll commit suicide. Now that doesn't bother me. What bothers me is that those lies have been so calculated that some black people believe them and that's what we wanna talk about. That's what we wanna talk about. We wanna be able to clear the minds of black people who believe the lies the white America told about us about themselves. The biggest lie the white America has told about us is that we are lazy. That's right, and you have some black people runnin' around here, oh, we so lazy, oh, we so lazy. If we were like white folk, hard workin', we'd make it, but not us, we lazy. That's a lot a junk. White people lazy. Look here, they so lazy they went to Africa to steal us to do their work for them. That's how lazy they are. It's not a question of being lazy. We are the hardest working people in this country. Our sweat built this country scott free. Scott free. Scott free. It's not a question of whether you're lazy or not, it is the question of who has the power to control the resources in a given area; that's what counts. If it were true, then the real lazy people in this country would be people like Bobby Kennedy; he ain't never worked in his life. So that we ought to get that out of our minds and understand that we are a hard working people. But what is wrong with that and what is closely associated to that is the other lie they tell. If you work hard you will succeed. You know we believe that man. My mother used to tell me, yeah, we do man, my mother used to tell me, go ahead and work hard, you'll make it. You know my father believed that junk and he went ahead, that's a lot a junk man. Cause if that were true we would own this country lock, stock and barrel. We would own it because we are the hardest working people in this country. Our mothers take care of two houses every single day, ours and Miss Ams. We are the share croppers in Mississippi, from kin to kin. Can't see in the morning till can't see in the night. That's us, that's us. We are the porters and the elevator men in the North, we are the garbage men, we are the ditch diggers, we are the street cleaners, we are the maids. It is us, we are the hardest working and the lowest paid people in this country. So it is not a question, it is not a question of who works hard, it is a question of who controls. Cause if that were true Bobby Kennedy would be the poorest man in this country. So that you have to understand that in your mind because tied very closely with that is what they finally said to us, well if you wanna make it you gotta get an education and that was the biggest trick bag we ever fell into. No, we really believed that man. We started to send our children to college and schools and all that, you know, boom boom boom, and if we had any sense we just stopped and did, you know. If I come out of college with a college diploma and a white boy come out with a high school diploma, he get a higher paid job from the junk. From the junk. So that it's not a question of getting an education, cause we got too many doctors and masters working in the post office around this country. Now that again is not the question but what is really insidious about that is that they were telling us that junk so we could go to school so they could brain, I mean whitewash our minds. Yeah. And now that's what we wanna talk about because what says, and is a black revolutionary philosopher and he's out of sight. Look it, he's so deep that can't even begin to figure out what he's talkin' about. That's how deep he is. says that an educational system is nothing but the re-enforcement of values and institutions of a given society, period; and they just

CONFIDENTIAL

Re: Stokely Carmichael

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Re: Stokely Carmichael

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Re: Stokely Carmichael

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Re: Stokely Carmichael

keep puttin' it in your mind, you never question, you just accept it. Let me show you what they've done to us. We sent our kids to school, they give 'em these books, Tom, Dick and Jane, little readers, you know. Tom is white, Dick is white, Jane is white, even their dog Spot is white. And here we come and we see ourselves on the back, little Black Sambo eatin' watermelon with So that's the very projection of the education that we were getting was slanted against us to accept white superiority without even questioning it. That's what they've done to us. They have degraded us to the point where we accept white superiority by definition and black inferiority by looking in the mirror. That's what they've done to us. And it works real real slow. They've not only done that, they have distorted and lied about history, lied about history. They have cut our roots from Africa because they know that a people without a history is like a tree without its roots. A tree without its roots. And that we have been floating for 400 years, it's time we got us a stable root, and become a big tree and spread out, all over. The first university in the world was the University of Timbuktu in Africa. In Africa. But they never print that in their books, because they would have to admit that black people were way ahead of them. What do you study in school, Greece, Rome. What do you know about Africa? They've cut it from you. Hannibal was a black man from Africa who crossed the Alps and beat up the Romans to death. They know Hannibal in the books and when they put him in the movies they got a hunky named Victor Mature playin' the part, playin' the part. And the reason they do that is because they don't want to instill any feeling of pride in black people because their job is to dehumanize us to the level where we still remain productive, that is the worse thing you can do to any human being, you should a killed him in the first place. You should a killed him in the first place. They tell you about Greece and Rome, but they never tell you about Hannibal. A black man crossed the Alps and beat up their flourishing white empire. But if you had any sense you would know that Hannibal was black. Have you ever looked at these Italians with brown skins and dark eyes. Hannibal did that. If you ever have an Italian cop come up in your face and say somethin' to you, tell him, get out my face, I'm your daddy. But that's the way the education system was geared, to make us feel like we're nothing and they're doing it in this very day and age. Make us feel like we're nothing. They tell you about Napoleon Bonaparte. Did they tell you a little black man who was a slave from Haiti named beat him up and sent him back to France cryin'

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Re: Stokely Carmichael

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

like a baby, cryin' like a baby.. Did you know that? And that when he got back to France his wife was pregnant for a Pigmy, we had 'em on both sides. But they don't do that because they must cut it out, but something else, they don't even recognize their racism, they don't. You know what is wrong with white education, they do not recognize the existence of anybody who is not white. Let me give you an example of that. You gotta understand that. If I said to you that Dr. , who's a brilliant black man and a beautiful black leader, don't believe that junk they tellin' you about, he's out of sight if the CIA would leave him alone. They got to get his so they got to mess with him. If I said to you that Dr. discovered England in 1964, you'd laugh in my face, but now that was the first time that that black man stepped foot on England and if we did not recognize the existence of non-black people, that's when he would have discovered it. But let me do it the other way. If I said to you Christopher Columbus discovered America in 1492, you would say yeah, that's right. When he got here, there were people already here. He didn't discover it. But what happened is that the white people did not recognize the existence of red people so they said, nothing happened until we came, until we came. And white people don't even understand that. If you tell 'em Columbus didn't discover America, they'd get upset. That's right, but that's the truth. You don't read about anything until white people discovered it. Nothing was happening until some hunky came along and said, I discovered you. There was all of Africa not doin' anything until a white man named Cecil Rhodes came along, named it Rhodesia, stole our gold and our diamonds and they said that it didn't happen until they came. That's because they always move with the assumption that they're superior and they don't even recognize it. Another example, the white man has felt that he is civilized and that his job to civilize everybody else, because everybody's a savage, dumb, stupid, ignorant, ain't got no religion and all that junk, you know, and he's God's gift to humanity, yeah, dig him. There, so that when they talk about Africa they talk about their same blue eyed, blond haired, fair boy Rudyard Kipling who said to the whites, go and pick up your skills and give it to your half pound friends, half native, half savage and half child and train 'em how to be good human beings cause we didn't know, see. We were in Africa, we were savages, that's what they called us, and you don't want to go along with Africa cause you think Africa is savages. You don't ever ask where the savage is, or what he does, cause if you did you'd recognize who the savages were. You would.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Re: . Stokely Carmichael

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

A savage shoots, burns, kills and takes what he wants; check the United States out in Viet Nam and tell me so. Tell me so. So they came to Africa for, you know, we weren't what's happenin', they gonna tell us what to do. We were running around with our chests uncovered and our breasts were hangin' out, and they said, cover up yourself cause I'm excited. And we were, we were so stupid we thought it was for feedin' the young. And so obviously the filth must have been in somebody else's mind, not ours, cause we didn't even know. Believe that as it is. The worst thing they could have done was to say to us that they were going to christianize us. Now notice, they didn't say we were irreligious, oh, we had religions, we had different Gods, and they said that was not the right way, cause we were stupid, and we had to get the right way and the right way was one God, Jesus Christ, you know, and that's who we were supposed to listen to. And they brought the Bibles. Man, they came into Africa with Bibles and we had land and when the hunkies left they got the land and we still got the Bibles. Yes sir, they came in there and they told us to talk about Jesus and we kept our eyes up to the sky, lookin' to, and they robbed all the golden diamonds on the ground. So that if you really begin to relook at history you'd understand that the white man has been whitewashing everybody in the world, and the fight to day is for people to do their own thinking and recognize their own culture and not say that white people are good because they are white. What they've done is to force their culture on everybody around the world with their guns and their bombs. Their guns and their bombs. So that the type of education that we get in schools are geared to keep on looking up to the white man as the great father, and to leave us bonded, so it's, it's awright when our kids, you know, act the way they act, we should understand that, cause they don't understand what's happenin'. I mean the education system in this country is anti-black, anti-black. There are only two black people you can find in any history book in this country; Booker T. Washington, Super Tom and George Washington Carver, ignorant Super Tom, ignorant Super Tom. And they let us read about George, about Booker T. Washington cause they want us to be like him cause he uses his mouth to do two things, to eat and to say Hasso. And look, George Washington Carver was so stupid he invented the peanut and all the peanut butter factories today are owned by white folks. Oh, he loved 'em so much he gave them the patent. Yeah. And the reason I guess they let us read about him, cause if they didn't have him I guess

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Re: Stokely Carmichael

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

white folk would be eatin' jelly sandwiches all their lives. They do not have in the history book, anything about Frederick Douglass, Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, County Cullen, J. L. Rogers, Lerone Bennett, Leroy Jones and the history books today won't even mention brother Malcolm X. It is as if you did not exist. The Denmark are not there. The Mack Turners are not there. They have wiped out a whole race of fighters and given us nothin' but a bunch of Uncle Toms who bow and scrape and everytime white folks say jump, they, oh, hi, boss man. So that if you talk about moving for your true liberation you talk about controlling your school systems and giving your children education which make them know themselves, understand their problem and be willing to do what anybody else is willing to do. But because that education system is like that, we accept whatever is told. We accept white people as God and master and that nothing happens until they come along. And that's why the Civil Rights Movement was the way it was, cause they were expectin' the good will and sanction of white folk to freedom, and white folk oppressin' 'em. Ain't that a gas. Jim Clark is gonna wake up one day and free you. Yeah. Now what all those lies were meant to do was to make us ashamed of ourselves. That's very, very important, because they've been able to succeed in doin' that, and today it's our job to change it. They have made us ashamed of each other and ourselves, so that what we do is we try to imitate and be as white as we can, physically and mentally. Since we have never produced anything and since white folk tell us they produced everything, we try to be like 'em, and since they tell us only thing beautiful is white cause everytime you pick up a magazine, you look on television, beauty is somebody who has got a slender nose, thin lips, stringy hair and white skin. That's right, that's right, and that's what beauty is. You read in your books about Dick, you read in all the books they give you to read the novels about Babbitt and Smith, all them people are white. lookin' beautiful, and we don't have those features so we figure well if we don't have those features, we're ugly. Well, whenever we try to get a girl who's beautiful we find her light, bright and damn near white. Because we don't believe that we can be beautiful, and we must begin to get the strength today. Yes. to say that we are different. As black is different from white. our nose is broad, our lips are thick, our hair is nappy, we are black and beautiful. That means that our women can throw away their nap and jars. That means our young brothers

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Re: Stokely Carmichael

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

can start gettin' their hair slicked down. I hope your happy cause that sounded like it is to everybody, and that means our women can start wearing wigs and gettin' their hair messed up. But we're so ashamed of our very features that we try to mess it up, I mean we really mess it up. Do you chicks who wear naturals can go outside and the wind and the rain can't do nothin' to their head. And do you minds are so messed up that our women pay $30.00 a week to mess up their hair so the wind and the rain can mess it up? Can mess it up? And that we just have to begin to grow that strength, where we can say that, and where we can feel it. So we stop imitating and begin to create for ourselves. Then very closely tied with that is the concept of what we need to do in this country. We must begin to build a concept of peoplehood. We have to see ourselves as a people. We can no longer let them make us individuals. They do not oppress because we're individuals. They oppress us because we are black. You are a slave because you are black. You live in a ghetto because you are black. You get a bad education because you are black. You get a lousy job because you are black. It's not because you are an individual who don't have a good education, who can't speak good English and all that junk, cause by the time they see you comin', there goes that button. And they never even ask you, you know, what you got goin' for you. All they know is you are black. And because we're black, we gonna come together and use the power that we have as a group of people to break down this here oppression that they on us. That is the most important thing we can do. We must begin to see ourselves as a people. We must begin to see that when white people oppress one of us because he's black, the next day it's gonna be another one of us because we are also black. We've got to understand that. But because white society has made us ashamed of ourselves, we wanna run from each other. We walk down the streets and we will see a hunky cop hittin' a black brother up side the head and we know the hunky hittin' him cause he's black and we will turn our heads and keep on goin'. Keep on goin'. We will see some landlords squeeze blood out of a family across the street till they have nothing left to give and put 'em out on the streets, put their furniture out on the streets, cause they're black and we gonna go by there in the daytime to see what we can steal at night. We will watch each other beat up and not raise our voice because he is black, it's time to stop

Re: Stokeiy Carmichael

that, it's time to stop that. It's time to let them know that we are all black and when they touch one they got to touch all. That is gonna be our only salvation for survival in this country. That's what they beginnin' to recognize cause the brothers are lettin' 'em know across this country, touch one baby and we ready to go to war with all. With all. We're not gonna let you decide how you gonna kill us all. If you wanna kill us all then we all goin' together, all goin' together, all goin' together. We're not gonna let you syphon us 30 per cent in Viet Nam or let your hunky cops shoot the others, 30 per cent of young brothers, in the ghettos, uh, uh. Uh, uh, that was yesterday. That was yesterday. You touch one, you got to touch all. That's what we have to do. That will be our only salvation. That's the only deterrent, so that the white man will know that his days of free head whippin' are over. He come into our neighborhoods, beat us up, and we stand behind the door and whisper, did you hear what happened to cousin John? Policeman beat him up last night, shh. Yeah, awright, let 'em try it. That's over, completely over. Only as a group can we begin to move to take the power that we have, and that as long as we're able to do that we'll be able to syphon off people. That's why they have Negro leaders that they pick, for they pick 'em. Everybody out here hustlin' for themselves, instead of recognizing we got to hustle as a group. We always hustlin' and hustlin' off of each other. We don't even have the guts to hustle off the hunkies. Don't have the guts to hustle off the hunkies. Hustlin' off of each other. You on welfare, I'm on welfare and you tryin' to hustle me on my little welfare check. the white man givin' out the welfare checks and you won't even touch him and take him for all he got, you're gonna mess with me. And the reason you do that is because you know they not gonna do nothin' to you if you mess with me, but if you mess with him. So that means that we have to move to reverse that trend and build a concept in our community where we will not even begin to talk about crimes. The only crime we will talk about is crimes against black people, period. Period. We have to move to the position where we will not tolerate in our community crimes against black people and we have to understand the reason we must do that is because white people will punish you for everything except that, except that. If you cut your husband on Friday night, the judge let you out Monday morning $10.00 fine. We know it, we know. You rob a black person, they ain't even gonna look for you. You can call 'em, you live in a ghetto and your house get robbed, you can call the cops till you turn white, they ain't comin'. They ain't comin'. They ain't comin'. And you shouldn't get caught up with questions about stealing. Cause if black people steal from white people, white people can't say nothin' about stealin'. They can't say nothin' about stealin' cause their history has been nothing but a nation of thieves. Nation of thieves. I laugh at them cause they really think they own the world and everybody in it. All you gotta do is check out examples. How can the white man judge the black man for stealing? The hunky stole me. Stole me. He's guilty before he even talks about it. Do you ever see 'em in their court rooms in the South. I have to laugh. A man gettin' me up there and if I say somethin' he says, I'll charge you for contempt of court. Who's gonna charge you for contempt of justice, you don't know nothin' about it? Don't know nothin' about it. Loot at a fair example, we have a beautiful black brother named Muhammad Ali who is out of sight, who is out of sight. Out of sight. Now here sit white folk with their ingrain races and not even recognizes how dumb and stupid they are, they gonna sit up there and say, well, of course, he won't go, we gonna take his title away, we gonna take it away. Like if they gave it to him. They just

They can't take his title away. The brothers have decided by gettin' in the ring and beatin' up every hunky and Uncle Tom they put up with here. If they want the title tell 'em to get in the ring with the brother and try and get it. But see they got the on us that we don't even think about it, that we get arguin' about should they take the title. You don't argue with that cause they can't do it, and there is no argument. See, that's what white people do all the time. They bring you in an argument of some technical garbage and you bother 'em and they even got no right saying nothing about it in the first place. That's what you gotta understand. They get up and they talk about you and I talk about black power, they ain't got nothin' to say about black power, I wouldn't even talk to 'em about it, period, you know, boon. I ain't got nothin' to say about white power, it's for them, you know, so that, that question isn't, I mean they, they're clearly a nation of thieves. Their, their conception, their birth of this country was thievery. They stole this country from the red man, committed genocide against 'em, and they call it taming the West. Taming the West. And they got the people livin' on reservations to this day, talkin' about it's good for them, they decided for everybody in the world what's good for everybody else. They said in this country, you not ready for democracy yet. We'll keep you in slavery another five years. Who are they? Who do they think they are? They don't own the world. And when somebody challenges them, they talk about dissent, dissent. Ain't nobody dissentin' with 'em, people talkin' about their liberation, they better get hip. Nobody dissentin' with 'em. I'm not even uncertain with Lyndon Johnson; as far as I'm concerned, he's a bafoon, he ain't got nothin' to say to me. Nothin' to say to me. I'm not the . There is no dissent in this country when it comes to black and white. Black people are talkin' about the Bible, that's not dissenting. That's not dissenting, cause when they talk about drafting 30 per cent of our brothers to go to Viet Nam, they talkin' about black urban removal, that ain't no dissent, that's the Bible, the Bible, the Bible, the Bible. But they introduced that question, everybody's thought about whether or not you should or should not dissent. That's not the issue, it's an issue of survival. White people cannot any longer define the terms under which they would enter the battle field. The people who they're fighting will define the terms under which they will enter the battle field. That's very important, cause once you do that you got a man whipped. That's why they can't win in Viet Nam. Never will, cause the Vietnamese decide when to fight. The Viet Cong. I see the trouble with black people is that we never define our terms, we always undefine it. If you wanna win your liberation go to school. Okay. So now that you went to school. If you wanna get freedom, be non-violent. Okay. Thank you. If you wanna get freedom go through the courts. Okay. And all the things they been tellin' us, we have been accepting without questioning. We will decide this day how we will get our liberation. We will decide. We will. We've got to understand those concepts because they're very, very important, cause what I'm sayin' is that the white man even deciding the arena in which I fight. That's why they can't even begin to understand SNCC. Cause they cannot any longer decide for us the arena in which we fight. So don't even let 'em decide for you, how you fight, cause that's what they do for the world. Can you see them sittin' up in the United Nations deciding whether or not South Africa should be free? Like if they own the world, they sittin' up there decidin' and they vote that they can't, they can't vote on it so South Africa should remain free. But blacks in South Africa should pick up guns and shoot the hell out of every hunky in there. Shoot them, that's how you do it. But if you say that you're violent, you violent. But did they ever tell you about when England was oppressin' them. They picked up guns and shoot England to death, didn't say a word about it. Didn't say a word about it. When they wanted democracy, they decided it was time for them to get democracy. When everybody else wants democracy, they decide when to give it to them, and you debatin' the question about a man can never debate the question about his liberation.. Either he is free or he is not free, either he dies fighting for his freedom and gets or he listens to his oppressor and he stays where he is. One quote, from a great black man who they don't teach you about, Frederick Douglass. He said, if a slave wants to remain a slave he should obey the laws of his master. That's deep, that's deep. Cause if we wanna get free we got to stop listenin' to the hunkies and listen to each other..

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Re: Stokely Carmichael

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

"Now then finally we wanna talk about fightin' back and about their other, the other issues they raise. Now whenever you talk about fightin' back in this country, the first thing the hunky gonna talk about is law and order. And everybody gonna get upset again and start discussin' law and order. You ain't discussing justice, you discussin' law and order. The white man put you in a trick bag again, again. This country has law and order, it does not have justice. It does not have justice. It is not a question of law and order, it is a question of justice versus injustice, that is all. Hitler had the most efficient system of law and order in 1941. He did not know how to spell justice unfortunately. Jim Clark has efficient law and order. George Wallace knows law and order. Ross Barnett and big-headed hunky Maddox know about law and order. Now they know about it, so when somebody moves to get some justice, they say you disruptin' law and order and everybody starts talkin' about law and order. The religious people we should have read the Bible, and if we'd read the Bible we would believe it, cause Jesus Christ answered that question a long time ago. He said, I have come to bring the sword, not the shield. I have come to turn son against father, daughter against mother, nation against nation, for where there is injustice, there shall be no peace. So when they raise the question of law and order, we not even concerned, we gonna tell 'em, baby, if you ain't got justice in your country we gonna burn it down to the ground. to the ground. Ain't no ifs, ands or buts, you can't have law and order unless you got justice. And that's what people are sayin' across this country today. And you arguin' about law and order. Later for law and order. People talkin' about justice, that's the fight. see the, he ain't comin' in on that argument, cause he know he wrong from the junk. He not even gonna talk about that, so he gonna get you confused about law and order, and you, well, yes, you right, we should have law and order. Yeah, it's true, you control all the law and the order in the country, and that's why we should listen to law and order. Don't forget brother Douglas, he who will be a slave, listens to his master. He who wants his liberation, strikes his blow, speaks his own peace. Remember that, very, very important. And that just leads to the final statement about fighting back. Ain't no need for anybody get upset about fightin' back anymore, cause it's already established. If a hunky lays his hand on one of us, before God get the news, he's dead. And don't them, let, don't let them pick your heroes. You let your heroes be the brothers and sisters in Nashville, Tennessee, who fought back. You let 'em be the brothers who fought back, who fought back, that's right. We've got to pick our heroes because they pick heroes for us and we listen to 'em and we'll be where we been for the last 400 years. We must pick our heroes. And don't let 'em tell you about those brothers actin' like savages shootin' back. Baby, for 400 years we been the recipients of violence in this country, in this country. For 400 years we been spat upon, lynched, burned, shoot, beat up and didn't anybody do anything about it. Didn't anybody say anything about it. And when some brothers move to take care of it, then other people are gonna jump up and say, you can't do that, there is another way. They haven't found another way in 400 years. They control the country, they control us, why can't they find another way. They're incapable of finding another way because they are trapped by their own racism, that you got to understand that, they are trapped by their own racism cause when the question is white and black, they got to side with whites. told me that, got to do it. They have to do it because white people can be intellectually committed to theories of equality, but emotionally, they are racists. They have to be if they lived in this country, we all have to be racists if we live in this country, cause that's the way the country is. It is with racism, not only nationally, but internationally. And that's why internationally it becomes so important for us to recognize. You watch and see, they drop bombs on who, Hiroshima, Nagasaki. Who do they napalm? Viet Nam. Who do they start all the fights with? The colored world, the colored world. What have they been doin'? And who do they use as a cannon fodder to fight their wars? Black people. We are being used to fight each other. If you got a question, we got a question and answer period, you can get it then. I take care of you in the question and answer period. So that's what we have to understand. We cannot be fighting other black people and non-white people around the world because they're being oppressed by the same people who are oppressing us. Cannot do it. You cannot send your son to Viet Nam to shoot those cats, they ain't done nothin' to you. They ain't done nothin' to you. And don't let 'em raise an irrelevant issue about Communist aggression, it's like law and order, tell 'em you wanna talk about racist aggression. That's what you wanna talk about. Let us see if they can come in on that issue, they not gonna come in cause they wrong from the junk. So they gonna talk about Communist aggression. Now what do you know about Communism? You don't even know what a Communist is. If one was sittin' next to you. You don't know it until somebody come along and say, my fellow Americans, he is a Communist, shoot him, and you say, why, he said he's a Communist, because he's a white man, so he must be right. Wouldn't it be funny if you got up and found out the man wasn't really a Communist? That maybe he was just fightin' to control the resources of his country? Just like we fightin' to control the resources of our communities? Did it ever dawn on you that you're bombing houses, churches, schools, and we need school and houses right in this country. We need to be building 'em, that 70 per cent of the tax money is made to build bombs and bombs, to continue to bomb and kill people and we need 70 per cent of the economy to be building schools and houses and gettin' decent jobs in this country. Until you wake up and question that, yours will not to be reason why, yours will be to do and die. So then, in conclusion, I think that we ought to make it clear, crystal clear, that for all my many black brothers and sisters who feel that somehow they will be immune to the , let me tell you that when one simple, slick-haired black boy throws a cocktail, the whole black community is in trouble. And you better understand that because in every area in this country where there have been a rebellion once it starts they lock off the entire black community, the entire black community. For you know we all look alike and they can't tell a, a rioter from anybody else. So that you have no choice. So we'd better start comin' together and prepare for our survival in this country, and then just, I can speak to the older generation about our generation. Now we sat and watched them make our great grandparents run. We sat and watched them make our grandparents run. We sat and watched them make our parents run and we are out of breath. We are not running.

The quest: "The question is, do I believe that there are Communists in North Viet Nam. I really cared, they're not doin' nothin' to me. The right thing for the Viet Nam to pull out that will further their aggression of other countries. I'm worried about the aggression of this country. So the question is should we stop, to use your own words, taking over these other countries before the Communists take them over. Stop them from taking over. We should take them over before they do.

"You'll have to speak louder, he can't hear ya.

"Did everybody hear the question? Well, the question is in essence, what good is it gonna do us if an individual goes to jail; if you're not able to spread the movements? Is that the question in essence? Did I interpret it right? Well the first thing is that you have to make an individual decision, when you're called to go to Viet Nam. Either you're gonna fight or you're gonna go to jail. I mean . . . What's that? Awright, the young man interjected a third alternative which is running away. A, we say in SNCC that it's, it does become an individual choice. Number one, to kill a man is the highest crime that you can commit. That must be an individual decision, it cannot be a mass decision. You can't let a man tell you, go kill him cause he's tryin' to take over this country and we got to take it over cause we're God's gift to humanity. See, you can't let 'em tell you that. You have to decide why you gonna kill this man, and we just say that you should decide who you gonna kill and why you gonna kill him. There isn't a black person in this country, there isn't a white person in this country who's fighting in Viet Nam that can tell me why he's there except he's fightin' to stop Communism. That's all he can say. Ask him what a Communist is, what his doctors are, what his beliefs are, he'll tell you a Communist is somebody tryin' to take over the world. He ought to check out who the Communists really are. So answer your question then, it seems to me that you've gotten a decision, you know, We were just sayin'; first you say: yeah, I'll go to jail, better said than dead, you know. Put me in jail, I'd rather sit there than go out and kill somebody; not die, but kill somebody I don't know anything about. But dyin' ain't so bad. I think what is worse is to kill somebody without even knowin' why. That's what I think is really bad. That's what I think is really bad. . . . and they only be 17 people in SNCC, BUT that isn't true, see, that movement is spreading around the country, around the country. At Morehouse College 70 brothers started off, it's now up to 100, sent back their draft cards. They told 'em, forget it, don't even send it to us, you know. In Harlem, you gotta group, you gotta group called black enraged women and you gotta a group of ugly young black men against the war. And they got a whole collection of people not goin'. In Boston, you have a group called afro-Americans against the war in Viet Nam. In Alabama, Lowndes County, Alabama, where Sweetan tried to take the , he said, hell, no, I ain't goin'. In Mississippi, they got three cats who just refuse to go and go clear across the country, the movement is goin', but the question those of us who are willing to start first must begin to articulate that philosophy to the rest of our brothers to give them strength, cause see they think if you don't go fight the war, you're coward, that's the other thing they whip you with, you know, you're a coward and you're un-American, they bring in those other issues which ain't got nothin' to do with murder. So you talking about murder and helping to commit genocide against some people so that some people who run this country can start moving into China, cause that's what it's all about. That's all it's about. And they can raise all them other questions about credibility gap, which is lying, you know, all those words they use, and they'll get caught up in those words. It's very simple; either you go kill or you don't go kill. I ain't gonna kill nobody until I decide who I'm gonna kill, then I'm gonna kill him.

"Miss Allen, Abelaine Allan.

"I hope he's doin' somethin' other than partyin'. He's my brother.

"Okay, the question is, as the young man says, he's the President of the first black fraternity in the city and that he comes under heavy criticism from other brothers who say that, excuse me, who say, who say that they shouldn't sit at a cafeteria by themselves, but that they should go out and sit with other people and integrate. Now that's been the trick bag that America has put us in. She said that we should integrate, but she said that we should integrate, black people should, that we should leave each other and go sit next to them, and what they're sayin' is that we ain't got nothin' goin' for ourselves, if we want somethin' we got to sit next to them. Why don't they come sit next to us? That has been the biggest trick bag we've been in in the last six years, talkin' about integration, and we didn't recognize we were talkin' about white superiority, cause you talk about a good school, you say well, I'm gonna send my child to a good school, and you talk about sendin' 'em to a white school. That's what you talk about. And you said bad schools were all black schools, you never even understood the trick they worked on you. They said in 1954, that segregation is unequal. It seems to me a black school is segregated, a white school is segregated, and both those schools are there for an equal, to correct the position you integrate both, you integrate both. But if you just integrate the white school then you sayin' the black school is unequal anyway, ain't gonna do nothin'. That's why they never sent any white people to our schools. And so you should never give the impression of sittin' next to white people, it's not a question of sittin' next to 'em, it's a question of stopping them from oppressin' us. Our schools can be just as good as their schools if we have the same amount of money to put in our schools as they put in their schools. That's why our schools

But then finally I just wanna work a logic thing that I do quite a bit and that's because people don't understand. See, what you say, what the people say when you sit by yourself is bad, they're sayin' that anything all black is bad. See. And, a, lemme do somethin'. You ever do logic? You got a major premise like, it, all girls born in Grand Rapids are beautiful. What? I am a girl born in Grand Rapids, therefore, I am beautiful. What? All boys born in Grand Rapids are strong. I am a boy born in Grand Rapids, therefore, I am strong. Now they say anything all black is bad. I am all black, therefore, see you, we haven't even worked that out, that when they were sayin' anything all black is bad, they were talkin' about us, cause we all black. See. What is bad isn't somethin' all black or all white, it is bad when you use force to keep another fellow out. That's when it's bad and that's what white folk been doin' all their lives, all their lives. And so what they did to us was to put that junk on us and here we were defending anything all black and we didn't even recognize we talkin' about our fraternities, our churches, our schools, our neighborhoods. So you don't go to no

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Re: Stokely Carmichael

white school unless you one of the few, most of us go to all black schools. You know there ain't nothin' in your churches to worship Jesus with 'em so you can forget that. You know they not gonna let you in their fraternities, so that's not the issue. Forget them, forget them. We can sit and set up all we want, all we want 'em to do is get off our backs, period. Get off our backs. Now then the final thing is that they have to do that because they got to rationalize, I mean that's what they talked about Jim Clark. They said SNCC people come down to sit next to Jim Clark, I don't wanna sit next to that hunky. I don't wanna. He's a (obscene) he's uncivilized and he's crazy. I don't wanna sit next to him. I just wanna stop the power he's got over my life, that's all. I just don't want him to have power over my life so he can beat on me when he feels like it. I don't care who he sits with, who he goes to bed with or what he does, long as it ain't near me. Dig it? So that it was not a question of integration, it was a question of fighting against white supremacy, but they couldn't admit that because they'd have to admit that they were white supremacists. So they said, well, they're fighting to integrate. The people never even figured out what it meant, man. Here we walks down the street and these crackers beat you upside the head, hump you, beat you all over the head and you stand there and say, we love you, we waitin' to integrate with you. Not me, not me. uh, uh, I just want you out of my way so you don't bother me, that's all, what you do is your business, I will choose my friends. I don't let nobody hit me until they tired hittin' me and then they can become my friend. I don't need friends like that. I mean, that's what we have to understand, but they have to admit that.

"The question is you, that we pointed out the problems of oppression, now we must point out the solution. First, before you begin to find that solution, it was clear in our mind that we had to begin the process of dewhitewashing black people, because their thinking was completely incorrect, and you had to begin to articulate a philosophy to set a where you can do the type of organizing you deem necessary, not the type that white people says should be done. Now we've done that in the last year. The question now is to move to begin to call us that momentum to organize black people to come together. We do that in a number of ways. Number one is that we advocate you do that in terms of independent political parties, forget the Democratic and Republican party. They don't represent our interest, never did and never will, not as long as Humphrey is walkin' arm in arm with big headed Lester Maddox. They ain't representin' our interest. They're not representing our interest when Kennedy is in their party and so is Eastland, and that's the trick they been workin' on us all the time, cause the people who control it are real southern conquerors who hate us, they're the ones who control the party and we kept thinking that that's the party for us, so you begin to develop an independent political force, which can begin to split up the political arena in this country and begin to make you move. I'm not sayin' politics is the only way you gonna get it, I know better than that, you know, especially the electoral process in this country, because electoral process in this country works against us. They have the power to _____ in our very districts. Everytime we get a chance to get somebody to represent us inside this system, they cut it up. They cut it up. So even if they did allow it we wouldn't have the true voting strength that we're supposed to have. It would never be reflected in the political strength because they have the power to _____ man to the districts. Once you begin to move and create the climate where people can see there's a need for black people to take over the school systems and not talk about reverse racism because that's another issue that ain't got nothin' to do with what you talkin' about. And there's a need to create a climate where black people recognize that the only type of policemen in our communities will be policemen who live with us. You stop police brutality right there. Cause if the hunkies had to live in our communities, ooh, they'd be so nice. So if you just raise the issue of being able to control the issue of power, once you raise that issue the specifics are irrelevant. You should learn that from them, they tell you the people are your enemies, they're Communists, you never question, shootin' 'em and gettin' rid of 'em is no problem. Once you convince the enemy you should shoot 'em, everybody goes to kill 'em. Once you define, you are master. People who have the power to define are the masters of the world. You're fighting then for the minds of your people, that's what we been fighting for around the concept of black power. the minds of our people. Once you've got the minds of your people, organizing is very simple. Once a minister or preacher's got people to come to his church, they do anything he says, it's very important. So that's why you shouldn't get hung up on that. But those independent political things and those Paris structures to take over the real structures are gonna be important in the coming years.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

"Okay, the question is that recently in Detroit while I was there there was a call for united strike of workers for support of Mr. Adam Clayton Powell, what is my assessment of the failure of that strike? I don't think it was a failure cause I think we're beginning. And that when you begin you're small until you begin to gather momentum, and I think that's where we are. Those things that we're now trying are just new. Cause black people in this country were allowed to come together for only three things; white people only let us come together to sing, pray and to dance, that's all. That's a fact. If we came together for anything else, they'd beat us in two, you can see that now. In the ghettos of the cities, in fact every major city, if they see more than five black people together they break it up, cause they're just afraid of seeing, we're just beginning to do that. We're not beginning to come together to exercise power and it's something new with us because we've always been dealing with the irrelevant issues that white people raise up for us, love, non-violence, morality, religion, christianity and all that junk insteak of about talking about power, so it's the beginning. There will be at first slow beginnings, but as we gather strength, we'll be able to call less that force more and more. That's evidence from brother Malcolm. When he was speaking, few people listened to him, but after his death he's become something significant and more people are understanding him. And that's just the beginning. The same thing with black power. You, we said black power, Negroes want to lead the country. But after awhile they begin to understand the concept cause they were listenin' to white folk. White folk will tell 'em what black power is, you know. And they will listen, oh, yeah, that white man is right. Black power ain't for me. Smart Negroes knew anything the white man's against you should be for automatically. So I just think it's the beginning. It didn't do what people expected it to do, but it's a beginning.

"The question is what can the youth do if the older people in the generation don't decide to do anything. Lemme give you my favorite quote, from Frederick Douglas, he's my man, and now we've got the DuBois and brother Malcolm X and Truman, and a couple other great black people I'll tell ya about later. He said the world belongs to the youth, we fightin' for it, that's all. That's what we're doin'. That's what we're doin'.

Re: Stokely Carmichael

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

If you notice around the world today students and the youth are the ones who are leading the major revolutions for liberation. Finally just hit us, just hit us, you know our black colleges were about as dead as you can get until this year cause we worked with them and we ain't started yet. Next year we got a program that will not wait or we gonna work with the youth, you know, we gonna try and touch the older people, but even Plato says young men to war and old men to council. Please speak loudly please.

Which one did you pick?

"The guy way back there.

"On the top or on the bottom?

"On the bottom.

"On the bottom. I'm sorry brother, we got somebody on the bottom, we get to you next, okay? They're discriminatin' against the top, you'll be next. No, you'll be next. Give him an inch. give him an inch. Yes sir.

"Well, the question is that in order to to organizin', what can black men do to further the concept of black power? Awright, the first thing that we're gonna do is begin to set up the front organizations in our communities. One, because what's been happening around this country is that black men have been immasculated, when they just watch white men come in and take over the communities, so that we're gonna put a stop to that. There's no justice in our communities so we're gonna implement that, you know, with law and order. Now you do that in several ways. You can do it like the Deacons for Defense and you can do it with patrol cars, you know, to go around and watch the police, you know, when they don't do right. And you make sure we do right, cause if you wanna do right, all black men, you gotta have the do right all white men. The second thing is to begin to pull them together more and more closely. I think that's gonna mean a lot of problems for us just in terms of how we used to seeing ourselves as individuals, but as a people we must begin to fight back, but the most important thing is that we spread the word among the people who didn't come tonight. And that means that becomes your job. See, cause the only word they gonna get is what the hunkies put on TV or in the press and you know what they're gonna put. So that if you get those concepts tomorrow when you go to work, you should begin to talk to those cats, you know, pull 'em over to the house on Friday night, buy you a Malcolm X piece of the grass roots and let 'em listen to it, you know, that's right, that's right. Get you a Malcolm X speaks and the autobiography of Malcolm X and when you try it out at a birthday, instead of givin' it some junk, give her that, let her read it, that's right. Buy you some books by DuBois, by Leroy Jones, by Lerone Bennett, by J. A. Rogers and let them read that stuff, so they can begin to get the stuff they don't get in school and they can begin to view themselves differently, cause once you begin to view yourself differently, that's when you're on your way. The reason that we've been trapped is because psychologically the man has whipped a on us, and that we're breaking out of there and he can't control it, and once you do that, can nothin' stop ya.

"Oh yeah, the importance of black odds, see that's very very important. I'll tell you why, because that's one of the biggest, biggest things they worked on us, you know, they taught, and that's my favorite thing, man, cause I hate that. I used to go to art class, you know, in college, and they'd say, we're gonna talk about the great masterpieces of the world, and they bring out Van Gogh, you know, I say, yeah, wow, and they bring out Raphael, yeah, wow, and all those other cats, and, you know, they say, and now we're gonna look at primitive arts. And you know who they talkin' about. And then here they come with the African arts, you know, which was done way before these cats knew what was happening, see, now this is primitive art, which meant of course that it wasn't as good as white art, see and that, what was happenin' was that our people goin' to school tryin' to do good art, cause they didn't want to do primitive art. Definitions again if you can define, and the biggest thing they've done to us brother, is to tell us that we culturally deprived. You ever hear them hunkies talkin' that junk? There they are, talkin' this junk about we culturally deprived in classes and havin' our children do term papers on the cultural deprivation of the Negro race. Yeah. We got culture. We got more culture than they even know what to do with it, that they have never legitimatize our culture for less. They always steal it and have some white boy legitimatize it for us. See, yeah. When you were in the fifth grade they were talking about culture and they were singing "Way Down Upon the Swanee River", "My Old Kentucky Home", and they said Stephen Foster, a white man, wrote that for black folk. You know they lyin'; the hunkies stole the song. You know they stole the song. You want some music appreciation gem and they play, you know, they played that Beethoven, they wouldn't tell ya he was black, yeah, you know. he was a Spanish black, black, yeah. They don't tell ya he's black. They won't tell ya he's black and they say let's listen to modern music, you know, and they play, a, Gershwin, "The Flight of the Bumblebee" and they say, and now we come to what America has to do, it's jazz, and they come out with a hunky named Benny Goodman. Do you know that Benny Goodman cannot carry the empty trumpet case of Miles Davis? Did you know that, did you know that? Well, we just don't know that. See, we gotta wait until white people legitimatize our culture. Help from the Beatles, stealing ourselves, gettin' us back to us and they can't even organize, they can't even organize. And what they've done all the time is to imitate our stuff and give it back to us. That's the white boys singing groovy on a Sunday afternoon, they even got me fooled. Yeah, yeah, yeah. And that's that's; that's the trick they worked on us from the beginning. They started out by painting their faces black; what do they call those things that used to go around, minstrels, yeah. our very culture, givin' it back to us, will not let us. We have culture, and what the people who work in the arts have to do is to legitimatize the culture and give it back to us so we are proud of it, that's right. That's what they've got to do. So, the cultures we got. Dr. DuBois is ours, they don't recognize him, we recognize him. Dig you the souls of black folk, has got more culture than a little bit. County Cullen is ours. Read you the black Christ and see where he's at. They will not recognize him. Leroy Jones is blowin' some beautiful stuff; they will not recognize him. The Staple singers is ours, the mighty crowd of joys is ours, that's right. Mahalia Jackson is ours. The Impressions is ours. Ray Charles and James Brown comes from us, comes from us. And

Re: Stokely Carmichael

And finally we got two generations of culture, the Reverend C. L. and his beautiful daughter, Aretha Franklin.

CONFIDENTIAL

Re: Stokely Carmichael

CONFIDENTIAL

So that anti-black people got to do is. All we have to do is to begin to legitimatize their native for their junk and they gonna tell you, ain't no difference. Have you ever heard Peggy Lee sing and listen to Aretha Franklin sing and tell me there ain't no difference? Or dig Eddie Fisher and Joe Tex, ooh. Look here, we're gonna have one more, just one more and we have to be out. And, a, why don't we get our brother right here? And, a, that's the only one.

"The question is that when we went to Michigan State it was free just so the black students could come and they didn't come, what do you do in a situation like that? Well, I think the most whitewashed individual in the black community is the college student, that's why we've been working hardest with him. And so what we're doing is that we have a plan. We're sending somebody to Michigan State next year who will enroll in the school, but their job is to organize the black brothers and sisters.

"Ladies and gentlemen, Stokeley Carmichael."

Dialectics of Liberation

A little less mystified

By the end of last week it had become clear that there was a major "ideological" split among the participants at the international congress on The Dialectics Of Liberation.

On the one hand, we had the militant political activists, like Stokely Carmichael, John Gerassi, Paul Sweezy, and Ernest Mandel, who seek to ally themselves with "historical forces," who wish to hook up the radical movements in Western Europe and America with the violent revolutionaries in the Third World, and whose understanding of the clear and distinct outlines of decaying capitalism is pretty solidly Marxist in its orientation.

On the other hand, we had the much more existential or "dialectical" social psychologists and artists, like Ronald Laing, Allen Ginsberg, Gregory Bateson, and Paul Goodman, who are concerned with problems of consciousness, power corruption, excessive urbanisation, alienating technology, ecological balance, the liberatory potentialities of art, knowledge, education, contemplation, and in general with the perennial question of how people liberate themselves.

One man who seems to have something of a foot in both camps is Jules Henry, anthropologist, and author of Culture Against Man. Last Wednesday morning he delivered a very good lecture, titled "Social And Psychological Preparation For War." The first half dealt thoroughly with the grandiose, interlocking, monopolistic character of the American economy, making it crystal clear that the economic organisation of society within advanced industrial societies is incapable of rationally utilising the surpluses which it creates, and that an embedded military establishment is the consequent necessity in order to maintain high levels of production.

The second half of his lecture was even more profound and original. It was painful to hear Dr Henry describe how millions of people are being psychologically "prepared" for the world charnelhouse: not so much because he had any "startling" findings to present, but because he has the true poet's vision of the meanness entailed, the madnesses involved in destroying the ability of men, women, and children to function properly and in rendering our poor earth lifeless. I felt that here was a man who really understood why we have become so indifferent. The dialectic, as Dr Henry well knows, is that nobody escapes unscathed: the innocent may be deluded and duped, but the guilty are debauched and deprived. I would not have missed this lecture for a pension.

Which is more than I can say for the lectures given by Gerassi and Sweezy. They perceive what the problems are, certainly, but I doubt that they have much to say to us in our modern conditions, as far as the possibilities for reconstruction are concerned. They do not stop to consider the dismal record of attempts to take control of institutions, and they somewhat conveniently forget that so many reformers in our century have been corrupted and done in by the demon of power, their visions twisted or discarded.

However, in one respect I think that these critics are absolutely correct: that the failure of revolutionary violence to emerge at the appropriate historical moment may in fact bring on the vast and embracing violence of fascism. This, of course, is one of Marx's deepest insights, and, given the social and cultural conditions of modern life in America, it is not too difficult to conceive of such an event taking place in the near future. But to me, that simply bespeaks the failure of the pacifist and anarchist movements to render that situation unnecessary or impossible.

It was left to Paul Goodman to really bring the audience to its feet on Tuesday morning. Goodman, who is a novelist, essayist, playwright, poet, psychotherapist, teacher, philosopher, and anarchist, had been prowling around for ten days, cutting in on speeches and seminars, criticising speakers, audience, and organisers of the congress, persisting in his libertarian pacifist and populist viewpoint, often against hostile listeners.

His speech on Tuesday morning was a beauty. He talked about the abuse of high technology, about compulsory miseducation, about the international alienated youth "movement" that transcends all national boundaries, about the psychology of being powerless, about anarchism both as a political philosophy and as a practical way of being-in-the-world, about ecological imbalance, overpopulation and overcrowding, the disastrous drift towards centralisation of power, our excessive and humanly damaging urbanisation, and about the true meaning of "professionalism." Speaking in a low-keyed tone, it was almost as if he was engaged in a running dialogue with his audience, except that he was anticipating questions and answering them as he went along.

I must admit to being biased where Goodman is concerned. For 40 years he has hewed to his own lonely line with massive commitment and integrity, and now, with more than 30 books behind him, all of them challenging and refreshing, he is at last getting some of the recognition that he so richly deserves. At any rate, he shook this congress up. Communication was back, with a vengeance.

Tuesday morning, with Goodman on the platform, was an example of what this congress has so far not been: a genuine educational experience.

Without avoiding any problematic areas or ducking the desperate gravity of our present situation, he managed to combine the Aristotelian freedom of curiosity, aimed at theoria as the highest happiness, with the medieval libertas philosophandi, with its emphasis on disputation and debate to let new air into an accepted world. The result, for one member of the audience at least, was a veritable therapy of the soul.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL is a phenomenon. His slogan is Black Power. His colour is his country. He is openly at war with the society he lives in.

At 26, he is the man opponents of black militancy blame for inciting violence and causing riots. He is a man to hate and fear—and, for America's young, militant, and growing black nationalist movement, the man to follow.

He can quote Sartre and Camus. He has spent seven of his last eight birthdays in jail. He is 6 ft 1 in., laughs easily, has charm and physical grace, and can talk like a ghetto hustler, a black share-cropper, or a university intellectual. He has been all three.

He merges into any scene with the assurance of an outsider who has never felt he belonged anywhere. In his teens, while he was one of five black students at a select high school in New York, he was also 'war counsellor'—planning thefts—for an all-white gang.

He has not yet got his identity worked out: each audience finds it for him. He can look tormented by the fame that perhaps for seven-eighths of the time he doesn't want and still believes he can edge out of.

In seven years, Carmichael transformed the Student Non-Violent Co-ordinating Committee (known as Snick) from pacifism to militancy. He is now in London, holding a series of meetings.

Like several other American Negro militants, Carmichael was born under British rule in the West Indies.

'I GUESS what I hate was that I wanted to be white. We used to have a game in Trinidad: you took a mango skin and threw it in the air. If it fell with the brown skin showing, it meant you would marry a brown-skinned girl. I kept throwing that mango in the air and hoping it'd come down with the white inside facing up, so I'd marry a white girl.'

Did he ever have a relationship with a white girl?

'Just once when I was at high school in New York. It was more platonic than sexual. It was a very, very important relationship for me. I wanted to ask the girl out but I was so afraid it would upset her morality dicted that he wouldn't live through the summer. How did he see his chances now of being killed like Malcolm X?

'That's the dilemma they face. They made a mistake with Malcolm and made him a martyr. They face the problem of killing me or putting me in jail. That's one of the reasons they didn't draft me.'

Meanwhile, he is never without bodyguards. In Mississippi or Watts they might carry guns beneath nationalist uniforms; in London his protection is unobtrusive. One man guarding him said: 'I don't want anybody to know my name. If he's going to die I'm going to die with him. They'll have to shoot both of us.'

Carmichael believes he can still edge out of his fame. 'People fix on individuals because it's easier than with a movement. But anyone in the organisation could do what I do. The name Stokely Carmichael was the invention of the white Press. I'll not live up to the rules they make for me.'

He says that the growing personal limelight was one reason he quit recently as Snick's chairman: 'I'm going to try to make my name irrelevant. I try and do that with black people all the time. My job is to take all the admiration and love other black people give me and try and spread it around amongst us.'

Carmichael's description of his political aims has changed in recent months. He used to define his advocacy of 'black power' as meaning simply that Negroes should hold office in Negro areas. Now he says: 'It means the coming together of black people to fight for their liberation—by any means necessary, to quote brother Malcolm.'

'We want control of the institutions of the communities where we live, and we want control of the land, and we want to stop the exploitation of non-white people around the world.'

He goes back this week to aim for Snick's most ambitious target: Washington, which has a Negro majority. Black men, he says, should run the cities where they're in a majority: 'There's nothing wrong with living in a black ghetto if you're free from oppression. It won't be apartheid, because we won't say white people can't come in.'

Stokely Carmichael he wore the African robe (left) at a private evening meeting of West Indian leaders in North London last week.

She would meet me and I wouldn't know what to do.

Well, I tried to figure out what to say, what to talk about. We went on the subway together, that's when it really started, everyone looking at us. I think she was conscious of this, but acted as if she weren't. I was conscious of it and got hung up. I just kept stuttering. We went to a school dance. I remember the looks of my teachers: I was hitting the real target, the white woman.

Carmichael grew up with two sisters, three aunts and a grandmother at the top of 42 steps in the best house in Oxford Street, Port-of-Spain, Trinidad. His father, a carpenter, built it, then left to work in the United States. Carmichael did not see his parents from the time he was two until he joined them in New York at 12.

The striking thing is that England and an English-style education made Carmichael and govern his thinking today; he gets really angry about it.

Aged 10, he was wearing the grey serge trousers, stiff white shirt and long stockings of Tranquillity Boys School. He says he once stood for four hours to wave a Union Jack at royalty, and meant it. He admits that he still has not forgiven himself. 'I'm angry because I was drugged by white supremacy and I didn't rebel. I'm mad because the people

I admired in the West Indies didn't rebel either: they forced it all down my throat.

At school we were made to memorise Kipling's 'White Man's Burden,' told we didn't exist until a white man called Sir Walter Raleigh discovered us, and we went to the movies and yelled for Tarzan to beat the hell out of Africa.

At meetings in Hackney, Notting Hill, Brixton and elsewhere last week Carmichael's bitter memories of a West Indian childhood reached and moved his audiences. 'If you ask a black child any place in the West Indies about the Nile Valley or Hannibal he doesn't know any thing about it, but he can get up and tell you who was king, who was queen, who was king.

He ignored a newspaper report of one of his London meetings—'BLACK POWER VIOLENCE CALL'—to stare for a full minute at photographs of Princess Margaret. 'They're still lining up for her: I don't see why.

'My father,' said Carmichael, 'was submissive, quiet and obedient: everything I'm not. He believed what the white man told him: if you work hard you will succeed. He died like he came into the world, poor and black. Well, work wasn't for me: if I wasn't in the movement I'd be a gangster.

My father did three jobs at a time: carpenter, then odd jobs, then drove a taxi at night. We only saw him on Sundays. He was very religious. I went to Sunday school and church until I was 15 and then I cut it loose.

Carmichael remembers his father being out of work for three weeks because he was too honest to bribe the union representative to find him a job. 'My mother went and hustled 50 dollars, then she invited the representative to the house and gave him the money and some expensive perfume. My father got a job, and said "that's what happens when you pray to God." My mother is a fighter: if she wanted something, she'd just take it.

He talked about his teenage years on the streets of Harlem and the Bronx: 'We stole cars, batteries, hub-caps, then we got together and started knocking off candy stores. I did the planning. I was pushing pot at 16: they wouldn't let you push cocaine until you were 21.

Apart from his upbringing, one of the main influences on him has been Malcolm X, the black nationalist leader assassinated in Harlem three years ago. Many of his speeches echo Malcolm X's thinking: on the need for black pride, for example. 'We must see ourselves as beautiful people. We keep thinking the only thing that is beautiful is white, a chick with long blonde hair. We've got to understand that we have thick lips and flat noses and curly hair and we're black and beautiful. And we're not going to imitate the white man any more.

Carmichael calls Malcolm X 'my patron saint.' Malcolm's photograph hangs over the desk in his Atlanta, Georgia, headquarters, next to a poster of Snick's leaping black panther. 'Move on over or we'll move on over YOU.'

I admired his intelligence, his analytical mind, his forthrightness, and his willingness to begin to move to bring his people together. The thing most of us young grads got from Malcolm was that he spoke to his people: he stopped speaking to whites.

Yes, I've a lot of white friends, but I don't equate my friendships with white people on how they see the black political ideology. The trouble with white liberals, every time you sit down to talk with them they want to talk about race. It isn't the type of friend I want. I just want to sit down so we can dig Thelonus Monk or talk about Bach or Joyce.

... I'm angry because I was drugged by white supremacy and I didn't rebel ...

What did he do if he was walking with a white girl and a white man called her a prostitute?

I guess I just keep walking. You'd just get into a long debate or a fight and I'm not sure it's worth fighting over.

How did that square with his ideas about not turning the other cheek?

I can't fight the individual battle, I'm fighting institutionalised racism. My job is not to allow the white man to define my attitudes.

He shrugged off discussion of the uses of violence.

The white man is talking about violence. Did he talk about violence when he raped Africa? They say Black Power means violence. The white man has been violent to us for 400 years. If we are violent to him he deserves every bit.

It's totally irrelevant to talk about violence in a world like this. People die of hunger every day when there's food in the world: that's violence. The Indian Government is going to force people to be sterilised. That's worse than shooting a man to death, but nobody sees that as violent. The British Government thinks it's good.

They say I'm a rabble-rouser and inciting to riot because when I speak to a black audience I don't reason or intellectualise. There's no need: they know it instinctively and emotionally. For example, they know police brutality: with whites, you've got to get out the case reports.

What about the recent riots in Newark, New Jersey, when 23 people were killed?

We don't call them riots: they're rebellions. I've been involved in eight. They should use that killing as a political death. It should be a revenge so that white society should know it can't go on shooting people in the streets, but also a political act so the struggle goes on.

The death game is what they play to scare us: look, you lost 21, we only lost two, you'd better stop. Well, Snick is respected because if we say "burn, baby, burn!" we'll be the first people to strike a match. The closeness in Watts and Newark now is something 100 years couldn't bring about. Yes, I think I could shoot a white policeman in a black man's area because I don't think he's any business there. If a man's standing on your toe and you've petitioned, begged, pleaded, done every possible thing and he won't move, you've got to push him off.

You can have peace in the US for 400 years if every time a white man wants something he says "nigger do this" and the black man does it. That's peace. Yeah.

How did he see the future? Did he expect white counter-violence?

The US can't use an H-bomb against black people inside the US. If they surround the ghettos, we will blow up every damn thing they build, we will blow our country to the ground if they mess with us.

Carmichael says he has been in jail 35 times, eight times for inciting to riot. He's been shot at eight times, too: 'never hit me, too, too fast!' But three years ago, a close friend was shot behind the wheel of Carmichael's car, he's let no one drive it since. He's been beaten up more times than he can remember, and rolls back his sleeve to show fresh scars he says came from a police pistol barrel a fortnight ago.

Earlier this year, Carmichael prepared to see themselves as West Indians, part of the third world, not as British. West Indians here enjoy the luxuries they do at the expense of their brothers in the West Indies.

Guerrilla warfare in the Caribbean, he adds, would put pressure on Britain. He intends to go home to Trinidad next February, but sees Jamaica as a likelier first target.

At 26, and reluctantly, Stokely Carmichael is inheriting Malcolm X's throne: the world's chief symbol of black militancy. He still needs to grow into this role—as Malcolm X himself grew into it during his last year. Carmichael's tragedy and his people's may be that the world will give him neither the time nor the understanding he needs.

I. NARRATIVE OF OFFENSE

STOKELY CARMICHAEL was born June 29, 1941, at Trinidad, British West Indies. By derivation through the naturalization of his parents, CARMICHAEL became a United States citizen on April 27, 1953, which citizenship was substantiated by Certificate of Citizenship Number A338082, which was issued to STOKELY CARMICHAEL on April 17, 1958. Subject's derivative citizenship is as a result of his father, ADOLPHUS S. CARMICHAEL, born February 1, 1913, Port of Spain, being naturalized in the Southern District of New York April 27, 1953.

CARMICHAEL received a Bachelor of Arts Degree in philosophy from Howard University, Washington, D.C., on June 5, 1964.

In May of 1966 CARMICHAEL, after several years of association with the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), was elected by the central committee of SNCC to become the National Chairman. He served in this capacity until May, 1967. During this period, CARMICHAEL was in a constant travel status throughout the United States; however, he has been known to utilize Apartment Number 1, 2222 Telhurst Street, SW, Atlanta, Georgia, as a residence.

The only alias known to have been utilized by CARMICHAEL occurred in September, 1966, when he was reported to have purchased an airline ticket in Alabama utilizing the name of C. WELCHER. He is not known to have ever served in the military armed forces of the United States; however, he is registered with the Local Draft Board in New York City, and by his own statements indicates he has a 4-F classification.

Throughout a series of speeches delivered by CARMICHAEL as Chairman of SNCC and as a recognized proponent of "Black Power", he has generally set forth the origins and concepts of SNCC, theories of self condemnation; concept of denial of one's liberation, differences in law and order, and history of the Negro peoples. CARMICHAEL in his speeches, following a discussion of the above described items, generally concludes his talks by dwelling on the war in Viet Nam and his opposition to the draft. He further advised his audience that they should inform the white people in authority as it relates to military service and induction, "Hell no, we won't go." He has advocated in his speeches that, "There is no need to go 8,000 miles to kill Vietnamese; He ain't never killed any nigger . . .; We will not fight the war. The war is for the Birds. Lynda Bird and Lady Bird." He has further advocated that the Negro people should say, "To hell with the draft" and go to jail.

vacation and the tape recording which he made of the proceedings was at home and he would not be able to furnish the tape until he returned from vacation on August 13, 1967. He said he recalls CARMICHAEL answering a question, "If you are inducted, would you go?" [redacted] stated CARMICHAEL answered, "Hell no."
He stated he also recalls CARMICHAEL stating words to the effect, "Don't join the Army and don't go to Vietnam."

[redacted] stated that as he recalls, the audience was primarily made up of persons in their late teens to early 20's and was made up of approximately 50% white persons. The exact number of persons in attendance he could not be sure of. He further stated that as he recalls CARMICHAEL read from some papers which appeared to be the size of typing papers, whether they were a prepared text or notes he could not say. He stated as far as he could recall, the audience applauded CARMICHAEL's statement concerning,
"Hell no he would not be inducted."

[redacted] stated that he would be very willing to furnish the tape recording he has of the program and furnish any additional information he has after reviewing the tape upon his return from vacation.

"One or more of these questions gave him an opportunity to view his opinions concerning the propriety of military service by American Negroes. Carmichael vehemently and plainly stated and advocated that American Negroes would be foolish to accept military service in the Armed Forces of the United States.

"He mentioned that the Viet Cong have never killed an American Negro child, or similar type sentiments as one of his justifications for this attitude. He made references to much work to be done to elevating the Negro from his centuries old mistreatment by the white man as another justification for his views.

"In any event, although I was personally prepared to expect such utterances from him, he did seem at least to me, to be willful in his pronouncements.

Additionally, [redacted] advised as follows:

[redacted]

On April 5, 1967 he [redacted]
[redacted] at the Mosque Auditorium on the occasion of the appearance and speech of STOKELY CARMICHAEL of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee.

[REDACTED]

The chief arranger for the CARMICHAEL speech was [REDACTED] of the All Saints Presbyterian Church, Richmond, Virginia, and although he did not know the number in attendance in the audience, [REDACTED] believed that [REDACTED] indicated there were approximately 1200 people assembled to hear CARMICHAEL speak.

As best [REDACTED] could recall, the audience was mixed equally racially, with a large number of college students and what he would judge to be approximately 30 to 40 percent of men and women under age 25.

[REDACTED] stated that he could not recall having seen anyone in the uniform of the United States Armed Forces, nor did he see anyone whom he knew or recognized as such a member of the Armed Forces, who was not in uniform.

[REDACTED] stated that the audience appeared to be factional in that the response to CARMICHAEL in his speech did not appear to be universally accepted by the whole audience at each interlude where applause was forthcoming.

He stated that there was intense applause from what appeared to be younger or older people at varying points in the speech, but not a completely universal acceptance of CARMICHAEL at all times.

Certain group of young people in the front portion of the audience seemed to be continuously in favor of CARMICHAEL's pronouncements, notwithstanding that [REDACTED] characterized as some of CARMICHAEL's "less balanced" statements.

It was [REDACTED] judgment that the greater bulk of the audience appeared to be moderate to liberal people in their general political view points, with possibly some few "radicals" or people of extreme opinions in the audience. [REDACTED] stated that the greater mass of people appeared to "sit on their hands" when CARMICHAEL made some of his more exorbitant charges against the white community of the country.

[] stated that he understood that there were approximately 5 to 8 "real followers" of CARMICHAEL, who were back stage at the Mosque prior to his speech and that possibly there were 3 to 4 times that many in the audience, without really knowing this to be a fact.

[] stated that he understood that after the appearance at the Mosque, CARMICHAEL and his intimate friends held a gathering afterwards which [] described as a "binge or brawl, at an unlocated place in Richmond.

[] stated that CARMICHAEL is a very articulate speaker, who speaks in terms of hyperbole or exaggeration for effect rather than for fact and emphasized that CARMICHAEL is not modest in his style of speech.

[] sensed that that CARMICHAEL has a keen sensitivity to his audience and they more or less control the flamboyance of his speech.

Based on [] information regarding previous speeches by CARMICHAEL and appearances elsewhere as his Richmond speech, it was [] opinion that CARMICHAEL's Richmond appearance was not one of his more outspoken appearances. It was his judgment that the audience of CARMICHAEL did not respond to his speech in the manner which he had hoped and supposed that they would.

[] could not specifically recall but he did believe that CARMICHAEL did not speak in an impromptu or extemporaneous manner but did resort to some kind of notes.

[] could not recall that any literature was passed out to the audience by CARMICHAEL before or after his speech or question and answer period.

made his speech and was [redacted]

She advised that she is [redacted] [redacted] the organization sponsoring the CARMICHAEL speech and that, as such, she was [redacted]

[redacted] advised that STOKELY CARMICHAEL spoke from a prepared speech, the text of which she understood was an article he had written to be published in a periodical journal. She did not know which journal, or if any printed copy of the speech was made available to anyone in Richmond.
She stated there were at least three separate tape recordings made of the speech, one by each of the local Negro radio stations, and one by [redacted] a member of the Richmond Chapter, VCHR.

She advised that there were approximately 1,400 people present, as most of the downstairs area of the Mosque Auditorium was filled, while the balcony, for the most part, was empty. Of the crowd, she estimated 60% were Negroes and that the crowd was predominately middle-aged, with only approximately 10% being students or draft-age individuals.

She stated there were no individuals in military uniform present, to her knowledge. She advised that although STOKELY CARMICHAEL spoke from a prepared speech and, in fact, read most of the speech, he strayed from the prepared text on several occasions, most of the time making humorous remarks. She stated that at one time during the speech, STOKELY CARMICHAEL left the stage and that when he returned he stated there had been a bomb threat and that if anyone wanted to leave, he could do so.

A Negro man in the audience said, "STOKELY, we're with you." She stated this brought applause and that CARMICHAEL replied, "Now we know what its like to be in Hanoi." She stated that STOKELY CARMICHAEL imitated President JOHNSON and that this brought forth a lot of laughter from the crowd.

She stated that in the prepared text, STOKELY CARMICHAEL did not make any statement, "Hell no, we won't go." In addition, she advised that there was no booing from the audience and that the general response was warm although not overly enthusiastic.

She advised that following the speech there was a question and answer period with questions being handwritten by the audience and submitted to the members of the question screening panel who, in turn, asked STOKELY CARMICHAEL the questions.

She stated there was a question asked of CARMICHAEL whether he had said, "Hell no, we won't go." He replied in the affirmative, stating that Negroes should not serve in the armed forces as the United States Government was fighting a white man's war against white people. She stated that although STOKELY CARMICHAEL never counseled anyone in draft evasion, he did tell people present they should not serve.

[redacted] advised that to her knowledge, there were no group meetings or discussions with any individuals and CARMICHAEL, either before or after this speech of any type.

[redacted] said that she would be willing to testify to the above information in a court of law.

 [redacted] to attend the appearance and speech of STOKELY CARMICHAEL at the Mosque Auditorium, Richmond, Virginia, on the evening of April 5, 1967, and record the speech on her tape recorder. She advised a Wollensack tape recorder was used, which is her own personal property, and the entire speech and question and answer session were recorded. She said the tape has been in her possession except for a period of one week when she loaned the tape to [redacted] Virginia Council on Human Relations (VCHR), who made a copy.

She advised the tape she made on that date has not been edited or cut in any way and that she turned this tape over to [redacted] Radio Station [redacted] on the evening of August 7, 1967, for availability to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

[redacted] advised, in her estimation, there were approximately 3000 people in attendance at CARMICHAEL's speech and the audience was composed of about 50-50 white and Negro.
 She said most of those in attendance were college students from Richmond Professional Institute (RPI) and Union Theological Seminary, which included many male students subject to draft laws. She said it was her recollection there were two busloads of students from a nearby military academy and she recognized [redacted] Richmond,

[] further advised that CARMICHAEL was introduced as the main speaker by JAMES CARPENTER, heretofore identified, and it was her opinion the speech was well received by the audience. She said the theme of his talk was devoted principally to the meaning of "Black Power" and except for the question and answer session which followed the speech, contained nothing rash or radical.

She said during the question and answer session, four members of a panel received and screened questions written on slips of paper obtained from members of the audience which CARMICHAEL proceeded to answer. She said questions dealing with draft laws were answered in a very strong and radical manner and it was her opinion that college students subject to draft laws got the impression that they should not comply with the draft laws. She said CARMICHAEL's statement concerning draft laws as, "Hell no, don't comply," would leave a lasting effect on college students. She said another comment by CARMICHAEL was to the effect that the Negro population in Richmond was in the majority and that Negroes should take what they want and not wait until it was given to them.

[] advised she did not desire to furnish a signed statement concerning the foregoing information, but would be willing to testify in a court of law.

[] further advised that the tape she made of CARMICHAEL's speech was used on two occasions by the radio station and was broadcast on the air, except that the portion covering the question and answer session was omitted on the broadcast because of the loose and radical statements and comments contained in this portion.

Good Evening. It is good to be here in Richmond tonight. What we wanted to do was to read an article which I wrote, and appeared in the "Massachusetts Review", the last quarter of 1966. It theoretically explains "black power" in its concepts. It ends by giving the programmatic approach to the concept of "black power". In the embodiment of the article is an attack on integration as it is currently practiced in the country today and an explanation as to why, in SNCC, we view it is nothing more than the maintenance of white supremacy. There is also an attack on the (men who supposedly are call the) main exponents that we call the coalition theory, notably, of course, would be Mr. BAYARD RUSTIN, and an explanation as to how the coalition ought to come about in this country to form any sought of power base to bring about some internal changes, and we point out finally the important difference between individual acts of racism and institutionalized racism. Now I understand that the press has been giving wide attacks to our speaking here tonight. We hope that the press will be able to deal with this article. We don't think they are capable to doing so because its on an intellectual level. (Applause).

We begin: "One of the most pointed illustrations of the need for "black power" as a positive and redemptive force in a society degenerating into a form of totalitarianism is to be made by examining the history of distortion as the concept has received in the national media of publicity. In this debate, as in everything else that effects our lives, black people are dependent on and at the discretion of forces and institutions within the white society which have little interest in representing us honestly. Our experience with the national press has been that where they've managed to escape the meretricious special interests in "get whitey" senationalism and the race warmongering, individual reporters and commentators have been conditioned by the enveloping racism of the society to the point where they are incapable of even objective observation and reporting of racial incidents much less the analysis of ideas. With this limitation of vision and perception, it is an inevitable consequence of the dictatorships, of definitions, interpretations, and consciousness along with the censorship of history which the society has inflicted upon black people and, consequently, upon itself. Our concern for "black power" addresses itself directly to this problem, the necessity for black people to acquaint our history and our identity from the cultural terrorism and depredation of self-justifying white guilt. To do this, we shall have to struggle for a right to create our own terms through which to define ourselves and our relationship to the society and to have these terms recognized. This is the first necessity of a free people and the first right that any oppressor must suspend. Now I guess the example to us would be the cowboy and Indian pictures because in SNCC we feel very strongly about the right to define one's self. You know, you ever see them, they're having a war and white people are losing and they call for the Cavalry and they come and they ride, very white and very proper, and they shoot up all the Indians and they ride back to the fort and there's a white woman saying "What happened?". Says "Ah, we had a victory, we killed all the Indians." Then the next time when the reverse is true, when the red man kills them all and there's one man left on a horse and he staggers into the fort and the white woman says "What happened?" "Those dirty Indians, they massacred us all." That's very important because the connotation of a massacre is somehow less honorable than a victory and that should certainly be clear in our minds because (applause), and that should be clear in our minds because in a victory you shoot people to death, in a massacre you cut them to death. (laughter) I guess it's better to die of a gun blast than to die of knife wound or that's what white people would have you believe. That can be seen today. Do you ever watch the editorial twins of America, HUNTLEY and BRINKLEY? Well, what they do is, did you ever see them, they talk about Vietnam and they say, HUNTLEY's in Washington, says "Today dirty Viet Cong, Communist guerrilla band terrorist forces threw a Molotov cocktail and wounded 17 of our men and 14 civilians." Meanwhile we switch to BRINKLEY in New York. "In the meantime, our boys, sweet as they are,

have been bombing the hell out of North Vietnam." (applause) And that right to define is the most important right because I guess it's bad to throw Molotov cocktails at somebody that's in your country but it okay to bomb even if they are the aggressor and their own country 8,000 miles away from yours. The white fathers of American racism knew this instinctively it seems as indicated by their continuous record of the distortion and coalition in their dealings with the red and black man. In the same way with the southern (illegible) for the gentle society are so obscure, muddy, and misrepresented the record of that (illegible) until it is almost impossible to tell what really happened. Their contemporary counterparts, the press, are busy doing the same thing with the recent history of the Civil Rights movement. In 1964 for example, the National Democratic Party, led by L. B. JOHNSON and the "Boy Wonder" H. H. HUMPHREY, they call him the "Boy Wonder" because in SNCC we call them "Batman" and "Robin" because they run a very canny government. H. H. HUMPHREY for example in our neighborhood stands for "Handkerchief Head". A "Handkerchief Head" is someone whose more unctuous and obsequious than an "Uncle Tom". I don't know if you saw JOHNSON in February or January of this year on television when he delivered is State of the Johnson Message to the Union. We call it the State of the Johnson Message because he stood up there and quoted himself three times from speeches that he made. (laughter) Well, anyway if you noticed the speech while he was talking in the background "Handkerchief Head" was back there. (laughter and applause) He has developed frog-like tendencies. Every-time LYNDON says "Jump!" he says "How high, bossman?" Well anyway, these two cats cynically undermined the efforts of Mississippi's black population to achieve some degree of political representation. I'm speaking now of the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenge September of 1964, Atlantic City. Yet, whenever the events of that convention are recalled by the press, one sees only that version fabricated by the press agents of the Democratic Party. A year later, the House of Representatives, with an even more vulgar display of political racism, made a mockery of the political rights of Mississippi's blacks when it failed to unseat the Mississippi delegation to the House, which had been elected through a process which had systematically excluded over

450,000 voting-age blacks, almost one half of the state's total electorates. And yet, that same House of Representatives, two years later, was unable to unseat Congressman ADAM CLAYTON POWELL because he did the same things they do but with more style. (applause) When this event is mentioned in print, it is in terms which leaves one with a rather curious impression that somehow the oppressed black people in Mississippi are at fault for confronting the Congress with a situation in which they had no alternatives but to endorse Mississippi's racist's political practices. I mentioned those two examples because having been directly involved in them I can see very clearly the discrepancies between what happened and the versions that are finding their way into general acceptance as a kind of popular mythology. Thus, the victimization of black people in this country takes place in two phases. First in fact and deed and then, and just as equally sinister, in the recording of those facts and deeds. The "black power" program and concept which is being articulated by the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee and the Congress of Racial Equality and a host of community organizations in the ghettos of the north and south has not escaped that process. The white press has been busy articulating their own analysis, their own interpretations and criticisms of their own creations. I was very disturbed about that you know because all we said was "black power" and everybody came out against us. We must have done something bad, and the attacks just kept coming, and one night just about a couple of weeks after, I was reading BERNARD SHAW and I came across a phrase which I thought was quite apropos for the press. Mr. SHAW says that all criticism is in fact an autobiography. For example, while the press had given wide and sensational dissemination to attack made by figures in the Civil Rights movement foremost among which was Mr. ROY WILKINS of the NAACP and his counterpart Mr. WHITNEY YOUNG of the Urban League and to the hysterical rantings of our black racism made by the political chameleon that now serves as Vice President is generally feeled to to give accounts of the reasonable and productive dialogue which is taking place in the black community and certain important areas in the white religious and intellectual communities. A national committee of influential black churchmen affiliated with the National Council of Churches despite their obvious respectibility and responsibility had to resort to paid advertisement to articulate their position while anyone shouting the hysterical yappings of black racism or black violence got ample space. Thus the American people have gotten at best a superficial and misleading account of the very terms and (illegible) of this debate. I wish to quote briefly from a statement which the black churchmen from the National Council of Churches had to resort to, they call themselves the National Committee of Negro Churchmen. They had to buy three-quarters of a space in the "New York Times" to advocate their feelings of black power. It appeared in "New York Times" last year July 31. I want to quote at length because I think it's very important document and that you'll be able to see that inside the black community there are some intelligent black preachers other than the ones we always see on T.V. I was just asked to notify you before you get excited that there's been two bomb threats. Now I'm going to stay her and deliver my speech (applause) but, in the light of public safety, if some people want to leave they should do that. In the meantime, I'm told the police is conducting a methodical search to uncover the bombs. So if there's anyone that wants to leave Let me quote, (applause). Now you know how the people of Hanoi feel. (laughter)(applause) I read the quotes:

"We, an informal group of Negro churchmen in America are deeply disturbed about the crises brought upon our country by the historic distortions of important human realities in the controversy about 'black power'. What we see shining through the variety of rhetoric is not anything new but the same old problem of power and race. which has faced our beloved country since 1619. The conscience of black men is corrupted because, having no power to implement the demands of conscience, the concern for justice in the absence of justice becomes a chaotic self-surrender. Powerlessness breeds a race of beggars, we are faced now with the situation where powerless conscience meets conscienceless power." I'd like to repeat that phrase because I believe it is axiomatic to race relations in this country today. "We are faced now with the situation.

where powerless conscience meets conscienceless power, threatening the very foundations of our nation. We deplore these very violent uprisings but we feel it is more important to focus on the real sources of the eruptions. These sources may be abetted inside the ghetto but their basic cause lies in the silent and covert violence which white, middle-class America inflicts upon the victims of the inner city. In short, the failure of American leaders to use American power to create equal opportunities in life as well as law, this is the real problem and not the anguish cry for 'black power'. Without the capacity to participate with power, that is to have some organized political strength to really influence people with whom one interacts, integration is not meaningful. America has asked its Negro citizens to fight opportunity as individuals whereas what has been needed at certain points in our history has been opportunity for the whole group not just for selected and approved Negroes. We must not apologize for the existence of this form of group power for we have been oppressed as a group and not as individuals. We will not find our way out of that oppression until both we and America accept the need for Negro Americans as well as for Jews, Italians, Poles, and white Anglo-Saxon Protestants among others to have and to wield group power."

Traditions for each new ethnic group throughout the social and political integration into America's ballistic society has been through the organization of their own institutions with which to represent their communities within the larger societies. Simply stated, this is what the "black power" advocates are talking about. The strident outcry, particularly from the liberal community, that has been evoked by this proposal can only be understood by examining the historic relationship between black people and white power in this country. Blacks are defined by two forces, our blackness and our powerlessness. There have been traditionally two communities in America, the white community, which controlled in the five (illegible) that all institutions within the society would take, and the black community, which has been excluded from participation in and the power decisions that shape the society that has traditionally been dependent upon and subservient to the white community. This has not been accidental. The history of every institution of the society indicates that a major concern in the ordering and structuring of the society has been the maintaining of the black community in a condition of dependence and oppression. This has not been on the level of individual acts of discrimination between individual whites against individual blacks but as total acts by the white community against the black community. This fact cannot be too strongly emphasized. The racists' assumptions of white superiority have been so deeply engrained in the structure of this society that it enfuses its entire function and is so much a part of the national subconscious that it is taken for granted and is frequently not even recognized. Let me give an example of the difference between individual racism and institutionalized racism and the society's response to both. When unidentified white terrorists bombed a black church and killed five black children that is an act of individual racism, widely deplored by most segments of the society, both white and black. But when, in the same city, Birmingham, Alabama, not five but 500 black babies died each year because of lack of proper food, shelter, and medical facilities and thousands more black people are maimed physically, emotionally, and intellectually because of conditions of poverty inside the ghetto, that is an act of institutionalized racism. But the society either pretends it doesn't know of this situation or is incapable of doing anything meaningful about it and this resistance to doing anything meaningful about conditions in the ghetto comes from the fact that the ghettos is itself a product of the combination of forces that have access - a combination of forces and special interests inside the white community and that the groups that have access to the resources and power to change that situation benefit politically and economically from the existence of the ghetto. It is more than a figure of speech then to say that the black community of America is the victim of white imperialism and colonial exploitation. This is in practical, economic, and political terms truth, it is a truism for philosophy students. There are over 20 million black people, comprising 10% of this nation. For the most part, we live in well-defined areas of the country, in the shanty towns and rural black-belt areas of the south and increasingly in the slums of northern and western industrial cities. If one goes into any black community, whether it be Jackson, Mississippi, Harlem, New York, or Richmond, Virginia, one will find the same combination of political, economic, and social forces are at work. The people in the black community do not control the resources of that community, its political decisions, its law enforcements, its housing standards, even the physical ownership of the land, houses and stores lie outside that community. It is white power that makes the laws and it is violent white power in the form of armed cops that enforces those laws with guns and night sticks. The vast majority of blacks in this country lived in these captive communities and must endure these conditions of oppression because and only because we are black and powerless. I do not suppose at any point the men who control the power and resources of this country ever sat down and designed these black (illegible) and formally articulated the terms of their colonial and dependent status as was done for example by the (illegible) government of South Africa which this country supports. Yet one cannot distinguish between one ghetto and another. As one moves from city to city it is as though some malignant, racist planning unit had done precisely this, designed each one from the same master blueprint and, in deed, if the ghetto had been formally and deliberately planned instead of ~~growing~~ spontaneously and inevitably from the racist functioning of the various institutions that combine to make this society, it would be somehow less frightening. The situation would be less frightening because if these ghettos were the result of desire and conspiracy, one could understand their similarity as being artificial and consciously imposed rather than the result of identical patterns of white racism which repeats themselves in cities as distant as Roxbury is to Watts. Without bothering to list the historic factors which contribute to this pattern, economic exploitation, political impotence, discrimination in employment and education, one can see that to correct this pattern would require far-reaching changes in the basic power relationship and the ingrained social patterns within the society. The question is, of course, what kinds of changes are necessary and how is it possible to bring them about. In recent years, the answer to these questions which has been given by most articulate group of black people and their white allies, the liberators of (illegible), has been in terms of something called integration. According to the advocates of integration, social justice will be accomplished by, and I quote, "integrating the Negro into the mainstream institutions of the society from which he has been traditionally excluded." It is very significant that each time I have heard this formulation, it has been in terms of "the" Negro, the individual Negro, rather than in terms of the entire black community. This concept of integration had to be based upon the assumption that there was nothing of value in the black community and that little of value could be created among black people so the thing to do was to siphon off the acceptable Negroes into surrounding middle-class white communities. Thus to go with the movement for integration was simply to loosen up the restrictions barring entries of black people into the white community. Those around (illegible) to appraise, such as public accommodations, open housing, job opportunity on the executive level, are quite simply middle-class goals, articulated by a tiny group of Negroes who had middle-class aspirations. It is true that the student demonstrations in the 1960's, early 1960's, helped to mislead you. I think that was because it was not interpreting out movement, again the editorial twins of America were doing that. For example, I remember I used to watch HUNTLEY and BRINKLEY and they'd say "Black people today are marching in Alabama. JIM CLARK has ridden over them with horses. He has beat them up. He shot them down. He's run them, he's hit them with cattle cars, but, alas, they're still marching to integrate." The next day they'd say "They're joined by their black brothers from the north and the south. Again they're marching in the streets of Selma. JIM CLARK is beating them up; he's shooting them down; his posse is riding (illegible); he's hitting them with horses; he's jailing them; but they're still marching to integrate." I sat down and took it to its logical conclusion and what it said to me was that I left New York and went to Alabama to be able to sit next to JIM CLARK, his daughter, or his momma. (applause) Obviously, that's not what I meant to do. I didn't go to sit next to JIM CLARK, his daughter, or his momma. I don't even want to sit next to the "hunky". (applause) What we went to Alabama to do was to render a "hunky" (illegible). There's a big difference. There's a big difference, because in the editorialman's concept and in white America's concept we were fighting to integrate. In our concept, we were fighting to destroy white supremacy and there is a difference. (applause) But the country could not admit to itself that we were fighting against white supremacy because to do that they would have to admit that in the "home of the free and the brave" and all that other garbage (laughter) there existed some people who had power and who were white supremacists, so they said we were fighting to integrate.

They just took it from Job, "Though they may slay us, yet we will serve them." (laughter)(applause) So that now you understand that we're fighting against white supremacy and the question of integration is totally irrelevant. But such a limited class orientation was reflected not only in the programs and goals of the Civil Rights movement but in its tactics and organizations. It is very significant that the two oldest and most respectable Civil Rights organizations have consti---, consti---, I'm sorry, I'll have to spell this word, I can only say three-fifths of it. C-O-N-S-T-I-T-U-T-I-O-N-S. (applause) When I become five fifths, I'll be able to say the holy words (laughter)(applause)

You already have these things which prohibit partisan political activity. (Illegible) For this is perfectly understandable in terms of the stragedy and goals of our whole organization. The civil rights movement source was a kind of liaison between the powerful white community and the dependent black community. The dependent status of the black community apparently was unimportant, since, if the movement successful, it was goint to blend into the white community anyway. We made no pretense at organizing and developing institutions of community power in the black community, but would appeal to the conscience of white institutions of power, but possibly the civil rights movement was not of a dependent, the supplement. The theory was that upon attempting to lead any organized base of political strength itself, the civil rights movement could, by forming coalitions with liberals, pressure organizations, pressure groups, in the white community for and develop pressure groups to change the country. I think we have all seen the limitations of this approach. We have repeatedly seen that political alliances based upon appeal to conscience and decency are chancy things, simply because institutions and political organizations have no consciences outside their own special interests. But political and social rights of black people will be, and always will be, dependent upon the good will of white people and because we depended upon the good will we will dominate by them and we form coalitions all times with groups that did not have the same interests as we did. If we do not learn from history (illegible) reminders, then we're doomed to repeat it and that is precisely the lesson we must learn from the Reconstruction Period. During that period there was a white man by the name of Tom Watson, who formed then what was called the Populist Party, which advocated all white people and black people coming together. Now the decision for black people to vote in the Populist movement was a decision made by white people. The people who pushed the concept was a white man (illegible) Tom Watson, and black people did not form an independent group upon which they could rely. They ran arms wide upon to the great white father, Tom Watson. And when Tom Watson got ready to expand his party on a National basis outside of the South, the economic interests of the farmers in the west conflicted with the economic interests of the black people of the South and Mr. Watson turned around and said, nigger get out, and because we depended on the good will of the white folks we had no choice but to get out. Today its different. We're going to be dependent upon ourselves. (applause). As soon as men they say get out we can at least disrupt before we get out. (laughter)(applause) The major limitations of the approach was that it tended to maintain the traditional dependence of black people and of the movement. We depended upon the good will and support of various groups which in the white community whose interests were not always compatible with ours. Also the program that evolved out of this coalition is really limited and (illegible) terms and one which effected only a small selected group of Negroes. Its goal was to make the white community successible to qualified Negroes and presume each year a few more black people on with their passport a couple of university degrees with escape into white middle class America (illegible) the attitudes and (illegible) of that group and one day the Harlam and the Watts will stand empty, a tribute to the success of integration. This is simply neither realistic nor is it particularly desiring (illegible). You can integrate communities but you (illegible) individuals. Even if such a program were possible its result would not be to develop the black community as a functional and honorable segment of the total society with its own cultural identity, life pattern and institutions, but to abolish it, the final solution to the race problem in this country. Karl Marx reminds us that the working class is the first class that ever wished to abolish themselves. If one were to listen very closely to some of our modern civil rights leaders who would think the black people were the first people who wished to abolish themselves. The fact is that what must be abolished is not the black community, but the dependent colonial status that has been afflicted upon it. The racial and cultural personality of the black community must be preserved and the community must win its liberation while preserving its cultural integrity. This is the essential difference between integration as it is currently practised and the concept of black power (illegible) tomorrow, we try it, and what has the movement for integration accomplished today. Is there a black person graduating from MIT with a doctorate degree who had better job opportunities available to him than Lynda Byrd Johnson, but the rate of unemployment in the black community is steadily increasing while that in the white community decreases. More educated black people hold executive jobs in major corporations and Federal agencies than ever before, but the (illegible) which means white income and black income has almost doubled in the last twenty years. More suburban housing is available to some black people if they can stand rocks and shotguns but housing conditions in the ghetto is on steady decline while the infant mortality rate of New York City is at its lowest rate ever in the city's history, the infant mortality of Harlam is steadily declining and while the country has its greatest focus on a handful of black children who attend integrated schools at a great price and let us not worry about the 96 percent of black children who still attend segregated schools. (applause) It is time that we turn out attention to the 96 percent of our children who attend segregated schools. If white people like integration they know where to come. They always know where to come. (applause) Maybe you can have night school. (laughter) You get integration then. (laughter) after sundown (laughter). This explains why the (illegible) school dropouts are increasing among black teenagers who then expressed their bitterness (illegible) and alienation by the only means they have, by imitating the society through rebellion. As long as people in the ghettos of our large cities feel they are victims of the misuse of black power, (illegible) any way to have our needs represented in these (illegible) needs we will continue to have rebellions. These are not the products of black power, but in the absence of any organization capable of giving the community the power, the black power, it needs to deal with this problem. (illegible) time for the black liberation movement to stop (illegible) their fears and anxieties of white middle class America in an attempt to earn his good will and return to the ghettos to organize these communities to control themselves, that would mean the Richmond, Virginia since you're 52 percent of the population, the city would be yours, lock, stock and barrel, if you went to power and not (illegible). (laughter) (applause).

RH 14-91

But this is all for love and morality white folks is still doubting (illegible) entire city they give you four show pieces if you bow your head and say yassir when the city should be yours. Anybody who is 52 percent would take it. (laughter). The police department would be lead by a black man and the health department would be a black man and the mayor of the city would be a black man and then white people could have total integration. (applause). These organizations must be attempted in northern and southern urban areas as well as in the rural areas of the south. The chief antagonist for this organization is in the South where your (illegible) racists democratic party and in the North the equally corrupt and just as racist big city machines. The standard argument presented against independent political organization is but you're only 10 percent. I cannot see the (illegible) observation since no one is talking about taking over the country, God knows we wouldn't know what to do with it (laughter), but taking console of our own communities, the fact is that the black population, 10 percent or not, is very strategically place because there are (illegible) segregation. What is also true is that black people have never been able to utilize the full voting potential of our numbers. Where we could vote, the case has always been the white political machine stacks and general manages the political subdivisions in black neighborhoods so the true voting strength is never reflected in political strength. Would anyone looking at the distribution of political power in Richmond, Virginia, ever think that black people represent over 50 percent of the population here? This is also the effective political organization in the black communities to absorb by tokenism and patronage, the time honored practise of giving certain practices certain offices to selected black people. (applause) The machine thus creates a little machine which is (illegible) and responsive to it in the black community. These so-called Negro political leaders are nothing more but mere bolt deliverys, more responsible to the white machine, the white power structure and the white press than to the community (illegible) (applause). I noticed in your paper two days ago a (illegible) from Danville, Virginia, who heads the state Warren Committee on Human Relations said that he didn't really agree with our tactics, he should ask that Uncle Tom where he was in 1963 when our heads were getting whooped in Danville, Virginia. (applause) We understand why he got upset because we were kids then and all the games that we made they came in and took over, today, we going to control the games that we make. (applause) Thus, the white community is able to substitute (illegible) control for audacious black power in the black community. This is precisely what Lyndon Baines Johnson tried to do even before the Voting Rights Pact of 1965 was passed. Next the Democratic Party made it crystal clear that the measure was intended to registered democrats, not black people. The President and top officials of the Democratic Party called in almost 100 selected Negro leaders from the Deep South. Nothing was said about changing the policies of the racist Democratic state parties, nothing was said about (illegible) such leadership figures as Eastman, and Ross Barnett in Mississippi or George and Lurleen Wallace in Alabama. We don't say anything about Mrs. Wallace because I've come to understand that the Governor of Alabama is a mother (applause). What was said by Johnson was an I quote, "go home and organize your local people into local Democratic parties, then we see about (illegible) .. (laughter). We must organize black community power to end these abuses and to give the black community to have its views expressed. (applause) Our leadership which is truly responsible not to the white press and the white power structure, but to the black community will be developed. Such leadership will recognize its power lying in the (illegible) and collective strength of the black community. This will make it difficult for white leadership group to conduct its dialogue with individuals in terms of patronage and prestige and will force them to talk to the community representatives in terms of real black power. The single aspect then of the black power (illegible) that is encountered in (illegible) is this concept of political organization. This is representatives and third parties which has never worked or (illegible) black Nationalism and isolation which yields to reverse (illegible) and black power. There is such a program as developed it will not hang the effective (illegible) of the black community, but will reverse. When the black community is able to control its local offices and negotiate the other groups from a position of organized strength, the possibility of need for political alliances on specific issues will be increase, that is the rule of politics.

First question: Mr. CARMICHAEL is, "In theory, your claim for power is good, but tell us please (illegible).

Do you think your BENNY GOODMAN can play jazz? Do you have culture? Have you ever heard of JAMES BROWN? There is a cat whose got all the impressions that black people have who can externalize that eternal impression to the fact that anybody knows it -- even if you are LBJ, you've got to tap your feet -- Thats culture.

Do we have culture? Did Dr. W. E. B. Dubois; Did J. J. ROGERS. Do we have culture? Our problem is that this society has degraded to such a level black people are ashamed of it but by turning that around, we are going to embrace our culture from now on. Yes, you have culture. We dig RAY CHARLES. He is ours. (Applause)

Were you quoted correctly in the Associated Press which claimed that you said that Negroes are not bound by the laws of the United States?

If so, why?

FREDERICK DOUGLAS, a great black man once said, if the slave wants to continue to be a slave, he should obey the laws of his master. Black people have been excluded from making any major decisions concerning any laws; have been excluded from making any laws not bounded to obey them. Taxation without representation is what it might be called. We just say, to hell with the laws. We can't make them -- we don't obey them.

Mr. CARMICHAEL. With the emphasis on black power, is it in any possible sense worthwhile to pushing for the passage of Fair Housing Laws?

Well, I think thats a fight the right community must carry because they need to help civilize the right community. However, the black people should fight for open housing as we have always believed in it. (Laughter) (Applause). Show me a white man whose house was bombed but would be shoot up if he lived into a black community. I wish I could say the reverse were true. White people have to fight for fair housing because they have to learn to recognize the humanity of the people who have color.

Mr. CARMICHAEL. On what- what can I do to be saved?
(Laughter)

I guess you go to church if you're hoping to be saved. I would suggest you go to an integrated church if you can find one. I'm not a preacher - I'm not out to save souls - I'm out to get black power. You should see other people in the Civil Rights Movement -- they save souls. (Laughter) (Applause)

Do you think the program "Brotherhood Power" would be better than "Black Power"?

We don't form brotherhood? We've been looking for them for the last six years and all we've gotten is beatings and jail and we're still looking for them. We've all been looking to form brotherhood power. We've never found white people to form it with us. Where are they? (Applause).

I wish you could show me one white group in this country who is willing to call us the black people for all men.

What percentage of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee is students and what percentage is leaders?

All of this is students - student of racism and the like. (Applause). The average age is 23.

What do you think of the black man being drafted into the white man's army?

Tell them, "Hell No." (Applause).

I knew somebody would ask it. There are a lot of reasons why we say we don't believe in compulsory conscription. That's with anybody - black, white or red. But since our power is within the black community, we advocate a strong anti-draft program for other reasons. Judge it in terms of morality. I don't like to talk about morality in this country because it is so immoral.

RH 14-91

But, to kill a man is the highest crime that another man can commit -- to take another man's life. We feel very strongly that must be an individual decision. It cannot be a mass decision. It must be an individual decision. If we decide to kill -- then we must decide who to kill. Its a big difference -- no need for me to go 8,000 miles to kill a Vietnamese. He ain't never call me no Nigger. Well then, the moral the Christians (Laughter). Jesus Christ said it is more honorable to suffer than to conflict suffering. (Applause)

That's all right you see I understand that because you see Jesus Christ was not a Christian. He was a revolution. The people who came after him were Christians. They are the ones who messed up what he did. (Applause)

RH 14-91

Those who believe in CHRIST - then, when they are called to serve, since CHRIST said it is more honorable to suffer than to inflict suffering, they would rather go to jail than burn somebody's house and kill them. This is being Christian, but we know about Christianity. We know who we learned it from. So, on that level, we would certainly decide if we were Christians.

But the reason now why we are really hitting hard against the anti-draft program is because using the war in Viet Nam is crystal clear to us, that that war is not a war to save democracy, freedom and all that junk. We've heard that all our lives.

I want to read some quotes. This book is entitled, "Viet Name, Viet Nam," by Mr. FELIX GREEN. I want to read you two quotes. One of them was made in 1953. I want to tell you who said it, then I'll read you another one. One was made August 4, 1953, in Seattle, Washington, before the United States Governor's Assembly. We weren't fighting the war then. The French were fighting it for us. We were just giving them 80%. End of quote.

It is assumed that we lost Indo-China. The tin and tungsten that we so greatly value will cease coming from that area so that when the United States votes four hundred million dollars to help the war, we are not voting a give-away program. We are voting for the cheapest way that we can to prevent the occurrence of something that would be of the most terrible significance to the United States of America, our security, our power and the ability to get certain things we need from the riches of the Indo-Chinese territory and from Southeast Asia. The quote was made by the Great White Father of that period, DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER. But now we would say that DWIGHT wasn't really too smart (LAUGHTER)

As a matter of fact, he was really very dumb. He couldn't speak very well in our neighborhood. Because of his speaking ability, we used to call him the white JOE LOUIS. (LAUGHTER).

And, after all, it was 1953. Certainly, we can't be bounded by that; we know this country is good at changing and we say why, certainly, it would change by now. So we want to bring somebody who is intelligent, articulate, sophisticated, tall, blond hair, blue eyes - HENRY CABOT LODGE. Dig his statement.

Georgraphically, Viet Nam stands at the hub of a vast area of the world; Southeast Asia, an area with a population of 249 million persons. He who holds or has influence in Viet Nam can affect the future of the Philippines and Formose to the east finally and firmly, the huge rice surpluses to the west, and Asia and Indonesia. Viet Name, for us, does not exist in the the geographical vacuum. From its large storehouse, wealth and population can be influenced and undermined. That's what the war is all about. And that's why we're not about to fight that war. But as black people, especially, there a lot of reasons why we should not fight in that war.

The first man to be shot for the independence of this country was a black man by the name of CRISPUS ADDUX. What a fool! (LAUGHTER)(APPLAUSE). He was a runaway slave. He wanted to prove how American He was. So he was willing to get shot while his brothers were in slavery. That's how white he was. But that's OK. After Mr. ADDUX got shot, we weren't satisfied. We wanted to prove to white folks how American we were. While they had our brothers enslaved in the south, the brothers up north got took up north and trained themselfed, man. The "nunkys" wouldn't even let them fight in the war. They said we weren't fitten to fight and they got our men trained in their bare feet, up and down the street, and got their platoons together and they begged the white folks to let us fight, and finally the white folks said, OK, and had us fighting the Indians. Like fools. What we should have done was team up with the Indians and take care of the business (LAUGHTER)(APPLAUSE)

We weren't satisfied in that. We went out and fought anyway, on any conditions, to prove that we were good Americans. Along came the Civil War and the great white Father, ABRAHAM LINCOLN, who freed me after he started the war in 1861, and signed the Emancipation Proclamation in 1863, because the south was winning. When he freed slaves, they wanted to fight and he said we weren't fitten to fight. We couldn't even fight for our own liberation. Ah, but we wanted to prove we were good Americans. Yes Sir, so we went out again and we begged and FREDERICK DOUGLAS went out and pleaded, Please,

Mr. President, let us fight... so, O.K., you'll can fight, and put us on the sidelines. Yes sir, fought our great leaders.

After that, along came World War I. We were going to fight to make the world safe for democracy, and they started drafting people in the north during the Civil War 'cause they wouldn't go; That's why ABRAHAM LINCOLN said we had to fight, 'cause white people weren't about to for black people. So, when World War I came along, they started drafting people; they wouldn't draft us, and we were disgusted. What you mean, you won't draft us? We're Americans. Let us help fight to save the world and make it safe for democracy. We marched down and demanded, man, and the NAACP started waging a war that we must be drafted. Yes sir, let us fight! And we didn't finish fighting to make the world safe for democracy when we put our foot on this shore. They hung us with our uniforms on; we were fighting to make the world safe for democracy. Oh but never let it be said we were satisfied. We were going to prove something to America. Yes, we were. Tsk. Tsk., World War II, up in front on Pork Chop Hill. Let us take it! Let us prove to you how strong we are! Yes sir, we went over in Poland and fought for Poland to stop HITLER from running over the Polish people. We were fighting on all the fronts. We wanted to prove what good American we were.

I might only add we were fighting in segregated units, but that's okay, we were fighting for democracy. Along came the Korean War - 1948. TRUMAN got white and integrated the troops. From the Korean War, there came a chance. Now everything was going to be all right. We were integrated. Yes suh, yes suh, we were on the front lines in Korea. We would hold the lines. We must hold the lines at any price and the price was black blood. Yes suh, we were going to prove to America how good we were, and uncles and cousins came back with one legs and one arms and have some "hunkies" slam the door in his face and call him a nigger. That's all right, we were going to prove we were good Americans, only this war America is going to prove something to us. We will not fight. APPLAUSE

But be that as it may that itself would not be so bad, but we know they are telling lies when they talk about spending white money, and white lies for the rights of colored people, you know they lying. You know they lying, because they haven't spent one penny on your life here in your country, so they aint' about to go 8,000 miles and fight for anybody's colored rights. They are fighting to dominate the world. America has destroyed everything the black people have had. We must save our own humanities. We will not let them be hired killers. We must not be their hired killers. We will save our necks. We will not fight in their war. If they want to fight the war, let them. The war is for the birds - LINDA BIRD, LADY BIRD, LUNEY BIRD. APPLAUSE

And finally we are told on TV every morning how the great White Father of this country my fellow Americans we are fighting for democracy, peace, freedom and equality. Democracy, peace, freedom and equality as the black man living in this country under democracy, freedom, peace, equality. I would not fight to give this to anybody. Couldn't do it. We will fight here. Then we will understand about democracy and then maybe we would be willing to defend democracy. You can't fight for what you don't know about. We don't know anything about democracy, freedom or justice. We have never seen it in the 400 years of life on this country. Until America can show us something about democracy, aint' no need to fight for it. Let them fight their own. APPLAUSE

And I might add that we have declared war on the black college campuses. We aim to rid them of compulsory ROTC. We are not going to make them train our youth to be killers. If they got some black people who want to be killers, let them go to West Point. A man goes to college to learn how to act civilized, not to learn how to march around. APPLAUSE

College is no place to train a man how to be a hired killer. I was told that I was going to college for civilization to be civilized, to learn how to live with other men, and when this country says that the only way you can live with other men is to have an Army with you. Obviously, they proved that by dropping their bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki as they get ready to kill the rest of the world.

The history of White America is that it has been a nation of peace. They started off by stealing this very country from the Indians and committing genocide against them because they couldn't civilize the Indians.

They weren't satisfied with stealing the country, they turned around and they stole us. LAUGHTER APPLAUSE

The country has been a nation of thieves and stands on the brink of being a nation of murderers in Viet Nam. We must not let them turn us into that. We must save our humanity. It is far better to be in jail knowing that you are not a murderer than to be outside, knowing that you have killed somebody without even knowing why. APPLAUSE

This country was the leading country that set the Nuremberg judgment. The country said that if they tried the Nazi prisoners, that there is a higher law than the law of government, and they are absolutely right. There are higher laws than their laws in government. There is my law. The law of my conscience which would not let me be anybody's hired killer. I will not kill because anybody tells me to. I will kill only when I deem it necessary. APPLAUSE

QUESTION: What is the effect of the Nation of Islam, the so-called black Muslims, on the black power movement?

Historically, it is clear that the Muslims were after the Gardner movement : (PH) one of the only movements in the country that was consistent in terms of black ideology. There has been no movement in the country that has been as consistent as the Muslims has been in terms of their black ideology, and I am sure a lot of their teachings have filtered into the black community, through all of the twists that they always have to go through just to get their point across.

So I imagine inside the black community there has been some sort of influence-definitely some influence.

QUESTION: Mr. CARMICHAEL - Are you a Communist? Have you ever been a Communist? Do you believe in the principles on which this country was founded?

I believe in the principles on which this country was founded. White people don't. They never have. They started off by saying all men are created equal and they made me a slave.

They never have believed in the garbage they have always taught us all our lives. They taught us about JESUS CHRIST and they segregated their churches so JESUS couldn't even get in.

APPLAUSE

As to the question of whether or not I am a Communist, that question is totally irrelevant. I don't even waste time answering it. Just try and deal with what I say. Don't cloud the issue. What I say is true. It is a fact that this country is racist. Don't tell me I'm Communist. They tell us the only people who help niggers is Communists. You keep that up and we all are going to be Communists.

RH 14-91

I'm not worried about Communist aggression. I'm worried about racist domination. That's what I'm fighting. If you're concerned about Communist taking over the world then you ought to clean up your back yard.

Question: "What is SNCC doing to develop and train black leadership in business and politics -- the things that actually run this country?"

We're right her every day in the midst of it -- we've developed the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party which challenged and rocked the very foundation of the political institutions of this country in 1964; we developed the Lowndes County Freedom Movement - Freedom Party in 1965; in 1966 we moving to develop independent political parties across the country. May we remind you it's the constant and consistent philosophy of independent politics in this country by SNCC that has been leading the country to begin to think the way it has been thinking.

This is from a Negro student at Virginia Union University: "If I do not comply with student rules, am thrown out, then drafted and refuse to go and then I am sent to jail, then what? Will SNCC support me or help me to make a living?"

You organize the brothers in jail.(laughter) There are no people in the world who, when we get ready to fight for the liberation place qualifications on their liberation. If I want to be free, can I be free if I do this? Nonsense. When you want to be free you go for it. It's just a question of being free. (applause) If you put all sorts of qualifications on it, you stay a slave the way you are now. Go to school; get your degree. When you get out you make your $4,000.00 teaching at some segregated school but you gonna be surprised cause we teaching the black youth of this country and you won't even be able to teach them that nonsense you learning over there. (applause) I imagine JESUS CHRIST would have done a good job had he said, "I wonder if I start all this stuff whether or not they gonna crucify me?"

Well, opposition is pledged. You know we'll support you. We can't promise you you won't go to jail. If you're ready to go to jail, we are ready to work with you. Until you get to that point, work with somebody else.

RH 14-91

Mr. CARMICHAEL: As you know, this city was chosen the All American City. (Laughing).

I don't see what you are laughing about -- it is representative of the United States of America. As you know this City was chosen the All American City two weeks ago.

It is. I don't see what you are laughing about.

There are about 400 policemen on the force here and we would like to know why there are no Negro sergeants or lieutenants on the force? After it was declared in 1946 -- which was 21 years ago. We Negroes who have been on the force have more than 21 years. This is simple.

Black people just let white people do that. Black people are more than 52% of the population here. If you formed yourself an independent party -- consider it -- you're over the majority. Once you are over the majority, you don't form coalitions with anybody. They come to you!! While we have been so busy trying to love and have morality in our environments, they have been running our lives. Same story of the missionaries. They came to Africa. We had the land. They had the Bibles. They left. They still have the land. We still have the Bibles. Same old story. (APPLAUSE - LAUGHTER).

They tell us to look to GOD. We keep our eyes open. Same old story. (Applause).

Power is what moves this world. Everybody knows that P-O-W-E-R. We're the only people who don't got much and don't even think about it. If you're thinking about love with a Cadillac sitting with Baines Johnson, you must be out of your mind. If you are talking about love with Marlene Wallace, you must be crazy.

Become you become the missionary, you must be powerful enough to put the missionaries with the guns in there. If you want to save them. If you are concerned about yourself, you get some power. Ain't no reason why the Commissioner of Police should not be dropped. (Applause)

The reason is the power of this city is left in the hands of white people and black people are too scared to fight the power. Because they are wondering whether or not they are going to get shot. Of course, they don't ask that question when they go to Viet Nam. No sir. Put on their uniform and get ready to fight for their country -- don't even ask if they will get shot. But tell them to fight for some power.

-(illegible), you keep saying "black power" and white folk will get upset and you know how they are," (laughter).

I've been upset for 400 years and don't nobody give a damn about me. Nobody never said, "you might get upset". I see GEORGE WALLACE, most powerful senator in this country, get up and say, "Niggers this and Niggers that" I don't know of anybody who said "Well you know if you say that black people might get upset." You say "black power" and everybody say white people might get upset. Yeah, that's right. you shouldn't say it. Later I'm gonna say it. (illegible)(laughter) (applause) You can get the policemen if you want them, all you got to do is just organize yourself and take over police problems. You laugh. There isn't one major group in this country that went for power and didn't take over the police forces. Check under Irish. The Italians couldn't get the police forces so they set up a Mafia and took over all the city governments. (laughter) Any country that wants power has its police force. They call them the Army. That's all, that's what power's all about.

"Mr. Carmichael:

"What is your opinion of the accomplishments of Senator BROOK of Massachusetts?"

Well, we know that in SNCC the Republicans gained a seat in Massachusetts. (laughter)(applause) Anytime a man's gonna get up before camera and say "See me as a man, not as a Negro," he's sick. (laughter) Sick! (applause) He is as sick as Jewish people who change their names because they don't want to be Jewish. I am black. I have a heritage. I am proud of it. See me as a black man. (applause) If he wants to be seen as a colorless man, then he ought to join colorless people and move in their neighborhoods and live with them, he's already there anyway.

"Mr. Carmichael: You have referred to LBJ and "Hankierchief Head". What in your opinion has the Republican Party since ABRAHAM LINCOLN ever done for Negroes?"

They never done anything for us, even with ABRAHAM LINCOLN. (laughter)(applause) The only two people they ever had in their party of any caliber was SUMNER and STEVENS, CHARLES SUMNER and THADEUS STEVENS. They've never had anybody else of caliber. I denounce the Democratic Party most heavily because black people have come to take that party for granted and that party has always taken us for granted. We're not concerned about Republican Party, we know where they're at. See, once you know we have enemies it okay to see them. It's friends you got to worry about. Friends! Black people got so many friends. The Lord deliver us from our enemies, it's our friends we worried about. That's what we worried about. Everybody in this country's got a best friend in the Negro, and stabbing you in the back everytime you turn around. The Democratic Party is the most treacherous enemy the black people have in this country. (applause) See if you understood politics you will understand that cause you understand who runs the Democratic Party. It is run, in fact, by southerners, including LBJ. But the power is vested in the hands of the southerners: EASTLAND, THURMOND, (illegible), and all those cats, see, and here you sit up here and talk about you're a Democrat and you have some "hunky" like BOBBY KENNEDY smiling at you and advocating all this Biblical nonsense, when he goes in the back, he sits down with EASTLAND and those cats and they're the ones who make the policy and he comes back and talk out the side of his mouth. If that "hunky" was serious in what he was doing, either he would kick out EASTLAND or he would get out. But until he does that he's just jiving with our lives. That's why the Democratic Party is the most treacherous party, at least the Republicans tell you that. (laughter)

"On April 5, 1967, I covered the appearance and speech of Stokely Carmichael at the Mosque Auditorium, Richmond, Va. It is my estimate that there about 1900 people in attendance and of this number, 300 were white persons. The bulk of those in attendance were in the age group of 25 to 50 years of age. I observed three Negro men in U. S. Army uniform but I do not know their names or duty stations.

"Stokely Carmichael was the main speaker and spoke of about 45 minutes. During the speech a bomb threat was received and Carmichael announced to the audience that the threat had been received but he intended to continue with his speech. Someone in the audience called out "That is right. Well stay with you."
This was the only audience response to his speech except an occasional applause. I would say that the audience generally received Mr. Carmichael's comments as favorable.

"After the speech, there was an intermission during which the audience was encouraged to write questions on slips of paper which the panel collected for use during a question and answer session which followed. One question concerning the military draft, Carmichael said, "Hell no, don't be drafted." This was followed by a question concerning violations under the draft laws and Carmichael said, "Keep fighting while in jail." It was my impression that Carmichael instructed those present not to comply with draft requirements. He stated the fight is here at home and not on foreign soil.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL AT THE

April 19, 1967

Seattle, Washington

Why don't you all read an article with the depth of the Massachusetts Quarterly Review entitled Towards Black Liberation (unintelligible) paper and then we could have some discussion afterwards. I understand that the press has not been doing too good a job covering the activities of SNCC. I don't think they will be able to cover the lecture today because it is on an intellectual level. But since you are college students I know you'll be able to deal with the lecture. I'm sorry that Professor Hunt had to take so much time reaffirming free speech, I just assumed it was a natural thing, they taught it to me in school. One of the most pointed illustrations of the need for black power as a positive and redemptive force in a society degenerating into a form of totalitarianism is to be made by examining the history of distortion that the concept has received in the national media of publicity. This debate as in everything else that affects our lives black people are dependent on and at the discretion of forces and institutions within the white society which have little interest in representing us honestly. Our experience with the Nation Press has been that where they have managed to escape the most vicious special interests in "Get whity" sensationalism and race war mongering, individual reporters and commentators have been conditioned by the developing racism of the society to the point where they are incapable even of objective observations and reporting of racial incidents much less the analysis of ideas.

But this limitation of visions and deception is an inevitable consequence of the dictatorship of definition, interpretations and consciousness along with the censorship of history that the society has inflicted upon black people and consequently upon itself. Our concern for black power addresses itself directly to this problem. The necessity for black people to reclaim our history and our identity from the cultural terrorism and depravation of self justifying while guilt. To do this we shall have to struggle for the right to create our own terms through which to define our selves and our relationship to the society and to have these terms recognized. This is the first necessity of a free people and the first right that any oppressor must suspend. Now we feel very strongly about that in SNCC, the right to define, the (unintelligible) philosophers feel that it is very important, the ability for man to define himself, (?) for example, on the first page of the Rebel tells us that when the slaves stop accepting the definition of slave imposed upon him by his master, then and only then does he begin to create a life for himself. That's very important, we see examples of that all the time. The trouble with the world today is that white western society as opposed to western civilization which has been a misnomer, white western society has named and defined everyone, and the people are trapped by those definitions. Let me give an example. We watch the television (idiot box) and we have the red man and the white man, and they are engaged in a battle, the white man is losing and he calls for the calvary and the calvary comes out and they are riding very white and very proper and they get off their horses and they load their guns and they systematically shoot all the red men. They kill them all and then they ride back to the fort and there is a white woman standing at the door and she said, "what happened?" And they answered, "we had a victory, we killed all the Indians". And everyone applauds. Now when the reverse happens, when the red man beat up the white man and there is one man left hanging over a horse and she says, "what happened?" and he says, "those dirty Indians came and massacred us." You've got to understand that in your mind. What they are saying is that a massacre is less honorable than a victory so that the red man will never be able to match the white man, he will always have a massacre and I guess maybe they have something to that, because in a victory you shoot people to death and in a massacre you cut them to death, and I guess if we're going to die we'd rather be shot than cut. That's also very prevalent today on television in the news. I don't know if you ever watch the editorial twins of America, Huntley and Brinkley, but if you ever watch them, particularly when they talk about the war in Vietnam, one usually says those dirty, filthy communist Viet Cong Rebels, disgusting people, threw a molotov cocktail today and wounded 17 of our civilians. Then the other guy comes on and says, "In the mean time our good GIs have been bombing the hell out of North Vietnam. And the implication is that it is bad to throw molotov cocktails but it is ok if you bomb. The white fathers of American racism knew this instinctively it seems, as it is indicated by the continuous record of the distortion and the omission in their dealings with the red and black men. That is also very clear with this cat called Christopher Columbus who discovered America even though there were people here when he got there. But because white Western society had the power to define, they had defined the red man as an Indian and they did that because Columbus was stupid, he died thinking he was in India, that's how dumb he was and he called red people Indians and because of that they're stuck with the name Indians and he didn't even know that he was in the United States of America. In the same way the Southerner apologises, for her Jim Crow society have so muddled, obscured and misrepresented the records of the reconstruction period until it is almost impossible to tell what really happened during that period. Their contemporary counter-parts are busy doing the same thing with the history of the civil rights movement.

Just one word about the gentlemen of the press.

They usually have names that they give to us like racists, reverse racists, and anti-whites and I have yet to see one black man among them when they come to report about SNCC. In 1964 for example, the National Democratic Party, lead by L. B. Johnson and boy wonder H. H. Humphreys. In SNCC we call them Batman and Robin because they run a (unintelligible) Government. In the black community H. H. Humphrey stands for Handkerchief Head Humphrey. Handkerchief Head is someone who is more (?) than an Uncle Tom, he's an unconditional yes man. I don't know if you dug Lynden when he delivered his State of the Johnson message to the Union back in January or February, but if you were able to dig him, while he was speaking the cameras were splashed on the back of Handkerchief Head and he was just (giggle, giggle) a just a himmen and a hawen. But anyway these two cats cynically undermine the efforts of Mississippi's black population to achieve some degree of political representation. We're speaking now of the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenge which took place in 1964, Atlantic City, at the National Democratic Party Convention. Yet (unintelligible) the events of that convention (unintelligible) one sees only that version fabricated by the press agents of the Democratic Party. A year later the house of representatives in an even more vulgar display of political racism made a mockery of the political rights of Mississippi's black when it failed to unseat the Mississippi delegation to the house which had been elected through a process which had systematically excluded over 450,000 voting age blacks, almost one half of the total electorates of that state. Yet that same house two years later was able to unseat Mr. Powell because he did the same thing that they did but with more style. Whenever this event is mentioned in (unintelligible) it is in terms which leaves one with the rather curious impression that somehow the oppressed black people of Mississippi are at fault. But confronting the Congress with the situation in which they had no alternative but to endorse Mississippi's racial political practices. I mention these two examples, because having been directly involved in them I can see very clearly the discrepancies between what has happened and the versions that are finding their way into general acceptance as a kind of popular mythology. Thus, the victimization of black people takes place in two phases. First it occurs in facts and deeds and then and this is equally sinister, it occurs in the recordings of those facts and deeds. The black power program and concepts which is being articulated by the Student Non Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), the Congress of Racial Equality and the hosts of community organizations in the ghettos of the north and the south has not escaped this process. The white press has been busy articulating their own analysis, their own interpretations, and criticisms of their own creations and we were very disturbed about that and all we said were two simple words, black power, and the white world came down against us and I couldn't figure out why, we hadn't even been given a chance to define it, but I was reading Mr. George Bernard Shaw a couple of weeks after and he has a phrase which I think is quite apropos for the press. This phrase is "All criticism is in fact an autobiography". For example while the press is giving wide and sensational dissertations to attacks made by figures in the civil rights movement, foremost among which are Mr. Roy Wilkins of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and his counter part, Mr. Whitney Young of the National Urban League and to the hysterical rantings about black racism made by the political (?) that now serves as a Vice President. It has generally failed to give accounts of the reasonable and productive dialogue which is taking place in the black community and in certain important areas in the white religions and in the intellectual communities of this country. A national committee of influential black church men affiliated with the National Council of Churches despite their obvious respectability and responsibility had to resort to paid advertisements to articulate their positions while anyone shouting the historical yappings of black racisms got ample space. Thus the American people have gotten at best a superficial and misleading account of the very terms and tenure of this debate. I wish to quote from a statement made by the National Committee of Churchmen which I expect the majority of Americans would not have seen. It appeared in the New York Times, last years July 31. The churchmen had to pay to get their views articulate in the three quarter section advertisement. I wanted to read this quite at length because I wanted to let you know that inside the black community there are some intelligent black people other than the ones you always see who are ignorant and usually denouncing black power, their only fame to claim. I wish to quote. "We, an informed group of negro churchmen in America are deeply disturbed about the crisis brought upon our country by historic distortions of important human realities in the controversy about black power. What we see shining through the variety of rhetoric is not anything new, but the same old problem of power and race which has faced our beloved country since 1619. The conscience of black men is corrupted because having no power to implement the demand of conscience, the concern for justice in the absence of justice becomes a chaotic self surrender. Powerlessness breeds a race of beggers. We are faced now with the situation where powerless conscience meets conscienceless power". I wish to repeat that phrase because I feel that it is axiomatic to race relations in this country today. We are faced now with a situation where powerless conscience meets conscienceless power threatening the very foundations of our nation. We deplore the overt violence of

riots but we feel it is more important to focus on the real sources of these eruptions. These sources may be imbedded inside the Ghetto but their basic cause lies in the silent and covert violence which white middle class Americans inflict upon the victims of the inner city. In short the failure of American leaders to use American power to create equal opportunities in life as well as law, this is the real problem and not the angry cry of black power. Without the capacity to participate with power, that is to have some organized political and economic strength to really influence people with whom one interacts, integration is not meaningful. America has asked its negro citizens to fight for opportunity as individuals whereas at certain points in our history what we have needed most has been opportunity for the whole group, not just for selected and approved negroes. We must not apologize for the existence of this form of group power for we have been oppressed as a group and not as individuals. We will not find our way out of that oppression until we and America accept the need for negro Americans as well as the Jews, Italians, Poles and White Anglo Saxon Protestants among others to have and to wield group power. Traditionally for each new ethnic group the route to social and political integration in to America's pluristic society has been through the organization of their own institutions with which to represent their communal needs within the largest society. Simply stated, this is what the advocates of black power are talking about. This flagrant outcry, particularly from the liberal communities that has been evoked by this proposal can only be understood by examining the historic relationship between black people and the white power structure in this country. Blacks are defined by two forces. Our blackness and our powerlessness. There have been traditionally two communities in America.. The white community which is controlled and defines the forum that all institutions within the society would take. And the black community, which has been excluded from the participation in the power decisions that shaped the society and have traditionally been dependent upon and subservient to the white community. This has not been accidental. The history of every institution of this society indicates the major concern in the order and structuring of the society has been the maintaining of the black community in its condition of dependence and oppression. This has not been on the level of individual acts of racism between individual whites against individual blacks but as total acts by the white community against the black community. This fact cannot be too strongly emphasized but racist assumptions of white superiority have been so deeply engrained in the structure of this society that it infuses its entire function and is so much a part of the national subconscious that it is taken for granted and is frequently not even recognized. Let me give an example of the difference between individual racism and what we in SNCC call institutionalized racism and the societies response to both.

When unidentified white terrorists bomb a black church and kill five black children, that is an act of individual racism widely deplored by most segments of the society, both white and black. But when in that same city, Birmingham, Alabama, not five but 500 black babies die each year because of lack of proper food, shelter and medical facilities and thousands more black people are destroyed and maimed physically, emotionally and educationally because of conditions of poverty and deprivation in the Ghetto, that is a function of institutionalized racism. But the society pretends either that it doesn't know of the situation or it is incapable of doing anything meaningful about it. And this resistance to doing anything meaningful about conditions in the Ghetto comes from the fact that the Ghetto is itself a product of a combination of forces and special interests inside the white community, and the groups who have access to the resources and power to change that situation, benefit politically, economically from the very Ghetto. It is more than a figure of speech to say then that the black community in America is the victim of white imperialism and colonial exploitations. This is in practical, economic and political terms true. For those of you who take philosophy it is called a truism. There are over 20,000,000 black people, comprising 10% of this nation. For the most part we live in well defined areas of the country in the shanty towns and rural black bug areas of the south, and increasingly in the slums of northern and western industrial cities. If one goes into any black community, whether it be Jackson, Mississippi; Los Angeles, California or Boston, Massachusetts, one will find that the same combination of political, economic and social forces are at work. The people in the black communities do not control the resources of that community, its political decisions, its law enforcement, its housing standards, even the physical ownership of the land, houses and stores lie outside that community. It is white power that makes the laws. It is violent white power in the form of armed white cops that enforces those laws with guns and night sticks. The vast majority of black people in this country live in these communities and must endure these conditions of oppression because and only because we are black and powerless. I do not suppose there is any point when the men who control the power and resources of this country ever sat down and designed these black (unintelligible) and formerly articulated the terms of their colonial and dependent status as was done for example by the (unintelligible) government of South Africa which this country supports, yet one cannot distinguish between one Ghetto and another. As one moves from city to city it is as though some malignant racist planning unit has done precisely this, designed each one from the same master blueprint, and in deed if the Ghetto had been formally and deliberately planned instead of growing spontaneously and inevitably from the racist functioning of the various institutions that combine to make the society it would be somehow less frightening. The situation would be less frightening if these Ghettos were the result of design and conspiracy one could understand their similarity as being artificial and consciously imposed rather than the result of identical patterns of white racism which repeat themselves in cities as distant as Boston is to Watts. Without bothering to list the historic factors which contribute to this pattern, economic exploitation, political impotence, discrimination of employment and education, one can see that to correct this pattern will require far reaching changes in the power relationships and the in-grown social patterns within the society. The question is, of course, what kind of changes are necessary and how is it possible to bring them about.

According to the advocates of integration, social justice will be accomplished by, and I quote, "integrating the negro into the mainstream institutions of the societies for which he has been traditionally excluded". It is very significant that each time I've heard this formulation, it has been in terms of the negro, the individual negro, rather than in terms of the entire black community. This concept of integration had to be based on the assumption that there was nothing of value in the black community and that little of value could be created among black people. For the thing to do was to syphon off the acceptable black into the surrounding middle class white community. Thus the goals of the movement to integration was simply to loosen up the restrictions barring the entry of black into the white community. Goals around which the struggle took place, such as public accommodations, open housing, job opportunities on the executive level, are quite simply middle class goals articulated by a tiny group of black people who have middle class aspirations. Now I do believe that the press had quite a bit to do with that again because they were interpreting once again a movement for us in the early 1960s. You know you would see them on television and they would say black people have been marching in Selma,

Alabama today, Jim Clark has ridden over them with horses, he has beaten them up, he's (unintelligible), he's shot at them, he's whipped them, but still they are marching to integrate and on the next day they would say black people from the north have come to join their brothers in the south. They are marching in the streets again, Jim Clark has beaten them, rode his horses on them, saddle (unintelligible) them, horse whipped them, taken them to jail, but they are still marching to integrate. So I decided to carry that out to its logical conclusion. It appeared to me that what they were saying was that I left the north to go to Alabama to sit next to Jim Clark's daughter, sister or his mama. Obviously I never went there to sit next to Mr. Clark's daughter, sister, or his mama. I went to Alabama to render that hunky impotent over my life and there is a big difference. The difference is in the first you are fighting to sit next to Jim Clark so somehow you are going to civilize him. I don't think that it is possible. The other is and the most correct position is that you are fighting against white supremacy and that is where the fights have always been. Nobody wants to sit next to Jim Clark, he's uncivilized. But what people want to do is to render the white supremacists powerless. That is very important and I understand why the news reporters couldn't say that because for them to say that they would have to admit that in the land of the home and the gree and the brave and all that other garbage there existed some white men who were white supremacists who had power and they used their power against black people whenever they felt like it but it should be crystal clear in your minds to day that black people weren't fighting to sit next to anybody who was fighting against white supremacy because the concept of the forum was really bad you know, we've become Joe black, (Unintelligible). Such a limited class (unintelligible) was reflected not only in the programs and goals of the civil rights movement but in its tactics and organization. It is very significant that the two oldest and most respectable civil rights organizations have constitutrons (when I become five fifths I'll be able to say the whole word). Anyway they have these things which specifically prohibit partisan political activities. (Complete sentence unintelligible) But this is perfectly understandable in terms of the strategy and goals of the older organizations. But the civil rights movement serves a role as a kind of liaison between the powerful white community and the dependent black community. The dependent status of the black community apparently was unimportant since if the movement was successful it was going to blend into the white community anyway. We made no pretense of organizing and developing institutions of community power in the black community but in appealing to the conscience of white institutions of power. The posture of the civil rights movement was that of the dependent, the suppliant. The theory was that without attempting to create any organized base of political strength itself the civil rights movement could by forming coalitions with various liberal pressure organizations in the white community liberal reform clubs, labor unions, church groups, progressive civic organizations and at times one or other of the major political parties influence national legislation and national social patterns. I believe we have all seen limitations

of this approach. We have repeatedly seen that political alliances based on appeal to conscience and decency are chancy things. Simply because institutions and political organizations have no consciences outside their own special interest. The political and social rights of black people have been and always will be negotiable and expendable the moment they conflict with the interest of our so called allies. If we do not learn from history the philosopher (?) reminds us then we are doomed to repeat it and this is precisely the lesson that black people must learn from the reconstruction period. In the south they come into being a party called the Populist Party. One of its major spokesmen was Tom Watson. Mr. Watson was running for office in a county in Georgia which had forty percent black people of voting age. In order for him to win the position he needed the black votes. So Mr. Watson like some liberal people who will need the black vote in 1972 to become President, went around Georgia articulating a liberal philosophy. Said Mr. Watson, "Poor black and poor white should come together and they should vote because they are fleeced and oppressed by rich white. Black people believed Mr. Watson and joined the Populist Party and organized as an independent force. That was a decision made by a white man, Mr. Watson. No blacks were asked about that decision. When Mr. Watson tried to make this party National, to bring it out of the south, he started to coalesce with the farmers in the west. His party was too weak to take on the Industrial East. When he tried to coalesce to the economic interests of the Farmers in the west conflicted with the economic interest of the blacks. Mr. Watson became a vicious racist leading lynch mobs himself and driving black people out of the party. Just because black people had not organized themselves independently first Mr. Watson could make two major decisions affecting our lives and we could not even threaten any of those decisions. Today that is not going to happen again. We will first organize ourselves independently, if people become racist at least we can disrupt. Thus, at this point in the struggle blacks have no assurance save a kind of idiot optimism and faith in a society whose history is one of racism but if it is to become necessary even the painfully limited gains thrown to a civil rights movement by the congress will not be revoked as soon as a shift in political sentiment should occur. The major limitation of this approach was that it tended to maintain the traditional dependence of black and of the movement. We depended upon the good will and support of various groups within the white community whose interests were not always compatible with ours. To the extent that we depended upon their good will and support we were vulnerable to their influence and domination. Also the program that evolved out of this coalition was really limited and inadequate in the long term and one which affected only a small selected group of black people. Its goal was to make the white community accessible to qualified black people and presumably each year a few more black people armed with their passports, a couple of university degrees would escape into white middle class

America, adopt the attitudes and life styles of their group and one day the Harlems and the Watts would stand empty, a tribute to the success of integration. This is simply neither realistic nor is it particularly desirable. You can integrate the communities but you assimilate individuals. Even if such a program was possible its results would be not to develop the black community as a functional and honorable segment of the total society with its own cultural identity, life patterns and institutions but to abolish it. The final solution to race problems in this country. Karl Marx reminds us that the working class is the first class of people that ever wished to abolish themselves. If one were to listen very closely to some of our moderate negro leaders, you would think that the black people were the first people that wished to abolish themselves. The fact is that what must be abolished is not the black community but the dependent colonial status that has been inflicted upon it. The racial and cultural personality of the black community must be preserved and the community must win its liberation while preserving its cultural integrity. This is the essential difference between integration as it is currently practiced and the concept of black power. And what has the movement for integration accomplished to date, that the black person graduating from MIT with a doctorate will have better job opportunities available to him than to Lynda Bird Johnson. But the rate of unemployment in the black community is steadily increasing, while that in the white community decreases. More educated black people hold executive jobs in major corporations and federal agencies than ever before but the gap between white income and black income has almost doubled in the last 20 years. More suburban housing is available to black people if they can stand the rocks, but housing conditions in the Ghetto are still declining. While the infant mortality rates of New York City is at its lowest rate ever in the city's history the mortality rate of blacks in Harlem is steadily climbing. There has been an organized national resistance to the Supreme Court order to integrate the schools. Less than 6% of black children in the south attend so called integrated schools and 94% of our youth are still left in segregated schools which are increasingly decrepit, over crowded, under staffed, inadequately outfitted and under funded. It is time we turn our attention to the 94% of our youth. This explains why the rate of school drop outs is increasing among black teenagers who then express their bitterness, hopelessness and alienation by the only means they have through imitating this society, via violence. As long as people in the Ghettos of our large cities feel that we are the victims of the misuse of white power without any way to have our needs represented and these are frequently simple needs, we will continue to have rebellions. These are not the products of black power. But the absence of any organization capable of giving the community the power, the black power that it needs to deal with its problems. SNCC proposes that it is now time for the black liberation movement to stop pandering to the fears and anxieties of white middle class America in an attempt to earn its goodwill and to return to the Ghettos to organize these communities to control themselves. This organization must be attempted in northern and southern urban areas as well as in the rural black belt areas of the south. The chief antagonists to this organization is in the south. The overly racists democratic party and in the north the equally racist and just as corrupt big city machines. The standard argument presented against independent political organization is that you are only 10%. I cannot see the relevance of this observation since no one is talking about taking over the country, God knows we wouldn't know what to do with this monster, but taking control over our very own communities. The fact is that the black population 10% or not, is very strategically placed ironically because of segregation. What is also true is that blacks have never been able to utilize the full voting potential of our numbers. Where we could vote, the case has always been that the white political machine stacks and gerrymanders the political sub division in the black community so that true voting strength is never reflected in political power. Would anyone for example looking at the distribution of political power in Manhattan ever think that black people represented 60% of the population there. Just as often the effective political organization in black communities is absorbed by tokenism and patronage, the time honored practice of giving certain offices to selected negroes. The machine does create a little machine which is subordinate and responsive to it in the black communities, the so called black political leaders are really vote deliverers more responsible to the white machine and the white power structure than to the community they allegedly represent, thus the white community is able to substitute patronage control for what Mr. Powell called audacious black power in the black community. This is precisely what Lyndon Bains Johnson tried to do even before the voting rights act of 1965 was passed.

The National Democrats made it clear, crystal clear that the measure was intended to register Democrats, not black people. The President and top officials of the Democratic party called in almost 100 selected black leaders from the deep south. Nothing was said about changing the policies of the racist state parties. Nothing was said about repudiating such leadership figures as Eastlund and Ross Barnett in Mississippi or George and Lurleen Wallace in Alabama, but in SNCC we don't say anything about her because we have come to find out that the Governor of Alabama is a mother, and we are for motherhood. What was simply said, and I quote, was "Go home and organize your people into the local Democratic Party, then we will see about poverty money and appointments, mah fellow Americans". We must organize black community power to end these abuses and to give the black community a chance to have its needs expressed. A leadership which is truly responsible not to the white press and the white power structure, but to the community will be developed. Such leadership will recognize that its power lies in the unified and collective strength of the black community. This will make it difficult for the white leadership group to conduct its dialogue with individuals in terms of patronage and prestige and would force them to talk to the community representatives in terms of real black power. The single aspect then of the black power program that has encountered most criticism is this concept of independent political organization. This is presented as third partyism which has never worked or it would grow into black nationalism and black isolationism which leads to reverse racism. If such a program is developed it will not have the effect of isolating the black community but the reverse. When the black community is able to control local offices and negotiate with other groups from a position of organized strength, the possibility of meaningful political alliances on specific issues will be increased. That is a rule of politics and there is no reason why it should not operate here. The only difference is that we will have the power to define the terms of these alliances. The revolution in Agricultural Technology in the south is displacing the rural black community into northern-western urban areas. Both Washington, D. C., and Newark, New Jersey have black majorities. One third of Philadelphia's population of two million people is already black. The inner city in most major urban areas is already predominately black, and with the white rush to suburbia blacks will in the next two decades, control the heart of our great cities. These areas can become either concentration camps with a bitter population whose only power is the power to destroy, or organized powerful communities, able to make constructive contributions to the total society. Without the power, the black power, to control our lives in our communities without effective political institutions through which to relate to the total society our communities will exist in a constant state of insurrection. This is a choice that white America will have to make. Thank you.

[redacted] Seattle, stated that she is a housewife and attended a speech given by STOKELY CARMICHAEL at Garfield High School, Seattle, on the evening of April 19, 1967. She stated that she left the meeting about 20 minutes before the end of CARMICHAEL's main speech as she was worried about getting out of a traffic jam. She now recalled that during the speech STOKELY CARMICHAEL made a statement such as "If somebody gives me a gun, I know who I would shoot". He had been referring to war in Vietnam and had stated that Negroes should not be shooting other persons of colored skin, in Vietnam, when they had a greater problem at home. Other than this remark, [redacted] could not recall any particular controversial remark made by CARMICHAEL. She estimated the audience at approximately 4,000 persons, mostly adults, and those of draft age in the audience about 15%. She also stated that the audience was approximately 30% Negro, and she did not hear any "chanting" to answers or remarks made by CARMICHAEL. She said that the closest military establishment to Garfield High School is approximately ten miles away. She did not see anyone in military uniform at this meeting.

[redacted] at Seattle Public School System, Seattle, Washington, stated that he made a tape recording of a speech made by STOKELY CARMICHAEL at Garfield High School, 400 - 23rd Avenue, Seattle, on the evening of April 19, 1967. He is maintaining the master copy or original tape of this speech as a matter of evidence. He said that he would be willing and available for testimony regarding this tape. [redacted] estimated the audience at more than 4,000 persons, and of this number, there were approximately 60 per cent Negroes, and no more than 15 per cent young men of draft age. He said he did not see a military uniform in the audience and does not know how many persons of the audience are in military service. He said the audience response was very warm, but he did not hear any "chanting" in response to remarks made by CARMICHAEL. He said that the nearest military base is approximately ten miles away and there is no ROTC program at Garfield High School. He added that a question and answer period was held at Garfield High School following the main address, and he does not recall any statements made by CARMICHAEL which would be construed as counseling or obstructing military recruiting or service.

[redacted] stated that CARMICHAEL delivered his speech on "Black Power and Negro Rights" in normal tone of voice and did not become overly excited. He spoke to all persons within sound of his voice and did not appear to use a text but may have referred to notes although they were not noticeable. CARMICHAEL was the main speaker of the evening.

April 10, 1967, Seattle, Washington

Good Evening, It's good to be here.

You know what usually happens is that in the newspapers they call us racists and anti-whites and say we hate white folk and all that irrelevant nonsense, and they do that because they use white people as the measuring stick. But I want you to look clear before you and you notice that in all their beautiful liberal press media, there isn't one black man. So when the honkeys talk tomorrow about violence and anti-white and hating white people, tell them they ought to have a black man reporting it because they don't understand because we are talking to black folk anyhow.

Tonight we want to do several things. We want to talk about some of the basic assumptions from which the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) moves and then move into an area of pragmatics and what in fact black people will have to do if we are going to survive in this country and live as human beings. The first thing we want to talk about is the theory of self condemnation, and we want to move on and talk about denying one one's freedom as opposed to giving one one's freedom and we want to talk about the importance of definition and the need for black people to define themselves as they see fit in this society and to have those definitions recognized by our press's white society. And we want to talk about violence because it is going to be important, because I don't know why everybody is so scared about it and they are going to draft you all and send you all to Vietnam, I guess you are going to go over there and make love to the Vietnamese. Then we want to talk about the lies that this country has told about black people to make us ashamed of ourselves and want to move on and talk about developing a concept of people which we desperately need in this country today and we want to instill among our people, particularly among the young in our generation, the will to fight back when messed over by anybody.

We want to talk about self condemnation. Self condemnation is impossible. No body can condemn themselves or no people can condemn themselves. If they do they have to punish themselves. If I did something wrong and I admitted that I did it wrong then I have to punish myself, but if I can keep that in line so I can rationalize away my guilt then I never feel guilty. Let me give you some examples:

The Nazis who were brought to trial after Hitler was, after the Hitler regime was brought down, they said, the ones who allowed themselves to live, they said that they killed Jews but the Jews weren't human beings, they were inferior so they didn't really commit a crime or they said they didn't know what was going on in Germany at the time that Hitler was killing all the Jews or they say what most white Americans are saying today we were just following law and order. If they said they rationalized away their guilt they just served their sentences and waited until they got out. But now the ones who admitted that they killed human beings had to commit suicide. You've got to understand that. For us in this country a clear example of that would be in Neshoba County in Philadelphia, Mississippi. A honkey by the name of Rainey (sp) decides with 18 other honkeys to kill three people. Now the entire county of Neshoba cannot indict Rainey because they elected him to do just what he was doing, to kill anybody who troubled with the status quo. If they indicted him then all of them would be guilty and they can't do that, they cannot admit that they are guilty and in SNCC we say that white America, the total community, cannot condemn herself for the acts of brutality and beastiality that she has heaped upon us as a race, black people, It's impossible for her to do it. She must rationalize away her guilt. She must blame us or blame everybody else but herself because if she were to blame herself, she would have to commit suicide. MY brother LEROY JONES reminds me that wouldn't be a bad idea.

Now we want to move from there into the concept of denying one one's freedom, and this is very, very important because white people have assumed that they are gods, that they can give somebody their freedom, and so if they don't like the way you act they won't give you your freedom. But now what you have to get crystal clear in your minds is that no-body gives anybody their freedom, people can only deny somebody their freedom. This is very important. We are all born free. We are enslaved by the institutions of racism that white America produces. Our job is to stop America from being racist, not to give us our freedom, so in reality our fight is to civilize white America. Now then if you take that to its logical conclusion you would say that any civil rights bill that was passed in this country would have eased the struggle for black people but it helped civilized white America. Let me give you an example:

I'm black, I know that I'm black. I know that I am a human being and I know that with that comes certain dignities that all human beings have. One of those is that I am able to enter a public place.. But now there are some dumb hunkeys who don't know that so that every time I try to enter a store the hunkey gets in my way, shoots at me, bombs my church, kills my children or beats me up because he doesn't know that I'm a human being so the white folk in Washington, D. C., got to write a Civil Rights Bill to tell this hunkey, -when I come, get out of my way. So that what they have done is they have civilized this hunkey because I'm the same man I was, I still go into the store. The only trouble is that he is not forced to recognize my humanity. That is very important. It is the same thing that is true about the voting rights act. We're black, we know we should be able to vote, but everytime we try to vote some hunkey stops us, so they got to pass a civil rights bill to stop them from denying us our rights. They don't give us anything. You've got to get that clear in your mind.

Now then we want to talk about definitions because they are very, very important. You see White Western Society and you should use the word Western Society never Western Civilization, because they don't know nothing about it. White Western Society has been able to define everybody and they just define them and put them in places, and when they define, they can't get out those definitions and people just stay there. Let me give you some examples so you can understand better:

You watch the red man and the white man on TV fighting each other. If the red man is winning then the white man calls for the calvery and here come the calvery, and they are riding very white and very proper, and when they get up to where the battle is they all get out their guns and they systematically shoot all the red men, you know, kill them dead. They get back on their horses and they ride back to the fort, and at the fort there is a white woman standing there, and she says, "What happened?", and there is always this Lieutenant who says, "We had a victory, we killed all the Indians". This is very good. Now the next time when the reverse happens, when the red man beats the hell out of the white man and there is one of them left dragging on the horse and she says, "What happened?" "Those dirty Indians, they massacred us." There was a feeling in there that a massacre is not as good as a victory. A victory is much better. She say 34 red people who all there lives are going to fight and they are never going to have a victory. Here is Sittin Bull, the greatest strategist you have in the world, he has won all these wars, but he ain't never going to win a victory, he's always going to win a massacre. And a massacre is dirty. You've got to understand that in your mind. You see that on television all the time, even today about the Vietnam war. Do you ever hear, "Those dirty, filthy, rotten, Communist, rebels, they threw a Molotov cocktail and killed civilians"? And then the other guy comes back and says, "In the mean time our good GI boys have been bombing the hell out of North Vietnam." Or even better would be a group of students at Nashville decide to take care of some hunkey cops because they are picking on them, and its Fish Students Riot and in Fort Lauderdale hunkeys go and throw bottles and beers at policemen, they are going to say College Students go on a spree. So the white people have been defining us all our lives and we have been forced to react to those definitions and see they call us negroes, so I guess you all came from negro land. You have allowed white people to name you. When we were in Puerto Rico a couple of months ago we were speaking in spanish, I looked through the dictionary to find a word for negro in Puerto Rican. There is no such word. The closest word is negro, it means black. In french there is no word for negro. In german there is no word for negro. In Swahili there is no word for negro. You wouldn't want me to leave out Swahili, it's what's happening. So that they have defined that, and with the word negro comes dumb, stupid, apathetic, love water melon, and got good rhythm. But now they do something even more insidious with definitions. Let me give you an example, so then we can get into black power and the definitions of black power.

Now you remember, especially from my generation when this whole thing broke out with integration, and we used to sit glued to the TV set, you know and our black leader would get up and say "We want to integrate" and in our minds we knew the cat was talking about good schools, good houses, good jobs, and a good way of life. That was in the minds of all black people, but some dumb hunkeys going to jump up and say "You want to marry my daughter, don't you?" And then instead of our black leaders being aggressive and saying later for you hunkey, at that time they would react to the hunkey, see they would let him define their own term, integration and he would say "Uh Uh we don't want to be your brother, we want to be your brother". And they just go to sweaten and puffin and "we don't want to sleep in your bedroom, we just want to live next door to you!" An so they were doing what ever the hunkey who defined their term, and they were reacting to his definition. They don't pull that junk with us in SNCC because we tell them right out when they come with that nonsense about marrying their daughter, your daughter, your sister, your mama, we tell them. We tell them crystal clear the white woman is not the queen of the world she's not the virgin Mary, she can be made like any other woman. Let's move over to something important, so that we will not be caught in a bind about reaction to their definitions and the same thing happens. We say black power, and some hunkey going to jump up and say "Oh you mean violence" and he wants us to say "Oh no boss man, we don't mean violence". Later for the hunkey, it's our term, we know what it means. Later for them. Black power is the coming together of black people to fight for their liberation by any means necessary. Now we want to talk about violence. Because I understand that some of your so called negro leaders have been saying that we violence. I won't deny it, yea I'm violent, somebody touch me I'll break their arm. But the problem isn't one of violence sec, the problem is one of hitting back white people when they hit you, that's the real problem, because we've never done that all of our lives. They have been able to walk over us, bomb our churches, beat us up, shoot into our houses, lynch us, and do everything they wanted to do and we would just sit there and whisper about it behind closed door. It's a new day today. But what really upsets me is these people who talk about violence and not concerned about black people because there is more violence in our neighborhood on Friday and Saturday night then there is anyplace else. We cut and we shoot each other more than we touch anybody in the world and don't nobody talk out against that violence. And the reason they don't do it is because they don't give a damn about us, they are only concerned about white folks. If they were against violence they would be preaching non violence in the black community because that's where we need it most. We need it there. We need it to learn to love and respect each other and stop cutting and shooting each other but they don't care about us. The only time you hear these preachers talk about non violence is when a hunkie hits you and you're getting ready to take care of business. Then you see them on television. The only rule they have is to condemn their own people or we don't believe in violence those vagabonds throwing rocks and bottles, oh yes, we believe in the war in Vietnam, we think our boys should go over there and shoot, but we don't believe in violence at all, what is that junk. They're going to put you in a uniform and send you 8,000 miles to shoot a man who ain't never called you a nigger, get out of here. And you get cats like Lyndon Bains Johnson get up on TV and say "Ma fellow Americans every night before I go to sleep, I ask myself what have I done to preserve peace for this country". And here he is talking about preserving peace and dropping bombs all over Hanoi, bomb, bomb, bomb, bomb, bomb. And then he get up before national TV and he says violence never accomplishes anything. Well if the hunkey believes that then tell him to use non violence in Vietnam. What they are saying is violence is OK against everybody except the white man, that's what they are saying, and you ought not to get fooled by it, you ought to understand that in the world there exists, especially in this country, a victim and executioner relationship. We are the victims and white people are the executioners, and they have kept us down by force and by violence and that if we're violent, it's just that we have learned well from our teachers. They have bombed our churches, they have shot us in the streets, they have lynched us, they have cattle prodded us, they have thrown lye over us, they have dragged our children out in the night, we have been the recipients of violence for 400 years. We have just learned well how to use it today. Don't you ever condemn people for using violence, and those black Preachers get up, you tell them to get the guts to condemn white folks for the violence they heap on us. If they can't do that, if they can't condemn the white folks, tell them to keep their mouth shut. So don't you get caught up in no discussion about violence, we're just making it crystal clear to the hunkey today that if you try to shoot us, we're going to kill them, so God get the noose. Now if he doesn't want to get shot, tell them to stay home because they leave their beds and their wives at 3:00 in the morning and come to our community and going to work out their frustrations by shooting into our community. If they got frustrations, tell them to go see a psychiatrist. So you've got to understand that one in your mind and don't get carried away with that nonsense about riots, you ought to understand, you ought to be proud of your black brothers in Nashville, you ought to be proud, because what happened was on Friday night two hunkey policemen go walk into the middle of the neighborhood, and go startin to beat upon a black brother, and when the others brothers told them they didn't have to, they go and turn on them, but they forgot it's a new day. See they didn't recognize that this generation is saying if you wear a sheet at night or a badge in the day, if you put your filthy white hands on our beautiful black skin we're going to TCB. So you just dismiss that nonsense about violence when they tell you about violence, you tell them yea we dig your non violence in Vietnam. We've dug your non violence in Hiroshima and Nagasaki. You tell them we've dug it, yea. We ain't going to forget the Congo baby, we dig it there too. We dug the tried violence in Cuba, but Castro took care of them. Now we want to talk then pragmatically about how these things affect our lives as black people. What white America has done in order to rationalize away guilt for what she has done to us is that she's told a number of lies about us that she believes. Now that's expected. Hitler said if you tell a lie long enough and hard enough, everybody will think it's the truth and white America has done that. But what is pathetic and what is bad, is that some black people believe those lies about themselves. And so what we have to do tonight is begin to clarify those lies for ourselves: (You all don't mind if I take off my jacket do you?) (Us draw heat you know). Now the first lie that white America told about us is that we are a lazy people. Are

Now the next lie she tells is what she tells our kids in school. If you work hard you will succeed. Now you all know that's a lot of junk. Because if that were true, black people would own this country, lock, stock and barrel. It's not a question of hard working, it is a question of he who has power and he who has control. That's all, that's all it's about, because we are the people who really build this country. We are the domestics, we are the share croppers, we are the fruit pickers, we are the janitors, we are the elevator men, we are the garbage men, we are the hardest working people in the country. If it were true that you have to work hard to succeed, then the contrary of that would be true. That people who didn't work hard would be poor, and Bobby Kennedy would be the poorest Hunkey in this country. So then we must begin to get it crystal clear in our minds, it is simply a question of he who has power and we don't have that, we've got everything else but that and the white man ain't got nothing but that. We got love, we got non violence, we got morality, we got christianity, we got rhythm, we got everything you need, but we ain't got power. The hunkeys don't have love, can't spell non violence, they don't know what religion is all about, you know they ain't got rhythm, but (unintelligible). But they have power, that's what they have, power over our lives, so we got to get it clear the thing we need is power.

The next lie they tell us is this thing about education. You go to school and get a degree, you're going to make it. All of our college students, when they get out of college, with a college degree, make less money than a hunkey with a high school degree. Not only that, the education system that they teach us is riddled with racism, filled with racism. We can't see ourselves projected anywhere, they show us as a stupid people to let us keep thinking we're stupid, they start out with their elementary books about Tom, Dick and Jane. Tom is white, Dick is white, Jane is white, even their dog Spot is white. And the only time we see ourselves is Little Black Sambo on the last page eaten water melon. But not only is it riddled with out right racism it is riddled with subtle racism and the history books just lie, lie. And they have to lie because white people have got to lie because white people have to lie to themselves, they cannot tell the truth about themselves. And what happens is they fill our minds with all those lies and have us accept them as truths. Let me give you an example of one that's very hard but you don't dig it.

If I said to you that MR. Quami Enkruma, (who is a brilliant black man, he is out of sight, he should be your hero, don't let them white folk fool you, he's out of sight). Now if I said to you that Mr. Quam (you wouldn't know about him because he is the leader in Africa, or was until the CIA overthrew him) Now if I said to you that Mr. Quami Enkruma discovered England in 1961, you'd laugh, but if that was the first time that that black man had set foot on England and if we as black people did not recognize the existence of non black people, he would have discovered England. If I said to you that Christopher Columbus discovered America in 1492 you say that's right, if you were my teacher you would give me an A, all right, now dig. Here comes this hunkey from Europe, steps foot on this country, there are red people here but they don't exist so he discovers it. And this has been the history of white society. They have never recognized anybody who is non white, so nothing happens until they come and find you. But now you've got to dig this thing about Columbus real deep because you hate telling you that he discovered America and he was a dumb hunkey, I mean he was stupid, he died thinking he was in India. That's how dumb he was. And because he was stupid he titled the red man Indians and to this day they have the name because some dumb Hunkey thought he was in India. So you've got to understand that. That's how riddled with racism it is that you can't even recognize it. They don't even recognize how racist it is to say that Christopher Columbus discovered America and they never will admit it. They can't, They can't. Not only that if you wrote the rehistory of this country we would say that this country is a nation of thieves. It started off by stealing the country from the red men and committing genocide against him. Not only did it steal the country from the red man, it wasn't satisfied, it turned around and it stole us from Africa. You've got to understand that this country has been a nation of thieves, and is moving to become a nation of murders in Vietnam and we've got to stop this. Because we have to save our humanity. Let white America do as she will, but as black people we will save our humanity. This is very, very important. They start our kids off with the Roman Empire, with the Greek Empire, they never teach you about Africa, they make you ashamed of Africa. You ask kids, where are you from, I'm from Seattle, where is your grandmother from, from Kansas, and where is your great grandmother from, from Texas, and where your great great grandmother from mmmmmmmmmmm. SHE IS FROM AFRICA!!!!!! But you don't know anything about Africa because you have let white people define Africans as savages. You let them define them for you and you don't want to be a savage. You want to be white. You want to be so white that you don't want to be part of your brothers in Africa, you want to be so white that you'll go to the movies to watch Tarzan. You want to be so white that you sit up on that movie seat and yell for Tarzan to beat up your black brother, that's how white you want to be. You should recognize what they are doing to you. Here you are jumping up there, identifying with a white man, when he is dumb, he is dumb, he can't even speak, all he says is (Tarzan's war hoop). And your over there identifying with this white man because what they're telling you is here comes a hunkey from Europe, and because he's so smart and so intelligent and we're black and stupid he comes over to Africa and he knows the jungle better than us and we've been living there all of our lives. And when ever we get into trouble with the elephants we got to go to the great white father to talk to the elephants for us. Ain't that (something). What you have to recognize is what they have done is brain washed us. When you see Tarzan on TV you yell for your black brothers to come together and beat the hell out of that white man. But see that has been calculated by white America, that we will never find out about ourselves, because a people without its roots or people without its history is like a tree without its roots and we've been floating for 400 years. Digustin. They didn't tell you that the first University in the world was the University of Timbuktu in Africa did they? They couldn't tell you that because you would begin to identify with Africa and feel proud with other black people. They tell you about the Roman Empire conquering the world. Did they tell you that Hannibal, a black man caught the (something) and beat the living day lights out of the Romans. That's right, Hannibal did it. And when they get ready to put Hannibal in the movies they put a hunkey like Victor Mateur playing Hannibal. Because they don't want you to know that Hannibal was black, but I'm here to tell you that he was a full black man. And clear up the alps and went into Italy and smashed the Romans, you ever see those Italian hunkeys running around here with dark complexion and brown eyes. Hannibal did that. The next time some Italian hunkey call you a nigger, tell him get away from my face, I'm your daddy. But they can't afford to tell you about the things that black people did because you would identify with them. They tell you about Napoleon Bonapart, did they tell you the little black man who was a slave named Tousad, in Haiti beat him up and sent him back to France crying like a baby. They leave that out of your history books because they want you to be ashamed and when Napoleon got back to France his wife was Pregnant for a Pygmy. And when Napoleon looked at his wife he asked her what happens when the baby was born black, she said the little man was staring at me, and he said he must have had an awful penetrating stare, my dear. But they won't give you that in the history books, they give you white heroes to identify with, they mesmerize our minds, they give you George Washington, he's supposed to be a hero, here is a man who had you enslaved, sold a black woman for a barrel of molasses, and he's supposed to be my hero? Later for him. They can't tell you about Ned Turners and the Denmark Bessies can they. They can't tell you about them because they were fighters who beat up all kinds of white folk who were trying to make them slaves, that's why they won't tell because they want you to keep on being slaves, they want to define your very actions, it ain't going to happen today. All of those things in the schools are calculated to make us ashamed of ourselves. The most insidious things they could have done to us is to make us believe as a people that we are ugly. The criteria for beauty in this society is set by white folk, in the books you read, in the television programs you see, the movies, the magazines, the newspaper. If she is beautiful she's got thin nose, thin lips, skinny hair and white skin, and that's beauty. And they have made you believe that beauty so much that our women run around here bathing in (something) from morning til night. They have got us believing that so that our young men go out and "conk" their hair so they can have straight hair to look beautiful. I hope you can take the truth, because they have mesmerized our women's minds so that they process their hair every Friday night. And the rest of them get their $50.00 and buy wigs. We have to as a people, gather strength to stand up on our feet and say our noses are broad, our lips are thick, our hair is nappy, we are black and beautiful. So that we don't have to be any longer ashamed of our selves and make our children think that they are ashamed so our parents won't tell us don't drink coffee because it makes you black. Bite in your lips because it's too thick. And I was surprised when I was at college to find a young man who wore a nose clip on his nose every night, but that's how they have messed up our minds. They have messed it up so much that every time you get ready to pick somebody who is beautiful, you'd pick somebody who is light, bright and damned near white. And our mother's keep telling us when you marry somebody make sure there hair is straight because I want to be (blank). That's how much they have messed up our minds, we are ashamed of ourselves and of our color of our skin. If you want to start a fight, call somebody black. YOU ARE BLACK AND BEAUTIFUL, STOP BEING ASHAMED OF WHAT YOU ARE!!!! - 218 -

Once we stop being ashamed, we can move on because we can then begin to develop a concept of people hood. Are we so ashamed of each other, yea I'm going to (something), we'll stand here and here she come, she going to stand next to us. We're so Clanish won't go stand anywhere else, we always got to be together. We're so ashamed, we don't even want to see each other in a group. We are so ashamed of ourselves that we walk down the street and see a hunkey cop beating up one of us and know the hunkey cop is beating him up because he's black and keep walking right on by. We are so ashamed of ourselves that we watch our brothers and sisters get put out of their houses, put their furnitures on the street and we wait till night time to go and steal what we want.

We are so ashamed of ourselves that we're raping, plundering and murdering each other. That's how much ashamed we are. We have to build a concept of people hood where we recognize that we are all the same people, the same brothers and sisters so that we can move to the strength to tell them when you touch one of us you got to touch all of us. And when we can begin to move to that position, ain't none of them going to mess with any of us. But the reason is they know that they can come into our communities, beat us up, take our women, and we won't do nothing because we don't even want to associate with them. You better wake up, the rest of your brothers and sisters are coming together, they're not letting them come in there and pick on one anymore. That's what we've got to do. If they touch one they got to touch all. That is the only way we are going to survive as a people. You've got to understand that. Now I'm going to point out something to the older folk who get upset about this thing called law and order. They say well the trouble with that nigger and SNCC is they're going around there and they're stirring up trouble and breaking law and order and they talk so bad and so menn. Let me tell you. All the harsh words that we say in SNCC, we can never begin to match the treatment that white America has heaped upon us and continues to heap upon us. We can call them hunkeys until they turn red, we ain't even begun to match what they have done to us, so don't you get disturbed about the words. It's about time somebody spoke up. But you see our older folk talk about law and order because they don't recognize that you can have law and order and have injustice. This country has law and order, it don't have justice for black people. This land has the most efficient system of law and order, he couldn't spell justice. So what we are saying to them is that you may have law and order, but if you ain't got justice you ain't going to have no law and order. We tell them like Jesus Christ told them, I've come to bring the sword not the shield. I have come to turn son against father, mother against daughter, nation against nation, for where there is injustice there shall be no peace. And wherever the hunkeys are heaping injustices upon us in every city, we are going to tear it up. If they want peace in their country, they had better learn how to administer justice, if they don't know how we will teach them how. So you just explain to them law and order without justice ain't nothing but facism. Understand that, because we have to understand that these folks ain't playing with us. You see a lot of folk out there thinking they're playing. You remember Noah, he told the place, come on, everybody better get in this ark, you all come on and build this ark, the man's going to rain on you all for forty days and forty nights. UnUn we ain't going, the man's good to us, he ain't going to rain on, un un, I know the man, I worked for him all my life. He give me his old clothes, he's good to me. Noah went on and built the ark, and he rained on them for forty days and forty nights. And don't you all forget Moses, he told all them Uncle Toms you all better come on and leave this Pharo. Un Un this Pharo's good to me, Un Un he's good to me, yes sir, he pat me on the head, I could speak to him any time I wanted to speak to him. I go through his back door and have tea and cookies with him. And Moses said you all better come on with me through this Red Sea, because this Pharo is a mean man. Un Un, you're just a trouble maker, Pharo, You're just a trouble maker Moses, Pharo ain't done nothing to us, and Moses just went on through the Red Sea, he left them behind. When we walk on through today, we're leaving a whole lot of Uncle Toms behind. We have to begin to instill in our young people the right and the will to fight back. We don't have it. Did you ever see our young kids, ask them what there name is, mumble mumble mumble. What's your name? Mumble, mumble, mumble. You shouldn't laugh, it's very serious. You ask a white boy what his name is. MY NAME IS RICHARD!! We are so ashamed of ourselves that kids won't even hold their heads up high. They learn to bow down before white folks by the time they are nine years old and out there those people call themselves Christians. Did they forget the first commandment. Thou shalt have no other Gods before me. - 221 -

They have taught us to bow down before white folk as if they were god and white people believe they are god. And that has been the fault of black folk because we let them believe they were God, we let them play god, but they don't understand when we tell them that play period is over and they better come on home. They think that everybody was put on this earth to benefit them and they use us against each other. Now I want to say two things before I sit down, I want to develop this concept to fight back and then I want to talk about Vietnam.

Now see, the only people that our children can identify with in school, in a school like this, is George Washington Carver and Booker T. Washington. Booker T. Washington was a super Tom and George Washington Carver was an ignorant Super Tom. Now the reason they teach our kids about Booker T. Washington was because he used his mouth to do two things. Eat and to say yea sir. And they want our kids to do the same thing, but I guess the reason they teach us about George Washington Carver, is because if white folk didn't have him they would eat Jelly Sandwiches for the rest of their lives. He was so stupid that every peanut butter factory in this country today is owned by white folk and he invented over one hundred uses for the peanut, and white folk got it all. He was so nice to them, did you see him? He used to go around and teach them, how to use the peanut and wouldn't come to his own people because we were too dumb and stupid and weren't cultured enough. Before I name our heroes for you I want to talk about this thing called culture. Cause the hunkeys are still the finest today. Did you ever hear them?

They are culturally deprived children. Are you up to that, and here you send you kids to school and they write in a paper "The cultural depovation of the black race!" Ain't that some junk? They say that we are culturally deprived. You all better let them in because they are going to charge me with inciting a riot. They wouldn't let us have the gymnasium and they are going to charge us with inciting to riot. Now let me tell you. Don't you ever let anybody say you are culturally deprived. Because what white folk are talking about is that they don't recognize our culture until they legitimatize it. Here they were teaching you in schools way down upon the Swannee River and My Old Kentucky Home was written by Stephen Foster. Ain't that some junk. They're going to tell you some hunkey wrote music like that about us and for us. He stole it, that's all he did. How could he know how to write it. The trouble is that they steal our music from us and then give it back and call it culture. Here come the Beatles singing our music they can't even harmonize and they are going to talk about (unintelligible). Here they come taking our kids to school talking about Music Appreciation. They teach them Bach, Grigaldi, Ragmonakov and all those others. And they say now lets bring it down to Modern Music and they play Gerschwin and they say and now we want to talk about Jazz. Kids here's the man who has led Jazz in America more than any other man. Benny Goodman. Brothers and Sisters. Do you know that Benny Goodman cannot carry the empty trumpet case of Miles Davis. They say we are culturally deprived. Culture is anything man made. If they say we are culturally deprived, they are denying our very existence. Don't let them do this to you. We've got culture, we've got Dr. W. E. B. DuBois. We've got County Coolin, we've got Loby Jones, we've got Mahalia Jackson we've got (unintelligible). We've got the Stable Singers, we've got the mighty clouds of joy, we've got James Brown, we've got (unintelligible). And to put the icing on the cake we've got Rev. C. L. Franklin and his soulful daughter, Aretha Franklin. Sock it to me, Sock it to me, etc... The problem is that our culture is not legitimized. They have made us ashamed of it. Forget it. They have never had any culture, they have always stolen ours. That's a fact. The blues ain't theirs. Common be serious. We might let them get away with Bach, Beethoven was black, they won't even tell you that in school. He was a Spanish Moor, black as you and I. But they don't tell us that. It's calculated. It's calculated. We need for our kids, when they go to our school, to learn a number of things. They need to learn about Africa. It should be included in their curriculum. We don't want them teaching our kids German, they should teach them Swahili. You should learn Swahili so you can talk to your African brothers and the white man won't know what you are talking about. We need to know who our heroes are. Our books must have Frederick Douglas, they must have Denmark Bessie, they must have Nat Turner, they must have Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, they must have Richard Wright, they must have J. A. Rodgers they must have Lerone Bennett, they must have County Collon, they must have Lane Lock, they must have Leroy George, and when you get the Judge, tell them you want to know about Malcom X. But you don't know anything about Malcom X, what do you know except what the hunkeys tell you. He preached hatred, he hated white folks, and white folk, right in the paper, they put black people on the last page on a special sheet, call you niggers and describe you every time you rape somebody and they got the nerve to tell you that one of your own hates white folk. And you believe them. You ought to get your copy of Malcom X Speaks or the Autobiography of Malcom X and read it yourself. And then when you read it you will stand up when you hear his name called. But you ought to know that. The history is that white people never let any black man who is speaking for you speak to you they always castrate, they always lynch him, they always kill him or today they kick him out of congress. You ought to know that anything they are against you should automatically be for. That's how come we knew black power was so good, we said the word and the whole white world came out against it, and we said that's it, we got it, black power. Now finally, about the war in Vietnam. Oh before we do that black people also have to learn how to support their movement. They give money to religion but we don't give money to our movements. So we will pass the collection plate during this and you should give some money to support what you believe in. You can't have nobody else pay for the Music they are going to call the tune. If you want to call the tune you've got to pay for the Music. Oh yes, somebody reminded me to use Paul Robson, I apologize for leaving him out, a great black man. MARCUS GARVEY, got to do it, got to do it. We know all the rest, we don't want to talk about the Senators from Massachusetts. Bomb Hanoi. We have more bombs in Hanoi. Look how white we are. Don't call me a negro, call me a man first. Have you ever heard somebody Jewish.

get up and say change my name, don't call me Goldberg, call me Smith because they're ashamed of their name, they're ashamed of their heritage. Have you ever heard a black man get up and say don't call me black, I'm a man. For me American first. That's what we want to talk about. American First. Because that has been the dilemma of the black man in this country. We have always tried to be Americans first and black people all the way down the end, and that's why we're catching hell, the way we are catching it today. You ask anybody in this country what they are and they say Polish American, Jewish American, etc. Hey what are you little boy? American Negro. Wants to be American first because he is so ashamed of himself. The very first man to die for the war of independence in this country was a black man named Christus Addis. The very first man. He was a fool. He died for white folk country while the rest of us black brothers were enslaved in this country. He should have been fighting white folk instead of dying for white folk but that has been the history of black people. We've always been dying for white folk. In the American Revolutionary War, they wouldn't let us fight because we were black and stupid and ignorant. Oh but we wanted to be Americans, brothers and sister, we wanted to be American so bad that we got out in our bare feet and tramped up and down the Eastern Shores of this country, training with wooden rifles, begging white folk to let us fight, and finally they came and they said good you can fight. And they had us fight, and we went out and fought the Indians in the war for independence like fools we should have teamed up with the Indians. But that was alright, we fought and we won the war.

Our blood was shed and they gave us a purple heart and patted us on the head and said that's a good nigger. The rest of our brothers was still in slavery, but we were fighting because we were good Americans. We wanted to prove to America how good we was to her. The Mexican - American War came and they were yelling about remember the Alamo. They never told you the Alamo was on Mexican territory but that's ok we went out there and we begged to fight. Here we were again fighting non white people, dying for the white man. The war wasn't even over and we were still in slavery. Then came the civil war. Our great white father, Abraham Lincoln was supposed to free us. Started the war in 1861 and didn't sign the Emancipation Proclamation of 1863 because the south was beating the living day lights out of the north and wouldn't even let us fight in the Civil War. He said we wern't fitting to fight. And Frederick Douglas, a great black man had to go to him and urge him to let us fight. And when the south was still winning he let us fight, but in segregated units. Said Mr. Lincoln, we wern't fitting to fight next to white men. Oh but we wanted to prove to America how good we were so we went out and fought in the Civil War. Then came World War I and they were drafting white people and they wouldn't draft us and we were ashamed. Oh draft us we cried. Please draft us. The NAACP begged them to draft us. Our forfathers ran to the draft table, we are good Americans, let us fight and they sent us over to Europe to make the world safe for democracy and we couldn't even spell the word democracy. That was in World War I. We didn't even come back. We didn't have a chance to take our uniforms off after World War I when they hung an entire platoon in Texas with our uniforms on our backs. Oh but we wern't, Oh not

us. We got to prove what good Americans we are so here come World War II and we're going to fight we are going to prove how good we are. Let us fight on the front lines. Let us stop this war. We must fight, we are good Americans, let us take Pork Chop Hill.. Let us fight in Poland to stop Hitler and our fathers gave their lives in Poland to stop Hitler from running over the Poles and in 1966 a Polish hunkey in Cicero will throw a rock at us and tell us get out of this neighborhood. Oh, but not us, we were good Americans, we were going to fight. And you ought to read MR. Langston Youths, Will Fight for Freedom, the History of the NAACP. He tells you in Texas there was a prison camp and black Americans soldiers who were going to Europe to fight for this country were bringing home Nazi Prisoners and they put them on a train in New York and when they get to Washington, D. C., the white Nazi who were enemies of this country sat in the front of the train and the niggers had to sit in the back. Oh but we wanted to prove what good Americans we are. May I remind you that in World War II we fought in segregated units. Oh but that wasn't enough, we wanted to be good Americans, so Mr. A. Philip Randolph in 1947 and 1948 mounts a campaign to integrate the troops and Truman get white enough and he integrates the troops and here comes our chance Korea, at last our chance to fight with our white brothers. Oh we must stop Communism at any price was the cry and it was our blood that paid the price. It was our blood that stopped Communism at any price. And our uncles came back to this country with one leg and one arm, only to walk into a store and have some foreigner slam the door in his face and say get out my store, nigger. But we wanted to prove what good Americans we were in the Vietnamese war, let America prove something to us. We will not fight in their war. How could you let them destroy your humanity. How could you let them put you in a uniform and go fight people who have never done anything to you. How could you? When are we going to get the strength to tell this country we will not let her destroy us. You see that hunkey MacNamara on television. He ain't nothing but racist standing up there talking about Yes we're going to draft 30% of the negros in the Army. This is where they can have equal opportunities. Yes, Yes it's true that they're only 10% of the population but this is a better chance for them. When that Hunkey talk about drafting about drafting 30% of black people he is talking about Black Urban Removal. Nothing else. You have got to understand that that war on Vietnam is calculated to get rid of us. 35% of the people who die in Vietnam are us, by their figures. So you know what the true figures really are. You are to stand up like the greatest, the prettiest Muhammad Ali, and you are to tell them we are not going to fight your war. You get up on your feet and tell them that war is for the birds. Lynden Bird, Lady Bird and Lucy Bird. You tell them we are no longer going to kill people just because a hunkey says kill. You tell them when we decide to kill we will decide who we are going to kill. You have to recognize what they are doing. Dr. Martin Luther King was a great leader of his people until he came out against the war in Vietnam. Then all of a sudden he's not fitting to lead us anymore because the hunkey still think they are picking our leaders for us today. You stand back behind Dr. Martin Luther King, 100%

behind him. And you tell them that on the question of Vietnam he is nice to them on how we really feel about it. So you tell them they better be happy with Dr. King. Because when some of us get going we know who we are going to kill. So you tell them they better be happy Dr. King is as nice as he is about that war in Vietnam. OUR BLOOD HAS BEEN SPILLED INSIDE OUT FOR THIS COUNTRY, AND ALL WE GOT TO SHOW FOR IT IS SOME HUNKEY CALLING US NIGGER, RAT AND WRECHED AND SLUM, ALL OVER THE MOST POWERFUL COUNTRY IN THE WORLD!!! OUR GUTS AND BLOOD HAVE BEEN SPILLED FOR THIS COUNTRY AND WE GO TO THE WORST SCHOOLS CAN PRODUCE. We who have spilled our guts and blood for this country. Our Guts and our blood have been spilled for this country. It's time we spill them for our people. Thank You.

[redacted] Cincinnati, Ohio, was interviewed at the Cincinnati Police Department. He advised that he has been a member of the Cincinnati Police Department for 17 years and has been a plainclothes officer for approximately 14 years.

On Saturday, April 29, 1967, at 8:00 PM, he was assigned as a plainclothes officer to duty at the Carmel Presbyterian Church, Reading Road, Cincinnati, Ohio, where STOKELY CARMICHAEL was to make a speech. With regard to his activities, he furnished the following information:

From the time he arrived at the area of the church, he spent most of his time in the crowd surrounding the church on the outside. He did not enter the church until approximately 30 minutes before STOKELY CARMICHAEL ended the speech, and therefore heard only about the last 30 minutes of CARMICHAEL's speech.

He estimated the crowd inside the church to be composed of about 90% Negro and 10% white. He stated he could not estimate the number of people present, however, the church was "packed" with many people standing. He stated that he did not see anyone in the crowd that he recognized as being a student or whom he knew to be of draft age, however, he did see many people in the crowd who would be of a proper age to be a student or subject to military draft.

During the portion of the speech that he heard, the audience was very receptive to the remarks made by CARMICHAEL. His remarks received good response by applause and there were no interruptions to CARMICHAEL's speech. He stated that he does not recall hearing CARMICHAEL make any statement such as "Hell no we won't go." He does not recall any inflammatory statements and since he made no written report to his department, he is unable to refresh his recollection on the remarks made by CARMICHAEL.

He stated that he would be willing to testify regarding things he saw and heard at this meeting. He stated he does not believe he would be of much benefit as a witness because at the moment he does not recall many of the statements made and only recalls generalities concerning the text of the speech. He stated that he does not agree with the remarks he heard made by STOKELY CARMICHAEL at this speech.

He stated he saw no person at this meeting whom he knew to be a member of the military service. He saw no military uniforms at this meeting and did not see anyone whom he knows to be in the military service.

There was no question and answer period held at the church following the talk by CARMICHAEL. He stated that as soon as the speech was over, people stood around in small groups for a very short time and soon left the area. He did not note any groups which appeared to be in discussion at the speech and he has no knowledge of any groups of people who may have formed at other places following this speech. He stated his concern was more toward observing possible trouble spots and he did not enter into conversation with any of those present wherein he might have obtained a greater audience reaction to the speech.

[redacted] Cincinnati, Ohio, Police Department, residing at [redacted] Cincinnati, furnished the following information to SA [redacted] who identified himself to [redacted] as a Special Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation:

On April 29, 1967, he was assigned by the Police Department to attend the speech of STOKELY CARMICHAEL at the Carmel Presbyterian Church on Reading Road, Cincinnati. He said he sat in the second row center of the church in front of the speaker's platform. Elsewhere in the audience and also assigned from the Police Department were [redacted]. He related that CARMICHAEL spoke from about 8:00 PM until 10:00 PM.

The audience was composed of about 1250 persons with about 1100 being Negroes and the balance being White persons. In the audience were several hundred young persons who appeared to be of draft age but whose identities he did not know.

The audience appeared to be completely in favor of CARMICHAEL's comments, which was evidenced by applause. He recalled that CARMICHAEL's slogan of "Hell no, we won't go," was cheered mainly by the young persons present.

He is willing to testify about what he heard and saw at this meeting.

He did not see any persons in the uniform of the United States Armed Forces there, nor did he recognize anyone in attendance in civilian clothes who is a member of the Armed Forces.

CARMICHAEL did not have any question and answer period after the speech and [redacted] did not notice any gatherings for discussion after the speech at the site or elsewhere.

[redacted] Cincinnati, Ohio, furnished the following information to SAs [redacted] and [redacted] who identified themselves to [redacted] as Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, U.S. Department of Justice:

During the past two years he has been so employed at Cincinnati, Ohio.

On April 29, 1967, he attended the Carmel Presbyterian Church on Reading Road, Cincinnati, Ohio, where STOKELY CARMICHAEL was scheduled to give a talk. [redacted] was alone, having no one else with him.

He knew of no text being furnished by CARMICHAEL of the speech to any of the news media, and he, himself, received none.

He volunteered that he had made a tape recording of CARMICHAEL's speech, which runs about one hour and 45 minutes. He recorded this speech on an Ampex Tape Recorder, Model 601, which uses one-half inch tape, and was recorded at seven and one-half feet per second. He recorded two one-half hour reels on this machine, and the balance of the speech on a third reel, which was a Norelco Cartridge type machine. He then brought the tapes to [redacted] where he retained them in his own file cabinet. On the tapes, in his own handwriting, he wrote "CARMICHAEL's Speech" on Reel 1 and Reel 2. He did not mark the third reel, the Norelco Cartridge. Several weeks ago he gave the three reels of tape to [redacted] of [redacted] who is now [redacted] Tampa, Florida. He does not know what [redacted] did with these tapes, but he believes [redacted] may have given them to the Cincinnati Police Department. The three tapes he made contain all of the talk by CARMICHAEL, and may also contain the introduction of CARMICHAEL by someone else. Also, he stated that the tapes were never returned to him, and are not at [redacted]

He was sitting in the choir box behind the speaker and facing the audience, having run his lines to the tape recorder from the speaker's platform back to the choir box and his recorder. He said there were several other microphones on the speaker's platform, but none were identified as to the owner or operator; while his microphone was identified by the letters, [redacted] He has no knowledge of who may have made other recordings of CARMICHAEL's speech.

He said the audience was composed of about ten per cent white and about ninety per cent Negro, and the entire church was "packed." He would not venture a guess as to how many persons were there. He does not know of any person present who is a student or of draft age; however, quite a few were of the age group who could be students or of draft age.

He stated CARMICHAEL's entire speech was applauded, and none of his remarks received any unfavorable response. There were no interruptions by the audience, and almost all of his remarks were received with applause. He said he recalled that CARMICHAEL made the statement, "Hell no, we won't go," which received loud applause. He does not recall any other specific statements of a "slogan type" nature.

He knows of no one else who could testify to the text and wording of CARMICHAEL's speech, because he recognized only one other person present at the speech, who was [redacted] [redacted] He stated he saw faces he had seen other places, but he could not furnish names of these individuals because he does not know their names.

He cannot state if there were or were not members of the Armed Forces present. He did not see anyone present in a military uniform.

There was no question and answer period at the church after the speech. He does not know if there was any discussion by parts of the audience after the speech, there or elsewhere, because he immediately left the scene and returned his equipment to the radio station.

Police Department, Waukegan, Illinois, advised as follows:

He was assigned with other policemen to duty at the Little Theater auditorium at the East Campus of Waukegan Township High School on May 14, 1967, when STOKELY CARMICHAEL spoke at the local "Ode to the Negro" program. His position was to the right of the stage by the east door. He recalled that when CARMICHAEL first began to speak, he made some remark to [redacted] who was on duty on the west door of the hall, but made no comment to him, although both officers are Negro.

CARMICHAEL made most of the usual statements that one sees in the press, but, in his opinion, he did not move anyone.

He recalled that CARMICHAEL advised the Negroes not to enter military service, and there were people there of draft age, but he does not know of anyone who did not enter the service when called. There was little reaction to his comments. The people there were mostly just interested in seeing him and they are the more educated people who would not be led by CARMICHAEL and thought he was "blowing off his mouth." [redacted] remembered the two sailors in uniform being present but knew nothing as to their source or their reaction.

He noted there was no question and answer period and that the audience left rather quietly and quickly after the program, although a number of women followed CARMICHAEL into the parking lot where he entered a car and was driven away.

[redacted] Waukegan, and who was interviewed at his residence, furnished the following information:

About two weeks prior to May 14, 1967, he learned that STOKELY CARMICHAEL was to give a speech at the Waukegan Township High School at the Little Theater of Waukegan Township High School. He decided that he would cover the speech as a newsman and he called a woman, who may have been [redacted] a representative of the Whittier School Mothers' Club in Waukegan, and asked her if he would be able to tape record CARMICHAEL's speech. She assured him that he would be able to do so. He was contacted by either [redacted] or [redacted] Waukegan Police Department, and was asked if he would supply the Police Department with a copy of his recording of the speech. He agreed that he would furnish the Police Department with a copy of this recording. On May 14, 1967, he arrived at the Little Theater at the East Campus of Waukegan Township High School at about 3:00 PM as he understood the speech was to commence at about 4:30 PM. He took his recording equipment onto the stage of this theater and set up his equipment. He patched into the loud speaker system. There was a small combo playing music for a considerable period of time while he was setting up his equipment and after he had been there about two hours he left from behind the stage and went to the hallway to smoke a cigarette. At about this time CARMICHAEL emerged from a nearby room at the end of the hall and he was surrounded by six Negro males, some of whom were carrying walkie-talkies.

He then started to walk up the steps to return to his recording equipment when one of the men who was with CARMICHAEL confronted him and asked where he was going. [redacted] replied that he was going up on the stage where he had recording equipment set up. This man said "no you're not". [redacted] then identified himself as a newsman from the local radio station and said that he had set up his recording equipment about two hours prior to this and that he had obtained permission from the woman in charge of this event to tape record CARMICHAEL's speech. This man then said "nobody is taping Stokely's speech". [] again said that he had secured permission to record this speech and the man replied "I don't care". This man was very firm and definite when he talked to [] [] then asked if he could listen to the speech and the man answered "well I guess so". He asked if he could stand by his equipment back stage and the man indicated that it would all right. By this time CARMICHAEL and the remainder of his entourage were standing on the stage and the man who had been talking to [] said to STOKELY and the others in the group "watch this man". [] then walked over to where he had set up his equipment on a small table off to the side of the stage. The man who had been talking to [] then walked over to this table and said that he was not to turn on his tape recorder. One other man accompanying CARMICHAEL, who [] described as a bodyguard, then walked over to [] and said "don't turn that thing on". [] said "don't worry, I've been told". One of the other bodyguards who was carrying a walkie-talkie then walked behind the back-drop, in back of the podium where CARMICHAEL was to talk, and he watched the audience through a peep hole in this back-drop. Two other of the bodyguards also walked over to where [] had stationed himself next to his recording equipment and both told him that he was not to use this recorder and then told him to remove the tape from the recorder which [] did.

A man whom [] could not identify by name but who he said was a radio personality from Chicago then introduced CARMICHAEL and CARMICHAEL began his speech.

[] estimated that there were no more than 250 people in the audience when CARMICHAEL commenced his speech. He observed several young children of grammar school age accompanying adults in the audience, but he was unable to recall whether or not there were any young men of draft age in the audience.

He estimated that about 99% of the audience were Negroes.

Throughout the speech the response from the audience was enthusiastic and he never heard any jeers during the speech.

At one point during his speech and while CARMICHAEL was either talking about the Viet Nam war or about Selective Service, CARMICHAEL stated "Hell no, we won't go". This statement received a great deal of applause and cheers, such as "yea, yeh, right".

CG 157-1297

[] made notes during his speech but was unable at this time to locate these notes. He had written down certain quotations made by CARMICHAEL during the speech, but was unable now to quote these statements exactly.

He saw no one in the audience garbed in military apparel and he saw no one in the audience whom he recognized as a member of the Armed Forces.

He remained back stage in the auditorium after the speech ended and knows that there was no question and answer period after CARMICHAEL's speech.

He was one of the last to leave this auditorium with members of the Waukegan Police Department and he did not see any group of people standing in the audience talking nor was there any group outside the building in the parking lot.

[] stated that in his opinion the overall effect of CARMICHAEL's speech was an "act of treason" and he cited these reasons for his statement:

CARMICHAEL said that "we" helped build this country and "we" can burn it down. CARMICHAEL encouraged Negroes not to answer a draft call and that Negroes would not fight in Viet Nam. He further said that Negroes do not have to respect white man's religion or laws and indicated that the Negro could disregard the white man's laws.

On the occasion of STOKELY CARMICHAEL's speech "Ode to the Negro" program at the Little Theater auditorium at the East Campus of the Waukegan Township High School May 14, 1967, he was in charge of the police details in the area of the auditorium, both inside and out, whose job it was to maintain the peace and to protect CARMICHAEL.

CARMICHAEL arrived quite late and he and about 16 people immediately went into a room off the Little Theater where no police officers or reporters were admitted. In his speech he made several points, which were not recalled exactly, but the gist of these points were as follows:

Our sweat built this country and if we are not going to get some of the fruits, there will be no country at all.

If a policeman stops a colored person and there are other colored people around they should not let the policeman take him in. HANNIBAL was a Negro, but the white people will not teach the history of the Negro and will not put it in history books.

He tore into Mayor ROBERT SABONJIAN, saying that he was no different than Southern segregationists.

Where colored people are being treated unjustly in different towns, he advised the audience to either tear it down or turn it around.

He in general advised all not to comply with any orders to go to Viet Nam and he was critical of the Government's participation there but his specific words are not recalled.

The crowd dispersed quietly. They had reacted most enthusiastically to CARMICHAEL's criticism of Mayor SABONJIAN and to his criticism of policemen.

He then spoke on the theme "Ode to the Negro" and commented about the culture of the Negro. He said that while the white man claims the best music, BEETHOVEN was a Negro. HANNIBAL was a Negro who crossed the Alps on an elephant and went into Rome, then the "heart of the enemy's city." CARMICHAEL said this is why Italians are darker skinned people and "they are ours." He said in New York an Italian policeman pushed him and he replied "Don't push me cause you are mine."

He said that JESUS CHRIST was a Negro and went on to outline accomplishments of the Negro. He then spoke of policemen and said as far as policemen go they would take care of honky BULL CONNOR, Governor WALLACE, and would also get that "honky mayor of yours," [redacted] said the latter had reference to ROBERT SABONJIAN, mayor of Waukegan, who was criticized by the Negroes after the August, 1966, racial disturbance in Waukegan.

He added "If any cop tries to arrest me I'm going to try the best I know how to kill him!"

CARMICHAEL then devoted some time to the discussion of black vs. white and said that it is time the white people realize that this country was built on black sweat and blood and if we don't get what we want we will burn these cities down.

The white woman is no longer queen and she can be made just like all the rest. He said, "When I look in that mirror I say I am beautiful. When I look at whites I say that they are ugly and the darker I get the more beautiful I am." Further, "I'm a man and my daddy didn't go tom catting around and didn't raise me to be other than a man." He admonished the audience to arm themselves and said that "we have guns just like they have." He spoke of some meetings he had attended in Alabama and spoke of the "equalizer bag" spreading his hands as though to indicate a sack, which would contain guns of rifle or shotgun barrel lengths. He admonished the crowd that "When you see your black brothers 'handled' it is your duty to fight!" This was also in reference to police.

He spoke of Viet Nam and of the American Government sending troops there. He said Viet Nam "is for the birds," LYNDIA BIRD, LADY BIRD, and those birds. He said that anyone that goes to Viet Nam is a murderer and more than fifty per cent of the casualties are Negro.

With respect to military service, he said "And I am going to tell you what I am going to do and I want you to do the same. When they send me my papers, I will write on there 'go to hell, I ain't going' and send it back to them."

He concluded by speaking of his personal life, saying that he had been able to attend college and had not come from a poor family. His mother was proud of him, he said, the first time he was thrown in jail.

With respect to audience reaction to the speech, they were particularly enthusiastic, both white and black, with respect to his comment about Mayor SAROJIAN and with respect to his assertion that his Negro rights will be observed. The audience was quieter in answer to his admonitions to burn towns down and they did not respond greatly to his statements about Viet Nam and the military. He did get a standing ovation when he left.

[redacted] added he knew of no gatherings after this speech, that people seemed to move away quickly, and there were no incidents that night, except that he knew that CARMICHAEL and a few others had gone to the home of [redacted] for something to eat.

He pointed out that there were two uniformed members of the United States Navy seated in the second row on the left, whom he remembered particularly as having insignia of United States Naval hospital corpsmen and that he did not think they were local residents but that they must have come from the hospital corps school at the United States Naval Hospital at neighboring United States Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Illinois.

[redacted] exhibited a photograph of the audience taken by [redacted] which he said encompasses most of the audience in the Little Theater, and pointed out the two sailors therein.

Waukegan, Illinois, advised as follows:

He was assigned with one of the officers to maintain the peace in the Little Theater auditorium at the East Campus of the Waukegan Township High School on May 14, 1967, where STOKELY CARMICHAEL spoke on the occasion of a program "Ode to the Negro." He recalled the following:

At first there was a talent show and then CARMICHAEL came on stage. His first remark was directed toward him, [redacted] and he said "You look like an Alabama state trooper," and this made him, CARMICHAEL, nervous. This comment was found amusing by the audience, who all turned towards him.

CARMICHAEL then talked about Negro history. He then slandered certain races, for example using the term "honky" instead of saying "white man."

With regard to policemen, he advised the audience that if one should touch him he should break his arm.

About military service and Viet Nam, he used a slogan something like "We Won't Go," and was generally critical of the spending of money in Viet Nam.

He talked of starving children in Mississippi and hit on subjects which would arouse the sympathy of the audience.

[redacted] said he found the reaction of the audience to be largely one of curiosity rather than of support. So far as military service is concerned, he knows of no one who is not serving if called or ordered as a consequence of CARMICHAEL's speech and he thought that the Waukegan people were not in sympathy with CARMICHAEL's strong comments.

He is a patrolman in the Detective Bureau of the [redacted] and on May 14, 1967, he was on a detail at the Little Theater of the East Campus of Waukegan Township High School. On this date STOKELY CARMICHAEL made a speech at this theater and he, [redacted] was stationed at the front of the auditorium near an exit at the southeast corner of the auditorium. He observed about 15 male Negroes who were working in the parking lot at this school and who were used as ushers inside the auditorium, and these ushers and parking lot attendants all wore buttons on their lapels which bore the words "black power." He recognized two of these youths, [redacted] both of whom are about 23 years of age.

He knew of no transcript or recording that was made of STOKELY CARMICHAEL's speech.

He observed about 30 young men in the age group of 18 to 25 in the audience and noted that there were three white youths in this age group who were seated near his station inside the Little Theater.

He estimated that there were about 250 people seated in the audience, of which about 99 per cent were Negro. The only white persons he recognized were Mr. and Mrs. [redacted]. He estimated that there were no more than ten white persons in the audience.

He heard no boos or jeers during CARMICHAEL's speech and on the other hand the audience cheered loudly during CARMICHAEL's speech and as the speech progressed the cheering became more enthusiastic.

At one point during the speech CARMICHAEL made the statement "Hell no we won't go," and loud cheers and foot stomping greeted this statement. At the same time CARMICHAEL stated that when a black person receives his draft notice he should write on the back "Hell no I won't go" and CARMICHAEL said to then mail this notice back.

He took no notes during this speech and cannot testify as to the text and wording of CARMICHAEL's speech. However, he recalled that CARMICHAEL said that if a white policeman tries to arrest a black person the policeman will have to arrest all black people.

He saw no one in the audience who was wearing the uniform of any branch of the military service and he saw no one in the audience who he recognized as being a member of any branch of the military service.

There was no question and answer period after the speech as CARMICHAEL and his entourage departed immediately after he concluded his speech. He departed from the auditorium at this time as his instructions were to accompany CARMICHAEL wherever he went until he left Waukegan. When CARMICHAEL departed from this auditorium he left the parking lot in a new yellow Mercury with about five other Negro males and this car took CARMICHAEL to the home of [redacted] at the corner of [redacted] in Waukegan, where CARMICHAEL stayed for about one-half hour.

He saw no group or groups of members of the audience discussing the speech in the auditorium nor did he see any groups in the parking lot after the speech discussing the speech, but he observed in the front yard of the [redacted] several small groups talking. He did not know what they were discussing. When CARMICHAEL left the [redacted] home he and five other men got in one car and five or six men got in a second car and these two cars then departed from Waukegan.

There was no particular trouble and no demonstration.

It had been understood prior to the meeting that [redacted] of [redacted] was going to tape CARMICHAEL's speech and make available the tape to the police department. It was not learned by [redacted] until the meeting was entirely finished that [redacted] had been prevented from taping CARMICHAEL's speech. Therefore, there is no known recording or transcript of CARMICHAEL's speech. Also, because he had anticipated that the speech would be entirely recorded, [redacted] kept only minimum notes of quotations from CARMICHAEL's one hour and fifteen minute extemporaneous talk.

The audience, which numbered between 250 and 270, was 95 per cent colored. There were not too many Negroes in the age group under 25 years; most of them were middle-aged Negroes, with the majority of them recognized as the type of individuals who had never caused any law enforcement problem. Among the young Negroes present were two sailors, in what appeared to be hospital corpsmen's uniforms. They came early, made no contact with anyone else, and appeared to be completely apart from the remainder of the audience. Most of the audience response to CARMICHAEL's speech was led by two or three middle-aged women, identities unknown to [] who sat in the front row and chanted "amen" in approval of various remarks by CARMICHAEL. Also, the group of "black power" advocates who accompanied CARMICHAEL to the theater and who scattered themselves about the rear of the audience, gave loud verbal approval to CARMICHAEL's remarks. The biggest response came to CARMICHAEL's remarks deriding the people down South, such as ex-Governor GEORGE WALLACE, JIM CLARK, and other political figures involved with the civil rights movement. CARMICHAEL made liberal use of the word "hunky" in referring to such people, and drew considerable applause when he referred to the local Waukegan mayor, ROBERT SABONJIAN, as a "hunky" mayor. b7C

Upon learning after the program that no recording of CARMICHAEL's speech had been made, [] jotted down, as near as he could remember, several remarks made by CARMICHAEL, which he, [] considered to be most inflammatory. He verified that among these remarks, which he recalled and which he had noted down immediately subsequent to CARMICHAEL's speech, were the following thoughts, not necessarily verbatim: b7C

If a white policeman is arresting one of your Negro brothers out on the street, it is your duty to help prevent the arrest.

If they take one of us, make them take us all.

Next time one of those policemen puts his white hands on my beautiful black body, I'm going to do everything in my power to kill him.

If you have to burn cities to the ground to get equality, then they must be burned.

Black power is a coming together of black people to fight for their liberation by any means possible.

During most of the meeting, which was delayed more than an hour by CARMICHAEL's tardiness, he took up a position at the edge of the stage on the East side of the auditorium, where he was in a position to photograph both the audience and the speaker. After CARMICHAEL arrived with his entourage, and proceeded to a rear room for what [redacted] thought was a press conference, he attempted to go into the room to take a picture of CARMICHAEL. He was firmly told to stay out of the room, by some of CARMICHAEL's immediate associates.

While he was busy maneuvering for position, and therefore did not hear all that was said, he had a definite recollection that CARMICHAEL made a "volatile" speech, containing several "wild statements". As an example of the latter, [redacted] recalled a remark by CARMICHAEL that if "any police lay their hands on my pretty black skin, I'm going to kill him."

On August 5, 1967, [redacted] [redacted] Elgin, Illinois, made available a copy of a report he prepared dated May 31, 1967, concerning a speech by STOKELY CARMICHAEL on May 14, 1967, in Waukegan, Illinois, for the Whittier Mother Club which he attended. The report states as follows:

"The WHITTIER MOTHERS CLUB AND WAUKEGAN AREA FRIENDS OF SNICK (Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee) sponsored an ODE TO THE NEGRO program on May 14, 1967, and had as their guest speaker STOKELY CARMICHAEL.

"CARMICHAEL spent over an hour telling an audience of some 250 people, 4/5's negro, why they must band together under the BLACK POWER banner and thereby deal from a position of power.

"He told his enthusiastic listeners that when the draft board sends their sons an induction notice that they should return it with the following notation: 'Go to Hell!' He called the Viet Cong his yellow skinned brothers and said that the American negro, who he wants called AFRO*AMERICANS, should join with the VC and fight the white man.

"CARMICHAEL said that the white man is afraid that we want to marry his daughters. He followed this up by saying that a white mother, daughter or sister should not be put on a pedestal saying that "they are as easy to make" as anyone else.

"'If a white hunkie (Carmichael's name for any policeman) puts his hands on this beautiful black skin of mine, I'm going to do my best to kill him!' The crowd roared after this pronouncement. 'If you see a hunkie beating a poor colored man and you don't join in helping the colored man, you're a discredit to your race,' said Stokely. 'If a colored man throws a brick, you had better get behind him and help because when the police come, if you're colored, they are going to grab you anyway.' Another roar from the audience greeted this harangue. Up on their feet clapping.

"He then told how the white people mislead the colored man. To illustrate his point he told how the small negro children are told to 'root' for Tarzan, when actually they should be pulling for the poor natives that Tarzan is waylaying. He said Tarzan talks to the animals of the jungle after living there only a short time. 'Who is he kidding,' said CARMICHAEL, 'our people have been there for years---they are the ones who should be talking to the animals.'

"This bit about the indians always losing the fights also bothered him. He said that when the white man wins it is a well deserved victory, but when the indian wins it is a terrible 'massacre.'

" 'If we are supposed to be the lazy people then how come the white people came over to Africa and brought us back to America to do their work for them?' He said his people should: 'Agitate, agitate, agitate.' According to CARMICHAEL, his friend DICK GREGORY, negro comedian and unsuccessful mayoral candidate for mayor of Chicago said: 'There is a black agitator in every washing machine because this gets things clean.' The crowd roared.

"His friends---the ones at Waukegan looked like the 'dead end kids', usually line the rear of the hall where he is speaking. They stand there and watch the crowd. Behind the stage curtains you could see eyes peering out into the audience looking for any possible threat of harm for what commentator LOU HOUSE calls--'my hero.'

"CARMICHAEL is well educated, very likeable, and a very forceful speaker. He made reference to Mayor Sabonjian and the Waukegan problem indicating a successful solution to this matter. Non-violence is the SNICK slogan but CARMICHAEL kept talking about violence. 'If violence is so bad,' said Carmichael, 'then how come LBJ keeps bombing North Vietnam?'

According to him, the white man keeps double talking and double dealing the black man. 'There is no doubt that he has a tremendous appeal to the colored people and that he has a way of identifying with them so that the richest and the poorest feel that he is talking directly to them as individuals. Whether they unite and respond to his appeal only the future will tell.'

He attended church that morning and met [redacted] [redacted] commented STOKELY CARMICHAEL was appearing at the Waukegan High School that afternoon and asked if they would be interested in attending. All three agreed to go and consequently he picked up [redacted] that afternoon in time to arrive at the meeting at about 4:00 PM.

They took a tape recorder along intending to record the meeting, however, when they went to purchase the tickets, they were advised they would not be allowed to tape the meeting. At the door they were again advised they would not be allowed to tape the meeting and subsequently they were checked during the meeting to insure they were not making a recording. He personally did not take any notes, but [redacted] did take notes of portions of CARMICHAEL's speech. The only other person he recognized at the meeting was a reporter from a local radio station in Waukegan by the name of [redacted]

When they entered the auditorium, they were ushered to the front row as were all the other white people, a total of about 200 people, mostly from the news media. There were about 200 persons in attendance when they arrived, and he would estimate the group eventually numbered about 300, but the auditorium was not filled. Other than the 20 whites, the remainder of those in attendance were Negroes and most from their late teens to early 30's in age. He did not see anyone in military uniform and the group was a well dressed group with none of the "beat-nik" type in attendance. The master of ceremony was a Negro from Chicago named LOUIS HOUSE, as he recalled, and they presented basically a musical program while waiting for STOKELY CARMICHAEL to appear as the main speaker.

At about 5:00 PM, STOKELY CARMICHAEL appeared and went to the stage with about five other Negro males, who gave the appearance of being his guards. One of the five had what appeared to be a short-wave radio. Also at this time a group of Negroes apparently coming with CARMICHAEL from another meeting he had held that afternoon in Chicago entered and sat to the rear of the auditorium.

HOUSE gave a glowing introduction of CARMICHAEL saying CARMICHAEL was many years younger than he, but CARMICHAEL is a hero to HOUSE's son and a hero to HOUSE. CARMICHAEL then began his speech which was a well presented and polished speech and which was serious with a proper amount of humor injected at the appropriate time. His main theme was unity among the Negro people, and he said "If a black boy throws a brick through a window, you automatically are on his side". He also tried to explain "black power" and stated that they should not let anyone trip them up with words and semantics. He said "Don't be afraid of violence, we're a violent people. The trouble is we have been cutting and shooting each other". He chastised them for using their money for wigs and hair straighteners, saying JESUS made mention of having hair like a lamb's wool.

CARMICHAEL made reference to several white individuals by calling them "hunkies". He made reference to the Mayor of Waukegan, not in name, but said if the colored people were organized they would not have this "hunkie" mayor doing the things he is doing, but not specifically saying what these things were. He also used the word "hunkie" by saying "If a 'hunkie' lays his filthy white hands on my beautiful black skin, I'm going to do my best to kill him". He referred to the Negroes' enemies as the white cops.

CARMICHAEL also expressed opposition to the Viet Nam war. He claimed the United States was the oppressor and not only in Viet Nam, but they are the oppressor against the black people. He said "Why go fight the brown people there when our black people here are being oppressed".

CARMICHAEL said when a black man receives his draft notice he should write across the front of it "Hell, no, I won't go" and return the notice to the draft board.

[] stated the speech was very racist in nature and the crowd as a group were ahead of CARMICHAEL and at times would shout out "We're ready". Also when CARMICHAEL would make some of his statements a group in the back of the auditorium, believed by [] to be the group that arrived with STOKELY CARMICHAEL, would loudly stomp their feet and shout. [] was quite concerned; and they left as CARMICHAEL was receiving an ovation so they would be out of the area before the remainder of the group emerged from the auditorium.

From the meeting the three of them proceeded to [] home where they discussed some of the statements made by STOKELY CARMICHAEL. They also discussed the fact they could have made a recording if they had thought of it before hand by contacting a janitor [] knew at the school and hooking into the loud speaker system. They also discussed the number in attendance figuring there was a Negro population in the Waukegan area of about 8 to 12,000 and he only drew a crowd of less than 300, which was not a capacity crowd. They felt the low attendance was because the officials of Waukegan decided to disregard the speech and did not publicize the speech at all. [] also heard, strictly rumor and he does not know the source, the general colored population in Waukegan had agreed to ignore the meeting.

[] advised he would be willing to testify to any of the above should this matter be brought before a court of law.

Carmichael Sounds Black Power Theme

"Black Power" in the person of Stokely Carmichael rolled into Waukegan Sunday and rolled out again — without incident.

Carmichael came here at the behest of the Whittier School Mothers to speak as part of a pageant-type program entitled "Ode to the Negro."

Speaking before about 250 persons in the 723-seat Little Theater at East Campus, Carmichael told the group attending:

"Black power is the coming together of black people to fight for their liberation by any means possible."

The program was supposed to start at 4 p.m. and an instrumental group, Marvin Smith & Friends, entertained until well after 5 p.m. because many of the groups in the program failed to show up.

Carmichael rolled in shortly after 5 p.m. with an entourage of about 30 persons, all appropriately wearing "Black Power" badges and dressed in various types of clothing.

He was immediately closeted in a rear room of the auditorium with his group.

When he began speaking, however, the followers entered the auditorium and spread themselves throughout the rear seats, in various sections of the room.

The reason soon became apparent, because as he spoke foot stomping and catcalling began.

He advocated that any colored boy receiving a summons to Vietnam — should not go.

"Just sign it and say 'I'm not going,'" he said, "and send it back."

"War is for the birds — Lynda Bird, Lady Bird. . ."

The former president of Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee told the group that most whites in America today don't want justice.

"The whites can give you nothing. All they can do is to stop denying us our freedom. The key to black power is saying get out of my way, because I have that right."

Carmichael lumped Mayor Robert Sabonjian in a class with southern white racists and said Waukegan was no better than any other town.

"Where there are injustices," he said, "we are going to turn these cities upside down."

"And if the whites don't want to get hurt, they can keep their filthy white hands off of our beautiful black skins."

Carmichael called the United States a "nation of thieves."

"They stole you from Africa. They stole this land from the Indians and then they killed them off," he said.

"Our sweat built this country," he said, "and our sweat keeps it going. If we can't share in the fruits then there isn't going to be a country."

"We must unite for our very

Stokely Carmichael

survival. And we must tell the white man to move on over, or we're going to move on over you."

Mrs. William Conner, president of the sponsoring group, said that Carmichael was "as much as I expected," but she didn't care to comment on the subjects discussed by Carmichael in his talk.

She said the adverse publicity in the past few days had a bad effect on the attendance at the function.

When Carmichael had finished speaking he was whisked away in an auto, closely followed by four Waukegan police detectives, serving as an escort out of town.

Although there were many police officers scattered throughout the area, no incidents occurred.

Mrs. Conner squelched a rumor that Carmichael's visit was paid for by his Black Power supporters in the area, even though they did man the doors.

"His fee wasn't really a fee but a contribution to the movement," she said. "I cannot tell you how much was paid but it came from the sale of tickets."

Dave Davis, news director of Radio Station WKRS was told in no uncertain terms that he couldn't tape the speech by a group of Carmichael followers.

Davis had been set up behind the curtain and had permission to tape the show from Mrs. Conner.

She said later, however, that Carmichael had the last word on the taping and that word was No.

She also said that members of the John Birch Society, were in the audience with a tape recorder and that group was not allowed to run a tape either.

The audience, of about 250 persons, was over 95% Negro, with five to ten white persons. It was [] estimate that less than 10% were under the age of 25. About 20% were between 25 and 35 years of age, but the majority were what [] would term the "middle-class" Negro, about 40 years of age. He was unaware of any military personnel there. The ushers were about 20 young men, between the ages of 26 and 30, from the local area, whose identities [] did not know.

Speaking without notes or script, CARMICHAEL at times used the "pigeon English" of the "southern Negro" as contrasted to his use of the terms and tone of a college professor, in order to make his point, often a sarcastic reference to the white man.

The audience response to CARMICHAEL's remarks was led by the group or entourage which accompanied CARMICHAEL, and who spread themselves two or three to a section among the audience. They sported "Black Power" badges, both the red and black variety and the blue badge, and led the feet-stomping and cat-calling at such time as CARMICHAEL would make a derisive remark. Although [] considered some of CARMICHAEL's remarks, as quoted in his story, as being inflammatory in nature, it was his thought that CARMICHAEL would not have received much audience reaction had it not been for his "cheer-leaders" in the audience. Their clapping and hollering was, to some extent, contagious.

There was a question and answer period after the speech, but [] recalled that only a very few questions were asked. Also, there was to have been a press conference after the speech, but none was held. [] knew of no discussions by groups of the audience after the speech, either at the high school or away from it.

After reviewing his own news article on the speech, [] stated in conclusion that he could recall only two other things that CARMICHAEL said. One was a reference, humorous to [] to Hannibal and Jesus Christ as both having been colored. The other was a reference of ridicule to a colored policeman in the doorway. In connection with the latter, CARMICHAEL sarcastically remarked that for a minute, he "thought I was in Selma, Alabama".

STOKELY CARMICHAEL on May 14, 1967, at Waukegan Township High School, Waukegan, Illinois.

[redacted] made detailed notes of CARMICHAEL's speech which he believed are in his personal files at home. These notes were used to prepare two articles. The first article was a straight factual story of the speech and the second was a comparison of CARMICHAEL's principle comments and a response by a wounded Navy Viet Nam veteran. He will have to refer to his notes to determine the dates these articles appeared in the "Chicago Tribune" newspaper.

The audience was composed of approximately 310 people, 90 to 95% Negro, about half 20 to 30 years of age, well dressed and well behaved people. No uniformed military personnel were seen in the audience, although a fair percentage of the audience appeared to be of draft age. There were about 10 to 15 white people in the audience including newspaper people. He did not know anyone in the audience.

LOU HOUSE, Master of Ceremonies, began a music-comedy program about an hour before CARMICHAEL arrived. The audience remained relaxed and seemed to enjoy it, although the tempo of the music was such that after a while it grated and became unpleasant. CARMICHAEL arrived after an hour of this introduction with an entourage of 20 to 30 Negroes, sullen, sportily and some slovenly dressed. He joined LOU HOUSE on the stage and did a quick "soft shoe" dance, made a few comments, then retired to a back room with the majority of his entourage.

An hour later CARMICHAEL appeared on stage. His entourage took up positions behind the audience and several to the back of the stage. Several carried handy talkie radios.

CARMICHAEL began his speech by making a dramatic gesture toward a uniformed Negro policeman on duty at a front door commenting to the effect that "you know what we call this type of person, he wears the same kind of uniform as the cops in Mississippi." The audience, which had been joking with the colored officer previously, immediately reacted toward CARMICHAEL's comment. The uniformed officer did not reply.

comments: recalled CARMICHAEL making the following

"Turn your backs on this country which has no justice!"

"This is a nation of thieves, which is on the brink of becoming a nation of murderers!"

"If you don't believe it, ask in Viet Nam, Baby!"

"If you are asked to go into the Army, tell them to go to hell!"

"Now is the time to go to war right here!"

"If we can't get our justice, we'll burn this nation's cities to the ground!"

"Violence is not wrong, it's a question of who controls the violence."

"We are learning their (white) ways. For years they have burned our homes and raped our women."

CARMICHAEL referred to whites generally by the term "honky" or "honkies". He referred to LYNDON B. JOHNSON, GEORGE WALLACE, Mayor SABONJIAN and TARZAN by this term.

He commented to the effect that if you see a honky cop about to arrest a Negro, you should gang up on him and not allow him to make the arrest.

Prior to the speech, [] thought a relaxed easy atmosphere prevailed. Five minutes after he began speaking CARMICHAEL appeared to have the crowd's sympathy completely and the tension was noticeable.

It was [] impression that at the end of the speech if CARMICHAEL had desired a violent immediate reaction against white people or a demonstration, the majority of the audience would have followed his counsel.

After the speech [] noticed a small percentage of the audience gather in groups of half a dozen to a dozen and talk. He presumes it was comments about the speech. They appeared impressed with and in agreement with CARMICHAEL.

Because he had to leave early to be home for Mother's Day dinner, he took a seat near the East exit. Some ushers wearing black power badges asked him to move to the center of the auditorium which he declined to do. He was aware that CARMICHAEL had actually arrived, although more than an hour late, but he decided he could not wait any longer and departed the premises before CARMICHAEL took the rostrum.

He was not aware of any military personnel in the audience, which was for the most part a middle-aged group. He recognized, in addition to [redacted] Negro, a local dentist, and [redacted] white, a local dentist.

He could suggest no one who may have made a transcription of CARMICHAEL's speech, or who attended any post-meeting discussion group.

[redacted] advised as follows:

[redacted]

Purely out of curiosity, and because of his interest in contemporary affairs, he on May 14, 1967, attended the speech of STOKELY CARMICHAEL, along with [redacted]

[redacted]

The four of them were ushered into seats of the second or third row on the left-hand side of the theater, and were not allowed to sit in the front row, which was apparently reserved for older people of the sponsoring group, the Whittier School Mothers. The ushers were local young men for the most part, wearing Black Power buttons and [redacted] as surprised to see among the audience a fellow [redacted]

[redacted]

The audience was made up of Negroes for the most part, with several apparent mixed marriage couples, and the audience was a somewhat middle-aged group. It did not appear to [redacted] to be the type of a young crowd with which CARMICHAEL was usually associated. CARMICHAEL was accompanied by twenty five or thirty young men, who were in the twenty to thirty age group. This group spread itself through the audience, particularly in the rear seats, and led the cheering at appropriate times.

[redacted] who made no notes or recording of the speech, expected CARMICHAEL's speech "to be militant, and it certainly was." By this he meant that CARMICHAEL's remarks were generally contrary to popular beliefs, and were presented in a defiant attitude.

CARMICHAEL began by trying to define "Black Power" but then appeared to talk in several unconnected directions, as if trying to give the people what they might want to hear. When he made various remarks about the war in Viet Nam, the audience did not seem to respond too well. Other than that, however, the audience, particularly CARMICHAEL's associates in the back, and a local group seated in the center of the theater, at times stood on their seats and cheered or stomped approval.

At one point, CARMICHAEL admonished the audience that if they got summons to go to Viet Nam to send them back "and tell them you're not going," and intimated that "there is going to be a war right here." CARMICHAEL then went on to tell the audience that the people in the area should get themselves ready for this struggle, because "when one city goes, they'll all go."

[redacted] looked upon this remark as a forewarning of the events of the past summer which have occurred since CARMICHAEL's Waukegan appearance.

[redacted] concluded that he was rather shocked to hear the militant attitude with which CARMICHAEL delivered his speech, but felt that neither he nor his three young associates were in any way influenced by CARMICHAEL's remarks.

[redacted] said he would be willing to testify as to his reactions as to CARMICHAEL's May 14, 1967, speech.

prior to the time that STOKELY CARMICHAEL commenced his speech they determined that the microphone was faulty and therefore were unable to record any part of the speech. He and his two friends were escorted to the front row on the isle in this auditorium when they arrived and after they had each paid $2 admission price. He observed in the audience about 50 young men in the age group of about 18 to 25 years of age. He did not know any of these youths by name and probably would not be able to identify them again.

He estimated that there were about 220 persons in the audience, male and female, and of this group about seven were white.

He heard no boos or jeers during CARMICHAEL's speech and said that the response to the speech was extremely enthusiastic.
At the end of his speech, CARMICHAEL received a standing ovation and immediately, upon the conclusion of the speech, [redacted] and his friends departed through a side door near where they had been

Because of her continuing interest in the social problems of the times, and acting entirely as an individual, she on Sunday, May 14, 1967, attended the meeting at East Campus Little Theater, Waukegan Township High School, to hear STOKLEY CARMICHAEL speak. She was one of a minority of 10 or 15 white persons among the audience of over 200 people, most of them from the middle aged, middle class Negro population.

CARMICHAEL, who spoke extemporaneously, was received with considerable enthusiasm by the audience, and she joined in the cheering after several of his remarks dealing with inequities accorded the Negro by white persons. She felt that he was a talented and a bitter young man, who dared to say things that needed to be said. She recalled a remark he made admonishing the white man to keep his "white hands off my beautiful black skin", but did not feel this remark was in any way inflammatory. She recalled that CARMICHAEL made reference to the draft, to the extent that he said no Negro should be anxious to answer a call to service; however, she did not recall that he in any way counseled his audience or members thereof to refuse to answer a call to service.

and National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Likewise there were very few, if any, beatniks or ghetto type Negroes in the audience.

[redacted] did not keep any notes regarding CARMICHAEL's speech. He recalled CARMICHAEL's main ideas were addressed to the Negro people to be their true selves and not to be imitators of the white race. The Negroes should define for themselves what is true beauty, real values and correct race pride. CARMICHAEL believed that the white people have never really tried to uplift, upgrade or understand the Negro race, but to degrade and use them for their own purposes. In this connection he believed that the white race had abused and raped their women.

CARMICHAEL regarded interracial relations as relatively unimportant to Negroes, although regarded highly by whites. He commented "white women are not queens, not virgins, they can be had by anyone."

CARMICHAEL compared middle class Negroes or "Uncle Toms" to Negroes with true race pride. CARMICHAEL stated that he knew Negroes who made him look like an "Uncle Tom".

CARMICHAEL equated the Viet Nam war situation to the violent nature of the white man. He counseled the Negro race to avoid entanglements in the white man's war and commented at one point "hell no, we aint gonna go".

Concerning race pride, CARMICHAEL counseled the group not to let the white man slap you, if he does to kill him. He commented that Black Power is defined as a coming together of black people to liberate themselves by whatever means is possible.

[redacted] thought the audience reaction was great regarding CARMICHAEL's comments on Negro pride, Negro beauty, interracial relationships and the degrading of the Negro race by the white man. He thought there was very little reaction to CARMICHAEL's comments on the Viet Nam situation.

After the speech [redacted] noticed that the majority of the older Negroes in the audience practically rushed the stage to shake CARMICHAEL's hand and compliment him and agree generally with his ideas. He did not recall if there was a question and

He attended a meeting sponsored by the Washington Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam at the Lincoln Memorial Congregational Temple, 11th and R Streets, N.W., Washington, D. C., on the evening of May 16, 1967. There were at least 300 persons present with the majority being teen-agers or young adults; the audience was composed of about 60% Negroes and 40 % whites.

One of the speakers was STOKELY CARMICHAEL. Among other things, CARMICHAEL spoke about the involvement of the United States in Vietnam and the use of young people from this country in this matter. He advised that in order to resist this, "We" have to give our young brothers around this country the strength to say, "Hell no" to the draft. The impression was gained that CARMICHAEL advocated mobilizing high school students as a sort of draft movement in keeping with his opposition in Vietnam by the United States; that the high school students are to be the next group to be drafted.

CARMICHAEL said words to the effect that in building the resistance to the draft, one must think about the penalty involved, going to jail. He said "we" are going to jail for five years if necessary; that "we" represent 10% of the population and the jails cannot hold that many people.

The audience received CARMICHAEL's statements with enthusiasm and he was very well received. No dissenting statements or sounds were heard from the audience.

J. SPEECH OF STOKELY CARMICHAEL AT JEFFERSON HIGH SCHOOL,
LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA,
MAY 26, 1967

There is no prepared text relating to the speech furnished to school authorities or to members of the press, neither is a recording of this speech available.

There are no informants in the Los Angeles Division sufficiently close to CARMICHAEL who could testify as to his knowledge and intent as it relates to this speech.

AT 100-6812

[redacted] on May 29, 1967, advised that STOKELY CARMICHAEL spoke at a Black Power Conference held at the Jefferson High School, 1319 East 41st Street, Los Angeles, California, on May 26, 1967.

In substance it was reported that CARMICHAEL advised the following:

"It's no time to talk loud and shoot off at the mough. That tactic is used to awake people. The people at this meeting is awake already, and now is the time to talk business. He stated he is the organizer of SNCC, and H. Rap Brown is the chairman of SNCC. He spoke calm and serious. He said we must organize. It is no time to talk reformation, it s time to talk revolution. To organize we must have two organizations: a political organization to carry on the legal structure of the movement in the open and on paper, then the underground guerillas; both organizations working together and with due respect to each other.

"We must control education in our black schools, the P.T.A., the teachers. The Negro schools should be taught languages peculiar to their kind such as Chinese, also the languages spoken in South America and Swahili, and no Frence, German, and Russian etc. We need to be able to communicate with other oppressed nations. We must have a economic program to guarantee us support from the businesses operating in our community in the form of jobs, organizational support_ etc_, demand that 50% of business profits be returned to the community in some of these forms. And if we can't get it. Then boycott, and police the boycott."

[redacted] further advised on August 8, 1967, regarding statements of CARMICHAEL made on May 26, 1967, that CARMICHAEL in his speech stated it was time for revolution and organization. He pointed out two organizations were needed to obtain Negro goals, which were a political organization and an underground guerilla band. Negroes need economic programs to guarantee support from businesses operating in Negro communities in the form of jobs, organizational support, and 50% of business profits. Informant advised that CARMICHAEL criticized the military draft and stated "Negroes must refuse to serve in the military."

Informant advised that the audience at this meeting was composed of all Negroes, 75% of whom were under 32 years of age, many being students of a draft age who gave CARMICHAEL his most enthusiastic response. No persons of white race or members of news media were permitted in this conference as security guards screened all persons entering the conference.

a published report of the National Association of Stenographers of Cuba (in exile). This Association, on a daily basis, monitors broadcasts from Cuba, and thereafter publishes a transcription of the more important news items. The published reports made available by the source contain information from broadcasts from Cuba that were monitored on August 1-2, 1967. The information obtained is as follows:

Radio Havana - Cuba

STOKELY CARMICHAEL read a message over Radio Havana - Cuba which he had written to "CHE" GUEVARA. He said that the Afro-Asians in the United States feel a great admiration for "CHE". "We await with eagerness your writings in order to read them, digest them and to plan our strategy based on them," he said. "We want you to know," he continued, "where-ever you are, you are an inspiration not only to the Negroes in the United States, but to the fights for liberation throughout the world."

ERNESTO "CHE" GUEVARA was the former head of the National Institute of Agrarain Reform (INRA) of the Cuban Government.

CMQ Radio (August 1, 1967)

STOKELY CARMICHAEL's press conference, which could be called "historic" because of the important statements it contained, stressed the decision of the Negro people of the United States to respond with violence to the imperialist policy of the United States Government.

RE: STOKELY CARMICHAEL

CARMICHAEL, as well as his companions, [redacted]

[redacted] both of them also U.S. Negro leaders, answered the many questions put to them by the national and foreign journalists.

In answer to a question asked by a correspondent for the Italian daily, "L'Unita", concerning the beginning of the armed fight by the U.S. Negroes, CARMICHAEL said that the date could be set at about August 18, 1965, when the rebellion began in the Negro district of Watts, in Los Angeles, California. He said that after that date, it became clear to those Negroes who did not believe in violence that the only way was that of arms.

In regard to the fight going on in Vietnam, he said: "We U.S. Negroes will not take up arms to shoot the people of Vietnam; they have done nothing to us, they are our brothers in arms because they are fighting against the same imperialist structure as we are. Our answer to the armed forces in the United States is: we will not go and fight in Vietnam."

At the conference, the Negro leader was asked what importance he attributed to the message of "CHE" GUEVARA, especially to the slogan of creating, one, two, three and more Vietnams. CARMICHAEL answered that "CHE" is considered important because he is not an "armchair revolutionary" but a practical soldier. "We believe that his tactics are extraordinary and a good example is in his document to the Tri-Continental, which materialized in the recent chain reaction of the U.S. Negroes in the United States."

Radio Havana - Cuba (August 2, 1967)

STOKELY CARMICHAEL declared in Havana that the U.S. Negroes are planning guerrilla warfare in the cities because they have no other way to obtain their rights.

CARMICHAEL said that for 400 years, the Negro people of the United States had tried to coexist, without any results, but now, they have no other alternative than to take up arms for their liberation. During his press conference, he gave a brief explanation of the meaning of the fight for Black Power: "It is the union of the Negroes in the United States to fight for their liberation; it is the union of the North American Negro population with the oppressed peoples of the rest of the world; it is the fight against capitalism and imperialism which oppresses us inside and you outside." He said that Major FIDEL CASTRO had been a source of inspiration to the Negroes of the United States for a long time because of his constant fight for the liberation of oppressed peoples.

Concerning his visit to Cuba, CARMICHAEL said that he had a great impression of the country and its people. He said that he had seen an army and for the first time, he did not feel afraid of it.

The source, on August 1, 1967, made available a copy of the July 26, 1967, issue of "El Mundo" which contained an article captioned "More Delegates Arrive For Olas". This article stated that STOKELY CARMICHAEL, well known Negro leader of the United States, and GEORGE WARO of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), are already in Cuba as guests to the Olas conference. Both received a greeting of welcome from Captain OSMANY CIENFUEGOS, President of the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of Cuba. U.S.A
DUBA

The source, on August 3, 1967, made available the July 27, 1967, issue of "El Mundo". This issue carried the complete speech of Premier FIDEL CASTRO, made on July 26, 1967, at Santiago de Cuba, at the ceremony commemorating the 14th anniversary of the attack on the Moncada barracks. In his speech, CASTRO stated that many important guests were present at this commemoration. He referred to STOKELY CARMICHAEL by name and stated the following:

"Also present for the first time at this meeting, or at a meeting of this kind, is one of the most noted leaders for civil rights in the United States, STOKELY CARMICHAEL."

"El Mundo" is a daily afternoon newspaper published in Havana under the control and direction of the Cuban Government.

RE: STOKELY CARMICHAEL

The source, on August 3, 1967, made available the July 28, 1967, issue of "Granma" which contained an article entitled "Carmichael Comments On Fidel's Speech". This article stated that STOKELY CARMICHAEL, described as the well known integrationist fighter from the United States, said that one of the things which impressed him most was "The very clear manner of explaining to the people the problems of the country", and he added that the First Secretary of the Communist Party of Cuba showed once more that he knows thoroughly the problems of the international situation. Referring to FIDEL's (CASTRO) statements about the integrationist fight of the Negro citizens of the United States, CARMICHAEL said that the analysis of the Negro problem in the United States made by the Cuban Prime Minister was very accurate, and it shows that FIDEL has perfect knowledge of the matter. "It is also very correct" specified CARMICHAEL, "that FIDEL understands the fight of the United States Negro citizens as a revolutionary fight which is part of the liberation movement of the peoples of the world."

"Granma" is published daily as the official organ of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of Cuba.

FROM : N. P. Callahan

SUBJECT: The Congressional Record

Pages H10863-H10864. Congressman Kuykendall, (R) - 13/28
Tennessee, spoke concerning certain attitudes assumed by large groups of young people. He stated "News stories carried in the press today report a move by the National Student Association to 'organize and support resistance to the draft' on campuses throughout the country. It is not too difficult to understand why college students are encouraged to take such a position in the face of the decision reached by the Attorney General and the Justice Department that mass defiance of the law is not illegal." He cited a statement by the Justice Department regarding certain activities of Stokely Carmichael. Mr. Kuykendall included an article from the Washington Post entitled "NSA Votes To Organize Resistance To The Draft" written by Richard Blumenthal.

Page H10868. Congresswoman Reid, (R) Illinois, commented on remarks she made before the House on August 8 in connection with the riots and the need for strict enforcement of all laws. She stated "At that same time, I quoted a letter which I had written to the Attorney General of the United States urging that he use his full authority to enforce Federal laws and calling to his

Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee Rally

The Chicago, Illinois, Chapter of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee is circulating a leaflet entitled "Help Get Ray Brown Out of Jail." The leaflet announces that a rally will be held on August 27, 1967, at Chicago to protest Brown's arrest and the arrest of George Washington Ware, National Campus Director of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. Ware was arrested at Nashville, Tennessee, on August 22, 1967, on a state charge of sedition. This charge arose from inflammatory statements which Ware made on August 21, 1967, at a "Liberation School" sponsored by the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee at Nashville, Tennessee. Ware recently accompanied Stokely Carmichael, former leader of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, on a visit to Cuba.

The Attorney General (AG) called at 5:00 p. m., 8/3/67, and stated that Assistant Attorney General Yeagley, Internal Security Division, was desperately trying to obtain speeches, radio and television tapes and news clips of statements made by Stokely Carmichael and H. Rap Brown. The AG added that he would also appreciate any newspapermen being interviewed who happened to be in Havana and who might have overheard statements made by Carmichael during his visit there. He stated that the Department was giving serious consideration to prosecuting Carmichael. He added that AAG Yeagley apparently had not received any information thus far from the FBI.

I told the AG that I thought he was in error concerning his latter statement but I would make a check and be back in touch with him. I did call the AG back within approximately thirty minutes and told him that we had sent and was sending on a daily basis all information received in connection with the above matter. I stated that Yeagley had personally called our Domestic Intelligence Division to ask for the same information and that he was promptly advised that the information had already been sent to him. I told the AG that we had later learned that considerable of this information had apparently been found by the Department in its records processing office rather than properly being forwarded to Yeagley by Department mail handlers.

The AG stated that he certainly hoped we would continue to send such information on a daily basis. He stated that Yeagley would appreciate receiving any information at all which would reflect violent or inflammatory statements on the part of Carmichael or Brown. He mentioned again the possibility of newsmen in Havana who might later be able to serve as witnesses in any forthcoming trial proceedings.

The Director has been advised of the above conversation with the AG.

Boston Speech

The Student Mobilization Committee, Boston, Massachusetts, which was organized to protest the war in Vietnam, sponsored a meeting at Boston University on August 8, 1967. Bill Lee, Cambridge, Massachusetts, a member of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, made the principal speech. Lee said, "We're going to burn the whole country down and we'll burn down the whole of Washington." He claimed the United States is in Vietnam because President Johnson has rubber plantations there. He added, "We're going to pull that Johnson out of the White House and burn him too. The bag lady, Lady Bird, got Johnson his job 20 years ago with her money." Lee claimed the United States is in a state of revolution and that "It's an all-out war."

Harlem Riot

A source has advised a rumor is circulating among representatives of African countries at the United Nations, New York City, to the effect that leaders of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee and other black power groups in the New York City area are embarrassed because they have been unable to initiate a riot in Harlem. These leaders feel they have lost prestige and jeopardized their leadership because riots have occurred in cities throughout the United States but not in Harlem. (S) (u)

US, a black nationalist group, is sponsoring a Freedom Day Rally in Los Angeles, California, on 8/13/67. H. Rap Brown, leader of SNCC, will be the featured speaker.

Brown held an informal press conference at the United Nations Building, New York City, on 8/8/67. He stressed that Negro rights will be obtained by force if they cannot be obtained peacefully.

Stokely Carmichael, who is presently still in Cuba, is suspected of being a Central Intelligence Agency Agent by some members of SNCC in Atlanta, Georgia.

A SNCC member was a speaker at a meeting at Boston University, Boston, Massachusetts, on 8/8/67. STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE

Activities of Stokely Carmichael

Stokely Carmichael, the former National Chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, announced while in Havana, Cuba, recently that he will try to change the name of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee to the Liberation Negro Movement. He was quoted as stating that the new name would give Negroes "a clearer conception that their struggle is not separated from the struggle of exploited peoples in Asia, Africa, and Latin America." Carmichael also stated, "In the United States there is no other way than revolution to end the structure which is so cruelly oppressing the Negro population."

The National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam, the sponsors of which include representatives of the Communist Party, is sponsoring a rally at New York City on August 28 or 29, 1967. A spokesman for the Committee has announced that this rally will feature speeches by H. Rap Brown, Stokely Carmichael, and Floyd McKissick. McKissick is the leader of the Congress of Racial Equality, a militant civil rights group.

We note from your prosecutive summary report dated August 12, 1967 that Carmichael's speech in St. Petersburg, Florida, on April 18, 1967, was delivered on a street corner and was attended by a crowd of approximately 600 people. It would be appreciated if you would determine who sponsored this speech and what publicity was given to it such as handbill flyers, or announcements. In this connection, we note that some students from Florida Presbyterian College attended the speech and we would be particularly interested in ascertaining what publicity was given to the speech on the campus of the university and if there are ROTC units at the college.

We would also appreciate being furnished a physical description of the locale of the speech and any information as to whether or not Carmichael was aware that his speech was being recorded.

airtel 8/23
It is also requested that the officers who accompanied of the St. Petersburg Police Department be interviewed along the lines requested in our memorandum of August 5, 1967. We also note that stated that because of a defective sound system he was of the opinion that only the individuals close to Carmichael could hear the speech. We would appreciate your ascertaining if the other officers are of the same opinion.

It is also requested that you ascertain the sponsorship and the nature of the publicity regarding the speech Carmichael made at Garfield High School in Seattle, Washington, on April 19, 1967.

Honorable J Edgar Hoover:

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I first wish to state that I am a firm supporter of President Johnson's foreign policy - I have 2 sons serving in the Marines - one in Vietnam for 2 years. Secondly, I am grateful for the service you and your organization have rendered to our country.

I am enclosing an article printed in the N. Y. Post. August 18, 1967 - by Drew Pearson.

I think that such facts as Mr. Carmichael's resignation from SNCC and his demands for high fees to lecture certainly indicates that his motives are not altruistic. I think consideration should be given to publicize these facts. Such intelligence would tend to destroy his rapport with his followers who probably regard him in the light of a potential martyr. This might be more effective than prosecuting him - A procedure which would provoke a great deal of sympathy.

This is a suggestion. Sometimes, an effective procedure is overlooked. I hope it can help.

Yours truly

The board of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, meeting secretly in Atlanta, has voted to reprimand its former chief, Stokely Carmichael.

The FBI has learned from reliable sources that he may be heading for Hanoi and Peking. Then he may seek sanctuary in France instead of returning to face the music in the U.S.

The SNCC board, whose members have no aversion to fiery oratory, decided Carmichael had gone too far in calling for guerrilla warfare to overthrow the U.S. government. His incendiary speeches in Havana have alienated SNCC backers who are militant about black power but unwilling to support revolution. Result: The Carmichael publicity has hit SNCC hard in the pocketbook.

For that matter, SNCC already had lost most of its liberal white backing since excluding whites from its policy councils and switching its appeal from nonviolence to violence. The present SNCC chief, H. Rap Brown, is also an apostle of violence.

* * *

Two other SNCC activists, Julius Lester and George Ware, accompanied Carmichael to Havana. Lester was seen dressed in a Cuban army uniform, which may be grounds for revoking his American citizenship.

Meanwhile, the FBI is quietly building a case against both Carmichael and Brown. Every recorded speech and statement made by the two firebrands is being carefully studied. Their inflammatory statements are also being checked against audience reaction for evidence that the listeners were incited to commit violence.

The chief legal obstacle will be persuading the courts to admit recordings and transcripts as evidence. However, this can be overcome by producing witnesses to verify what was said. In any case, President Johnson is determined to crack down on Negro leaders who preach violence and treason.

Note: The SNCC board became disenchanted with Carmichael when he gave up his $4,500-a-year job as their head man to capitalize on his notoriety. He began demanding $1,200 to $1,800 for speeches, which he delivered at the rate of two or three a week. When the University of Minnesota raised only $1,300 of a promised $1,800, for example, Carmichael was furious.

* * *

This column has already suggested that Congress can finance the Vietnam war without hitting up the taxpayers for a 10 per cent increase simply by closing the tax loopholes.

Then the oil millionaires, who talk a lot about patriotism, can put their money where their mouths are. While others pay for the combat planes, the oilmen spend their tax benefits on private planes.

The biggest tax drainage comes from the 27½ per cent oil depletion allowance. The taxpayers are also partners in all dry holes but do not share in the gushers. Finally, they are obliged to pay rigged prices for the oil they consume.

Oil prices have been inflated by the Interior Dept.'s import program, which limits oil shipments into the country. Explained Interior Solicitor Frank J. Barry to a House appropriations subcommittee earlier this year: "Foreign crude can come in from the Middle East and land in San Francisco and be sold for 50 cents a barrel. . . . I understand domestic crude in the West is $2.10 a barrel."

What happens to the $1.60 difference? The happy oil importer pockets it.

Actually, the price difference ranges from $1.20 to $1.60 a barrel. Multiplied by some 900,000,000 barrels of imported oil, this amounts to a bonanza of close to $1.5 billion a year.

The results of these abundant federal blessings can be seen, first of all, in the oil companies' tax returns. The top 22 refiners, with a gross profit of more than $5.1 billion in 1964, paid only 4 per cent of their gross profit as U.S. income tax.

Re: Stokely Carmichael

On August 18, 1967, a confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that H. Rapp Brown, National Chairman, Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee held a press conference, on August 18, 1967, at the Church Center For The United Nations, 777 United Nations Plaza, New York, New York.

During this Press Conference, Brown announced that Stokely Carmichael, Field Representative, Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee would arrive in Hanoi, Democratic Republic of Vietnam, on August 18, 1967. He related, Carmichael, acting as a representative of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee was there to investigate the aggression being carried out by the United States against Vietnam.

Brown further related, during this press conference, that previous trips made by Carmichael to England and Cuba have been the object of an undue amount of criticism, stating it appears as if Negroes have no right to travel.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

TO : The Director

DATE: 8-1-67

FROM : N. P. Callahan

SUBJECT: The Congressional Record

Page 83305. Congressman Eelden, (D) Alabama, pointed out that the presence of Stokely Carmichael in Havana clearly establishes the ideological link between the organized violence taking place in our major American cities and Fidel Castro's plan to subvert and overthrow existing Latin American governments. - - - It is my belief, therefore, that any investigation conducted either by the special commission appointed by the President or a congressional committee should include consideration of evidence regarding the possibility that American nationals who are Castro-trained guerrillas and agents have been, and are even now, operating to foment and exploit riot situations in the cities of the United States. Congressman Nichols, (D) Alabama, concurred in the remarks made by Mr. Eelden and advised that people all over this country are concerned about the radicals who are traveling to Communist countries, consorting with the enemy, and then coming back home to create more strife and turmoil. Stokely Carmichael, - - - is the latest of these, and has really brought the problem to the attention of the American people. Mr. Nichols introduced H. R. 11043, a bill to amend the Immigration and Nationality Act to prohibit travel under a U. S. passport in violation of certain passport restrictions. A copy of this bill will be obtained.

The telegram states "These two hoodlums should not be given the freedom of this country to advocate its overthrow. They should both be locked up permanently." Mr. Minshall also included several newspaper articles with his remarks, including one from the Washington Star of July 30 entitled "Are The Riots Spontaneous or Planned?" This article questioned whether the riots were "planned, organized and directed by sinister forces embarked upon a policy of rule-or-ruin." It points out that the President passed this over lightly advising that the commission he established "will have access to facts gathered by the FBI and that J. Edgar Hoover's agency 'will continue to exercise its full authority to investigate these riots, in accordance with my standing instructions, and to continue to search for evidence of a conspiracy.' This is a somewhat ambiguous statement. As far as we know there has not been a full-scale investigation of the riots, and since the authority of the FBI is supposed to extend only to violations of federal law, what did the President mean when he said the agency will 'continue to exercise its full authority' to investigate the riots? Furthermore, the comment that the FBI will 'continue to search for evidence of conspiracy' implies that no such evidence has yet been found."

He went on to state "Riots are pure and simply uncontrolled force, and they must be met with greater force. - - - It is my opinion that we do not need new laws, rather we need to enforce the laws that are presently on the books. When rioting breaks out, we need to send in the police with such force as is necessary, and to immediately back them with the National Guard. We should not hesitate to use Federal troops."

Over the past weekend, a call was made from Cuba to North Americans, urging them to wage Vietnam-style wars in Detroit and New York. A clarion call to establish guerrilla groups in the United States and appeals to coordinate the Latin American revolutionary struggle with the struggle of American Negroes has been sounded. Black power advocate, Stokely Carmichael, has issued these appeals from Havana, where he is 'observing' the conference of Revolutionary Forces. Referring to the recent Detroit riot, Brown told the crowd, "You did a good job here." He added that the Detroit riot will "look like a picnic after the black people unite to take their due." Brown accused the United States of trying to "wipe out" the Negro population through the war in Vietnam, birth control, starving Negro children, and an unfair system of justice.

After Brown's speech, Negroes hurled rocks and bottles at a car carrying two white newsmen; however, they escaped unharmed. Brown flew back to New York on the evening of August 27, 1967.

In late 1963 and early 1964, he criticized the Communist Party for not being sufficiently militant in the civil rights struggle. Levison was described by certain Communist Party leaders as being to the "left" of the Communist Party in his position on civil rights. His differences with the Communist Party; however, are merely tactical, and he continues his ideological adherence to communism.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

We would like to announce that our representative, Mr. Stokely Carmichael, will arrive today in Hanoi, Democratic Republic of Vietnam. Mr. Carmichael is in the Democratic Republic of Vietnam to investigate and see for himself the savage aggression being carried out against that country by the United States. Previous investigators of our's who have visited the country have reported that the United States is experimenting with weapons there that would be effective in destroying black people in the ghetto, without damaging the property. Mr. Carmichael will see for himself the atrocities being perpetrated against the people of Vietnam, a people who are heroically defending their right to self-determination.

By this visit to Southeast Asia, Mr. Carmichael joins the list of other black leaders, such as Mr. Floyd McKissick and Mr. Whitney Young, Jr., who have visited this area, America's testing ground for how it will try to crush wars of national liberation around the world, including the one developing in this country. For, in Mr. Carmichael's own words, "We see that what happens in Vietnam affects our own struggle, and what we do affects the struggle of the Vietnamese people". At the present time our people are a colonized people within the United States. There are over 30 million of us in this country, 30 million black people who live in sharply defined areas in the rural black belt areas and shanty towns of the South, and in the ghettos of the northern and western industrial cities. In neither place do we control the resources of our communities. We do not control the land, the houses or the stores. These are all owned by whites who live outside our communities. These are very real colonies which exist as a result of the exploitation and racism which this country fosters at home and abroad.

Mr. Carmichael's recent visits to England and Cuba have stirred an undue amount of comment. Such negative comment from press and public officials alike raises a fundamental question: Who in this country has the right to travel? Mr. Carmichael has been publicly denounced for his recent visit to Cuba. Does this criticism stem in reality from an assumption by whites that black people must travel only to places approved by whites, that black people must limit their conclusions to those based on information furnished by whites? If such incorrect and racist assumptions are in fact held by whites, they have serious problems which they themselves will have to solve. As long as imperialism is raping, plundering and murdering in Asia, Africa and Latin America, it is our responsibility to meet with anyone who is fighting against this. Imperialism is international. The United States thinks that it has the right to interfere in the affairs of any country in the world. We therefore reserve the right to meet with the leaders of those countries who are fighting against this intrusion and who, like us, are struggling to liberate their people.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

August 18, 1967

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The United States has its days of celebrations such as the Fourth of July -- the white man's Independence Day -- and expects us to celebrate these national holidays, salute the white man's flag, and sing the white man's national anthem. This is as ridiculous as thinking that we will achieve our own independence under an economic and political system whose existence depends upon oppression, exploitation and the resultant degradation, poverty, and racism we have been subjected to. Our own struggle for independence did not begin on July 4, 1776. We were slaves before July 4th, on July 4th and after July 4th. That great document of democracy, the United States Constitution, defined us as three-fifths of a person. We remained slaves until August 18, 1965. That day marks the day the blacks of Watts picked up guns to fight for their freedom. Since that time armed struggle has taken place in practically every major city in the United States and we can add Newark, Detroit and Plainfield to the list of great events in the history of black people in North America.

For 400 years we had begged, pleaded, cried, marched and died for just a little taste of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness". The Watts Insurrection signalled the end of begging, crying, marching and dying. If we had to die, we realized that we should die in the act of killing and taking that which was our's. On August 18, 1965, blacks stopped moaning "we shall overcome" and started swinging to "Burn, Baby, Burn". That was our Declaration of Independence, and we signed it with molotov cocktails and rifles.

We are calling on all black people to celebrate this day, August 18th, and pay homage to the heroes and heroines of Watts, who signalled the beginning of this new day.

Havana, (Cuba), August 3, 1967

His name is Stokely Carmichael. Race: human.
Citizen of the world. Negro. Full Negro. Full. No one has more right than he to call himself a Negro.

When I saw him for the first time, I experienced something like a brief shudder. It was on a movie screen.
He was agitating his people. He was calling on them to struggle.
He was calling them to "Black Power."

Five days ago, I saw him for the second time. He was standing before me, life size, more than six feet tall.
Like a god from Nubia. Tersely handsome and smiling. His smile is white, open and frank; always on the verge of becoming hearty laughter. He is a man sure of himself. Sure of the future of his people. A black panther is his symbol.

He was born in Trinidad. Until his eleventh year, he lived in a Negro society where the police were Negroes and also the judges and businessmen were Negroes, even though the rulers were white (British).

100 - 446080 - 511

His father wanted to prove that a black man, good and hard-working, would succeed in winning for himself a worthy position in a white society. He killed himself with hard work and died at the age of 22. He used to work as a carpenter and a taxi driver at the same time. From the time she arrived in New York with her husband and children, his mother worked as a maid for a rich family.

"He has always said, ever since he was a little boy, that he would become a great man," said one of his aunts of Stokely Carmichael.

Black Power? "Black Power is the need to rescue our identity from history. We must rescue it from the cultural terrorism and the looting into which a white society has always plunged it in order to justify itself," Carmichael said on one occasion. When I asked the same question, he explained: "It is a uniting of the Negro people in order to wage battle for their liberation by any means. It is unity of the Negro people with all oppressed people outside the United States in order to struggle for a destruction of a capitalist structure that oppresses us in the interior and all under-developed peoples outside."

In a press conference which Carmichael held in Havana yesterday before more than 60 journalists from all over the world, less the United States and Great Britain (he did not let them in), the Negro leader answered a dozen or so questions about the struggle of the Negro people "not for integration with the whites, because the whites would dictate the laws and be in charge, but rather for the conquest of power." He said: "For 400 years, the Negroes have tried to coexist, but the results are nil. Gone is the time when our grievances were for nothing more than integration. Now, we have no alternative but to take up arms to accomplish our liberation."

"Is this a new policy of your organization?" he was asked. "We know, in fact, that you are the top leader of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC)."

"We founded our organization in 1960. At the time, Martin Luther King was the central figure of the Negro movement. He is a pacifist. To speak of violence at that particular time would have been tantamount to committing treason. We accepted the name "Nonviolent" for tactical reasons. We did not believe in it. We have always told our comrades that the fulfillment of our destiny is an armed struggle. We had no other way to defend ourselves from the armed oppression which falls on us whenever we try to protest. Possibly, the turn to violence was made in Watts, on August 18, 1965. Yes, after that, nonviolence was not (sic, possible a misprint) for intellectual discussions. Arms. This is the only road."

"However, how are you going to fight a guerrilla war inside the United States?"

"Urban guerrilla warfare."

"But they will make mincemeat out of you. They will bomb you. They will destroy you."

"Negroes live in the large cities of the United States. They live in the very heart of the cities. That is also where the nerve centers of American economy are located: their industries. Whenever the soldiers of the United States - who have no "guts," who are cowards - have to fight hand to hand, they say they are facing a guerrilla war. They throw bombs and napalm. But inside the United States, because of the conditions I have explained previously, they will have to fight us hand to hand. We will lick them. Do you think they will throw bombs to destroy us? No, because they would destroy their own cities; their own industries."

Carmichael answers his questions quick and easy. He jumps up from his seat and gestures. It's like a ping-pong ball bouncing over the table. He does not think about what he says. He says what he feels.

"He has always been like that," said an old Negro leader about him. "Whenever we felt that there were things to be said but were afraid to speak out, Stokely said them for us and said them in public. He is always one step ahead of our fears."

That's Carmichael's contribution. He broke the shackles of ancestral fear and made the Negroes speak of their aspiration to power; an aspiration which was always there, silent, in the conscience of every Negro, but unable to come out, to organize itself. We saw the consequences in Watts. In Detroit. In nearly all the territory of the United States.

However, can it be said that Black Power is uniting all Negroes in their final struggle? It does not look that way. There is still too much spontaneity in the racial explosion which rocks the territory of the United States from North to South and from East to West. Carmichael is the answer to the Negroes' aspirations. He influences them with his courage. It is a kind of animal courage which makes him be the first in fights and arrests (more than 30 to this date) and takes him, in a crazy automobile race (he is a sportsman of the wheel) with his foot glued to the gas pedal, from place to place in the United States with a bunch of his closest friends and comrades stashed in his Ford microbus (sic).

They say that when he drives through a town he shakes a fist out of the car and shouts: "Black Power." Sometimes, mostly in Southern towns, he only gets a timid response from a Negro in blue denim overalls who looks around before he ventures it. However, in most cases, the doorways and sidewalks fill with Negroes who wave at his speedy passage.

There is no question that he is a free Negro. The contrast which he found between Trinidad and the United States, when he arrived in the latter country, caused a violent shock. The shock transformed him. He could have become a conformist, like a large number of American Negroes, but, in his island, he had known the freedom of living as a Negro, without being intimidated as a Negro or jailed as a Negro.

"However, your passport will be taken away because you came to Cuba. Are you not afraid of what may happen to you upon your return to the United States? Will they not kill you? A spokesman for the White House, MacClosky, threatened to cancel your passport..." "MacClosky is neither my father nor my mother. We have to ask no one to do what we feel like doing or to go where we want to go. To hell with MacClosky and the Department of State...the CIA is international. It has a license to kill. Its assassins are everywhere. We are developing a structure to fight it. It is very important for our people to know that when one of us is assassinated, the CIA did it. We must make them aware that whenever one of them touches a guerrilla fighter or a revolutionary, McNamara and the others will be punished. Our leader Malcolm X was assassinated by the CIA. They used Cuban counterrevolutionaries for the deed."

"However, you have to fight in Vietnam and, yet, you are against the war of aggression which the United States is waging in that country. Isn't that so?"

"In the United States, military service is compulsory. We are facing the prospect of either going to Vietnam or being tried in courts that will sentence us to five years in jail or deprive us of our "civil rights."

We prefer to spend five years in jail rather than to go to Vietnam. We shall not bear arms against the Vietnamese people. They did nothing to us. They did not discriminate against us. They do not deny us our schools or our houses.

"...Our enemy is the white United States. The Vietnamese are our brothers in the struggle. We are fighting the same structure. Our reply to the Armed Forces of the United States is: 'Hell, no, we won't go!'

"We are tired of being used by the United States," Carmichael went on to say. "We are always on the front line of war. In the Dominican Republic, the forces against the Dominican people were made up for the most part, of Negroes. In Vietnam, 40% of the fighting men are Negroes. Ah!...But we have learned something. The United States has taught us to kill. Our brothers who come back from Vietnam will use this training in the United States. They come back frustrated. They will find their liberation in their struggle against the power which sends us around as cannon fodder."

"Does, this liberation include the whites? How can coexistence with the whites be achieved?"

"We could not coexist with the whites under this system. Black Power is for the struggle of the Negroes. When the whites start to fight, we shall fight together. Not before.

"Integration cannot occur until all people are equal. Integration was always defined in the United States as the obligation of the Negro society to bow to the white society, never vice versa. On the other hand, the white society has always maintained a division of national minorities in the United States. We are trying to create a structure for minorities within the Black Power Movement. As a matter of fact, we have close bonds with the National Association of Mexican-American Farm Workers."

"It has been repeatedly said that Negroes want a territory exclusively for themselves. In other words, they want to create a Negro country within the United States."

Carmichael smiles..."The only condition under which we would be agreeable to the establishment of a Negro state would be if we had hydrogen bombs and the means to deliver them...and this would be very dangerous, don't you think so?"

Carmichael is a philosopher. As a child, he used to belong to a gang, like nearly all Negroes living in New York sections. He used to belong to a gang of white boys who stole automobile radios. "They were bandits," Carmichael said about his friends. "They were white bandits who taught me to steal."

When his father died, the idea died with him that a Negro can become somebody by his work alone. Carmichael began to study. He did a great deal of reading. He chose to attend Howard University (for Negroes), in Washington, D. C. Acceptance in this University is predicated upon a very strict exam. He passed it. He came in contact with organized Negro movements. He became famous during Meredith's "Great March" in Mississippi. There, he popularized Black Power. This march was a "walking seminar" on the concepts which Carmichael advocates, but which did not come out of his mind. They were born from the frustration of Negroes who paid an enormous price for the small conquests achieved. Others before him spoke of "Black Power" (for example, Adam C. Powell) but Carmichael was the man who gave depth to the concept and made an impact with the Negroes. He instilled new sensitivity into the Negro masses and is forcing them to express themselves, to speak of their rights and to claim them in the same way as they were denied them. This young, cheerful, dancing fellow, who walks like Sidney Poitier, speaks like Harry Belafonte and thinks like Malcolm X (as one of his friends once described him) is an intellectual - not because of the bombastic way in which he talks - a revolutionary intellectual who is in contact with his people and lives and thinks like his people.

"However," one of his closest co-workers, Elizabeth Suthenland told us, "he is capable of talking for five hours in a row about Albert Camus and his works. Like Camus, he thinks that the greatest hope goes hand in hand with the greatest danger."

This "magnificent barbarian," as he is called in the United States, is a man who terrorizes and exalts. He is a man who is trying to rescue for society the only real culture there is in the United States: Negro culture.

He says: "We do not have to wait for the Beatles to make our culture legitimate. We must not be ashamed of James Brown. Our intellectuals must come back to the Negro community and stop seeking to shine within the white community."

As a discoverer and mystic lover of Negro personality, by giving them Black Power, he has given the Negroes something which is his own.

"No more prayers. No more songs of freedom. No more dreams. We will get power."

This is the slogan of the mutinous crowds in the cities. They do not pray any longer in churches. They have started to shoot and this is very dangerous.

"We will start 50 Vietnams in the United States," Carmichael says. "When they have as many outside, what are they going to do?"

With all his bundle of love for his race and his people, this is Stokely Carmichael, a human being, a full Negro and the most controversial young man in the United States...

And as the Negro leaders say that their road to liberation is an armed struggle, what do the leaders of the other countries of the continent say?

CARMICHAEL, EL PODER NEGRO, HABLA A Siempre!

*y anuncia que Estados Unidos se convertirá en un Vietnam con guerrillas
en todos lados*

Marta D. Solís corresponsal de SIEMPRE!, con Carmichael, en La Habana.

La Habana, 3 de agosto de 1967.

Su nombre es Stokely Carmichael. Raza: Humana. Ciudadano del mundo. Negro. Negro entero. Completo. Nadie con más derecho a llamarse negro que él.

Cuando por primera vez lo vi sentí un pequeño escalofrío. Fue en una pantalla de cine. Agitaba a su gente. La llamaba a la lucha. La llamaba al Poder Negro.

Hace cinco días lo vi por segunda vez. Estaba ante mí de cuerpo entero, más de seis pies. Como un dios Nubio. Con una belleza tersa y una blanca sonrisa abierta y franca, siempre lista a convertirse en carcajada. Es un tipo seguro de sí mismo. Seguro del futuro de su gente. Una pantera negra es su símbolo.

Nació en Trinidad. Hasta los 11 años tuvo ante sí una sociedad negra donde los policías eran negros, y los jueces y los comerciantes también lo eran. Aunque los gobernantes eran blancos (ingleses).

Su padre siempre quiso demostrar que un hombre negro, bueno y trabajador, podría llegar a ocupar un puesto digno en la sociedad blanca. Se reventó trabajando y murió a los 22 años. Era carpintero y taxista al mismo tiempo. Su madre ha sido sirvienta de una familia rica, desde que llegó con su marido y sus hijos a Nueva York.

"El siempre precisó, desde pequeño, que sería un hombre grande", ha dicho de él una tía.

El Poder Negro. El poderío negro. "Es la necesidad de rescatar de la historia nuestra identidad. Rescatarla del terrorismo cultural y las depradaciones en que la sociedad blanca la ha hundido para justificarse" dijo una vez. "Es la reunión de la población negra para pelear por su liberación por cualquier medio —me dijo Carmichael cuando se lo pregunté—. Es la unión de la población negra con la gente oprimida fuera de Estados Unidos para luchar por destruir la estructura capitalista que nos oprime a nosotros en lo interior y a los pueblos subdesarrollados en lo exterior".

En una conferencia de prensa que Carmichael dio ayer en La Habana a más de 60 periodistas de todas partes del mundo —menos de Estados Unidos y Gran Bretaña, a los que no les permitió la entrada— el líder negro contestó a decenas de preguntas sobre la lucha del pueblo negro, "no por la integración con los blancos, en la que éstos dictarían las leyes y dirigirían, sino por la toma del poder. Por 400 años los negros han tratado de coexistir sin resultado alguno. Ya pasó la etapa en que nuestras reivindicaciones se reducían a la "integración" solamente. Ahora no tenemos otra alternativa que tomar las armas para llevar a cabo nuestra liberación".

¿Es esa una nueva política de su organización? Porque nosotros sabemos que usted es el máximo dirigente del Comité Coordinador de los Estudiantes No Violentos (SNCC) —se le preguntó.

"Nosotros creamos nuestra organización en 1960. Por esa época Martin Luther King era la figura central del movimiento negro. El es un pacifista. Hablar en ese momento de violencia hubiera sido casi como cometer una traición. Aceptamos el nombre no violento, por táctica. No creíamos en ella y siempre les dijimos a los compañeros que nuestro destino sólo estaba en la lucha armada. No teníamos otra manera de defendernos de la opresión armada que sobre nosotros recae siempre que protestamos. El giro hacia la violencia es posible que se diera por primera vez en Watts, el 18 de agosto de 1965. Ya después la no-violencia no era para discutirla intelectualmente. Las armas: es ese el único camino".

Pero, ¿cómo van ustedes a sostener una guerra de guerrillas en los propios Estados Unidos?

—"Guerrillas urbanas".

Pero los desbaratarán. Los bombardearán. Los destruirán.

"Los negros viven en Estados Unidos en las grandes ciudades. En el mismo corazón de éstas. Allí también está concentrado el nervio central de la economía norteamericana: sus industrias. Cuando los soldados de Estados Unidos que no tienen "gandinga", son cobardes, tienen que pelear cuerpo a cuerpo, dicen que tienen frente a sí una guerra de guerrillas. Entonces lanzan bombas y napalm. Pero dentro de Estados Unidos, por esas condiciones anteriores, tendrán que luchar con nosotros cuerpo a cuerpo. Los barreremos. Ustedes creen que ellos lanzarían bombas para destruirnos. No. Porque destruirían sus ciudades. Sus industrias".

Carmichael responde a las preguntas con rapidez. Se levanta como un rayo del asiento y gesticula. Es como una pelota de ping-pong que rebota en una mesa. No piensa lo que va a decir. Dice lo que siente.

"Siempre ha sido así. Ha dicho de él un viejo dirigente negro. Cuando uno pensaba que muchas cosas había que decirles, pero tenía miedo de soltarlas, Stokely, no sólo las decía para nosotros, sino que las decía en público. Siempre va más allá de nuestro miedo".

Y allí su mérito: ha roto las cadenas del miedo ancestral de los negros a hablar de su ansia de poder. Ansia que estaba allí, en la conciencia callada de cada negro, pero que no es sino hasta ahora que toma forma organizada. Las consecuencias las hemos visto en Watts. En Detroit. En casi todo el territorio norteamericano.

¿Sin embargo, puede decirse que el Poderío Negro une hoy a todos los negros para una lucha final? Parece que no. Aún hay mucho de espontaneísmo en la explosión racial que va de norte a sur y de este a oeste del territorio de Estados Unidos. Carmichael responde a las ansias de los negros. Les influye con su valor. Esa especie de valor animal que lo mismo lo hace ser la vanguardia en las apaleaduras y encarcelamientos (más de 30 hasta la fecha), que lo lleva en una loca carrera automovilística (es él un deportista del volante), con el pie pegado al acelerador, de un lugar a otro de Estados Unidos, llevando en su Micro-bus Ford a sus más allegados compañeros. Dicen que cuando pasa por una población, saca su puño del auto y grita "Black Power". A veces recibe una tímida contestación —en algunas ciudades del sur sobre todo— de un negro con overol de mezclilla que antes de hacerlo mira a su alrededor. Pero la mayoría de las veces los corredores de las casas y las aceras se llenan de negros que saludan su paso veloz.

El ya es un negro libre. No cabe duda. El contraste que al llegar de Trinidad encontró en Estados Unidos, fue violento. Lo transformó. Pudo haber sido un conformista, como gran cantidad de negros norteamericanos, pero él conoció en su isla la libertad de vivir como negro y no ser apaleado por negro o encarcelado por negro.

Pero a usted le quitarán su pasaporte por haber venido a Cuba. ¿No teme lo que pueda pasarle cuando regrese? ¿No lo matarán? El vocero de la Casa Blanca, MacClosky, ha amenazado a despojarle de su pasaporte...

"MacClosky no es mi padre ni mi madre. No tenemos que pedirle permiso a nadie para hacer lo que nos dé la gana o ir a donde queramos. Al demonio con MacClosky y el Departamento de Estado... La CIA es internacional. Tiene licencia para matar. Sus asesinos están en todas partes. Nosotros estamos desarrollando una estructura para combatirla. Es muy importante que nuestra gente sepa que cuando alguno de nosotros es asesinado, ha sido la CIA. Debemos crear la conciencia de que cuando ellos toquen a un guerrillero, a un revolucionario, Mac Namara y los otros sean castigados. A nuestro guía Malcolm X lo asesinó la CIA. Utilizaron para ello a los contrarrevolucionarios cubanos".

Pero tienen que pelear en Vietnam y ustedes están en contra de la guerra de agresión que allí llevan a cabo los Estados Unidos, ¿no es así?

—"En Estados Unidos el Servicio Militar es obligatorio. Estamos ante la perspectiva de ir a Vietnam o enfrentarnos a un juicio que nos condenará a 5 años de cárcel o el retiro de nuestros "derechos civiles". Preferimos pasar cinco años en la cárcel antes que ir a Vietnam. No tomaremos las armas contra los vietnamitas. Ellos no nos han hecho nada. No nos discriminan. No nos niegan la escuela ni las casas.

Nuestro enemigo es los Estados Unidos blancos. Los vietnamitas son nuestros hermanos de lucha. Estamos luchando contra la misma estructura. Nuestra respuesta a las Fuerzas Armadas de Estados Unidos es: "CARAJOS, NO IREMOS".

"Ya estamos cansados de ser usados por Estados Unidos —continúa— siempre estamos en la primera línea de combate: en Santo Domingo las fuerzas contra el pueblo dominicano estaban compuestas en su mayoría por negros. En Vietnam el 40 por ciento de los combatientes también son negros. ¡Ah!... Pero hemos aprendido. Estados Unidos nos ha enseñado cómo matar. Nuestros hermanos que regresan de Vietnam van a usar ese entrenamiento dentro de Estados Unidos. Ellos vienen frustrados. Encontrarán su liberación en la lucha contra el poder que los manda siempre como carne de cañón".

¿Esa liberación incluye a los blancos? ¿Cómo se podría lograr la convivencia con los blancos?

—"No podríamos coexistir con los blancos en este sistema. El Poderío Negro se dirige a la lucha de los negros. Cuando los blancos empiecen a luchar, lucharemos juntos. Antes no.

"La integración no puede ocurrir hasta que las gentes no sean iguales. La integración fue siempre definida en Estados Unidos como la obligación de la sociedad negra de ir hacia la blanca, nunca al revés. Por otra parte, la sociedad blanca siempre ha tenido divididas a las minorías nacionales existentes en Estados Unidos. Tratamos de estructurar a las minorías dentro del Poderío Negro. Estamos vinculados a la Asociación Nacional de Trabajadores agrícolas de los mexicanos norteamericanos".

Se ha dicho muchas veces que los negros quieren un territorio solamente para ellos. Es decir, crear un país para negros, dentro de Estados Unidos...

Charmichael se sonríe... "La única condición en que podríamos estar de acuerdo en que se estableciera un Estado negro sería si tuviéramos bombas de hidrógeno y con qué tirarlas... Y eso sería muy peligroso, ¿no cree?"

Carmichael es un filósofo. De niño fue pandillero, como casi todo negro de los barrios de Nueva York. Era una pandilla de muchachos blancos que robaban radios de automóvil. "Eran unos bandidos —ha dicho de sus amigos—. Esos bandidos blancos me enseñaron a robar". Cuando su padre murió, murió en él la idea de que un negro, sólo con su trabajo, puede llegar a ser alguien. Empezó a estudiar. Leyó mucho. Optó por una plaza en la Universidad Howard de Washington (para negros). Sólo mediante un riguroso examen puede aspirarse a ingresar. Lo logró. Tomó contacto con los movimientos organizados de los negros. Se hizo famoso en la Gran Marcha Meredith por Mississippi. Allí popularizó el Poderío Negro. Fue esa marcha un "seminario andante" sobre el concepto (Sigue en la página 70)

PRO Y CONTRA...

(Viene de la página 14) portación masiva de las utilidades que en México obtienen las empresas norteamericanas.

Una mayor difusión podría demostrar, tal vez, que la tesis de que las inversiones extranjeras descapitalizan al país no puede defenderse con argumentos sólidos. Si calculamos el ahorro de divisas generado por estas inversiones a través del proceso de sustitución de importaciones, así como el aumento de la capacidad del país para generar bienes y servicios de exportación, es seguro que dicho ahorro de divisas sea varias veces superior al saldo negativo que en el renglón correspondiente de la balanza de pagos originan estas inversiones.

Cabe preguntarse, al final de esta charla cuales son las recomendaciones para lograr que la imagen correspondiente a los beneficios que tiene para México una inversión apegada a la ley y al espíritu de nuestras instituciones. Se requiere que el inversionista entienda que su capital no es sólo para ser multiplicado sino para cumplir una función social. Los mexicanos deben participar de las utilidades de cada negocio porque son los mexicanos los que las hacemos posible con nuestro trabajo y con nuestros recursos. El capital extranjero es complementario, pues nuestro desarrollo depende de nuestro propio esfuerzo. El gobierno mexicano, los hombres de empresa mexicanos, los trabajadores mexicanos y los productores mexicanos de materias primas y artículos para la industria, reconocemos el papel de las inversiones extranjeras cuando participan de nuestro desarrollo sin solicitar privilegios y ateniéndose a las leyes vigentes en la materia. Ningún capital extranjero se establecería si no hubiéramos creado en nuestro país las condiciones propicias. La imagen de la inversión extranjera se hará mejor y será más bien comprendida cuando cada inversionista de otro país acepte una adecuada participación de los nacionales en los negocios que establezcan en México. Es largo el camino y generosa la meta. Las utilidades logradas en México debe procurarse que se reinviertan en México. Cada inversionista extranjero debe entender que el mundo ha dejado atrás las épocas en que el empresario sólo buscaba el mayor provecho económico sin mirar a su alrededor y que hoy cumple un destino más trascendente. Cada inversionista extranjero es un representante de su país y su conducta contribuye al mejoramiento o la mengua de la amistad entre su pueblo y el nuestro. Cada inversionista debe unirse a la tarea de engrandecer a nuestra patria como si fuera un mexicano más. Sólo así estaremos trabajando para nuestro mutuo beneficio. Sólo de este modo cada mexicano tendrá de la inversión extranjera la imagen que corresponde a un factor de progreso. Y cada inversionista extranjero será considerado como un amigo que aporta su talento, su dinero y su esfuerzo en el trabajo que hemos emprendido.

(La Cámara Americana de Comercio invitó a Jacobo Zabludovsky a hablar sobre la imagen de la inversión extranjera en México. Los anteriores son algunos fragmentos de su conferencia pronunciada el 9 de agosto).

SI, VIETNAM...

(Viene de la página 15) de las zonas ocupadas por el gobierno de Saigón, sólo quedan unas mil. Los aldeanos han roto los muros de bambú con que quiso mantenerse aislados de todo contacto con los guerrilleros.

Los prisioneros vietcongs son torturados terriblemente para lección de los demás. Las víctimas pierden la vista o los órganos genitales a manos de estos verdugos. Los campos son arrasados con napalm y con productos químicos, para acabar con las personas, el ganado y los cultivos. La guerra química se practica como uno de los crímenes científicos de nuestra época.

Con todo eso, el gigante no puede. Poderoso, dañado, algo más, mucho más que un tigre de papel, pero David se le enfrenta y lo humilla. El general Westmoreland va a Washington y dice: "Necesito más soldados". Y Johnson le ha dicho: "Sí, más; más soldados y más impuestos al pueblo norteamericano". El mundo clama por el cese de los bombardeos a la República Democrática de Vietnam del Norte; pero los bombardeos no cesan. El pasado día 6 de agosto cayó en Vietnam del Norte el avión norteamericano número 2.148. Los cielos de Vietnam no son caminos para la gloria de los pilotos norteamericanos. Pero mientras caen asesinan, destrozan. Y un gigantón humillado, el piloto norteamericano teniente coronel Richard Allen Stratton, prisionero en Hanoi, dice agachando la cabeza: "Le pido al pueblo de la República Democrática de Vietnam que perdone los crímenes que he cometido contra él. Le pido que me perdone la vida y que continúe su tratamiento humano de mi persona".

No es mucho pedir a un pueblo que sabe darlo todo. ¿Sería mucho pedir que los revolucionarios, los demócratas, los antiimperialistas, los estrategas de todo orden, los personalistas de toda laya, no olviden a Vietnam, el verdadero gran héroe de nuestros días?

Y LA CONASUPO...

(Viene de la página 24) la planeación económica, que ahorrará a nuestro país grandes despilfarros en trabajo y en dinero. México ya no puede marchar sin un orden científico y técnico de las funciones del Estado y sin los órganos necesarios para esta tarea progresista y patriótica. Viernes 11 de agosto de 1967.

CUANDO EL PRESIDENTE...

(Viene de la página 34) siguieron las pautas correspondientes al tamaño que tenía el país hace todavía 15 años.

Y lo que habrá de transparentarse en el III Informe es que, al complicarse los procedimientos de gobierno por la ampliación de sus cometidos, el Estado convoca cada vez de manera más sistemática a los sectores privados de la economía mexicana para que compartan la responsabilidad de hacer progresar al país sobre bases de justicia y equidad social, aunque no se diga expresamente que son organismos particulares los que gobiernan, por invitación del Estado, la política de importaciones y que entre sus 46 comités consultivos de importación y los 28 grupos asesores que se han organizado durante los tres años de que el Presidente estará informado, despachan revisadas, más de 20,000 licencias de importación cada mes, que rigen nuestro comercio, protegen nuestra industria y evitan el abuso de los privilegios arancelarios.

Asimismo habrá de percibirse la incorporación, cada vez más masiva de los mexicanos a los campos de la actividad económica, acometiendo empresas que antes parecían inalcanzables al talento y al poder económico de nuestros compatriotas, como son las empresas de servicios: las que vienen estableciendo redes distribuidoras de gas en las poblaciones más importantes del país, en las que algunas veces aparece el Estado como empresario pero en otras figura el Estado como socio de particulares para explotar un negocio y brindar a la población un servicio.

Y, sin que el presidente lo diga literalmente, en su Informe habrá de perfilarse, nitidamente, la configuración que el país va tomando bajo su dirección: una nación consciente de su tamaño segura de haber asumido el control de su propio desarrollo, dueña de su crédito interior y exterior, rica en experiencias cada vez más amplias donde buscar inspiración para lo venidero, y llena de certidumbre sobre lo correcto del camino que ha decidido seguir.

A través de la información de fondo primariamente destinada a ilustrar la opinión de los legisladores, y en esta ocasión más acentuadamente por tratarse de una nueva Legislatura, el país podrá mirarse como en un espejo, objetiva y saludablemente, y podrá comprender claramente hacia donde se le señalan los caminos que vienen desde un ayer laborioso y agobiador, pasan por un presente de esfuerzos concertados y se dirigen hacia un mañana de más limpidas perspectivas.

TARZAN MOTHER

(Viene de la página 53) Ion Claudet. Su primera película. Y nomás ganó el Oscar. No hizo el montón de películas porque siempre la reclamaba el teatro. Pero a ver, de cuantos la vieran, quién la ha olvidado en "Adiós a las Armas" (de Hemingway) junto a Gary Cooper y Adolphe Menjou.

Ya cincuentona, ocasionalmente actuó en película como "My Son John" y "Anastasia" donde le rindió escenas Ingrid Bergman. Y ya sexagenaria, Helen Hayes se proyectó todavía honorablemente por la televisión. En programa como Play of the Week con piezas clásicas de teatro universal.

De eso a "partenaire" de Tarzán hay enorme diferencia. Y duele. Porque fue una gloria de la escena viva y la filmica. Honra y prez del teatro como del cinema. Señora de gran exigencia entonces para escoger obras y películas. Y ahora coestelar con Chita! Que le robará escenas dase por seguro. No sólo cae Helen Hayes de la fama sino de la admiración que se le profesaba. (Y por favor: se agradecerá un buen remedio para los torzones al hígado).

LIBERTADOR?...

(Viene de la página 39) es que, cuando se trata del Mercado Común, mira en Europa una sociedad diversificada, compuesta de grupos culturales diferentes que participan en una administración común. Tal género de sociedad es el que existe tanto en Canadá como en los Estados Unidos ya que ambos tienen minorías culturales y técnicas. Viendo distinto en las dos playas del Atlántico, el general De Gaulle no ha hecho otra cosa que demostrar que es un nacionalista intransigente.

El "Algemeed Dagblad" de La Haya, no tiene empacho en decir que De Gaulle es un viejo, irritado y que en Canadá ha cometido un error de primera categoría, todo lo cual evidencia que ha comenzado a perder el sentido de la realidad, lo cual es muy peligroso en un hombre de Estado.

Por último la Agencia TASS de Moscú afirma que todo este escándalo entra, muy bien, en la línea de la política extranjera francesa. "Una de las características de esta política ha sido, siempre, la de impedir que los franceses pierdan su carácter nacional frente a las presiones políticas, diplomáticas y económicas de otras potencias extranjeras, en particular los Estados Unidos".

CARMICHAEL...

(Viene de la página 22) que Carmichael defiende, pero que no salió de su mente. Nació de la... de la frustración de los hombres negros que han pagado un enorme precio por las pequeñas conquistas obtenidas. Otros antes hablaron del poder negro (Adam C. Powell), pero fue Carmichael quien le dio profundidad y logró impactar a los negros con la idea. El sensibilizó a las masas negras y las está obligando a expresarse y a hablar de sus derechos y a reclamarlos en la misma forma en que les han sido negados.

Este joven alegre, bailarín, de andar como el de Sidney Poitier, que habla como Harry Belafonte y piensa como Malcolm X (ha dicho uno de sus amigos), es a la vez un intelectual, no en la forma rimbombante de expresarse, sino un intelectual revolucionario, que está en contacto con su pueblo y vive y piensa para su pueblo.

"Sin embargo, nos decía una de sus más allegadas colaboradoras, Elizabeth Suthenland, es capaz de hablar durante cinco horas seguidas de Albert Camus y de su obra. Como Camus, piensa que la máxima esperanza va unida al máximo peligro".

Y este "Magnífico Bárbaro", como le dicen en Estados Unidos, que aterroriza y exalta, trata de rescatar para la sociedad la "única cultura que hay realmente en Estados Unidos: la negra. Porque no tenemos que esperar —dice— a que los Beatles vengan a legitimar nuestra cultura. No debemos avergonzarnos de un James Brown. Los intelectuales deben regresar a la comunidad negra, y dejar de buscar brillo dentro de la comunidad blanca".

El es un descubridor y enamorado místico de la personalidad negra. Ha hecho que los negros tengan en el Poder Negro algo muy suyo, propio. "Ya no más oraciones, no más canciones de libertad. No más sueños. Vamos a tomar el Poder". Y hoy esa es la consigna de los amotinados en todas las ciudades. Ya no rezan en las iglesias: han empezado a tirar tiros, y eso es muy peligroso.

"Les abriremos 50 Vietnam dentro de Estados Unidos —dice Carmichael. Y cuando tengan otros tantos fuera ¿qué van hacer?"

Y con todo su bagaje de amor a su raza, a su pueblo, es Stokely Carmichael, ser humano, completamente negro, el joven más polémico de Estados Unidos.

Y después de que los dirigentes negros alegan que en Estados Unidos el único camino de su liberación es la lucha armada... ¿qué dirán los dirigentes de los demás países del Continente?

Chronicle of Carmichael in Havana

By A. Olivares (Prensa Latina)

On June 23 of this year, an airplane of "Cubana de Aviacion" airline, coming from Prague, Czechoslovakia, landed at Jose Marti airport in Havana. A tall, young Negro stepped off and met with important personages of the Cuban Government who were waiting for him. He was Stokely Carmichael, age 26, a student and the leader of the movement known in the United States as "SNICK" (sic), a name which popularly designates the "Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee," operating within the so-called "Black Power" movement.

A few days later, a sensational press conference with Carmichael himself clarified that the word "nonviolent" was included in the name of the committee for practical reasons, whereas, in reality, its members are determined supporters of the use of violence "to liberate the Negro people of the United States." On the same occasion, Carmichael stated: "We, Negroes, have decided on an armed struggle which we will carry on on a major scale and in a coordinated fashion."

Those who saw this young Negro student arrive in Havana never thought for a moment that his presence among the Delegates accredited with the First Conference of the Latin American Organization for Solidarity (OLAS) would represent an addition to this conference of a country with 30 million Negroes, this country being formed by the segregated inhabitants of the United States.

On August 3, young Negro leader Rap Brown, only 23 years old and the President of SNICK stated in New York: "The Negroes will struggle together with the revolutionaries of Latin America. We are in contact with the peoples of Latin America, Vietnam, and Africa; with all oppressed peoples." Carmichael's arrival in Cuba occurred at the time thousands of his brothers of the same race were fighting the police and the armed forces of the United States.

This was the largest riot to take place in the United States since August, 1965, when so-called incidents occurred in the Watts District of Los Angeles which lasted ten days and claimed 36 lives (nearly all Negroes), injured 900 persons, caused 4,000 persons to be arrested, 209 buildings burned, 787 buildings damaged, and 4 million dollars of property losses.

The editor who is writing these few lines had an opportunity, exactly a week ago, to see the outbreak of a Negro riot in the most segregated section of New York. In his memory, he is still vividly impressed with the courage the Negroes displayed in their battle against the most modern equipment of the American white police. However, all indications are that that battle was only a skirmish, especially if one compares it with the revolts which broke out in the summer of this year in more than ten States of the Union.

Carmichael's presence in Cuba at the very same time the Negro struggle was being waged in the United States hardened, to an even greater extent, the racists of the Johnson Administration. A spokesman for the State Department announced sanctions against the colored leader because of his visit to Cuba without special authorization. Carmichael replied with a cheerful smile and an ironical phrase: "To hell with McCloskey! He is not my father who can choose my friends and stop me from traveling to where I please." Carmichael knows - and he said it in Havana - that in his country he can expect, not only judicial sanctions, but also attempts on his life, at practically every street corner, engineered either by the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) or any of the many racist organizations which have multiplied in the United States and have announced their determination to assassinate him. He replies with pride: "I do not fear death. If it benefits my people, that's where my life is."

Those who think that Carmichael is a young humbug who is motivated by the vitality which seems to seethe in his lanky body are grossly mistaken. The young man, who studied philosophy and political sciences, is an authentic leader. This is what even the most austere commentators in the United States think of him. They have seen him only on television since he does not admit white newsmen from his country to the gatherings he attends.

Certain leftist white newsmen of his country claim that Carmichael has little generosity in his heart because he gives no recognition to the support they and the whites who follow the same line give the Negro movements in general. On this subject, the Negro leader replies: "We are on our way toward winning control of our Afro-American communities, just as you, gentlemen, are on your way toward wresting the control of your countries of the entire Latin American continent from the hands of foreign imperialist powers. Therefore, there is only one road open in front of us. We must change America in such a way that the economy and political life of the countries are in the hands of the people. Our special concern is for our people, namely, the Afro-Americans. However, it is clear that a community based on common ownership of all resources cannot exist within the present capitalist framework. For the transformation to be total, the whites must see the struggle in which we, Negroes, are engaged as their own struggle. At the present time, this is not the case. Even when he is exploited, a white worker still believes that his best interests lie in the present social structure. Due to the racist nature of this country, we cannot work in white communities, but we have asked those whites who work together with us to go to their own communities to promote propaganda and organization. When the white workers fully realize their true condition, the possibility will exist of an alliance between them and us."

According to Carmichael, white workers, including those with the lowest wages, make no efforts to destroy the capitalist regime because they are merely interested in getting a little more of what the mighties have. The Negro leader says that the whites have contributed to avoiding a class struggle within the United States despite its economic expansion over the Third World and, especially, its exploitation of colored people within and without. Carmichael goes on to say: "American capitalists never curtailed their domestic profits to share them with the workers. Instead, they expanded internationally and cast the bones from their banquet to the American working class. This class enjoys the fruits of the labor of the workers of the Third World. The proletariat is in the Third World and bourgeoisie is the Western white society. The true potential revolutionaries in the United States are the Negro youth in the ghettos. Those who have caused the insurgence in the cities of the United States are the Afro-Americans and Latin communities where the riots of the last few days have taught us important lessons to carry on the struggle against the armed reaction of the Government in this phase of our uprisings."

According to Carmichael, the Negroes will carry on their fight alone and to the bitter end in the United States. They will seek, as their allies, the revolutionary peoples of Latin America and of the entire Third World. As far as he sees it, there is no possible type of expression for peaceful protest. He repudiates Nobel Prize for Peace winner Martin Luther King and all the movements who try to improve the present situation of the Negroes by peaceful or "charitable" means. He and his people are convinced that the struggle must be aimed at the destruction of the capitalist and imperialist regime of the United States.

He conceives of this struggle only as an armed struggle: "It is clear that we have decided to face oppression with arms. We have to unite with those who, in the world, favor an armed struggle as the only way to solve our problems. For 400 years we have tried to live in various states in a form of peaceful coexistence and the result is a life under the most fascist regime in the world. Our only way out is either the destruction of this regime or to be destroyed by it. At any rate, we are going to fight with weapons in our hands for our revolution."

Carmichael defines this new phase of the armed struggle as follows: "We have been forced to use guerrilla warfare in the cities. We have no other alternative. This type of warfare holds out more advantages for us than for other peoples who are also battling for their liberation. The white armed forces and the police will not be able to use against us their powerful weapons because our guerrilla warfare will take place in urban centers and any massive attack against us cannot but have repercussions for the whites. For example, they will not be able to bomb us. In this new phase of our struggle, we can depend on those brothers of ours who have been trained to wage war against the heroic people of Vietnam. We do not resist when we are shipped over there, as it happened in the case of our exemplary champion Cassius Clay, because they still have the power in their hands. Repugnant as this may be to us, at least it gives us an advantage: our brothers learn to become efficient in the use of the weapons the whites employ to kill people with."

Carmichael speaks with self-assurance. He is agile in his replies and knows how to put a combative stress in his phrases. He recognizes Mao Tse-tung, Fidel Castro, and Che Guevara as his brothers. He recalls with emotion the visit that the Cuban Prime Minister paid to New York on the occasion of a debate in the United Nations. The Prime Minister stayed at the Hotel Therese in the heart of Harlem, the Negro section of New York. Carmichael says: "I believe we started to read Che Guevara's books on strategy back in 1965. We had been hearing about him since the time of the Cuban Revolution but could not find his works in translation and had difficulties in becoming acquainted with his thoughts. Since the translations appeared, he is an author read by the Negroes, especially the young ones. And we feel that he is one of us."

"We all know that Che said that the struggle will be a long struggle. We are preparing for a long test of endurance. At first, many of us will die, but victory will be ours."

UNA CAMPAÑA MUY INTERESADA

La campaña neomaltusiana, tan impulsada por los neocolonialistas, presenta la curiosa faceta de que, a la par, se plantea que la población crece más aprisa que la producción de alimentos y se destaca que la producción alimentaria o se estanca o disminuye en los países subdesarrollados. Parece que no se hace más que dar vueltas a la noria o que, como las ardillas, a lo más se galopa para quedar en el mismo sitio ...

Y sin embargo, también al mismo tiempo, asistimos a la otra trágica realidad de que las "grandes potencias" capitalistas se esfuerzan al máximo por restringir la producción de alimentos, utilizando los conocidos "resortes" del mercado mundial (por ellos dominado), como es el caso de los convenios mundiales de varios productos, v.g., el café, el algodón, varios de los cereales, la carne, etc., sin olvidar el caso del azúcar donde, a través del precio en los mercados marginales, se hace lo imposible por "desalentar" la producción del dulce o, por lo menos, hacerla totalmente incosteable ... pero sólo para los pequeños subdesarrollados y exportadores.

¿Qué pensar de una campaña que pide se "planifique" (se limite o disminuya) la "producción" humana porque el hambre acecha y, simultáneamente, se exigen menores cosechas de productos alimenticios so capa de que "son excedentes"? ¿Excedentes de algodón y otras fibras, naturales o artificiales, e incontables millones van desnudos o visten andrajos y pasan frío? ¿Excedente el azúcar, y más del 40% de la humanidad atestigua neto subconsumo? ¿Excedentes el café y el té y cientos de millones no lo prueban y toman poco?

¿Excedentes, en fin, la carne, los cereales? Curiosamente, y esto lo destacan autoridades internacionales como la FAO, los países industriales incrementan de continuo su producción agropecuaria y no tropiezan con inconvenientes graves para su comercialización. Son los subdesarrollados los que se enfrentan a precios bajos (más bajos cada año, por lo general), a la falta de mercados o a los "mercados saturados".

El espectáculo de las reuniones internacionales "para apuntalar los precios de los productos básicos" de los países subdesarrollados", con su deprimente cantinela de las restricciones a esto y a aquello, mal se aviene con los consejos de "detener la explosión" demográfica. La experiencia, los hechos diarios, muestran que tan interesados consejos, órdenes y admonitorias se orientan siempre a beneficio de las potencias imperialistas y, lógica contrapartida, en detrimento, en primer lugar, de los pueblos que aquellas subdesarrollaron y pretenden mantener bajo su bota.

armas ocupadas, mapas explicativos y aspectos del trabajo realizado por los fotógrafos y periodistas. El acto, que fue transmitido por televisión a todo el país, terminó con la proposición, aprobada por aclamación, de uno de los 4 vicepresidentes de la OLAS, Rodney Arismendi de Uruguay, en la que se condena -- las agresiones del imperialismo yanqui contra la Revolución Cubana.

También con fotografías, el "Granma", informa del aterrizaje de un avión colombiano de pasajeros, en el aeropuerto "José Martí", secuestrado en vuelo por 4 ciudadanos colombianos y uno ecuatoriano, que pidieron asilo en Cuba. En la última página, el matutino ofrece varias fotografías y de-- claraciones de la tripulación y pasajeros del avión.

Minutos después del estallido se presentaron en el lugar miembros de la sección de Explosivos del Cuerpo de Bomberos y agentes de los cuerpos policíacos argentinos.

CRONICA DE CARMICHAEL EN LA HABANA

POR A. OLIVARES. SERVICIO DE (P.L.)

El 23 de junio del año en curso, aterrizó en el aeropuerto José Martí, de La Habana, un avión de la empresa Cubana de Aviación procedente de Praga, del cual descendió un alto y espigado joven negro que era esperado por importantes personajes del gobierno de Cuba. Era Stokely Carmichael de 26 años, estudiante y líder del movimiento conocido en los Estados Unidos como "Snick", nombre que identifica popularmente al Comité Coordinador Estudiantil No-Violento "Sutudent" Non Violent Coordinating Comitee", incluido dentro del "Poder Negro".

Días después, en una sensacional conferencia de prensa, el propio Carmichael se encargaría de aclarar que la expresión "No-Violento" fué ---- incluida en el nombre del comité, por motivos tácticos, pero que en realidad sus integrantes son decididos partidarios de usar la violencia "para liberar al pueblo negro de los Estados Unidos". En esa misma ocasión, Carmichael expresó: "Los negros nos hemos decidido por la lucha armada, la que desarrollaremos en gran escala y en forma coordinada". Los que vieron llegar a La Habana a ese joven estudiante negro, jamás pensaron que su presencia entre los delegados acreditados ante la Primera Conferencia de la Organización Latinoamericana de Solidaridad (OLAS), representaría la suma a ella de un país de 30 millones de negros, formado por los habitantes segregados de los Estados Unidos.

El día 3 de agosto, el joven dirigente negro Rap Brown, de sólo 23 años, --- presidente del SNICK, declaró en Nueva York que "los negros lucharán junto a los revolucionarios de América Latina. Estamos en contacto con los pueblos latinoamericanos, de Vietnam y del Africa; con todos los pueblos oprimidos". La llegada de Carmichael a Cuba se registró en los instantes en que millares de sus hermanos de raza, luchaban contra la policía y las fuerzas armadas en los Estados Unidos.

En la mayor rebelión desatada en ese país desde agosto de 1965, fecha en que se desarrollaron los incidentes del distrito de Watts en Los Angeles, los que duraron 10 días con un balance de 36 muertos (casi todos negros), 900 heridos, 4 -- mil detenidos, 209 edificios quemados, 787 dañados y 4 millones de dólares en pérdidas materiales. El redactor que escribe estas líneas, había tenido oportunidad exactamente un año antes, de ver el estallido y desarrollo de una rebelión negra en el barrio más segregado de Nueva York, y guarda como un recuerdo impresionante el valor con que luchaban los negros contra los más modernos medios materiales de la policía blanca norteamericana, pero todo indica que ellos representaron sólo una escaramuza, si se le compra con la rebelión del presente verano librada en más de 10 estados de la Unión.

La presencia de Carmichael en Cuba, en los precisos instantes en que se libraba la lucha negra en Estados Unidos, enardeció aún más a los rascistas y al gobierno de Johnson, el Vocero del Departamento de Estado norteamericano, anunció sanciones contra el líder de color por visitar Cuba sin autorización especial, a lo que él respondió con una alegre sonrisa y una frase irónica: "¡Al diablo! con Mc Closkey!! El no es mi padre para elegir a mis amigos y para impedirme viajar a donde desee". Carmichael sabe, y así lo dijo en La Habana, que en su país no sólo le esperan sanciones judiciales, también le aguarda en cada esquina un atentado contra su vida, preparado por la Agencia Central de Inteligencia (CIA), o cualquiera de las organizaciones racistas que se multiplican en los Estados Unidos, las que han anunciado su decisión de asesinarle. El responde con orgullo: "no le temo a la muerte. Si ella beneficia a mi pueblo, ahí está mi vida".

El que piense que Carmichael es un joven charlatán que había impulsado por la vitalidad que bulle en su espigada figura, se equivoca. El joven, con estudios de filosofía y ciencias políticas, es un auténtico líder. Así lo entienden los más severos comentaristas de los Estados Unidos que le han visto en la televisión, ya que el no acepta periodistas blancos de su país en las concentraciones donde participa.

Algunos periodistas blancos izquierdizantes de su país, insinúan que Carmichael es poco generoso porque no reconoce el apoyo que le dan ellos, y en general los blancos de esa misma línea, a los movimientos negros. El líder al respecto responde: "nosotros nos encaminamos hacia el control de nuestras comunidades afroamericanas, al igual que ustedes se encaminan a arrebatar el control de sus países de todo el continente latinoamericano de las manos de las potencias imperialistas extranjeras. Por tanto, sólo existe un camino abierto ante nosotros. Debemos cambiar a norteamérica de tal modo, que la economía y la política del país estén en manos del pueblo. Nuestra especial preocupación la constituye nuestro pueblo, formado por los afroamericanos. Pero está claro que una comunidad basada en la propiedad común de todos los recursos, no puede existir dentro del actual marco capitalista; para que la transformación total se lleve a efecto, los blancos deben ver la lucha en la que estamos empeñados como su propia lucha. Actualmente, no es así. Aun cuando el trabajador blanco es explotado, él considera que sus mejores intereses coinciden con la actual estructura social. Debido a la naturaleza racista de este país, no podemos trabajar en comunidades blancas, pero le hemos pedido a aquellos blancos que laboran junto a nosotros, que vayan a sus propias comunidades a impulsar la propaganda y la organización. Cuando los trabajadores blancos se percaten de su verdadera condición, entonces existirá la posibilidad de alianza entre ellos y nosotros".

Según Carmichael los trabajadores blancos, incluso aquellos de más bajos salarios, no se esfuerzan por destruir el régimen capitalista porque sólo les interesa recibir un poco más de lo mucho que tienen los poderosos. El líder dice que los blancos han contribuido a evitar la lucha de clase dentro de Estados Unidos con su expansión económica sobre el Tercer Mundo, y especialmente con su explotación de la gente de color dentro y fuera de su país. Carmichael agrega: "los capitalistas norteamericanos nunca disminuyeron sus ganancias domésticas para compartirlas con los trabajadores. En lugar de eso, se expandieron internacionalmente y tiraron los huesos de su banquete a la clase trabajadora norteamericana; esa clase disfruta de los rendimientos del trabajo de los obreros del Tercer Mundo. El proletariado está en el Tercer Mundo, y la burguesía es la sociedad blanca occidental; los verdaderos revolucionarios potenciales de los Estados Unidos, son las juventudes negras de los Ghettos, las que han desarrollado la insurgencia en las ciudades son las comunidades afroamericanas y latinas, donde las rebeliones pasadas han proporcionado importantes enseñanzas al luchar contra la reacción armada del gobierno ante nuestros levantamientos".

Carmichael anuncia que los negros pelearán solos y hasta el final en los Estados Unidos, y buscarán como aliados a los pueblos revolucionarios latinoamericanos y a todos los del Tercer Mundo. Para él ya no cabe ningún tipo de expresión de protesta pacífica. Repudia a Martin Luther King, Premio Nobel de La Paz y a todos los movimientos que intentan mejorar la situación actual de - de los negros por la vía pacífica o "caritativa". El y su gente están convencidos que debe dirigirse la lucha hacia la destrucción del régimen capitalista e imperialista de los Estados Unidos.

Esa lucha la concibe solamente armada: "está claro que hemos decidido enfrentar a la opresión con las armas. Nosotros tenemos que unírnos a aquellos que en el mundo están en favor de la lucha armada como la única vía de solución para nuestros problemas. Durante 400 años hemos tratado de vivir dentro de estados bajo la forma de una coexistencia pacífica y el resultado ha sido una vida bajo el régimen más fascista del mundo. Nuestra salida es la de destruir este régimen, o ser destruidos en la lucha. De todas maneras, vamos a combatir con las armas por nuestra revolución"

Carmichael define la nueva fase de la lucha armada del siguiente modo: -- "Nos hemos visto forzados a emplear la guerra de guerrillas en la ciudad. No tenemos otra alternativa. Este tipo de lucha tiene para nosotros más ventajas que las que ofrece para otros pueblos, que también batallan por su liberación, las fuerzas armadas y policiales blancas no podrán usar contra nosotros armas poderosas, porque nuestra guerra de guerrillas será urbana y por lo tanto todo ataque masivo contra nosotros repercutirá sobre los blancos. Les será imposible tirarnos bombas, por ejemplo. En esta nueva fase de nuestra lucha, podremos contar con nuestros hermanos que han sido entrenados para participar en la lucha contra el heroico pueblo de Vietnam. Nosotros no resistimos a ser -- enviados allá, como ha ocurrido con nuestro ejemplar campeón Cassius Clay, -- pero ellos todavía tienen el poder, lo que si bien nos repugna, nos deja por lo menos una ventaja; nuestros hermanos dominan las armas que emplean los -- blancos para matar".

Carmichael habla con seguridad, responde ágilmente y pone un acento combativo en sus frases, reconoce a Mao Tse Tung, Fidel Castro y al Che Guevara como "a sus hermanos". Recuerda con emoción que cuando el primer ministro cubano fué a Nueva York con motivo del debate en las Naciones Unidas, se alojó en el hotel "Theresse" en pleno barrio negro de Harlem. Carmichael dice: --- "creo que empezamos a leer los libros estratégicos del Che Guevara en 1965. Habíamos oído hablar de él desde la revolución Cubana, pero por no encontrar traducidas sus obras teníamos dificultades para conocer su pensamiento; después de traducido es leído por los negros, especialmente por los jóvenes y -- llega a saber que es uno de los nuestros".

Todos sabemos que el Che ha dicho que la lucha será larga. Nos preparamos para una resistencia prolongada. Al principio moriremos muchos, pero la victoria será nuestra".

5 HELICOPTEROS CON TROPAS ABATIDOS

A Meeting With Carmichael in the "Round House"

London, England, July 30, "Prensa Latina". - The famous "Round House," a center for the dissemination of ideas in this world capital of eleven million inhabitants, was crammed with people on the occasion of the free debate on the "Dialectics of Liberation," which is sponsored by the promoters of the Convention here.

According to a statement made to Prensa Latina by English psychiatrist Joseph Becker, one of the sponsors of the event: "The meeting was called so that the people may have an opportunity to become informed about and, if they so wish, debate with the best-known personalities of North America and Europe." The Convention - under the auspices of the British Institute for Phenomenological Studies - is designed to bring together political leaders, scientific personalities and outstanding figures of the world of culture. Thus, it is possible to have on the same podium Negro leader Stokely Carmichael and such a controversial personality as United States poet Allen Ginsberg.

Other participants in the capacity of delegates are writer Paul Sweezy, Director of "Monthly Review," newsman John Gerassi, American publisher Paul Goodman and Belgian economist Ernest Mandel, as well as other personalities.

"Dialectics of Liberation," which started on the fifteenth of this month under the slogan: "Let Us Clarify Socially Imposed Lies," has had a number of well-received speakers, including Carmichael and Gerassi.

The Convention unanimously approved a resolution of solidarity with French essayist and revolutionary Regis Debray proposed to a plenary session by Paul Sweez (sic). The building, which is circular - hence, its name "Round House" - made for an ideal setting for Carmichael, Ginsberg, and British scientists Ronald Laing and Emmet Grogan for a spontaneous spectacular called "happening." Robin Blackburn, Director of "The New Left Review," who represented philosopher Bertrand Russell at the First Havana Tricontinental Conference, explained that the mechanics of a "happening" lies in that the promoters and the public, without previous arrangement, take successively to the floor on a desired theme. This is how - he pointed out - a polemic is generated and develops itself. Very early, a long line of people, mostly young "diggers," a British variation of the American "hippies," started to gather before the imposing brick building with a cone-shaped roof which used to be a workshop for repairing rolling stock of the London railroad.

The "diggers," a product of the so-called "beaten generation," attract increasingly more the attention of the passers-by because of their peculiar attire. They always wear cocked hats with strange dangling ornaments, faded shirts which are at least two sizes larger than they need, and tight-fitting trousers that end in the shape of an "A" (bell-bottomed trousers). The militant "digger" is always barefoot and his hair is extremely long. This description applies to both sexes alike.

This picturesque crowd, a living witness to the niggardliness of our time, is trying to channel it into the most difficult directions. As soon as a "digger" would rowdishly applaud a statement by Carmichael in favor of "Negro Power," another would interrupt the speaker on the podium to extoll the virtues of "heroic drugs." Nevertheless, the "happening," generally speaking, was mostly political. After a long and drawn-out discussion-debate in which Carmichael scathed Ginsberg's escapist prohibitions (sic) a young "digger" asked the ex-SNCC leader what kind of literature he recommended for American Negroes and revolutionaries at large. "I tell them to read Che Guevara, Malcolm and Mao Tse-tung," Carmichael replied.

REUNION CON CARMICHAEL

EN LA "ROUND HOUSE"

LONDRES, Inglaterra, 30 de julio (PRENSA LATINA).-- El famoso "Round House", foro de difusión intelectual de esta capital -- de once millones de habitantes, se abarrotó de público durante -- el debate libre organizado por las autoridades del congreso "Dialéctica de la Liberación", que sesiona aquí.

El mítin --según dijo a PRENSA LATINA el psiquiatra inglés -- y organizador del evento, Joseph Becker-- "fué convocado para que el pueblo tuviera oportunidad, tanto de informarse, como de polemizar con las más conocidas personalidades de Norteamérica y Europa". El Congreso --auspiciado por el Instituto Británico de Estudios Fenomenológicos--, reúne a dirigentes políticos, personalidades científicas y destacadas figuras del mundo cultural. Así, -- es posible enlazar, en una misma tribuna, al líder negro Stockely Carmichael con figura tan controvertida como el poeta estadounidense Allen Ginsberg.

Participan, igualmente como delegados, el escritor Paul --- Sweezy, director de "Monthly Review", el periodista John Gerassi, Paul Goodman, editor norteamericano, el economista belga Ernest-Mandel, y otras personalidades.

Dialéctica de la Liberación, que comenzó sus trabajos el pasado día 15 bajo el lema de "clarificar las mentiras socialmente impuestas", ha contado con aplaudidas intervenciones, como las -- de Carmichael y Gerassi.

También se aprobó por unanimidad una resolución de solidaridad con el ensayista y revolucionario francés Régis Debray, sometida al plenario por iniciativa de Paul Sweezy. El edificio que -- por su forma circular se conoce aquí como la "Round House", sirvió de marco a Carmichael, Ginsberg y a los científicos británicos Ronald Laing y Emmet Grogan, para el espontáneo espectáculo denominado "Happening".

Robin Blackburn, director de "The New Left Review", representante del filósofo Bertrand Russell en la Primera Conferencia Tricontinental de La Habana, explicó que la mecánica del "Happening" consiste en que la presidencia y el público, sin previa -- organización, hagan sucesivamente uso de la palabra sobre el tema deseado. De este modo --señaló-- la polémica se genera y desarrolla. Desde temprano, una hilera de personas en su mayoría compuesta de jóvenes "diggers" --una variante británica de los "hippies" norteamericanos-- se agolpaban ante la mole de ladrillos -- que con su techo cónico sirviera en un tiempo de nave para la reparación de los ferrocarriles londinenses.

Los "diggers", una resultante de la llamada "beaten generation" (generación golpeada) comienzan por llamar la atención del viajero por su singular indumentaria. Bicornios con lentejuelas, camisas descoloridas y casi siempre 2 tallas más grandes de lo normal; ajustados pantalones que anchan en forma de "A" en sus -- extremidades; pies descalzos y larga cabellera, identifican al -- "digger" militante. La descripción vale para uno y otro sexo.

Esa pintoresca multitud, que vive la angustia de los tiempos, trate de canalizarla por lo más difíciles caminos. Tan pronto un "digger" aplaudía escandalosamente un pronunciamiento de Carmichael a favor del "Poder Negro", como otro, interrumpía al orador de turno para hacer la apología de las drogas heroicas. Sin embargo, el "happening" giró en líneas generales sobre un eje -- eminentemente político. Después de una prolongada discusión en que Carmichael vapuleó las prohibiciones escapistas de Ginsberg, un joven "digger" preguntó al exdirigente del SNCC qué literatura recomendaba a los negros norteamericanos, y a los revolucionarios en general. "Les digo que lean al Che Guevara, Malcolm y Mao Tse Tung, respondió Carmichael.

A Message From Carmichael to "Comandante" Che Guevara

Havana, Cuba, August 1 (Prensa Latina). - American Negro Leader, Stokely Carmichael, sent today, in his own voice over the facilities of Radio Havana, Cuba, a message of greetings to indomitable guerrilla leader Ernesto Che Guevara, "wherever he may be," and, also, a message to all liberation movements in the world. We are happy to reprint the texts in their entirety, as follows:

"To my comrade and friend Che: The Afro-Americans in the United States experience a great admiration for you. We look forward to the publications of your writings, which we read and make our own in order to plan our tactics.

"We want you to know, wherever you may be, that you are an inspiration not only to the Negroes of the United States, but also to all liberation struggles throughout the world. Please keep up the fight, because your fight inspires us. Do not lose your spirit, comrade.

"We shall overcome. Stokely Carmichael."

To our comrades in the armed struggle against imperialism and racism, Stokely Carmichael said:

"We, members of the Movement for the Liberation of American Negroes, want you to know, wherever you may be, that we are your comrades. We will never allow our enemies to force us to fight against you, as it happened in the past.

"We will not fight in Vietnam, or in the Dominican Republic, or anywhere else in the world. Our battle shall be waged inside the United States.

"While we fight to destroy imperialism from within, we know that you also are fighting it from without.

100-446080-511

"We have dedicated our lives to the destruction of imperialism, just as you have demonstrated time and again that you have dedicated yours to the same goal. We are looking forward to the day - which will soon come - when decadent governments are overthrown and we can start the true revolution, that of constructing a society based upon humanity and not a society based upon exploitation.

"Our struggle is the same. Our love for mankind will keep us going in this struggle.

"Stokely Carmichael (SNCC)."

UNA AVENTURA EXTRAORDINARIA

Por Enrique GONZALEZ MANET

A mediados de 1948 cuatro hombres, desnudos, provocaron cintillos en la prensa mundial.

Llegaron a Manaos acompañados por cinco indios jamás vistos en esa zona del Brasil.

Acababan de cumplir una de las mas espectaculares misiones científicas de la era actual: recorrer doce mil kilómetros en piragua y tres mil a pie a través de territorios que no aparecen en los mapas, desentrañando así algunos de los enigmas que existían aun en torno a la geografía de la expedición, poeta, surrealista, combatiente clandestino, etnólogo y cineasta, su jefe cobró en poco tiempo fama mundial. Su libro y su película, "Hombres Llamados Salvajes", recorrieron el orbe y fueron traducidos a mas de una docena de idiomas.

Alain Gheerbrant, 46 años, figura atlética vivió dos años con la tribu de los "Guajiribos" y los "Piaroas", los primeros viviendo fuera de todo contacto y en estado absoluto de primitivismo. Descubrió que huyen de la civilización por temor al hombre blanco y que, lejos de desaparecer, mantienen intactas antiguas tradiciones que se pierden en el tiempo. Asistimos cuenta Gheerbrant, a ceremonias secretas de iniciación, en las que juega un importante papel el suplicio de las hormigas gigantes, cuya picadura es capaz de paralizar a un hombre 24 horas. En este ritual hay rasgos de ceremonias narradas por viajeros desde el siglo 18.

Lo mas importante, dice, es haber verificado que los indios bravos no lo son, sino que todo es cuestión de acercarse a ellos como seres humanos y someterse a sus leyes. Muchos intrusos y aventureros han muerto al querer penetrar en sus territorios. No obstante, el asedio los ha ido expulsando cada vez mas hacia lo peor y mas profundo de las selvas.

Alain, con su bondad innata y su sentido humanista de la ciencia, despertó la pasión de una hermosa india "piaroa" que lo buscó durante semanas por los afluentes del Orinoco. "Me pidió que la llevara a mi país, pero no pude hacerlo, porque hubiera quedado fuera de orden social en cualquier comunidad. Además, su concepción del mundo y de la vida no habría resistido el choque de la civilización".

Fue muy difícil reiniciar la vida en Francia. Después de una experiencia semejante algo queda cambiado para siempre. Dos meses le tomó el viaje de regreso hasta Boa Vista. Comieron seis veces en un mes, para entonces ya estaban habituados a lo peor. Su dieta durante dos años consistió habitualmente en carne de mono, tortuga, caimán, tapir, armadillo y pina. También comían frutas silvestres y casabe. Fue en esta zona donde halló una especie desconocida de oso hormiguero de dos metros de largo y grande como un buey. En su patria le esperaba el triunfo. Su libro llega, hoy al millón de ejemplares. Eso le abrió las puertas de otro gran éxito editorial. "El Congo Negro y Blanco". Expresa que ya conocía parte de América y deseaba esta vez reflejar la vida de una colonia "modelo", esa aventura literaria y etnográfica resulto un escándalo político.

Estados Unidos no se atrevió a publicar su libro, Inglaterra siguió el mismo camino, y se explica: en el predijo mucho de los terribles acontecimientos que son hoy del dominio de todo el mundo, desnudó la opresión y el maltrato de los indígenas por parte de los intereses mineros y señaló la obra de erradicación de las tradiciones y la cultura autóctona que llevan a cabo las empresas extranjeras.

"Con todo, el sistema de perturbación y dominio norteamericano en América es mucho peor, por su carácter indirecto. Son dictadores ausentistas que ejercen control a través de intermediarios nativos. Lo mas grave es que resulta muy difícil hacer comprender la acción del neocolonialismo destinado a despersonalizar a los pueblos". Me interesó venir a Cuba desde la caída de Batista y porque esta es la primera verdadera revolución, de América Latina, además, Cuba está geográficamente entre la tradición de América del Norte y de América del Sur y quería saber hasta donde han dejado su marca los Estados Unidos. IMPOTENCIA POLICIACA PARA IMPEDIR CONGRESO UNIVERSITARIO

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brasil, 10. de agosto (PRENSA LATINA).- En absoluto fracaso han culminado todas las pesquisas de los cuerpos policíacos de Sao Paulo, y la Policía Federal, para determinar el lugar en que se efectuó la reunión preparatoria del XXIX Congreso de la Unión Nacional de Estudiantes (UNE).

Ese importante evento, se efectuará en Sao Paulo en las próximas horas. El Departamento de Orden Político y Social (DOPS), y otros cuerpos represivos, han detenido a numerosos estudiantes, en un esfuerzo por imposibilitar el Congreso de la ilegalizada UNE.

Mientras los agentes hacían sus investigaciones, los delegados al Congreso efectuaban una reunión preparatoria en un lugar de Sao Paulo, burlando así la vigilancia policíaca.

SICOSIS GUERRILLERA SUFRE EL EJERCITO BO LIVIANO

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, 10. de agosto (PRENSA LATINA).- El enviado especial del matutino bonaerense "La Nación" en Bolivia, Justo Piernes, dice que las guerrilleras bolivianas realizan actividades que ponen en ridículo a las tropas del general René Barrientos.

Piernes dice que recientemente se escuchó en la selva, a las once de la noche, "el tableteo lejano de una ametralladora. Simultáneamente, comenzaron a encenderse y apagarse unas luces, que a lo lejos daban la impresión de vehículos avanzando entre la maraña boscosa". El comando militar añade el correspondiente alerta sobre estos movimientos, realizó una acción envolvente que se prolongó 3 horas. A las 2 de la madrugada, la tropa abrió fuego contra las luces y el tableteo de las ametralladoras, incluyendo lanzamiento de morteros".

"Cuando aclaró, se pudo ver que las extrañas luces eran linternas con interruptores colocadas por las guerrillas, y el tableteo de las ametralladoras salió de un grabador conectado con 5 amplificadores atados a las ramas de los árboles más altos".

Asimismo, Piernes dice que vió detener a un campesino de espesa barba, porque al ser interrogado por los soldados declaró que venía de La Habana.

Al respecto, señala que un jinete de larga barba que recorría un camino de la localidad de Trinidad, departamento de Beni, fue rodeado por soldados que le preguntaron de que lugar venía, a lo cual contestó: "vengo de La Habana...". "No necesitó más. Fue esposado y conducido al puesto militar más próximo".

"Tardó 3 días en aclarar su situación", comenta Piernes. El señor de la Barba, concluye, era el propietario de un establecimiento rural llamado precisamente "La Habana".

PROSIGUE LA BATALLA ENTRE GUERRILLEROS Y EJERCITO

LA PAZ, Bolivia, 10. de agosto (PRENSA LATINA).- A 4 asciende hasta ahora el número de muertos del ejército, en la encarnizada batalla que libran desde el pasado viernes tropas del gobierno y efectivos guerrilleros, en el sureste del país, según un comunicado del mando de las Fuerzas Armadas.

Añade que el ejército registra hasta el momento 4 heridos y que la acción prosigue "con intensidad" en un lugar que ubica en la zona de Quebrada Oscura del Cerro Durán y en las proximidades del río Rositas. Fuerzas de aviación han comenzado a bombardear esa zona, en lo que el comunicado describe como "núcleo central" de los guerrilleros.

Informaciones anteriores, provenientes de Santa Cruz, indicaron que la acción se libraba cerca de las inaccesibles quebradas conocidas como el filo, a más de 70 kilómetros al este de Valle Grande, en el departamento de Santa Cruz. El coronel Joaquín Zenteno Anaya, comandante de la Octava División con asiento en Santa Cruz, informó que sus fuerzas habían sufrido 3 muertos y 6 heridos. El escueto comunicado militar de hoy, no precisa si se trata de nuevas bajas gubernamentales, pero explica que hacia la zona continúan movilizándose refuerzos.

Añade que "el combate continúa, y por la rapidez de las acciones aun no se tienen detalles exactos de la operación".

NUEVA AMENAZA DE BARRIENTOS CONTRA
DEBRAY

LONDRES, Inglaterra, 10. de agosto (PRENSA LATINA). - Nuevas amenazas contra la vida del periodista francés Regis Debray formuló el jefe del régimen militar boliviano, general René Barrientos, en declaraciones que publica el diario "The Times".

Al mismo tiempo, Barrientos amenazó al pueblo boliviano con incrementar la represión a través de "medidas sumamente severas, que podrán sorprender a muchos, para acabar con la acción desestabilizadora de los comunistas". Acerca del caso del intelectual Debray, Barrientos dijo que "el pueblo no aceptará un acto de clemencia después del veredicto del Consejo de Guerra que lo juzgará", -- según se anunció, a mediados de agosto.

En su comentario sobre las declaraciones del militar boliviano "The Times" afirma en que Debray puede ser condenado a 30 años de cárcel o a la pena de muerte, prescrita en la Constitución Boliviana. Recientemente, durante una conferencia de prensa en La Paz, Barrientos manifestó que su régimen "está haciendo esfuerzos para evitar que algunas personas" quieran hacerse justicia con sus propias manos". Esto fue interpretado por los observadores como un nuevo indicio de que los militares bolivianos no han abandonado la idea de acudir al expediente del "linchamiento" en el caso de Debray, para eliminar al joven y destacado periodista.

MENSAJE DE CARMICHAEL
AL CDTE "CHE" GUEVARA

LA HABANA, Cuba, 10. de agosto (PRENSA LATINA). - El dirigente negro norteamericano, Stokely Carmichael, dirigió hoy en su propia voz y por conducto de "Radio Habana Cuba", un mensaje de salutación, donde quiera que se encuentre, al aguerido comandante guerrillero, Ernesto Che Guevara, y a los movimientos de liberación del mundo, cuyo texto reproducimos a continuación íntegramente:

A mi camarada y amigo Che: los afroamericanos dentro de los Estados Unidos, sienten una gran admiración por usted. Nosotros esperamos ansiosamente sus escritos para leerlos, digerirlos y planear nuestras tácticas basadas en ellos.

Nosotros queremos que usted sepa, donde quiera que usted se encuentre, que usted es una inspiración, no solamente para los negros dentro de los Estados Unidos, sino para las luchas de liberación en todo el mundo. Por favor, manténganse combatiendo porque su lucha nos inspira. No desmaye, compañero.

"Venceremos" Stokely Carmichael".

A nuestros compañeros en la lucha armada contra el imperialismo y el racismo:

Nosotros, los integrantes del Movimiento por la Liberación de los Negros Norteamericanos, queremos que ustedes sepan, donde quiera que se encuentren, que nosotros somos sus compañeros. Jamás permitiremos que nuestros enemigos nos obliguen a combatir contra ustedes, como lo han hecho en el pasado.

Nosotros no combatiremos en Vietnam, ni en Santo Domingo, ni en ninguna parte del mundo. Nuestra lucha será dentro de los Estados Unidos.

Mientras nosotros combatimos para destruir al imperialismo desde dentro, sabemos que ustedes también estarán combatiéndolo desde fuera.

Hemos dedicado nuestras vidas a la destrucción del imperialismo, así como ustedes han demostrado una y otra vez que ustedes han dedicado las suyas. Esperamos el día que será muy pronto cuando derroquemos a los gobiernos decadentes y comencemos la verdadera revolución, la de construir una sociedad basada en la humanidad en vez de una sociedad basada en la explotación.

Nuestra lucha es la misma. Nuestro amor por la humanidad nos hará continuar en la lucha.

Stokely Carmichael (SNCC).

Carmichael in the Magazine "Tricontinental":
"You Must Stab the Eye of the Octopus." (US)

Havana, Cuba, August 13, (Prensa Latina). - "We have to unite in order to defeat the enemy, because we are not struggling against an isolated capitalist system; we are struggling against international capitalism," American Negro leader Stokely Carmichael states in an article titled: "The Third World, Our World," which appeared in the first issue of "Tricontinental" magazine. In this article, Carmichael calls for unity of all those who are exploited in the world as they struggle against their imperialist oppressors.

"Just like the imperialist powers of the world, which have internationalized their system," Carmichael points out, "we too must internationalize our system so that this struggle of ours becomes an international struggle."

The ex-president of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) also underscores the need for the Negro population of the United States to become convinced that their struggle is "the same as the struggle of the Third World," and they, therefore, cannot allow White America to make use of them to wage imperialist wars designed to continue keeping other nations in a state of subservience.

In reference to the concrete case of American imperialism, Carmichael defines it as "an enormous octopus whose tentacles spread all over the world and whose eye is in the United States." Cuba, according to the young Negro leader, has already cut off one of the tentacles. Vietnam has tied down another. However, the other tentacles are still free. Whenever a struggle breaks out, the United States puts out its other tentacles."

While other peoples tie down the remaining tentacles of the United States, Carmichael says, "We, Afro-Americans, can stab the eye of the octopus." He goes on to say: "If we succeed in getting other peoples to fight the United States while we carry on our fight inside the country, it will be easier for us to defeat the octopus. As a matter of fact this is what has to be done, if we are going to defeat it at all."

"If we allow the United States to continue to wage one battle at a time," Carmichael concluded, "it can go on indefinitely. However, if it is forced to wage many battles at the same time, it is possible to defeat it almost immediately. This is why our alignment with the Third World is so very important!"

Roldán repite las palabras de Fulbright y agrega que "al parecer, la actual administración intenta descargar sus faltas en todos: políticos, negros, cubanos, norvietnamitas".

Finalmente, el comentarista de "EFE" se refiere al evento continental que se celebró en La Habana, en el que participaron representantes de los movimientos de liberación de América Latina. Sobre la conferencia de la OLAS, pone en boca de un "corresponsal amigo" las siguientes palabras: "no es que la OLAS quiera crear muchos Vietnam en Latinoamérica, son los Estados Unidos los que están viendo que, frente a los deseos de liberación de los pueblos sudamericanos, tendrán que crear nuevos Vietnam y hacer creer a la opinión mundial que ellos están allí para defender su libertad".

CARMICHAEL EN LA REVISTA "TRICONTINENTAL":
"HAY QUE APUÑALARLE EL OJO AL PULPO" (EE. UU.)

LA HABANA, Cuba, 13 de agosto (PRENSA LATINA).- "Tenemos que unirnos para derrotar al enemigo, porque no estamos luchando contra un capitalismo aislado: estamos luchando contra el capitalismo internacional", afirma el dirigente negro norteamericano Stokely Carmichael en un artículo titulado "El Tercer Mundo, Nuestro Mundo", aparecido en el primer número de la revista "Tricontinental" y en el cual aboga por la unión de los explotados del mundo en la lucha contra sus opresores imperialistas.

"Como las potencias imperialistas del mundo han internacionalizado su sistema, puntualiza Carmichael, nosotros también debemos internacionalizar el nuestro, a fin de que nuestra lucha sea una lucha internacional".

El expresidente del Comité Coordinador Estudiantil por Acciones, no Violentas (SNCC) subraya también la necesidad de que la población negra norteamericana llegue al convencimiento de que su lucha es "afín a la lucha del Tercer Mundo", y que por tanto, no podemos permitirle a la América Blanca que nos utilice para luchar en las guerras imperialistas, encaminadas a continuar subyugando a los pueblos".

Refiriéndose al caso concreto del imperialismo norteamericano, Carmichael lo define como "un enorme pulpo cuyos tentáculos se extienden por todo el mundo, y cuyo ojo se encuentra en Estados Unidos". Cuba, dice el joven líder negro, ya le ha cortado uno de sus tentáculos; Vietnam le ha atado otro; sin embargo, el resto de los tentáculos están sueltos. Y, cada vez que se inicia una lucha, los Estados Unidos estiran los otros tentáculos".

Mientras otros pueblos amarrarán los restantes tentáculos de Estados Unidos, señala Carmichael, los afro-americanos "podríamos apuñalarle el ojo al pulpo", y agrega: "si podemos lograr que los pueblos comiencen a luchar contra Estados Unidos, mientras nosotros luchamos dentro del país, nos sería más fácil derrotar al pulpo, y esto es lo que debemos hacer, si en realidad vamos a lograr derrotarlo".

"Si le permitimos a Estados Unidos que continúe librando una lucha, y luego otra, y después otra más, dice finalmente Carmichael, continuará así, indefinidamente; pero si se ve forzado a desarrollar varias luchas al mismo tiempo sería posible derrotarlo casi inmediatamente. En ello estriba, precisamente, la importancia de nuestra alineación con el Tercer Mundo".

FIDEL CASTRO HABLA A LOS JOVENES CAMPESINOS DE ISLA DE PINOS

NUEVA GERONA, Cuba, 13 de agosto (PRENSA LATINA).- El primer ministro Fidel Castro exhortó a la juventud a resolver los problemas que implica la creación de una sociedad comunista en Isla de Pinos, situada al sur de la provincia de La Habana.

El dirigente cubano hizo el resumen del acto inaugural de la presa "Vietnam Heroico", que coincidió ayer con el quinto aniversario de la creación del Instituto Nacional de Recursos Hidráulicos (INRH).

"¿Por qué no aspirar a convertir a esta región en la primera región comunista de Cuba? Propongámonos convertir también a esta región en un gran centro experimental social", expresó el premier cubano.

En otra parte de su discurso, señaló que le alegraba muchísimo ver terminada la presa "Vietnam Heroico" e indicó que "para todos nosotros, para buen número de cubanos, que de una manera o de otra, están participando en estos planes de Isla de Pinos, la terminación de estas obras es una cosa que nos llena de satisfacción y optimismo".

Stokely Carmichael: Why
We, Negroes, Are Fighting.

An Interview
by Mario Menendez Rodriguez

Havana, Cuba, July and August 1967.

Those who have heard or read his speeches calling for equality and justice for the Negro race, victimized and humiliated in the United States for so many years, claim that Stokely Carmichael has signed his own death sentence, if death is to be understood as the physical disappearance of the individual. According to them, the young 26-year-old apostle who, in Michigan, Wisconsin, New Jersey, California, Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, Maryland, Florida, Louisiana, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Colorado, Providence (sic) and Washington, has created as many Vietnams inside the United States by shouting, at the top of his lungs, his inacceptance of the methods of those who are the leaders of a system corrupt down to its innermost core festering on a whole nation worthy of a better destiny ... according to them, this extraordinary Negro leader is living on "borrowed time."

Tall and thin, agile in his thoughts and in putting them into words, Carmichael was born on June 29, 1941, at Port of Spain, Trinidad, when that island of the Antilles was a British possession. Eleven years later, his family moved to the United States and, in the filthy and forgotten slums of New York, they lived under the most incredible conditions of hardship and deprivation. A restless young man concerned about the poverty imposed on his race by those who made the rules of a game in which the Negro is always the loser because he cannot play at it on an equal footing, Stokely was able to study philosophy, sociology and history at Howard University. In those years, he became acquainted with the methods and procedures of those who are his enemies.

Carmichael was arrested 35 times and found out how futile it is to abide by the rules of a game created by and for the survival of a certain system. He reached the conclusion that an armed struggle is the only road which is left for his oppressed brothers to win freedom for themselves in the United States and to live under circumstances of social justice.

Stokely, it can be said, was born in the very heart of an empire of slavery and envisions a world of freedom not only for himself, but, also for all those who are oppressed and today are looked upon as "the condemned of the earth."

When speaking of this young and extraordinary American leader of the Negro race, by association of ideas, one cannot help but become aware that one has at last known the true meaning of valor, boldness, honesty of convictions, political clarity and a firm determination to fight until victory, all of which are the "sine qua non" condition for the success of a liberation movement.

When he talks with a friend about general subjects, Stokely's voice is calm and poised. However, when the conversation turns to the slaughter of Negroes in the United States, his tone of voice rises to a shrill and sharp-edged pitch and the expression on his face reflects the hatred that fills his coffee-brown eyes and impels the gestures of his hands. He becomes restlessness personified, but a kind of restlessness which is held in check from the inside.

And he makes his point.

However, those who have not lived in the United States find it difficult to understand the true meaning of racial discrimination. We are in a position to talk about it, because we spent 9 years of our life in Louisiana. It is an indescribable hatred against the Negroes; a hatred which is handed down from one generation to the next of the "privileged" Caucasian race. It is a hatred which is reflected in the pronunciation itself of the English language. A colored man is correctly referred to as a "Negro." The term "nigger" is a term of disparagement, the disparagement of the American whites for those who were brought over from Africa as slaves. In the churches, in schools, in the public parks, on the buses and other means of transportation, in public establishments of any sort, if the Negro is allowed to enter at all, his place is in the back. Negroes are looked upon as inferior beings, almost as animals.

Yet, despite everything, Stokely keeps up his jovial spirits in the conviction that victory will smile upon them in the long run...

This remarkable young Negro leader came to Havana, Cuba, as an honor guest of the Latin American Solidarity Organization to represent the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

During his stay in Cuba, Stokely granted two interviews. One was a public interview, or rather, a nearly public interview, because he did not allow any American journalists and photographers. The other was an exclusive interview (sensational because of the statements he made and historical because it throws light on a leg of the journey which is still hard to see inside the United States). This exclusive interview was granted, in the presence of two more leaders of the Negro race, Julius Lester and George Ware, to the Director of Sucesos, a fact which honors us and for which we express our gratitude here as independent journalists.

The following is an outline of how the American leader thinks, acts and will continue to act.

QUESTION: What is the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee? When and why was it founded?

ANSWER: The Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, the organization for which I work, is made up of young American Negroes who decided to join forces in order to combat racial segregation and economic exploitation in the United States. It was established in 1960. The reason for which it was established is, in itself, a significant fact. The other organizations which allegedly defended the interests of the Negroes were not carrying on an effective kind of work. They were not really active. Most of them would take their problems to the Courts and we felt that nothing was to be achieved by taking a problem of injustice, for which a white person was responsible to the detriment of a Negro, to Courts of Law directed and controlled by white people. In other words, we were taking a problem of injustice to persons who were unjust. Nothing was to be solved that way. The only solution was and still is in the streets.

Now then, we adopted the terminology "nonviolent," because at the time the central figure in the struggle for the defense of the Negro race was no less than Martin Luther King and whoever dared to resort to violence was considered as a traitor. Consequently, we decided that we would use the terminology "nonviolent." We knew, however, that our struggle would inevitably take to violence, but we decided to wait for the right time. This is why we accepted the name that was given to our group and began coordinating our activities from city to city, wherever we were able to hold nonviolent demonstrations.

One year later, we had come to the conclusion that these peaceful demonstrations were getting us nowhere and were not an adequate solution to our problems. This solution was called for us to organize the youth. We decided to go to work in the State where racial segregation is of an unsuspectable magnitude: Mississippi. There, we started to organize our people and to train them for the fight. And now we have progressed so much that it is our duty to stimulate our young people, our people in general, to carry on the fight.

QUESTION: What are the political, social and economic goals pursued by your organization?

ANSWER: Politically, we want the American Negroes to free themselves from oppression. We also want the peoples of the Third World to win their freedom, particularly the peoples of Asia, Africa and Latin America. This is so because we are aware that our liberation depends on the liberation of those people and, vice versa, their liberation depends on our liberation. Therefore, we have to wage the same fight.

Politically speaking, I want to add that in the United States we pursue our right to control the communities in which we live. The fact of the matter is that today the communities in which we struggle against incredible poverty, these communities which are called "ghettos," are politically controlled by the whites. Tragic as it may sound, we constitute real colonies inside the United States, just like the majority of the Latin American countries. It is no secret, in fact, that those nations are controlled by the United States. In short, the countries of Latin America and the American Negro ghettos are a part of the colonial empire of the United States.

Economically, we want our people to be able to enjoy, or at least obtain all those things that are needed for a decent life without the need to struggle as painfully as we do today as the exploited victims of the political structure of American imperialism. We want to have power not only to control the resources inside our communities, but also to share these resources according to the needs of each community. We do not want to establish a Negro capitalist system. Quite the opposite is true. We want to destroy capitalism economically because it is a system which goes hand in hand with racism and exploitation. It is no secret that wherever capitalism has survived, racism and exploitation have been its unfailing result. Consequently, it is our duty to destroy a capitalist system which enslaves us inside and, outside, enslaves the peoples of the Third World.

Socially, we want what most of mankind wants from life: happy, free and independent people; a people which is in a position to make the decisions that it considers right and in accordance with the interests of the majority; a people which takes part in all decisions and which is not ashamed of the color of its skin or its culture.

Psychologically, physically and morally, we want a people that experiences equality in all its essence; a people that rejects capitalism once and for all.

QUESTION: What are the relations between the Negroes of the North and the Negroes of the South of the United States? What are the relations in general among all the Negroes of the United States?

ANSWER: Most of the people - and this is fundamental for a better understanding of the Negro problem - emigrated from the South because, in this region, racial discrimination was more brutal. There was a belief that the people in the North did not pay attention to the color of the skin and that what mattered to them^{was} how a man worked. We were told: Opportunities are everywhere, right and left; good jobs are everywhere; all one has to do is work hard. And we lent our credence to these idiocies and, having believed them, packed our suitcases and went North. However, when we got there, we found that everything was the same. We learned our lesson, namely, that in the United States, we shall never be able to enjoy a decent life under a capitalist system. So, you will not be able to find a single Negro in the United States today who harbors any hope to win for himself a decent situation in the system that prevails in the United States.

As a consequence of this state of affairs, relations among American Negroes have become considerably closer. The Southern Negro no longer looks to the North as a road of escape. No, we, American Negroes, understand that in order to win our liberation we must join our hands as a single people. In this fashion, what we have in the United States today is a sentiment of solidarity among all the Negroes, wherever they may be. This means that today, when the whites touch a Negro, they know that they have to "touch" all the Negroes, like a single large family. And this is no mere figure of speech. The unity of American Negroes is quite evident. Every time a racist policeman shoots a Negro, he has to face a whole city and this is true of many, many cities in the United States. The sentiment of solidarity is actual and real.

QUESTION: Certain people believe that American Negroes think of their struggle in terms of a racial conflict, namely, a conflict against the white race, and fail to interpret it as a class struggle. What is your opinion in this respect?

ANSWER: In connection with this question, I consider the following statement of great importance: Racism inside the United States is so strong that it is wellnigh impossible to get the white people to fight shoulder to shoulder with the Negroes. The majority of the poor white people and the members of the white working class who organize themselves in the United States do not struggle for a redistribution of the land. Their struggle is for more money. All they want is more money. They do not have the concept of what a redistribution of goods means, because the way they focus the problem is an economic way and not a social way. The fact of the matter is that the rural class of the United States has trained its sights and continues to train its sights on the countries of the Third World for the purpose of getting more income out of them, an income a minimal portion of which they share with the white working class of the United States. Let us understand this indisputable fact: The ruling class in America never cuts down on its profits. Quite the opposite is true. It raises them by pressing harder with its oppression of the underdeveloped peoples. It is easy to see from this state of affairs that the profits shared with the working class of the white race make this working class a part of the capitalist system, so that both ruling and working classes enjoy the money obtained with the blood of other peoples. Consequently, the working class of the white race is incapable of combating the capitalist system because, by accepting its money, it has become a part of the capitalist system.

Under the circumstances, it is difficult to develop a revolutionary conscience in the ranks of the working class of the white race. What we have is a group of white citizens fighting to hold on to their money. This is why we cannot find white people in the American working class who oppose the war in Vietnam. The truth of the matter is that they enjoy certain comforts because of the genocide that is going on there. If they opposed the war in Vietnam, they would attack the system and harm themselves.

Unfortunately, the whites do not realize that if the system were destroyed, a better one could be built. However, their fear of change is so great that they cling to the capitalist system to protect the balance sheet which is in their favor.

Today, the vanguard and the leadership of the struggle in the United States is made up of Negroes. And if this struggle has been interpreted as a conflict between Negroes and whites, this is due solely and exclusively to the fact that the white working class has closed ranks with the privileged group that oppresses the great majority out of a shameful fear of losing the little they have. We believe that the only way in which a revolutionary conscience can be developed in the working class of the white race is for the United States to begin to lose its profits; those profits which pour in from the Third World. Once this process begins, the United States will have to look in its own home for the means to maintain its relative well-being. Only then will the working class of the white race develop a revolutionary conscience. The leaders of the American capitalist system, once their sources of profits from the Third World dry up, will deny the white workers the portion of those profits they now share with them.

All of this means that Negroes are alone in their fight today. Of course, we would be happy if the white people of the working class were to join us in the struggle. However, whether they join us or not does not change the present situation. The fact is that we, Negroes, will fight until victory comes. Whenever the working class of the white race decides to join us in this fight, we will bid them welcome. In the meantime and until then, we will continue to be the vanguard.

It is not to be denied that the ruling class of the United States is aware of the Marxist concept that a class conflict is inevitable and will break out sooner or later. In order to avoid it or, at least, to put it off, they cling desperately to the profits they draw from the Third World in order to share them, in as little a portion as they can get away with, with the working class of the white race.

What the ruling class of the United States has managed to accomplish is a postponement of the inevitable class conflict. Today, the Third World has become the proletariat and the white society of the West has taken up the role of the bourgeoisie. Accordingly, when we mark the demarcation lines by color of the skin, we find that they are demarcation lines between classes, this being due to the way in which the white society of the West has "won over" the majority of its working class.

This is exactly what Europe did when the major imperialist powers of that continent shared Africa and Latin America with one another and avoided, inside their nations, the otherwise unavoidable class conflict. However, a postponement is no longer possible. The confrontation is here. On the other hand, I believe that the people outside the United States should remember that - at variance with any other nation - we were the only people who were brought in from the outside and enslaved inside the continent which continues to exploit us today. Other nations were enslaved, but this happened inside their own countries, so that when they took up arms and fought, they were able to develop a nationalist concept as the rallying point around which to group. We, by contrast - let us repeat it - were brought into the United States and cannot develop a nationalist concept. Consequently, our concept has to be based upon the color of our skin because it was precisely because of this black color that the whites decided to make us slaves. In this sense, the color of our skin represents our nationality. The color of our skin is what made the white people roam Africa in order to bring the Negroes to the United States, uprooting them from all the countries of the continent, regardless of nationality or origin.

The case of Cuba is different. Here, the African has the concept of nationality because he was the victim of oppression and merciless exploitation by privileged groups side by side with the whites. The Negroes in this Caribbean island, especially beginning with the Revolution, feel they belong to the Cuban system. Even before the Revolution, they were called Afro-Cubans.

Unfortunately for us, this does not happen and cannot happen in the United States. For 400 years, we have been the victims of a brutal fascism and, with the exception of John Brown, no white man has ever come out in our defense. Many have talked and continue to talk, but none of them is willing to fight in order to destroy the system of which they are a part.

QUESTION: What do you think of other Negro organizations in the United States? For example, what do you think of the organization headed by Martin Luther King?

ANSWER: In public it is very important to present a united front. This is the reason why we give our support to the organizations that are struggling at this time on behalf of the American Negro. After managing to bring together a sizeable number of people, we will eliminate the other organizations. At the present time, in order not to divide those who struggle for the grievances of the Negro race, we support a united front. But the time will come in the near future when there will be no room for discussing "what" or "why" and we will eliminate everybody who raises hurdles on the road of the Negroes seeking their true liberation. The American Negroes who have joined us on the road to true liberation are many.

QUESTION: What relations are there between the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee and the Movement for the Independence of Puerto Rico? How do you see the interrelation which exists between the struggle of the Puerto Rican people for independence and the struggle of the Negroes in the United States? How do you see the struggle of the Negro people in the United States of America in terms of help for the Puerto Ricans and in terms of unity between the two organizations?

ANSWER: My brother Malcolm taught us that we must internationalize our struggle. And, in order to follow some of his teachings, we are beginning with Puerto Rico. The reasons are manifold. For example, Puerto Rico, in terms of geographic distance, is very near the United States and is, to the fullest extent of the word, a colony of the United States. On the other hand, a large number of people who live with us inside American ghettos are Puerto Rican.

It so happened, however, that we used to have fights with the Puerto Ricans and, instead of uniting in the struggle against a system which oppresses us, we played into the hands of the American leading class which saw to it that we would fight against one another while the white policemen stood on the sidelines and laughed at us. We decided, therefore, that one of the best means to bring about the beginning of a political awakening on the part of our people and to establish bonds with the Puerto Ricans was to come out with a statement in favor of the independence of Puerto Rico. This is how we brought about unity. The fact is that until a short while ago, when the police attacked the Puerto Ricans, we Negroes did nothing and, as a matter of fact, we were more likely to join the white policemen and not the Puerto Ricans - and the same thing happened vice versa - now, when this happens in New York, or Newark or Chicago, Negroes and Puerto Ricans join forces to fight the police.

In short, we have raised the level of political awareness, and now we join forces to discuss the methods which will most effectively help us fight the capitalist system which oppresses Negroes and Puerto Ricans alike.

The agreement we have with MPI (Movement for the Independence of Puerto Rico) is based upon the following points:

- 1) The Movement for the Independence of Puerto Rico and the Federation of University Students for Independence recognize the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) as a sister organization in the exemplary struggle which it carries on for the liberation of the American Negro people and against the structure of the white power in the United States.

- 2) The Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) recognizes the Movement for the Independence of Puerto Rico as the vanguard of the Puerto Rican people in their struggle for national liberation and the Federation of University Students for Independence as the organization representing the Puerto Rican student body in their struggle against imperialism and as the vanguard of the student movement in their country.
- 3) MPI and FUPI (Movement for the Independence of Puerto Rico and the Federation of University Students for the Independence of Puerto Rico) offer all their support to the American Negro people in their struggle to win political and economic power in their communities, a power which is defined as Black Power.
- 4) SNCC gives its support for the struggle of the people of Puerto Rico for their national independence.
- 5) SNCC and MPI and FUPI fully realize that they have common objectives (points of struggle). These points are: The struggle against the recruitment of young people for the Armed Forces of the United States, a defense of the cultural integrity of the two peoples, the winning back of their economic wealth, etc. For this reason, they mutually support each other with their resources and efforts in the common struggle.
- 6) SNCC and MPI and FUPI fully realize that the struggle of the Puerto Rican people and of the Negro people in the urban ghettos of the United States for political and economic control, for better dwellings, for adequate education and for better living conditions in general can be developed on a common basis and by means of joint actions.
- 7) SNCC and MPI and FUPI believe that the struggle against compulsory military service and American aggression against the Vietnamese people can be strengthened by joint activities of the named organizations.

- 8) SNCC offers its help to the Puerto Rican organizations of MPI and FUPI in their battle to win consideration by the United Nations of the colonial case of Puerto Rico before long.
- 9) MPI and FUPI offer their help in the efforts to give international prominence to the struggle against oppression of the American Negro people and to have it recognized not as a domestic problem of the United States, but as a question which is of direct concern to all of mankind.
- 10) The three organizations point out that while their struggles are strengthened by means of specific activities, such activities shall be carried out in an atmosphere of mutual respect and mutual agreement.

QUESTION: What type of struggle will be developed in the United States against imperialist policies? Do you believe that an armed struggle is the only struggle left for the American people to win the power of government? What is your opinion about opposing reactionary violence with revolutionary violence?

ANSWER: Let me make it very clear that the only solution possible is Negro revolution and that we are not interested in peaceful coexistence. An armed struggle is the only way not only for us, but also for all the oppressed peoples of the world.

The people who talk about peaceful coexistence today talk about a maintenance of the "status quo" because the only way whereby an imperialist system can be destroyed is by the use of force. Talk leads nowhere. This is very clear to us. I say that it is very clear because for 400 years, we, the majority of the African-Americans in the United States, have been talking and talking and nothing else. It has been forgotten that as long as we talk, we play into the hands of the imperialists who have invented the game of talk.

However, we have a new game now and this game is called guerrilla warfare. It is a kind of game the imperialists cannot play at. And when you want to win at a game, you need to establish the rules of the game. If the rules are established by another person, this person will always win. The imperialists have established the rules of the talking game and, therefore, when you sit down to talk with them, you cannot win. They always find a good reason why something cannot be done now or could not be done at the time it should have been done. They sound very convincing. If you sit down to talk with them and try to reason with them according to their viewpoints and in the terms which are their own, how can you possibly win?

In the first place, they have no right to oppress the other peoples, so that speaking of oppression is idle and superfluous. They have no right to exploit anybody, so that talking about liberation from exploitation and oppression with those who practice exploitation and oppression is ridiculous. This is like a slave sitting down to speak with his master about his release. It does not make sense because the master has no intention to give him his release. What is left for the slave to do? The answer is easy: Let him rise in arms and let him kill the master if the master continues to refuse to stop his exploitation. This is the only solution.

Therefore, as far as we are concerned, it is all too clear: an armed struggle is the only road. The time for talking is over. We have talked and talked and talked and talked for too long. Now, we have to destroy the system by the use of force. Furthermore, reactionary violence can be legalized by the people who are in power. For example, if I killed a man because he is cross-eyed, this would bring about different reactions depending on whether I were to do it in the United States or in Vietnam. If I killed 30 cross-eyed men in Vietnam, I would get a medal because I would be in the Army. But if I killed 30 men or only one man in the United States, let us say in New York City, I would wind up on the electric chair as an assassin.

Thus, it is not a question of violence; it is a question of who can legalize violence. This is all. A policeman can shoot down anybody he wants to, for any reason and appear in a Court of Law and declare: "I did it while discharging my duties." So, they release him, but if a man kills a policeman, he lands in jail automatically.

Consequently, violence is not to be discussed. The discussion is about whether violence can be legalized or not. The oppressed people of the world must legalize violence in their own minds, as the means to solve their problem. Once violence is legalized, there are no questions to be asked or to be answered; the only question is where does one pick up whatever is needed to do the job.

The reactionaries hold on to power by means of their weapons, but legalize their violence and, with unheard-of cynicism, preach that violence is not the way to be adopted. Take away their weapons and their imperialist forces and you will see how many people listen to them. Take away their military bases in the Dominican Republic, Venezuela, Brazil, Chile and all of Latin America; take away the mighty weapons they have in those places and you will see that nobody pays any attention to them. It is because of their mighty weaponry that the peoples are forced to listen to them. Therefore, the only thing that has to be done is to become accustomed to arms and to have the will power and steadfastness to continue the struggle. This is the right answer.

For example, I want you to take a look at those people who are pacifists and all those silly things connected with a pacifism. The United States, Great Britain, France and the USSR have developed atomic and hydrogen bombs. After developing them, they got together and said: "Let us put an end to nuclear tests. There will not be any more tests." Everybody believed them and swallowed the line that they were feeding the various peoples: "We do not want more bombs because the more peoples have bombs, the more violence is likely to break out."

However, what they were really doing was this: Since they had the bombs, they were stopping others from developing the same kind of power. In other words, they were not dealing with the rest of mankind on a basis of equality. If there were equality for everybody, everybody should have bombs.

Let us see an example of how the West uses violence to stop other people.

Israel has the atomic bomb, which it got from the United States. If there were equality, just like Israel which has the atomic bomb, Egypt should have the atomic bomb. If not, Israel can threaten to drop the bomb on Egypt and Egypt would become a victim of atomic blackmail. Everybody must have the atomic bomb. This is all too clear. Therefore, how can there be talk of putting an end to nuclear tests while not every country has developed the atomic bomb?

When all the nations of the world, from little Cuba to big China, have a hydrogen bomb, then you can say: "Let us ban all nuclear tests." Before this happens, it is absurd to talk about a ban.

Let's take another example: Cuba and the United States. The Americans can threaten Cuba because they have weapons which they can drop on the island. As a matter of fact, this example happened rather recently. It happened to the Soviets when the United States threatened to drop their bombs and the USSR withdrew its rockets.

The United States forced the USSR to withdraw its rockets. Once this happened, Cuba was left at the mercy of the United States except for one thing which, I believe, is what makes the difference in today's world: dignity and the will to fight until victory.

It is plain to see that the West has developed the best armaments and armament system which exists today. But something is left out, and this something is the fact that armaments will never defeat man's will to fight. This is exactly the situation in the world today. The oppressed people have the will power to fight and are fighting those who oppressed them.

Therefore, as Mao points out, it is a question of a struggle between arms and man's will power. We believe that arms will never win over the will power of man when he decides to fight.

Another good example is the case of Vietnam where the United States is employing every weapon in its arsenal and is incapable of defeating a small nation because this nation has the will to fight and is ready to fight to death in order not to let the United States enslave it.

When the United States talked about bombing and hurling rockets against Cuba, it said that that island of the Caribbean had no right to defend itself. It also said that Cuba had no reason to have rockets on its soil. And the rest of the world looked at Cuba, rather than at the United States, claiming that the United States had no right to commit aggression against Cuba (sic). By the same token, it has no reason to commit aggression against Vietnam. What is happening is that the Vietnamese people are waging not only a defensive war, but also a defensive propaganda. As a matter of fact, Vietnam has every right to hurl bombs against the United States and conduct the struggle on an equal footing. This would be true equality, but, instead of this, they are forced to wage a defensive war. This is also Cuba's position with respect to the rockets. They are waging a defensive war.

Debray's book, "Revolution in a Revolution," put it very well: A defensive war is not enough. The peoples of the Third World must wage more than a defensive war.

QUESTION: What do you think of guerrilla warfare in the American continent as a means to win your liberation? What do you think of this type of struggle by the colored people in rural areas and in the cities of the United States of America?

ANSWER: The imperialists become owners of everything by the use of force. For example, they exterminated the indigenous population of Cuba and took possession of the land. Consequently, the only way to achieve liberation is the use of force. And the only way to start using force is to wage a guerrilla warfare. Discussing whether a guerrilla warfare is good or bad is an idle proposition. A guerrilla warfare is the only way to put an end to exploitation and oppression. To discuss whether it is the proper way is to play into the hands of the imperialists. In a war, nothing is good or bad. In a war, the only question that arises is whether or not you feel you need to attain your objective. This is what we, who belong to the world of the oppressed, must understand. There is no doubt: a guerrilla warfare is the only way. We shall not ask whether it is good or bad. We shall only ask the question that pertains to the tactics of when it is to be used. This is the only question that needs to concern us.

In the United States, we are moving toward a guerrilla warfare. We are going to wage an urban guerrilla warfare and we are going to win it because we have a weapon which the imperialists do not have. Their men have no will to fight. They have no desire to wage what they call a guerrilla warfare and, in reality, is a hand-to-hand fight. Look at them: Their men are cowards. White America is the most cowardly nation in the world. It can send a million men to Vietnam, but is incapable of killing the Vietnamese people because in a hand-to-hand fight, the Vietnamese people would kill the million men. This is what imperialism does. It claims that a guerrilla warfare is being conducted in Vietnam and the thought is instilled that a guerrilla warfare is something dirty, an unclean fight. Then, they claim that in order to win the guerrilla war, they will send many airplanes to throw bombs. Nobody asks: Isn't it more repugnant to send out a man on an airplane that can drop 50 or 60 bombs on defenseless women and children and use napalm to bomb and burn them to death? Don't you think that a hand-to-hand fight is something much more honorable? This is the question. The only problem is when to use it. An urban guerrilla warfare is the only way to win in the United States because they will not be able to use bombs against us since we are inside the country. They will have to fight with us hand to hand and we will win.

The counterpart of this will happen in the South, in that part of the country where we know the terrain and for years we have worked on the soil where the white man has exploited our sweat and has made us walk throughout the land. In reality, he did us a great favor. Now, we know the area and when we go into the mountains, we will win again; once again we will win our guerrilla warfare. This is the only way we can bring them down to their knees. This is the only way in which we can fight against their big cannons and their big bombs. This is the only road to follow because they have no guts.

QUESTION: What do you think of solidarity among all the countries that struggle for their liberation?

ANSWER: It is the only answer. I think that the thing we fail to understand, like we have failed to understand it in the past, is that capitalism has become international and what we are struggling against is international capitalism. Therefore, in order to fight international capitalism, we must wage an international war. What happened in the past is that whenever a nation was fighting for its freedom, everybody wished it good luck, but nobody saw its fight as a part of its own fight. Even though they could see that certain countries were oppressing other countries, they could not grasp in their minds that the oppressors were common enemies. What we have done today is this: We have cleared up the situation in our minds. We see a common enemy. We are struggling against an international structure which enslaves us and the only way to defeat it is to internationalize our struggle. In this fashion, there will be an international power fighting another international power. This is the only way in which we can win. In fact, if we can do what Che recommends, namely, if we can create two, three, many Vietnams, will have them fighting on many fronts at the same time and they will not be able to win. When we conduct our struggle isolated, we let imperialism bear down with all its might on a single country and this country is lost. They will not be able to wage war on all of us at the same time. Even though we may not have the same ideas and may not subscribe to the same ideology, we have a common enemy: imperialism. And this is the one factor which will unite us more than anything else.

QUESTION: What do you think of the Organization for Solidarity of the Countries of Asia, Africa and Latin America? What does your organization expect from OSPAAAL(OSCAALA)?

ANSWER: Well, one of the things that we are doing now is to materialize our relations with these groups. The first thing we have to do is simply this: We, all fighters, must get together, sit down and exchange ideas. Once this is done, we can start moving together. We can plan our strategy and tactics for our liberation struggle together. However, the only way this is to be done is by internationalizing our struggle because the enemy has its own espionage systems: The CIA and all its intelligence agencies which are international and work in coordination with one another. This is how they can plot their murders and set up their coups d'etat against the governments which begin to fight for their liberation.

Once we have seized power - which we will - the question will be how to commence to develop an international system which has no room for capitalism. It must be a system in which we can trade with one another, based on our needs and on what each country has, rather than on efforts to control the world market where the prices of the merchandise are established according to a law of profits and not according to the needs of mankind. The truth of the matter is that many of us, once we are in power, unless we have the will power and the intelligence of the leaders of Cuba, many of us, I repeat, will go the way of other countries where coups d'etat were staged and where the leaders wound up by accepting the bureaucratic structure which the imperialists imposed upon them. This is how we must start. Another thing on which we must make a start is an exchange of fighters between the peoples of Africa and Latin America struggling for their liberation. This is how we can bring about an international system of guerrilla fighters. For example, we start our true war in the United States; if people from other countries wish to come to the United States and help us in the fight, this will be most helpful and good. We want to do the same thing. We want to go and fight where they need us. This is what the capitalists do. Every time that one of their countries has a problem, they send aid to this country. This is clearly the case of Israel, a capitalist country supported by Western imperialism. When Israel had problems, they supported it. All capitalist countries supported Israel, including France. What we have to do is this: We have to recognize that when the struggle begins, we need to have the will and the desire to support the forces of liberation with our men, just like the capitalists have the will and the desire to use their guns, their money and their men.

QUESTION: What do you think of the Organization for Solidarity with Latin America? What does an organization like yours expect from OLAS (OSLA)?

ANSWER: This is the first OLAS conference and we are more than honored, happy and gratified to be here and to be a part of this conference for many, many reasons. The first reason is that Latin America is very close to us geographically. Latin America is one of the continents which is exploited by the United States. Many Latin Americans come to the United States, and this is the reason why we must begin to take action. Cuba is a part of Latin America and the United States wants to crush Cuba. Cuba is an inspiration, a hope, not only for the Negroes of the United States, but also for all the countries of Latin America; an inspiration and a hope to start the struggle, to start the fight. Thus, it is fitting that the Organization for Solidarity with Latin America should hold its meeting in Cuba and that we should come here to give evidence of our solidarity not only with words of mouth, but with our will and desire to lay down our life on the front line of the struggles that go on in Latin America.

We want to explain to the Latin American countries that our struggle is beginning. In Latin America, the only news they get is AP news or UPI news, which are part and parcel of the imperialist communication control system. By the same token, we cannot get any news about the Latin American countries except through UPI and AP; once again, the imperialist control system is at work. Thus, they tell us that there are bandits, or groups of rebellious forces, or communists fighting in Venezuela, or in the streets of Guatemala or of the Dominican Republic or of Panama. It is only because of our political awareness that we know that these groups are struggling for their countries and are able to read between the lines and the propaganda what has really happened. This is the first time that we have the opportunity of meeting face to face with people who are really struggling for their liberation. This is the first time that their ideologies are explained to us so that we can see what common bases there are between their ideology and our ideology. Thus, we understand their struggle and explain ours to them. There is no need for imperialist propaganda to give us its interpretation of our struggles. This is the first thing. The second thing is that we must carry on our struggle united. This is being done by our presence. Third, we must start to do something to stop the Organization of American States and the simple fact that we are holding a conference here is already neutralizing the OAS. It will neutralize it and belittle its importance in the minds of our peoples. This is very important because by its control of propaganda, imperialism can win over the awareness (conscience) of our people; and one of the most important things today is the struggle which is being waged to win the minds of the people. Once this is achieved, we will doubtlessly be ready to struggle and to work out ways and means of mutual aid and support.

QUESTION: What do you have to say to such guerrilla leaders as Douglas Bravo in Venezuela, Fabio Vazquez and Marulanda in Colombia, Cesar Montes in Guatemala and the leaders of the Bolivian guerrillas?

ANSWER: We want to tell our brothers, our comrades, that even though they have no way to know it, there are many of us here who follow very closely and very attentively any news which concerns their struggle. We know that they are waging a victorious, brave and good fight and, even though we have no control over the communication system, we can tell them that they should never despair and never fear that their struggle is in vain or nobody knows about it. We know of it and we are with them. The day is not far when they will be able to come out in the open and we shall all be able, hand in hand, to build the world for which we are fighting. Our only message to them is: Do not lose hope and keep up the good fight because you are our inspiration and hope.

QUESTION: What do you think of the aggression on Vietnam?

ANSWER: I think that it is the most repugnant aggression of the present age. I think that it is hatred and cowardice on the part of the United States. I think that it is the dirtiest war ever launched and I think that the United States, faced with the will of the Vietnamese people, will lose this war.

QUESTION: What prompted you to come to Cuba?

ANSWER: When the Cuban Revolution started, I was a boy and was quite interested in it. My interest grew when the Cuban Prime Minister, Fidel Castro, came to the United States and lived in Harlem, with the Negroes. He stayed at the Hotel Teresa and this meant that our relation with Cuba became something real and actual. The Prime Minister of Cuba, unlike all other Prime Ministers who have ever come to the United States, went to live in the ghettos with us. We always felt we had to return Fidel Castro's visit to Cuba.

In the second place, we have always known that the Cuban Revolution is a good revolution. While many people in the United States were having misgivings about the Cuban Revolution, we never had any. We knew it was good. We came to Cuba in order to learn. In the few days we have spent here, we have learned things from the Cuban Revolution which we could never have learned from books, movies or any other media. I was able to be here, to live among free people and to understand and see how they are solving their problems. This is what we came for: We came here to learn and have learned a lot.

QUESTION: What do you think of Cuba's Prime Minister, Fidel Castro?

ANSWER: He is the greatest man I have ever known.

QUESTION: What do you think of Che Guevara and what he said about revolution in Latin America and throughout the world?

ANSWER: We agree with Che Guevara 150 per cent. Today, he is becoming one of the most read writers in the Negro United States. The Negroes are reading Che wherever you go. As a matter of fact, not only the Negroes, but everybody. One of the reasons for this, in my opinion, is the fact that Che is not a man who spoke of revolution, but a man who made it. He is a man who, after winning a revolutionary struggle for power in this country, left his wife and went to other countries to give his help to those who were initiating the struggle at the risk of his own life. A man like him is not to be found every day.

QUESTION: The struggle you are carrying on in the United States gives certain people the impression that you have signed your own death sentence. What do you think of this?

ANSWER: Brother Malcolm used to tell us that there are many kinds of deaths. I think that dehumanized people who fail to return a blow are dead people. This is what the West has been able to do with most of us. It has dehumanized us to the extent that we did not return the blows. Once you do that, you are alive and there are no bullets which can kill you. If you do not return a blow, you're dead and there is no money in the world that can bring you back to life. We are alive; we are alive the world over. We, oppressed people, are coming back to life because we are returning the blows, because we are struggling for our own humanity. When you're dead, when you fail to rebel, you are not struggling to live. You're dead. But we are alive and love life so much that we are willing to shed it. We are alive. Death cannot stop us.

Hay en el párrafo e) del documento que comentamos expresiones que recuerdan inevitablemente la invasión de la República Dominicana por los marines y el torpe intento de “latinoamericanizarla” para cubrirla con la bandera de la OEA. Véase: “El territorio de un Estado es inviolable; no puede ser objeto, ni aun temporalmente, de ocupación militar u otras medidas de fuerza tomadas por otro Estado, directa o indirectamente, sea cual fuere el motivo”.

El motivo o el pretexto, diremos nosotros. En el caso de la Dominicana el pretexto aducido fue el de impedir que dos docenas de “comunistas” se apoderaran del gobierno de la isla. Y en el otro gran caso típico de agresión e intervención militar en territorio de otro Estado, el caso actual de Vietnam, el pretexto usado es el mismo: impedir un supuesto ataque de los vietnamitas del norte a los vietnamitas del sur, lo que complica el delito de agresión con el de intervención en los asuntos interiores del país asiático.

Hasta aquí el proyecto de declaración es terminante y no deja lugar a dudas. Las dudas las suscita el capítulo III del mismo documento al determinar que ninguna de las disposiciones de los párrafos precedentes afectará al uso legítimo de la fuerza cuando se efectúe por el órgano competente de las Naciones Unidas, o por un organismo regional, o en ejercicio del derecho inmanente de legítima defensa individual o colectiva, de acuerdo con la Carta de las Naciones Unidas”.

En la América Latina el “organismo regional” sería la OEA, la tristemente célebre Organización de Estados Americanos, en cuyo seno los Estados Unidos ejercen un dominio basado en su control sobre la inmensa mayoría de los gobiernos centro y suramericanos. Y aunque el último párrafo del mismo artículo establece que el uso de la fuerza por organismos regionales, salvo el caso de legítima defensa, “requiere autorización expresa del Consejo de Seguridad” (de la ONU), queda abierta la puerta a las interpretaciones que de la legítima defensa quiera dar la OEA, es decir, el organismo regional al que cada día se conoce más como “ministerio de Colonias” de los Estados Unidos. Y por la misma puerta vendría a colarse, como el instrumento adecuado para la acción militar de la OEA, la famosa Fuerza Interamericana de Paz que desde hace tiempo viene haciendo antesala en las oficinas de Washington.

POR QUE LUCHAMOS LOS NEGROS

LA HABANA, Cuba, julio y agosto de 1967.—Quienes han escuchado o leído sus discursos en pos de la igualdad y la justicia para la raza negra, vejada y humillada por tantos años en los Estados Unidos de Norteamérica, aseguran que Stokely Carmichael ha firmado su sentencia de muerte, si por muerte se entiende la desaparición física del individuo. Según ellos, el joven apóstol de 26 años de edad que en Michigan, Wisconsin, Nueva Jersey, California, Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, Maryland, Florida, Louisiana, Oregon, Pensilvania, Colorado, Providence y Washington ha creado otros tantos Vietnames dentro de los Estados Unidos, gritando a voz en cuello su inconformidad con los procedimientos de quienes encabezan un sistema corrupto desde las entrañas, que hace su víctima a toda una nación digna de mejor suerte, el extraordinario líder negro vive "tiempo prestado".

Alto y delgado, ágil de pensamiento y de palabra, Carmichael nació el 29 de junio de 1941, en Port of Spain, Trinidad, cuando esta isla de las Antillas era una posesión británica. Once años después su familia se trasladó a los Estados Unidos y en los sucios y olvidados arrabales de Nueva York vivió dentro de un cuadro en el que predominaban la angustia y las privaciones más increíbles. Joven inquieto y preocupado por la miseria impuesta a su raza por aquellos que crearon las leyes de un juego en el que el negro, el oprimido, siempre pierde porque jamás participa en igualdad de circunstancias, Stokely pudo estudiar filosofía, sociología e historia en la Universidad de Howard, y en esos años aprendió a conocer mejor los procedimientos de los que son sus enemigos.

Arrestado en 35 ocasiones, Carmichael se ha percatado de lo inútil que es someterse a las reglas de un juego creadas por y para garantizar la supervivencia de un sistema. Y ha llegado a la convicción de que la lucha armada es el único camino que queda a sus oprimidos hermanos para obtener la libertad en los Estados Unidos y para vivir en un régimen de justicia social.

De Stokely podríamos decir que nació en el seno del imperio de la esclavitud y hoy anhela un mundo de libertad no sólo para él sino para todos los oprimidos, para los que actualmente se consideran "los condenados de la tierra".

Cuando se habla de este joven y extraordinario dirigente norteamericano de la raza negra, por una asociación de ideas se siente y conoce el verdadero significado de la valentía y la audacia, la honradez en las convicciones, la claridad política y la firme decisión de luchar hasta vencer que son condición sine qua non para el éxito de un movimiento de liberación.

La voz de Stokely es pausada cuando charla con el amigo sobre temas generales. Sin embargo, cuando la conversación gira en torno a la matanza de negros en los Estados Unidos ese tono es interrumpido en forma muy marcada por el cambio agudo y cortante que sufre su voz, y el odio se refleja en su expresión, en los ojos grandes color café y en los movimientos de las manos. Todo en él es inquietud, pero con un freno interior.

Y se explica.

Sin embargo, para quienes no han vivido en los Estados Unidos es difícil comprender el verdadero significado de la discriminación racial. De eso podemos hablar, porque durante nueve años vivimos en Louisiana. Se trata de un odio indescriptible hacia los negros que se transmite, por generaciones, la "privilegiada" raza caucásica. Un odio que se refleja en la pro-nunciación misma del idioma inglés, en la manera de referirse al hombre de color: negro (nigrou) es el término correcto; nigger, el desprecio del blanco norteamericano hacia quienes fueron traídos del Africa como esclavos. En las iglesias, en las escuelas, en los parques, en los autobuses y en otros medios de transporte, en los baños públicos, en todas partes, si se permite la entrada al negro su lugar es siempre el rincón de atrás. Se les considera seres inferiores, casi animales.

Y, a pesar de todo, Stokely conserva su espíritu jovial, convencido de que en fin de cuentas la victoria le sonreirá...

El notable y joven dirigente negro vino a La Habana como invitado de honor de la Organización Latinoamericana de Solidaridad (OLAS), en representación del Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee.

Durante su estancia en Cuba, Stokely concedió dos entrevistas. Una fue pública o casi pública, porque no permitió la entrada a los periodistas y fotógrafos norteamericanos. Y la otra fue una entrevista exclusiva (sensacional por lo que afirma, e histórica porque descubre una etapa que hasta ahora es difícil concebir dentro de los Estados Unidos) que, en presencia de otros dos dirigentes de la raza negra, Julius Lester y George Ware, concedió al director de SUCEOS, hecho que nos honra y que le agradecemos como periodistas independientes.

He aquí cómo piensa, actúa y actuará el líder norteamericano:

—¿Qué es el Comité Coordinador Estudiantil por la No Violencia? ¿Cuándo y por qué se fundó?

—El Comité Coordinador Estudiantil por la No Violencia, organización para la cual trabajo, está integrado por jóvenes negros norteamericanos que decidieron agruparse para combatir la segregación racial y la explotación económica en los Estados Unidos. Fue fundado en 1960 y el porqué del mismo es un hecho significativo: las otras organizaciones que supuestamente defendían los intereses de los negros no realizaban un trabajo eficaz, no participaban de manera activa. La mayoría llevaban sus problemas a los tribunales y nosotros pensamos que nada podía lograrse si un problema de injusticia del cual era responsable un blanco y en el que resultaba perjudicado un negro era llevado a tribunales dirigidos y controlados por blancos. Es decir, llevábamos un problema de injusticia a personas que eran injustas. Por tanto, no podía resolverse nada. La única solución estaba y está en las calles.

Ahora bien, nosotros utilizamos el término no violencia, porque quien en aquella época era la figura central de la lucha en defensa de la raza negra era nada menos que Martin Luther King, y quien recurría a la violencia era considerado como un traidor. Por consiguiente, resolvimos utilizar el término no violencia. Sin embargo, sabíamos que nuestra lucha desembocaría en la violencia, que sólo había que esperar el momento oportuno. Así es que aceptamos el nombre de la agrupación y coordinamos las actividades de ciudad en ciudad, dondequiera que podíamos realizar demostraciones no violentas.

Empero, un año después llegamos a la conclusión de que esas demostraciones pacíficas no constituían la respuesta adecuada para resolver nuestros problemas; había que organizar a la gente joven. Y nos trasladamos al estado donde la segregación racial adquiere dimensiones insospechables: Mississippi. Allí comenzamos a organizar a nuestra gente, a adiestrarla para la lucha. Y ahora nos encontramos en el punto en que es un deber estimular a nuestros jóvenes, a nuestra gente, a pelear.

—¿Qué fines políticos, sociales y económicos persigue su organización?

—Políticamente, queremos que los negros norteamericanos se liberen de la opresión. Anhelamos también que los pueblos del Tercer Mundo obtengan su libertad; particularmente los pueblos de Asia, Africa y América Latina. Porque estamos concientes de que nuestra liberación depende de la liberación de esos pueblos y, viceversa, su liberación depende de la nuestra. Por tanto, tenemos que llevar a cabo la misma lucha.

Políticamente, quiero decir qué dentro de los Estados Unidos perseguimos el derecho a ejercer un control sobre las comunidades en que vivimos. Porque hoy día esas comunidades dentro de las que nos debatimos en medio de una increíble miseria, esas comunidades denominadas ghettos, están políticamente controladas por los blancos. Concretamente, en un sentido real y trágico, formamos colonias dentro de los Estados Unidos, como lo son también la mayoría de los países latinoamericanos. Porque no es ningún secreto que estas naciones son controladas por los Estados Unidos. En síntesis, tanto los países de Hispanoamérica como los ghettos negros norteamericanos forman parte del imperio colonial de los Estados Unidos.

Económicamente, quisiéramos que nuestro pueblo pudiera disfrutar, obtener todas aquellas cosas que se necesitan para vivir dentro de un marco de decencia y decoro, sin tener que luchar tan duramente como sucede hoy en día, porque son explotados, son víctimas de la estructura política del imperialismo norteamericano. Queremos tener el poder no sólo para controlar los recursos dentro de nuestras comunidades, sino para dividir esos recursos en la medida que sean necesitados por cada una de las comunidades. No queremos establecer un sistema capitalista negro; todo lo contrario, queremos destruir económicamente al capitalismo, porque este sistema siempre va de la mano con el racismo y la explotación. No es ningún secreto que dondequiera que el capitalismo ha perdurado esas dos características han sido su secuela segura. Por consiguiente, tenemos la obligación de destruir al sistema capitalista que nos esclaviza en el interior y que en el exterior esclaviza a los pueblos del Tercer Mundo.

Socialmente, queremos lo que la mayoría de la gente ambiciona en la vida: un pueblo feliz, libre e independiente; un pueblo que pueda tomar las decisiones que considere correctas y de acuerdo con los intereses de las mayorías: un pueblo que participe en todas las decisiones y que nunca se sienta avergonzado por el color de su piel o por su cultura.

Sicológica, física y moralmente queremos un pueblo que sienta la igualdad en toda su esencia; que rechace al capitalismo de manera definitiva.

—¿Qué relaciones existen entre los negros del norte y el sur, especialmente, y en general todos los Estados Unidos de Norteamérica?

—La mayoría de la gente, y esto es fundamental para que se entienda mejor el problema de los negros, emigró del sur porque en esta región la discriminación racial era más brutal y se decía que la gente del norte no se preocupaba por el color de la piel, que lo que importaba era sólo el trabajo. Se nos decía: "Las oportunidades se presentan a diestra y siniestra; los buenos empleos los hay por doquier; sólo se necesita trabajar duro". Y creímos esa tontería, y porque la creímos hicimos nuestras maletas y nos dirigimos hacia el norte. Pero cuando llegamos nos percatamos de que todo era igual. La lección que aprendimos fue la siguiente: en los Estados Unidos, bajo el sistema capitalista, jamás podremos disfrutar de una vida decente. De tal manera que hoy día usted no encuentra a ningún negro que abrigue la esperanza de una situación decorosa dentro del sistema que impera actualmente en los Estados Unidos.

Como consecuencia de lo anterior, las relaciones entre los negros norteamericanos se han estrechado notablemente. Porque el del sur ya no mira hacia el norte como una vía de escape; no, ahora todos los negros norteamericanos comprendemos que para obtener nuestra liberación debemos unir nuestras manos como un solo pueblo. De esta manera lo que en la actualidad existe en los Estados Unidos es un sentimiento de solidaridad entre todos los negros, en dondequiera que se encuentran. Y esto significa que cuando los blancos tocan hoy día a un negro saben que tienen que tocarlos a todos, a una gran familia; y esto no es sólo un decir, porque la unidad de los negros norteamericanos es muy evidente. Cada vez que un policía racista dispara contra uno de nosotros se ve obligado a enfrentarse a toda una ciudad; es más, el caso ya no se concreta a una ciudad, sino a varias, a muchas ciudades de los Estados Unidos. El sentimiento de solidaridad es real.

—Algunas personas estiman que los negros norteamericanos sólo piensan en su lucha como un conflicto racial, es decir, contra la raza blanca, en vez de interpretarla como una lucha de clases. ¿Qué opina usted al respecto?

—Con relación a esta pregunta, considero de importancia la siguiente afirmación: es tan fuerte el racismo dentro de los Estados Unidos que es casi imposible conseguir que los blancos luchen hombro a hombro con los negros. Porque la mayoría de los blancos pobres o los integrantes de la clase trabajadora blanca, cuando se organizan en los Estados Unidos, no luchan por la redistribución de la tierra; su lucha es por más dinero, todo lo que quieren es más dinero. Y es que no tienen un concepto de lo que es la distribución de los bienes, porque su enfoque es de índole económica y no social. Lo que sucede es que la clase gobernante de los Estados Unidos ha enfocado y enfoca la mirada hacia los países del Tercer Mundo con el objeto de obtener mayores ingresos, ingresos que en parte mínima comparten con la clase trabajadora blanca de los Estados Unidos. Entendamos un hecho indiscutible: la clase gobernante norteamericana nunca reduce sus ganancias; todo lo contrario, las aumenta a costa de la opresión a que somete a los pueblos subdesarrollados. De donde se deduce que una vez que comparte sus ganancias con la clase trabajadora de la raza blanca, ésta se convierte en parte del sistema capitalista y ambas disfrutan de los dineros obtenidos con la sangre de otros pueblos. Por consiguiente, la clase trabajadora de la raza blanca es incapaz de combatir al sistema capitalista, porque se ha convertido en parte del mismo al aceptar el dinero comprometedor.

Stokely Carmichael con el director de SUCESOS durante la entrevista en el cuarto 2008 del Hotel Habana Libre.

Afirma que la lucha armada es la única salida que tiene el hombre "de color" para obtener su liberación en los Estados Unidos podría desarrollarse una conciencia revolucionaria en el seno de la clase trabajadora de la raza blanca sería cuando los Estados Unidos comiencen a perder sus ganancias, ganancias que obtienen de todo el Tercer Mundo. Porque una vez que se inicie este proceso tendrá que buscar en su propia casa los medios para mantener su bienestar relativo. Entonces, sólo entonces la clase trabajadora de la raza blanca desarrollará una conciencia revolucionaria, porque los dirigentes del sistema capitalista norteamericano, una vez reducidas sus fuentes de ingresos provenientes del Tercer Mundo, dejarán de compartir lo que antes compartían con los trabajadores blancos.

Han surgido Vietnames dentro de los Estados Unidos

Esto significa que hoy día sólo luchan los negros. Claro está: nos gustaría que a esta lucha se uniera la clase trabajadora de la raza blanca. Si participa o no es cuestión que no altera la situación actual. Porque nosotros, los negros, lucharemos hasta vencer. Y cuando la clase trabajadora de la raza blanca decida unirse a esta lucha le daremos la bienvenida; mientras tanto y hasta entonces, continuaremos a la vanguardia.

No puede negarse que la clase gobernante de los Estados Unidos reconoce el concepto de Marx sobre el inevitable conflicto de clases que tarde o temprano habrá de producirse. A fin de evitarlo, de posponerlo, se aferra desesperadamente a las ganancias que le proporciona el Tercer Mundo, para compartirlas en grado mínimo con la clase trabajadora de la raza blanca.

Lo que ha logrado la clase dirigente de los Estados Unidos es posponer el inevitable conflicto de clases. Hoy día el Tercer Mundo se ha convertido en el proletariado, y la sociedad blanca de Occidente ha asumido el papel de la burguesía. De manera que cuando trazamos líneas a lo largo de las líneas del color de la piel, son también líneas de clase, por la forma en que la sociedad blanca occidental se ha "ganado" a la mayoría de su clase trabajadora.

Eso es precisamente lo que Europa hizo cuando en su seno las naciones imperialistas se repartieron África y América Latina, evitando dentro de sus naciones el inevitable conflicto de clases.

Sin embargo, eso ya no puede posponerse, porque la confrontación está aquí. Por otra parte, considero que la gente fuera de los Estados Unidos debe recordar que, a diferencia de cualquier otro pueblo, nosotros fuimos la única gente traída del exterior y esclavizada dentro del continente por los que actualmente nos explotan. Otros pueblos fueron esclavos en sus propios países, de tal manera que cuando pelearon pudieron desarrollar un concepto nacionalista como punto de unión para agruparse. Nosotros, repetimos, fuimos traídos a los Estados Unidos y no podemos desarrollar un concepto nacionalista. Por consiguiente, nuestro concepto tiene que girar en torno al color de nuestra piel, porque fue precisamente debido a este color negro que los blancos decidieron convertirnos en esclavos. En Resulta, pues, difícil desarrollar una conciencia revolucionaria en las filas de la clase trabajadora de raza blanca. Lo que tenemos, por tanto, es un grupo de ciudadanos blancos que luchan por proteger su dinero. A eso se debe también que no podamos encontrar gente blanca de la clase trabajadora norteamericana que se oponga a la guerra en Vietnam, porque es debido a este genocidio que disfrutaban de ciertas comodidades. Si se oponen a la guerra en Vietnam atacarían al sistema y se perjudicarían a sí mismos.

Por desgracia, los blancos no se dan cuenta de que si destruyen ese sistema podrían construir uno mejor. Sin embargo, es tanto el miedo que tienen que se aferran al sistema capitalista para proteger el saldo actual que los favorece.

En la actualidad son los negros los que integran la vanguardia y dirigen la lucha en los Estados Unidos. Y si ha sido interpretada esta lucha como un conflicto entre negros y blancos, ello se debe única y exclusivamente a que la clase trabajadora blanca se ha solidificado con el grupo privilegiado que oprime a las mayorías, por el vergonzoso temor a perder lo poco que tiene. Nosotros estimamos que la única forma en que cierto sentido, el color de nuestra piel representa nuestra nacionalidad. Porque lo que hizo el hombre blanco fue diseminar, África, traer negros a los Estados Unidos, regarlos por todos los países del continente, sin nacionalidad alguna.

El caso de Cuba es distinto, porque aquí el africano tiene un concepto de nacionalidad, ya que, al lado del blanco, fue víctima de la opresión y la explotación inmisericorde de los grupos privilegiados. El negro en la isla del Caribe, especialmente a partir de la Revolución, se siente parte del sistema cubano, y ya antes se le llamaba afrocubano.

Infortunadamente para nosotros, eso no ocurre ni puede ocurrir dentro de los Estados Unidos. Porque durante 400 años hemos sido las víctimas de un fascismo brutal y, con excepción de John Brown, ningún hombre blanco ha salido en nuestra defensa. Muchos han hablado y hablan, pero ninguno está dispuesto a pelear para destruir el sistema del cual forman parte.

—¿Qué piensa usted de otras organizaciones de negros en los Estados Unidos, como la dirigida por Martin Luther King?

—Públicamente es muy importante presentar un frente unido, y a eso se debe el hecho de que apoyemos a las organizaciones que en este momento luchan por el negro norteamericano. Cuando en nuestro concepto hayamos logrado agrupar a un número considerable de gente, eliminaremos a las otras organizaciones. Actualmente, a fin de no dividir a quienes participan en la lucha por la reivindicación de la raza negra, apoyamos el frente unido. Pero llegará el momento, muy pronto, en que no se tendrá por qué o qué discutir y simplemente eliminaremos a todos aquellos que ponen obstáculos en el camino de los negros para obtener la verdadera liberación. Por ahora muchos negros norteamericanos se han incorporado al camino de la verdadera liberación.

—¿Qué relaciones existen entre el Comité Coordinador Estudiantil por la No Violencia y el Movimiento Pro Independencia de Puerto Rico? ¿Cómo ve usted la interrelación existente entre la lucha del pueblo puertorriqueño por la independencia y la lucha de los negros en los Estados Unidos? ¿Cómo ve usted la lucha del pueblo negro en los Estados Unidos de América, como una ayuda para los puertorriqueños, y la unidad entre las dos organizaciones?

—Mi hermano Malcolm nos enseñó que debemos internacionalizar nuestra lucha. Y, para seguir algunas de sus enseñanzas, comenzamos por Puerto Rico. Los motivos son múltiples; por ejemplo, en términos de distancia geográfica, está muy cerca de los Estados Unidos y es, en todo el sentido de la palabra, una colonia de los Estados Unidos. Por otra parte, un gran número de personas que viven con nosotros dentro de los ghettos norteamericanos son puertorriqueños.

Pero sucedía que nosotros peleábamos contra los puertorriqueños y, en vez de unirnos para combatir a un sistema que nos oprime, la clase dirigente norteamericana hacía que peleásemos los unos con los otros, mientras los policías blancos nos contemplaban y se reían. Consideramos, entonces, que uno de los medios para comenzar a despertar la conciencia política de nuestro pueblo y establecer lazos con los puertorriqueños era pronunciarnos externamente a favor de la independencia de Puerto Rico. Y hemos logrado la unión. Porque si bien hasta hace poco, cuando la policía atacaba a los puertorriqueños los negros no hacíamos nada y en realidad era más factible que nos uniéramos a los gendarmes blancos y no a los boricuas —lo mismo ocurría en el caso contrario—, ahora, cuando esto ocurre en Nueva York, en Newark o en Chicago los negros y los puertorriqueños corren juntos para combatir a la policía.

En síntesis: hemos elevado la conciencia política y ahora nos reunimos para discutir los métodos más eficientes para combatir al sistema capitalista que oprime tanto a los negros como a los puertorriqueños.

El acuerdo que tenemos con el MPI está basado en los siguientes puntos:

1.—El Movimiento Pro Independencia de Puerto Rico y la Federación de Universitarios Pro Independencia reconocen al Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) como una organización hermana en la ejemplar lucha que viene desarrollando por la liberación del pueblo negro norteamericano y contra la estructura del poder blanco de los Estados Unidos.

2.—El Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) reconoce al Movimiento Pro Independencia de Puerto Rico como la vanguardia de la lucha del pueblo puertorriqueño por su liberación nacional, y a la Federación de Universitarios Pro Independencia como la organización representativa del estudiantado puertorriqueño en lucha contra el imperialismo, y vanguardia del estudiantado de su patria.

3.—El MPI y la FUPI ofrecen todo su apoyo al pueblo negro norteamericano en su lucha por obtener el poder político y económico en sus comunidades, expresado como la lucha por el poder negro.

4.—El SNCC afirma su apoyo a la lucha del pueblo de Puerto Rico por su independencia nacional.

5.—El SNCC y el MPI y la FUPI entienden que tienen puntos de lucha comunes, como son la lucha contra el reclutamiento de las juventudes de sus pueblos para el ejército de los Estados Unidos, la defensa de la integridad cultural de ambos pueblos, el rescate del patrimonio económico, y otros; y, por lo tanto, se ofrecen mutuamente sus recursos y esfuerzos en la lucha común.

6.—El SNCC y el MPI y la FUPI entienden que la lucha del pueblo puertorriqueño y del pueblo negro de los ghettos urbanos de los Estados Unidos por el control político y económico, por mejores viviendas, por una educación adecuada y por mejores condiciones de vida en general, puede llevarse a cabo sobre bases comunes y mediante acciones conjuntas.

7.—El SNCC y el PMI y la FUPI consideran que la lucha contra el servicio militar obligatorio y contra la agresión norteamericana al pueblo de Vietnam puede fortalecerse mediante actividades conjuntas de estas organizaciones.

8.—El SNCC ofrece su ayuda a las organizaciones puertorriqueñas MPI y FUPI en su batalla por conseguir que el caso colonial de Puerto Rico sea considerado por las Naciones Unidas en breve.

9.—El MPI y la FUPI ofrecen su ayuda para que la opresión del pueblo negro norteamericano adquiera prominencia internacional y se le reconozca no como un problema interno de los Estados Unidos, sino como cuestión que concierne directamente a toda la humanidad.

10.—Las organizaciones señalan que al fortalecer sus luchas mediante actividades específicas, las mismas se llevarán a cabo mediante el mutuo respeto y el mutuo acuerdo.

—¿Qué tipo de lucha se desarrollará en los Estados Unidos contra la política imperialista? ¿Cree usted que la lucha armada es la única que le queda al pueblo nortea-

Negros y puertorriqueños se unen para combatir a quienes los opri- men y humillan americano para obtener el gobierno? ¿Cuál es su opinión acerca de oponer la violencia revolucionaria a la violencia reaccionaria?

—Permítame informarle de manera muy clara que la única solución es la revolución negra, y que no nos interesa la coexistencia pacífica. La lucha armada es la única forma no solamente para nosotros, sino para todos los pueblos oprimidos del mundo.

Las personas que hoy hablan de coexistencia pacífica están hablando de mantener el status quo, porque la única manera de destruir un sistema imperialista es por la fuerza, ya que hablando no se logra nada. Esta medida representa algo que es muy claro para nosotros. Y digo que es claro, muy especialmente, porque durante 400 años la mayoría de los afonorteamericanos, dentro de los Estados Unidos, han estado hablando, hablando y nada más. Y es que se ha olvidado que cuando se habla se está haciendo el juego a los imperialistas, que inventaron el juego de hablar.

Sin embargo, ahora tenemos un nuevo juego que se llama guerra de guerrillas. Es un juego en el cual los imperialistas no pueden participar. Y si usted quiere ganar un juego tiene que establecer las reglas. Si otra persona es la que establece las reglas, ésta siempre gana. Los imperialistas han dejado establecidas las reglas de lo que hablan; por tanto, cuando usted se sienta a hablar con ellos no es posible que pueda ganar. Porque siempre encuentran un motivo por el cual no pueden hacer esto ahora, o por el cual no pueden hacerlo entonces, y parecen muy juiciosos. Y si usted se sienta con ellos y trata de razonar, según sus puntos de vista, en sus propios términos, ¿cómo se puede ganar?

En primer lugar, no tienen derecho a oprimir a los pueblos, de modo que no hay necesidad de hablar de opresión. No tienen ningún derecho para explotar a nadie. De modo que comenzar a hablar de liberarse de la explotación y la opresión con quienes son responsables de las mismas, resulta ridículo. Esto resulta algo así como si un esclavo se sentara a hablar con su amo acerca de cuándo ha de ponerlo en libertad. Esto es algo que no tiene sentido, porque el amo no tiene ningún deseo de ofrecerle la libertad. ¿Qué es lo que el esclavo tiene que hacer? Es bien fácil contestar: que se levante y que mate al amo, en caso de que el amo se niegue a cesar en su explotación. Esta es la única solución.

Por tanto, resulta sumamente claro en cuanto a nosotros se refiere: la lucha armada es el único camino. No queda tiempo para hablar. Hemos hablado y hablado, hablado y hablado durante demasiado tiempo. Tenemos que destruir el sistema por la fuerza.

Además la violencia reaccionaria puede ser legalizada por la gente que está en el poder. Por ejemplo, si yo matara a un hombre que tuviera los ojos oblicuos y esto lo hiciera en los Estados Unidos o en Vietnam, existirían dos reacciones diferentes. Si yo matara a 30 hombres que tuvieran los ojos oblicuos y lo realizara en Vietnam, recibiría una medalla, ya que es seguro que estaría en el Ejército. Pero si matara a los 30 o matara a uno en los Estados Unidos, digamos en Nueva York, entonces iría a parar a la silla eléctrica por haber cometido un asesinato.

Así es que no se trata de un problema de violencia, no; es cuestión de quién puede legalizar la violencia. Eso es todo. Un policía puede disparar contra cualquiera y darle muerte al que quiera, por cualquier motivo, y comparecer ante un tribunal y declarar: "Lo hice cumpliendo con mi obligación". Y lo dejan en libertad. Pero una persona que le cause la muerte a un policía automáticamente va a parar a la cárcel.

Por consiguiente, la violencia no debe discutirse. Se debe* tratar el hecho de si usted puede o no legalizarla. Y los pueblos oprimidos del mundo deben legalizar la violencia en sus propias mentes, como medio de resolver el problema. Una vez que hayan legalizado la violencia, entonces no hay qué preguntar o qué responder: se trata sólo de echar mano a lo que les pertenece.

De modo que los reaccionarios sólo se mantienen en el poder mediante las armas, pero legalizan su violencia y luego predicán con cinismo inaudito que la violencia no es la forma que debe adoptarse. Quíteles sus armas y sus fuerzas imperialistas y vamos a ver cuántas son las personas que los escuchan; quíteles las bases que tienen en Santo Domingo, Venezuela, el Brasil, Chile, en toda América Latina, y llévase los armamentos que tienen en esos lugares, y verá cómo nadie les presta atención. Pero es debido a sus armas que los pueblos se ven obligados a escucharlos. Y, por tanto, lo único que tiene que hacerse es acostumbrarse a las armas y tener la voluntad y la firmeza de lucha. Entonces, la respuesta es la correcta.

Por ejemplo, queremos que usted observe a las personas que son pacifistas y todas estas tonterías relacionadas con el pacifismo. Los Estados Unidos, la Gran Bretaña, Francia y la URSS han desarrollado las bombas atómicas y de hidrógeno. Después que las desarrollaron se reunieron y declararon: "Vamos a poner fin a las pruebas nucleares; no habrá más pruebas". Y todo el mundo se quedó ahí sentado y creyeron todas las tonterías, dado que le estaban diciendo a los pueblos: "No queremos que haya más bombas, y si son más los pueblos que tienen bombas esto se traducirá en violencia".

Pero lo que estaban haciendo, ya que eran ellos los que tenían las bombas, era impedir que otros pueblos pudieran desarrollar el mismo poderío. Por tanto, no trataban a los demás sobre una base de equidad. Si existiera la igualdad para todos, todos deberían tener la bomba.

Y así tenemos un ejemplo de cómo el Occidente utiliza la violencia para detener a otros pueblos.

Israel posee la bomba atómica, que le dieron los Estados Unidos. Si hubiera igualdad, como Israel tiene la bomba atómica Egipto necesita tener también la bomba atómica. De lo contrario, Israel puede amenazar con dejar caer la bomba contra Egipto y este país se convertiría en víctima del chantaje atómico. Todo el mundo debe tener la bomba atómica; esto es algo demasiado claro. Por tanto, no se puede hablar de poner fin a las pruebas nucleares mientras todos los países no hayan desarrollado la bomba.

Cuando todas las naciones del mundo, desde la pequeña Cuba hasta la gran China, tengan la bomba de hidrógeno, entonces usted podrá decir: "Todos vamos a poner fin a las pruebas nucleares"; antes, resulta absurdo hablar sobre el particular.

Otro ejemplo de esto serían Cuba y los Estados Unidos. Los norteamericanos pueden amenazar a Cuba, ya que cuentan con armas que pueden dejar caer en la isla. El ejemplo desde luego fue bastante reciente: le sucedió a los soviéticos cuando los Estados Unidos estuvieron amenazando con que iban a dejar caer bombas y la URSS dijo que los cohetes iban a ser retirados.

Los Estados Unidos obligaron a la URSS a retirar sus cohetes. Una vez que éstos fueron retirados, Cuba quedó a merced de los Estados Unidos, exceptuando un algo que creo es lo que ha constituido la diferencia en el mundo de hoy: la dignidad y la voluntad de luchar hasta vencer.

Se ve claramente que Occidente ha desarrollado el mejor sistema de armamentos que existe en la actualidad. Pero queda un algo, y ese algo consiste en que los armamentos jamás podrán derrotar la voluntad de los hombres para luchar. Esto es precisamente el mundo de hoy: los pueblos oprimidos tienen la voluntad de luchar y están luchando contra quienes los oprimen.

Por tanto, como señala Mao: se trata de una lucha de armamentos contra la voluntad de los hombres. Y nosotros creemos que los armamentos jamás podrán triunfar sobre la voluntad de los hombres para luchar:

Y buen ejemplo es el caso de Vietnam, donde los Estados Unidos descargan hoy todos sus armamentos y se ven imposibilitados de derrotar a una pequeña nación, debido a que ésta tiene la voluntad de combatir y está dispuesta a luchar hasta la muerte antes que permitir que los Estados Unidos la esclavicen. /

Cuando los Estados Unidos hablaron de bombardear y disparar cohetes contra Cuba, declararon que la isla del Caribe no tenía derecho a defenderse. También declararon que Cuba no tenía por qué tener ningún tipo de cohetes. Y el resto del mundo estuvo contemplando a Cuba más bien que a los Estados Unidos, debido a que esta nación no tenía por qué fomentar una agresión contra Cuba, exactamente igual que no tiene tampoco por qué hacerlo contra Vietnam. Y lo que sucede es que el pueblo vietnamita está librando no sólo una guerra defensiva, sino una propaganda defensiva. Porque tiene todo el derecho a dejar caer una bomba en los Estados Unidos e iniciar un bombardeo sobre ese país, igualándolos en términos de lucha. Esto sería una verdadera igualdad, pero, en vez de eso, se ven obligados a sostener una guerra defensiva. Y ésta era también la posición de Cuba respecto de los cohetes: Estaban luchando en una guerra defensiva.

Y lo que el pueblo ha comentado del libro de Debray, Revolución en la revolución, es que se debe comenzar a actuar más allá de una guerra defensiva, y que la próxima medida de los pueblos del Tercer Mundo es actuar más allá de una guerra defensiva.

—¿Qué piensa usted de la guerra de guerrillas en el continente americano como medio para obtener su liberación? ¿Qué piensa usted de este tipo de lucha para ser desarrollada por la gente de color en el campo y en las ciudades de los Estados Unidos de Norteamérica?

—Los imperialistas se apoderaron de todo por la fuerza. Por ejemplo, extinguieron a la población indígena de Cuba y se posesionaron de la tierra. Por consiguiente, la única forma de obtener la liberación es la fuerza. Y el único camino para dar inicio a la fuerza es comenzar desde luego la guerra de guerrillas, que nunca debe ser discutida en el sentido de si está bien o mal. Es el único camino para terminar con la explotación y la opresión. El iniciar una discusión sobre si es acertada, o lo contrario, es participar en el juego de los imperialistas. Cuando se está haciendo la guerra no hay nada que esté bien o que esté mal; se trata, simplemente, de que usted sienta la necesidad de lograr su objetivo. Y eso es lo que nosotros debemos comprender, aquellos de nosotros que estamos en el mundo de los oprimidos. No hay ninguna duda: la guerra de guerrillas es el único camino. No preguntaremos si está bien o está mal; sólo plantaremos la cuestión táctica de cuándo utilizarla. Esa es la única cuestión que nos debe preocupar.

Hacia la guerra de guerrillas nos estamos moviendo en los Estados Unidos. Vamos a desarrollar una guerrilla urbana y los vamos a vencer en ese terreno, porque hay algo que los imperialistas no tienen: sus hombres no tienen el deseo de combatir, no tienen el deseo de librar lo que ellos llaman guerra de guerrillas, que es en realidad un combate cuerpo a cuerpo. Vea: sus hombres son cobardes. La Norteamérica blanca es la nación más cobarde del mundo. Puede enviar un millón de hombres a Vietnam, pero no puede matar al pueblo vietnamita, y este pueblo, en combate cuerpo a cuerpo, los aniquilaría. Y lo que hace el imperialismo, es decir que en Vietnam se libra una guerra de guerrillas, y uno piensa que la guerra de guerrillas es sucia, que no es limpia. Entonces afirman que para vencer a la guerrilla se enviarán muchos aviones que lancen bombas. Nadie pregunta: ¿No es más repugnante enviar a un hombre en un avión que puede dejar caer 50 ó 60 bombas sobre mujeres y niños indefensos, o usar napalm y bombardearlos y quemarlos hasta la muerte? ¿No piensa usted que el combate cuerpo a cuerpo es mucho más honorable? Tal es la cuestión. Simplemente, cuándo es el momento de utilizarlo. La guerra de guerrillas urbana es el único medio por el cual venceremos en los Estados Unidos, porque ellos no pueden usar bombas contra nosotros, ya que nos encontramos dentro de su país. Ellos tendrán que luchar con nosotros en combate cuerpo a cuerpo, y nosotros los venceremos.

La contraparte de esto será en el sur, en la parte del país donde nosotros conocemos el terreno y por años hemos trabajado la tierra, donde el hombre blanco ha disfrutado de nuestro sudor, al hacernos caminar por toda la región. En realidad nos ha hecho un gran favor, porque hemos conocido la zona y cuando subamos a la montaña desde allí lo venceremos otra vez, en una guerra de guerrillas. La única forma en que podremos ponerlos de rodillas es mediante una guerra de guerrillas, que es la única en que ellos no pueden luchar con sus grandes cañones y sus grandes bombas. Y ése es el camino a seguir, porque ellos no tienen agallas.

—¿Qué piensa usted de la solidaridad entre todos los países que luchan por su liberación?

—Es la única respuesta. Pienso que lo que nosotros no comprendemos, lo que no hemos comprendido en el pasado es que el capitalismo se ha convertido en internacional y estamos luchando contra el capitalismo internacional. Por tanto, para combatir al capitalismo internacional se debe emprender una lucha internacional. Lo que ha sucedido en el pasado, por ejemplo, es que si una nación estaba luchando todos le deseaban buena suerte pero nadie veía el hecho como parte de su misma lucha; aun cuando podían ver que los mismos países estaban oprimiendo a ese otro país, todavía no establecían en sus mentes que se trataba de un enemigo común. Lo que hemos hecho hoy es esclarecer esta situación en nuestras mentes. Nosotros vemos un enemigo común; luchamos contra una estructura internacional que nos esclaviza, y el único camino para derrotarla es internacionalizar nuestra lucha. En esta forma habrá un poder internacional combatiendo a otro poder internacional. Esta es la única manera de que podamos vencer, porque si hacemos lo que dice el Che, es decir, crear dos, tres, muchos Vietnams, los tendremos luchando en todos los frentes al mismo tiempo y no podrán ganar. Cuando nosotros aislamos la lucha, el imperialismo puede volcar todo su poderío sobre un país, y ese país está perdido.

Peró ellos no pueden combatirnos a todos al mismo tiempo. Así, aun cuando no tengamos las mismas ideas, la misma ideología, tenemos un enemigo común: el imperialismo. Y eso, más que ninguna otra cosa, es lo que nos unirá.

—¿Qué piensa usted de la Organización de Solidaridad de los Países de Asia, Africa y América Latina? ¿Qué espera una organización como la suya de la OSPAAL?

—Bien, una de las cosas es que estamos ahora empezando a concretar nuestras relaciones con esos grupos. La primera cosa que debemos hacer es simplemente reunirnos con todos los combatientes; sentarnos y conversar con ellos e intercambiar ideas. Entonces, una vez que hayamos hecho esto, podemos comenzar a movernos juntos, a planear juntos la estrategia y táctica a seguir en la lucha por nuestra liberación. Pero la única forma en que podremos hacer esto será cuando comencemos a internacionalizar nuestra lucha, porque el enemigo tiene sus sistemas de espionaje de la CIA y todas sus agencias de inteligencia, que son internacionales y trabajan coordinadamente una con la otra. Así pueden asesinar y organizar golpes contra los gobiernos que comienzan a luchar por la liberación.

Una vez que hayamos tomado el poder —porque lo haremos—, la cuestión es comenzar a desarrollar un sistema internacional que no dé paso al capitalismo, en el que podamos comerciar unos con otros, basados en nuestras necesidades y en lo que cada país tenga, más bien que tratar de controlar el mercado mundial, donde se establecen precios para las mercancías de acuerdo con las ganancias y no con las necesidades de la humanidad. Porque descubriremos que cuando tomemos el poder, a menos que tengamos el espíritu, la voluntad y la inteligencia de los líderes de Cuba, muchos de nosotros terminaremos como todos los otros países que sufren golpes de Estado o donde la toma del poder terminó aceptando la estructura burocrática total que los imperialistas han impuesto en sus países y no estarán en condiciones de combatir. Así que debemos comenzar. La otra cosa que debemos empezar es el intercambio de luchadores con los pueblos de África y América Latina que están luchando por su liberación. Así podremos establecer un sistema internacional de guerra de guerrillas y, por ejemplo, cuando podamos empezar a pelear en los Estados Unidos la verdadera guerra, si la gente de otros países desea venir a los Estados Unidos y ayudarnos a luchar, eso estará bien y será bueno. Nosotros deseamos lo mismo, nosotros estaremos deseando ir y luchar, porque eso es lo que los capitalistas hacen. Cada vez que uno de sus países tiene problemas, envían ayuda a ese país. Eso está claro y pasó con Israel, país capitalista apoyado por el imperialismo occidental; cuando tuvo problemas, todos ellos lo apoyaron, incluso Francia. Lo que nosotros tenemos que hacer es reconocer que una vez que la lucha comienza hay que tener la voluntad de apoyar a las fuerzas de liberación con nuestros hombres, así como ellos tienen la voluntad de apoyarse con sus cañones, su dinero y sus hombres.

—¿Qué piensa usted de la Organización de Solidaridad para América Latina? ¿Qué espera una organización como la suya de la OLAS?

—Esta es la primera conferencia de la OLAS y nosotros nos sentimos más que honrados, felices y complacidos de estar aquí y de poder ser parte de ella, por muchas, muchísimas razones. La primera es que América Latina está muy cerca de nosotros geográficamente. América Latina es uno de los continentes que los Estados Unidos explotan. Muchos latinoamericanos vienen a los Estados Unidos, así es que por todas esas razones y la cercanía de Latinoamérica es necesario que comencemos a actuar. Cuba es parte de Latinoamérica, y los Estados Unidos quieren verdaderamente aplastar a Cuba; y Cuba es una inspiración, una esperanza no sólo para los negros en los Estados Unidos sino para todos los países latinoamericanos, para comenzar a luchar, para comenzar a combatir. Así que es adecuado y propio que la OLAS se reúna en Cuba y que nosotros hayamos venido a demostrar nuestra solidaridad, no sólo con palabras sino con nuestra voluntad de dar nuestra vida en la línea de fuego de las luchas de América Latina.

Queremos explicar a los países de América Latina que nuestra lucha está comenzando, porque ahora la única información es la proveniente de la AP y de la UPI, que son parte del sistema de control de comunicaciones de los imperialistas; a la inversa, nosotros no podemos obtener ninguna noticia de los países latinoamericanos si no es a través de la UPI y la AP, y esto significa otra vez el sistema de control de los imperialistas. Así, lo que se nos informa es que hay bandidos, o que hay grupos de fuerzas rebeldes, o que los comunistas están luchando en Venezuela, o fuerzas rebeldes en las calles de Guatemala o Santo Domingo o Panamá. Y sólo mediante nuestra conciencia política de que esos grupos están luchando por sus países podemos leer entre las mentiras y la propaganda lo que ha sucedido. Es la primera vez que tenemos una oportunidad de encontrar a la gente que está realmente luchan-do por su liberación y comenzar a explicarnos las ideologías, para ver si las bases comunes están en la ideología, y comprender su lucha y explicarles la nuestra, sin necesidad de que la propaganda imperialista dé la interpretación de nuestras luchas a unos y otros. Esta es la primera cosa; la segunda es que debemos llevar adelante juntos nuestras luchas; y eso se está haciendo simplemente con nuestra presencia. Y tercero, comenzar a contrarrestar a la OEA, y el simple hecho de que tengamos la conferencia aquí está haciéndolo ya; neutralizará a la OEA y comenzará a minimizar su importancia en la mente de nuestros pueblos, lo que es muy importante, ya que el control de la propaganda por el imperialismo puede ganar la conciencia de nuestro pueblo y una de las luchas más importantes hoy en día es la que se libra por ganar la conciencia del pueblo. Una vez que hayamos logrado esto no habrá duda de que estaremos preparados para luchar y para elaborar sistemas y caminos de ayuda y apoyo mutuo.

—¿Qué tiene usted que decirles a líderes guerrilleros como Douglas Bravo, de Venezuela; Fabio Vázquez y Marulanda, de Colombia; César Montes, de Guatemala; y los líderes de las guerrillas bolivianas?

—Queremos decir a nuestros hermanos, a nuestros camaradas, que aunque ellos puedan no saberlo hay muchos de nosotros aquí que seguimos muy de cerca y muy atentamente cualquier noticia sobre sus luchas. Sabemos que están sosteniendo una victoriosa, valiente y buena lucha; y pese a que no controlamos el sistema de comunicaciones, podemos decirles que no deben desesperar nunca, ni temer nunca que su lucha sea en vano o que nadie sepa de ella. Nosotros la conocemos y estamos con ellos. No está lejano el día en que puedan actuar libremente y juntos podamos, mano a mano, construir el mundo que estamos luchando por construir. Nuestro único mensaje para ellos es que no desespere y que mantengan alta la lucha, porque los tenemos como inspiración y esperanza.

—¿Qué piensa usted de la agresión a Vietnam?

—Pienso que es la agresión más repugnante en el mundo actual. Pienso que es odio y cobardía de parte de los Estados Unidos. Pienso que es la guerra más sucia que haya sido hecha nunca, y por eso pienso que ante la voluntad del pueblo vietnamita los Estados Unidos perderán esa guerra.

—¿Qué le hizo venir a Cuba?

—Cuando la Revolución Cubana empezó, yo era un muchacho y estaba muy interesado en ella; mi interés fue creciendo por el hecho de que cuando el primer ministro de Cuba, Fidel Castro, fue a los Estados Unidos, vivió en Harlem, con los negros; él vino al hotel Teresa, y eso significó que nuestra relación con Cuba se convirtió en algo verdadero, en el sentido de que su primer ministro, en forma distinta a todos los primeros ministros que habían venido al país, fue a vivir en el ghetto, con nosotros, mientras estuvo en los Estados Unidos. Nosotros pensamos siempre que debíamos pagar a Cuba esa visita de Fidel Castro.

En segundo lugar, nosotros hemos sabido siempre que la Revolución Cubana es una buena revolución. Mientras mucha gente en los Estados Unidos ponía en tela de juicio a la Revolución Cubana, nosotros nunca lo hicimos; nosotros sabíamos que estaba bien. Nosotros vinimos a Cuba simplemente a aprender, y en los pocos días que hemos estado aquí lo que hemos aprendido de la Revolución Cubana no podríamos haberlo aprendido nunca en los libros, las películas o cualquier otro medio. He podido estar aquí, vivir entre gente libre y comprender y ver cómo están resolviendo sus problemas. Eso es lo que vinimos a hacer: vinimos a aprender y hemos aprendido bastante.

—¿Qué piensa del primer ministro de Cuba, Fidel Castro?

—Es el hombre más grande que he conocido.

—¿Qué piensa del Che Guevara y de lo que ha dicho sobre la revolución en América Latina y en todo el mundo?

—Estamos de acuerdo en un 150% con el Che, él se está convirtiendo en uno de los hombres más ampliamente leídos en los Estados Unidos negros, hoy en día. Los negros están leyendo al Che dondequiera que usted vaya; y no sólo eso: se lee al Che en todo el mundo. Una de las razones, pienso yo, es que el Che es un hombre que no ha hablado de la revolución, sino que la ha hecho. Es un hombre que aun después de haber ganado una lucha revolucionaria por el poder, en este país, dejó a su esposa y fue a otros países para ayudar a iniciar la lucha, con riesgo de su propia vida. No encontramos un hombre así cada día.

—La lucha que usted está librando en los Estados Unidos da a cierta gente la impresión de que usted ha firmado su sentencia de muerte. ¿Qué piensa usted al respecto?

—El hermano Malcolm solía decirnos que hay varias clases de muerte. Yo pienso que la gente deshumanizada que no devuelve el golpe es una gente muerta. Eso es lo que el occidente ha podido hacer con la mayoría de nosotros. Nos ha deshumanizado hasta el punto de que ni siquiera devolveríamos los golpes. Una vez que usted comienza a hacerlo, usted está vivo, usted está vivo y las balas no lo matarán. Si usted no devuelve el golpe, usted está muerto y todo el dinero del mundo no puede devolverle la vida. Hoy nosotros estamos vivos, estamos vivos en todo el mundo; todos los pueblos oprimidos están volviendo a la vida porque están devolviendo los golpes, están luchando por la humanidad. Cuando usted está muerto, cuando usted no se rebela, usted no está luchando para vivir: usted está ya muerto. Pero nosotros estamos vivos, y amamos tanto la vida que estamos dispuestos a perderla. Estamos vivos. La muerte no puede detenernos.

A Message of Carmichael to the Negroes of the U. S.:
"Let Us Fight For Total Revolution."

Havana, Cuba, August 17 ("Prensa Latina"). On August 18, second anniversary of the imperialist slaughter of the population in the Negro ghetto in the American city of Watts, Afro-American leader, Stokely Carmichael sent a message to the fraternal peoples of Africa, Asia and Latin America during a program put on the air weekly by OSPAAAL in English, French and Spanish over the facilities of Radio Havana, Cuba.

Carmichael's message reads: "Comrades of the Third World of Asia, Africa and Latin America: I want you to know that the Afro-Americans in the United States are struggling for their liberation and that this struggle is not a struggle of a reformist movement which seeks to be a part of the United States. It is a struggle in a total revolution by which we propose to change the imperialist, capitalist and racist structure of the United States which oppresses you from without and us from within.

"We want you to know," said Carmichael, "that the news which the imperialist press disseminates to you to the effect that the racial disturbances are racial riots in the United States is false. They are rebellious insurrections by a people that has been oppressed by a system with which it tried to peacefully coexist for 400 years without any success whatsoever. We have no alternative but to take up arms and struggle for our total liberation and a total revolution in the United States.

"We want you to know that our struggle is not a struggle for peace, law and order. Our struggle is a struggle for justice, equality and the redistribution of wealth in the United States.

"We want you to know that our struggle is not a struggle to be a part of the United States which exploits Latin America, which exploits Asia, which exploits the Caribbean area, which exploits Africa. Our struggle is a struggle to put an end to this exploitation because we are a part of the peoples of the Third World. We are Africans. That is where we were taken away from. We were kidnapped, stolen from Africa and for this reason we cannot be a part of the United States which rapes the African continent. We cannot accept money from a country that pillages Africa, that steals from those of our own flesh, our own blood. If they think that their own flesh and blood are important, we feel the same way about our own flesh and blood whether in Africa or anywhere our African brothers are exploited; in South America, in the Caribbean, in Latin America and in Asia where the struggling nations are waging the very same battle we are waging because it is a battle against the same enemy.

"We want you to know, brothers, that in the future we will not fight in any racist and imperialist wars of the United States. We are shaping a revolutionary awareness in our people, especially in the youth. We will not fight in the uniform of the armed forces of the United States. We are already refusing to fight in Vietnam and we are refusing to fight in Vietnam because we are creating a Negro resistance movement by which our people begin to understand that the people of Vietnam are not our enemies, but rather, the opposite is true. They are our friends. They are doing no harm to us; they are not inflicting any punishment on us; they are not disturbing us in any way, manner or form. There is no reason for us to fight the Vietnamese people and, for this reason, we are not going to fight in that dirty war.

"We are not going to fight in that dirty war. And we are not going to fight in their continuous aggressions against the Dominican Republic, Venezuela, Brazil, Africa, Malaya, Aden; we are not going to be the accomplices of this aggression. Whenever a riot breaks out in the main cities of the United States, we want you to know that it means that a new blow is being dealt the imperialists who oppress you. Every time we struggle in the cities, we strike a blow in the name of Nkrumah, who was overthrown by the CIA. Every time we strike a blow, we strike it in the name of Sukarno and the million people assassinated in Indonesia. Every time we stage a riot in a major city, we strike a blow at the Bay of Pigs invasion. Every time that we riot in a major city, we strike a blow against the imperialists who occupy Puerto Rico and turn it into a play thing for their pleasure. Every time we riot, we strike a blow in the name of the people of Malaya, of the people of Aden, of the people of Tanzania, of the people of Mozambique.

We want you to know that August 18, 1965, is a date which we all in the United States carry in our hearts. It is the date of the Watts riot. It was on that date that the Afro-Americans of the United States decided that it was no longer possible to try to coexist, but that the only solution was a Negro revolution. It was the date on which we decided that arms are the only reply. It was on that date that we decided that we had had enough sweet talk because while talking, our people continued to suffer. The time for talks is over, we cannot continue to withstand the sufferings of our people.

"We want you to know, brothers and sisters of the whole world, that our struggle is your struggle. From now on, the men whom the United States has trained in Vietnam, Negroes whom they have taught to kill another nonwhite people, are returning to their homes and have no intention of killing you. In our next battle, we will be struggling in Portuguese Guinea with such brothers and comrades of ours as Amilcar Cabral, against the Portuguese. In our next battle we will be struggling in Tanzania against the forces of oppression, In our next battle, we will be struggling in Zimbabwe (sic) against Great Britain and the United States. In our next battle, we will be struggling in the Congo. In our next battle, we will be struggling in Brazil against the structures which oppress the Brazilian people. In our next battle, we will be struggling in Colombia, New York, Detroit, Newark, Watts, Chicago, Cleveland, Washington, Baltimore...

That is where we shall be fighting. Our struggle will be the same. All our struggles need to be coordinated. Our peoples have been oppressed for centuries. The time has come for us to join forces and to place ourselves in the sun again, where we belong, so that we may again be a proud happy and free people. This is the task ahead of us. Brothers: we are ready to begin today to destroy, from within, the structures that have oppressed all of us and we hope that you begin from without, to destroy them also.

Let us march forward, We will win.

MENSAJE DE CARMICHAEL A LOS NEGROS EN EE.UU.: LUCHEMOS POR REVOLUCION TOTAL

LA HABANA, Cuba. 17 de agosto. (PRENSA LATINA). Con motivo de cumplirse el 18 de agosto el segundo aniversario de la matanza imperialista contra la población del ghetto negro de la ciudad norteamericana de Watts, el líder afronorteamericano Stokely Carmichael envió a través del programa que semanalmente transmite la OSPAAAL, en inglés, francés y español, - por las frecuencias de Radio Habana Cuba, un mensaje a los hermanos pueblos de Arica, Asia y América Latina.

El mensaje de Carmichael dice textualmente: "Compañeros del Tercer Mundo, de Asia, África y América Latina: Quiero que sepan que los afro-norteamericanos dentro de los Estados Unidos están luchando por su liberación, y que esa lucha no es una lucha de un movimiento reformista que pretenda ser parte de los Estados Unidos. Es una lucha de revolución total, - en la que nos proponemos cambiar la estructura imperialista, capitalista y racista de los Estados Unidos que los oprime a ustedes afuera y a nosotros adentro.

"Queremos que sepan --dijo Carmichael-- que las noticias diseminadas entre ustedes por la prensa imperialista en el sentido de que los disturbios en los Estados Unidos son disturbios raciales o motines raciales, son falsas; son rebeliones, insurrecciones de un pueblo que ha sido oprimido por un sistema, que ha tratado de coexistir pacíficamente dentro de ese sistema durante 400 años, sin lograr éxito alguno. No tenemos otra alternativa que empuñar las armas y luchar por nuestra liberación total y una revolución total en los Estados Unidos.

"Queremos que sepan que nuestra lucha no es una lucha por la paz, por la ley o el orden. Nuestra lucha es la lucha por la justicia, igualdad y la redistribución de la riqueza dentro de los Estados Unidos.

"Queremos que sepan que nuestra lucha no es una lucha por ser una parte de los Estados Unidos, que explota a la América Latina, que explota a Asia, que explota la zona del Caribe, que explota a África. Nuestra lucha es una lucha por liquidar esa explotación, porque somos parte de los pueblos del Tercer Mundo. Somos africanos, de allí fuimos sacados. Fuimos secuestrados y robados de África, y por tanto no podemos ser parte de los Estados Unidos, que viola al continente africano. No podemos aceptar dinero de un país que saquea a África, que roba a nuestra propia carne, a nuestra propia sangre, y si para ellos son importantes su propia carne y sangre, -- también lo son para nosotros, ya sea en África o donde quiera que exploten a nuestros hermanos africanos, o en América del Sur, o en el Caribe, o en América Latina o en Asia, donde los pueblos que luchan están librando la misma batalla que nosotros libramos, porque es contra el mismo enemigo.

"Queremos que sepan, hermanos, que en el futuro no vamos a pelear en ninguna de las guerras racistas e imperialistas de los Estados Unidos. Estamos conformando una conciencia revolucionaria en nuestro pueblo, especialmente entre los jóvenes. No lucharemos con el uniforme de las fuerzas armadas de los Estados Unidos. Ya nos estamos negando a luchar en Vietnam, y nos estamos negando a luchar en Vietnam porque estamos creando un movimiento negro de resistencia, mediante el cual nuestro pueblo comienza a comprender -- que el pueblo de Vietnam no es nuestro enemigo; sino todo lo contrario, es nuestro amigo; no nos hace daño, no nos castiga, no nos molesta en forma alguna. No existe razón alguna para luchar contra el pueblo vietnamita, y por tanto, no vamos a pelear en esa guerra sucia.

"No vamos a pelear en esa guerra sucia. Y no vamos a pelear porque van a continuar agrediendo a Santo Domingo, Venezuela, Brasil, a África, Malaya, Adén, y no vamos a ser cómplices de esa agresión. Cada vez que se produce una rebelión en las principales ciudades de los Estados Unidos, queremos que sepan que significa un nuevo golpe a los imperialistas que los oprimen a ustedes. Cada vez que luchamos en las ciudades, damos un golpe en nombre de Nkrumah, derrocado por la CIA; cada vez que damos un golpe lo damos en nombre de Sukarno y el millón de personas asesinadas en Indonesia; cada vez que nos rebelamos en una gran ciudad, damos un golpe a la invasión en Playa Girón; cada vez que nos rebelamos en una gran ciudad, damos un golpe a los imperialistas que han ocupado y manejan a su antojo a Puerto Rico; cada vez que nos rebelamos, damos un golpe en nombre del pueblo de Malaya, del pueblo de Adén, del pueblo de Tanzania, del pueblo de Mozambique. SIGUE...

Queremos que sepan que el 18 de agosto de 1965, es una fecha que todos nosotros en los Estados Unidos llevamos en nuestros corazones. Es la fecha de la rebelión de Watts, ese fue el día en que los afroamericanos en los Estados Unidos decidieron que ya no era posible seguir tratando de coexistir, sino que la única solución es la revolución negra. Fue la fecha en que decidimos que las armas son la única respuesta. Fue la fecha en que decidimos que estaba bueno ya de palabras, porque mientras se hablaba, nuestra gente continuaba sufriendo. La época de la palabrería ha terminado. No podemos seguir soportando el sufrimiento de nuestro pueblo.

"Queremos que sepan, hermanos y hermanas de todo el mundo, que nuestra lucha es vuestra lucha. Desde hoy en adelante, los hombres que los Estados Unidos han entrenado en Vietnam, los negros a quienes han enseñado a matar a otro pueblo no blanco, están regresando a sus hogares y ya no los asesinarán a ustedes. Cuando luchemos otra vez, estaremos luchando en la Guinea Portuguesa con nuestros hermanos y compañeros como Amílcar Cabral, contra los portugueses. Cuando luchemos, estaremos luchando en Tanzania contra las fuerzas opresoras; cuando luchemos otra vez, estaremos luchando en Zimbabwe contra Gran Bretaña y los Estados Unidos; cuando luchemos otra vez, estaremos luchando en el Congo; cuando luchemos, estaremos luchando en Brasil contra las estructuras que oprimen al pueblo brasileño; cuando luchemos, estaremos luchando en Colombia, Nueva York, Detroit, Newark, Watts, Chicago, Cleveland, Washington, Baltimore...

Allí es donde lucharemos. Nuestra lucha será la misma. Nuestras luchas deben coordinarse. Nuestros pueblos han estado oprimidos durante siglos. Es hora de que nos juntemos y nos pongamos al sol nuevamente, donde pertenecemos, para que podamos ser pueblos orgullosos, felices y libres. Esa es la tarea que tenemos por delante. Hermanos: estamos listos para comenzar hoy a destruir desde dentro, las estructuras que nos han oprimido a todos, y esperamos que ustedes comiencen, desde fuera, a destruirlas también.

Venceremos.

PREPARAN ASESINATO DE DEBRAY; ROTH SERA TESTIGO EN EL JUICIO

LA PAZ, Bolivia. 17 de agosto (PRENSA LATINA). en víspera de iniciarse el Consejo de Guerra contra Regis Debray, elementos vinculados al régimen boliviano han reiniciado una campaña en favor de la implantación de la pena de muerte.

Al mismo tiempo "personas desconocidas" han comenzado a moverse en torno al Casino Militar de Camiri, donde se encuentran detenidos Debray, el argentino Ciro Roberto Bustos y 4 ciudadanos bolivianos, acusados de haber colaborado con las guerrillas. Los efectivos militares que custodian a los detenidos, fueron reforzados hoy sorpresivamente. Un alto oficial del ejército dijo que se había adoptado esa medida para evitar que alguien intentara lunchar a Debray y a sus compañeros.

Hace varias semanas, agentes del gobierno agredieron al abogado Walter Flores Torrico, quien fuera defensor de Debray, e intentaron penetrar en el campamento antiguerrillero de Camiri para asesinar al intelectual galo. Las autoridades militares mantienen a Debray bajo una absoluta incomunicación y sólo le permite salir de su celda durante una hora al día, en medio de una estrecha vigilancia.

Por otra parte, en información publicada por el diario católico "Presencia", el presidente del Consejo de Guerra, coronel Efraín Guachalla, expresó la posibilidad de que el fotógrafo inglés George A. Roth, quien se encuentra en libertad provisional, sea citado como testigo en el proceso militar contra el periodista galo.

Exclusive: The War of Guerrillas
Has Begun in the U. S.
Our Struggle Will Be Long, Hard and Fierce.
Cuba Inspires the Negroes of the U.S.A.

Havana, Cuba - August 5 (Prensa Latina). - Stokely Carmichael, the American Negro leader who is attending, as an honorary delegate, the Havana Conference of the Latin American Organization for Solidarity (OLAS), was interviewed by Radio Havana, Cuba. Because of the importance of the concepts dealt with by the Afro-American "Black Power" leader, we give the full text of the interview, as follows:

QUESTION: In the last few days, the world has witnessed with extreme anxiety the grave racial disturbances which have occurred in several cities of the United States, especially Detroit, where violence reached an unprecedented degree of magnitude. According to an Associated Press dispatch, the Mayor of Detroit, Jerome Cavanagh, said that the Congress of the United States is partly responsible for these outbreaks of violence because a number of laws on educational improvement and the "war on poverty" program are still "bottled up" in the Capitol in Washington. The Mayor warned that if these problems are not solved with adequate speed, violence will once again break out in Detroit, or any other part of the United States, or throughout the territory of the Union, all at once and with unforeseeable consequences. Would you care to give us your opinion on this?

Carmichael: Well, I believe that the Mayor is an idiot if he believes that the problem of the Negro population of the United States can be solved within a capitalist society. The only solution is the destruction of the capitalist system, the destruction of American imperialism which entails racial discrimination and exploitation everywhere. Once this structure is destroyed, and only after it is done, can we speak in a realistic fashion about a solution of the problems of the Negro population in the United States. Until then, all that is said is like placing a bandage on a cancer. It will not solve the problem.

QUESTION: In these recent - as a matter of fact, we can call them current - disturbances in the United States, it is clearly visible that the Negroes have progressed to a superior form of struggle against the debasing methods of the police and of the reactionary and racist elements of the country. Could you explain what is the reason for this change?

Carmichael: It is clear that what we have decided to do, as the only means to oppose oppression, is to take up arms.

We have to unite with all those who, the world over, are in favor of an armed struggle as the only road to a solution of our problems.

For 400 years, we have tried to live in the United States under a form of peaceful coexistence and the result is that we have had to live under the most Fascist regime in the world.

Our only possible way out is either the destruction of this regime or our own destruction in trying to do it. Under all circumstances, we are going to fight with weapons in our hands to accomplish our liberation.

QUESTION: A phrase has been used quite frequently in the dispatches of the international news agencies lately. This phrase is used in conjunction with your movement and your liberation struggle. This phrase is "Black Power." Could you explain what Black Power is and what the meaning of Black Power is?

Carmichael: Black Power is unity of all the Negro population of the United States as a single people struggling for its liberation. It means that we, American Negroes, must begin to look upon the various liberation movements as our own cause. It means that we must join hands with all our comrades throughout the world to wage our fight against imperialism and destroy it once and for all, in order to build, all of us together, a new society, based on human principles and not exploitation.

QUESTION: In a recent press conference, you referred to the urban guerrilla organization as a new method of struggle of the American Negro population. Would you care to explain this idea?

Carmichael: We said that we were forced to use guerrilla warfare in the cities in order to accomplish our liberation. We have no other alternative.

QUESTION: There was, however, a very interesting question which you were asked at that press conference. This question deals with the military aspect of the matter. Specifically, you were asked to explain how it is possible that guerrilla warfare in the cities, which is extremely difficult in other countries, is considered by you as a method of warfare whose application is advantageous in the United States?

Carmichael: It is positive that we have no advantages over other peoples outside the United States. The method employed by the United States to fight guerrilla movements in other countries is the use of mighty weapons and a tremendous organization. However, this can be done only when all the people can be armed and fight with all the necessary means. Inside its own territory, the United States cannot employ its most powerful weapons against us. It cannot use hydrogen bombs, or just bombs, or napalm bombs against us because we live in its own entrails. If it were to use, for example, chemical weapons against a portion of its own people, namely, against us, the other portion would also be burned in the flames. In this fashion, the United States, having to face our guerrilla warfare, has to carry on a hand-to-hand fight. It will no longer be the might of weapons against the will of a few men. It will be the will power of a few men against other men. And we have the will power to fight because we fight for our liberation and they fight to oppress us. And those who fight for their liberation never give up. They cannot be conquered.

QUESTION: Do you listen to Radio Havana, Cuba, broadcasts in your country?

Carmichael: Yes, of course. Radio Havana is listened to throughout the country, in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Virginia. And if you have a good short-wave receiver, you can hear it in Washington, D.C.

QUESTION: Do you feel that Radio Havana, Cuba, has been able to help, to some extent, the struggle of American Negroes with its broadcasts?

Carmichael: Certainly. It has been a source of inspiration for all of us, because when we see that mighty imperialism hesitates before a risk and that Cuba, by contrast, not only dares to risk, but holds on to its position, we cannot help but feel inspired. And all of this is reflected in Radio Havana's broadcasts.

QUESTION: Can you tell us about your impressions at Gran Tierra, that is, the second major event you attended after your arrival in Cuba?

Carmichael: One of the things that impressed us the most is the fact that the Prime Minister takes time to go to a small village to meet the citizens and to confer with them, and that he speaks with them about things that his government is trying to do.

The fact that the Government of Cuba shows so much concern for the people is, by itself, a revolutionary fact and deserves all our admiration.

QUESTION: And what was your most outstanding impression at the celebration of the 14th anniversary of July 26 at Santiago, Cuba?

Carmichael: The fact that Fidel Castro is concerned about the education of the masses. In the second place, Fidel's conception that a revolution is more than a seizure of power, but an effort to reinstill in the people an awareness of the concepts which have been destroyed by Western societies. His efforts to destroy the concept of material interests which Western societies have imposed on the peoples represent an indication that he sees his revolution as a true revolution and this is, without a doubt, one of the best things that we can learn from the Cuban Revolution.

QUESTION: Can you tell us, Mr. Carmichael, why you came to Cuba and what was your opinion about the Cuban Revolution before and after your first experiences in our country?

Carmichael: The impression that we have always had in the United States about the Cuban Revolution is that it is good. The fact that the United States is against Cuba has been sufficient to convince us that Cuba is doing something good. Therefore, we did not come to Cuba to find out whether the Revolution is good; we came to find out things; to learn from the Cuban Revolution the things that can be useful to our people within the United States.

Since our arrival here, we have learned a tremendous amount of things that we could not possibly learn from books or movies, but only by coming here and touching them with our own hands.

QUESTION: Could you tell us, in line with your observations here, how you see the way of life of our Negro citizens in Cuba?

Carmichael: Indubitably, the Revolution has greatly helped the Afro-Cubans and the way in which they are developing themselves clearly indicates that there is no racism. The Afro-Cubans with whom we spoke are all for the Revolution. They all respect and admire the Cuban Revolution and all experience a great love for Fidel Castro.

QUESTION: When did you read for the first time any of the writings by Commander Guevara and what impression did you receive?

Carmichael: Well, I believe that we did not start to read Che's works until 1965. We heard about them as early as 1959 when the Revolution triumphed and, since that time, we have been following with interest everything that had to do with him; where he was, what he was doing, and what he was saying.

We could get a certain amount of information from some newspapers in the United States and some Cuban newspapers which were available in translation. However, we did not start to read his works until about 1965. It is very difficult to state the precise date because the entire Negro community of the United States reads Che and it seems to us that he has always been with us.

QUESTION: Do you wish to send a special message to your people in the United States, in your own name?

Carmichael: Our brothers and sisters know that the work that we have to do is going to be long and hard, as Che put it. They know that our struggle is going to be more than a street fight; that it is going to be a long and hard struggle. We are preparing ourselves right now for this test of endurance. At first, many of us will die, but we must not despair; we must continue to struggle, no matter how high a price we have to pay. Those of us who travel abroad are making efforts to strengthen our bonds with our comrades outside the United States. Our struggle will have world dimensions. We are within the United States. Our struggle is going to be the hardest and the fiercest, but we must prepare ourselves to wage it. Let us go and attend to our business, dear friends."

ESTA GUERRA ES UNA VERGUENZA

Los nombres más populares y más representativos del mundo del espectáculo y de la cultura norteamericanas y británicas, ya se declararon en contra de la "sucia guerra" norteamericana en Vietnam. Esta toma de posición se pone en evidencia en las declaraciones que aparecieron en el "Times", como anuncios pagados, el 30 de marzo y el 2 de junio pasados, y por la lista de los firmantes.

La declaración de marzo, firmada por 334 ciudadanos británicos, se declaraba en favor de una solución pacífica, a partir de la liquidación de los bombardeos. Entre los firmantes había cinco Premios Nóbel, ochenta y siete parlamentarios, tres obispos y otras personalidades de la iglesia anglicana, metodista y judía. La declaración de junio (dirigida a los intelectuales británicos), inspirada en un neto rechazo de las justificaciones "patrióticas" de la intervención, estaba firmada por setenta artistas e intelectuales norteamericanos.

El texto es el siguiente:

"Nosotros, ciudadanos de los Estados Unidos, profundamente preocupados por la guerra en Viet Nam, deseamos expresar por escrito que no aceptamos el punto de vista oficial de nuestro gobierno y del vuestro, según el cual Hanoi cierra toda posibilidad de acuerdo. Por el contrario, existen pruebas considerables que fueron presentadas a nuestro gobierno, y que nunca obtuvieron respuesta, del hecho de que el escalonamiento de la guerra por parte de los Estados Unidos destruyó reiteradamente toda posibilidad de negociación.

"Nosotros les aseguramos que cualquier expresión de horror por esta guerra vergonzosa "una guerra que está destruyendo exactamente todos los valores que peretende defender" no debería ser considerada anti-norteamericana, sino más bien un apoyo para la América que queremos y de la cual estamos orgullosos".

He aquí algunos de los más renombrados artistas norteamericanos e ingleses, firmantes de las declaraciones:

Marlon Brando, Peter O'toole, Deborah Kerr, James Badwin, Harry Belafonte, Alexander Calder, Arthur Miller y Robert Lowell. (P.L.)

LA GUERRA DE GUERRILLAS HA EMPEZADO EN EE. UU.
NUESTRA LUCHA SERA LARGA, DURA Y FEROS
CUBA INSPIRA A LOS NEGROS DE USA.

LA HABANA, Cuba, 4 de agosto (PRENSA LATINA).- Stokely Carmichael, dirigente negro norteamericano, que asiste como Delegado de Honor a la Conferencia de la Organización Latinoamericana de Solidaridad (OLAS) que se efectúa en esta capital, fue entrevistado por la emisora radio Habana Cuba. Por la importancia de los conceptos vertidos por el líder afroamericano del "poder negro", reproducimos a continuación el texto de la entrevista:

PREGUNTA: En estos días, el mundo se ha visto estremecido por los graves disturbios raciales que han tenido lugar en numerosas ciudades de Estados Unidos, especialmente en Detroit, donde la violencia ha alcanzado una magnitud sin precedentes. De acuerdo con un despacho de la AP., el alcalde de Detroit, Jerome Cavanagh, dijo que el Congreso de Estados Unidos tiene, en parte, la culpa de que se hayan producido estos estallidos de violencia, debido a que algunas leyes sobre mejoras educacionales y sobre el programa de "lucha contra la pobreza" se encuentran engavetadas en el Capitolio de Washington. Advirtió el alcalde que si estos problemas no eran resueltos con la debida rapidez, la violencia volvería a estallar en Detroit, o en cualquier parte de Estados Unidos, o en todo el territorio de la Unión, a la vez, y con imprevisibles consecuencias. ¿Quisiera usted expresar su opinión sobre esto?

Carmichael: bueno, yo creo que el alcalde es un idiota si cree que el problema de la población negra de Estados Unidos, puede resolverse dentro de una sociedad capitalista. La única solución es la destrucción del sistema capitalista, la destrucción del imperialismo norteamericano, que conlleva la discriminación racial y la explotación en todas partes. Una vez destruida esa estructura y solamente entonces, podremos hablar de una manera realista sobre la solución de los problemas de la población negra de Estados Unidos. Hasta entonces, todo lo que se diga es como poner un vendaje a un cáncer. No se resolverá el problema.

PREGUNTA: En estos recientes y, podemos decir actuales disturbios, en los Estados Unidos, se puede ver claramente que los negros han pasado a una forma superior de lucha contra los atropellos de la policía y de los elementos reaccionarios y racistas del país. ¿Podría explicar a que se debe ese cambio?

Carmichael: Esta claro que lo que nosotros hemos decidido hacer, como único medio de enfrentarnos a la opresión, es tomar las armas.

Nosotros tenemos que unirnos, a aquellos que en el mundo están en favor de la lucha armada, como la única vía de solución para nuestros problemas.

Durante 400 años hemos tratado de vivir dentro de Estados Unidos, bajo la forma de una coexistencia pacífica, y el resultado ha sido que hemos tenido que vivir bajo el régimen más facista del mundo.

Nuestra única salida posible es la de destruir ese régimen, o ser destruidos en la demanda. De todas maneras, vamos a combatir con las armas para alcanzar nuestra liberación.

PREGUNTA: Hay una frase que se ha venido usando con gran frecuencia en los despachos de las agencias internacionales de noticias, en todo cuanto se refiere a ustedes y a su lucha de liberación. Esa frase es: el "poder negro". ¿Podría usted explicar en qué consiste el Poder Negro y cual es la significación de ese movimiento?

Carmichael: El Poder Negro es la unión de toda la población negra de Estados Unidos, como un solo pueblo, para luchar por su liberación. Significa que los negros norteamericanos debemos comenzar a considerar los movimientos de liberación, como propia causa. Que debemos unir nuestras manos con las de nuestros camaradas de todo el mundo, para combatir contra el imperialismo y destruirlo de una vez, para construir juntos una nueva sociedad, basada en principios humanos y no en la explotación.

SIGUE...

PREGUNTA: En una reciente conferencia de prensa usted se refirió a la organización de guerrillas urbanas como un nuevo método de lucha por parte de la población negra norteamericana. ¿quisiera usted explicar esa idea?

Carmichael: Habíamos dicho que nosotros nos hemos visto forzados a emplear la guerra de guerrillas en la ciudad para conseguir nuestra liberación. No tenemos otra alternativa.

PREGUNTA: Pero es que hubo una pregunta muy interesante, que le fue formulada a usted en esa conferencia, y que tiene que ver con el aspecto propiamente militar de la cuestión. Es decir, se le pidió que explicara cómo es que la acción de guerrillas en la ciudad, que resulta muy difícil en otros países, es considerada por ustedes como de provechosa aplicación en Estados Unidos?

Carmichael: Es cierto que nosotros no tenemos más ventajas que otros pueblos fuera de Estados Unidos. La forma en que Estados Unidos combaten contra el movimiento guerrillero es mediante el uso de las armas más poderosas y una enorme organización, pero solo podrán hacerlo hasta el momento en que todo el pueblo puede armarse y combatir con todos los medios necesarios. Dentro de su propio territorio Estados Unidos no podrá emplear sus armas más poderosas contra nosotros. No puede usar la bomba de hidrógeno, la bomba o las bombas de napalm contra nosotros, porque vivimos dentro de sus propias entrañas.

Si alguna vez, por ejemplo, usa armas químicas contra una parte de su propio pueblo, que somos nosotros, la otra parte también resultaría envuelta en llamas. De modo que, cuando Estados Unidos se enfrenten a nuestra guerra de guerrillas, tendrá que ser en combate cuerpo a cuerpo. No será el poder de las armas contra la voluntad de unos hombres. Sino la voluntad de unos hombres contra otros hombres. Y nosotros tenemos la voluntad de combatir, porque nosotros combatimos por nuestra liberación y ellos combaten para oprimirnos. Y los que combaten por su liberación no se rinden jamás. No pueden ser conquistados.

PREGUNTA: ¿Escuchan ustedes las transmisiones de Radio Habana Cuba en su país?

Carmichael: Sí, cómo no. La Radio Habana Cuba es escuchada en todo el país, en Alabama, en Mississippi, en Louisiana, Texas, Carolina del Norte, Carolina del Sur y en Virginia. Y, si se dispone de un buen equipo receptor de onda corta, se puede escuchar en Washington.

PREGUNTA: ¿Cree usted que Radio Habana Cuba ha podido ayudar en algo a la lucha de los negros norteamericanos, con transmisiones?

Carmichael: Ciertamente que sí. Ha sido una fuente de inspiración para todos nosotros, porque, cuando vemos que el poderoso imperialismo vacila ante el riesgo, y en cambio Cuba no solo se arriesga, sino que mantiene su posición, no podemos por menos que sentirnos inspirados. Y todo esto se refleja en las transmisiones de Radio Habana Cuba.

PREGUNTA: ¿Puede hablarnos de sus impresiones en Gran Tierra, es decir, el segundo evento a que usted asistió después de su llegada a Cuba?

Carmichael: Una de las cosas que más nos impresionó fue como el Primer Ministro dedica su tiempo a ir a un pequeño pueblo, para encontrarse con los ciudadanos y conversar con ellos y hablarles de las cosas que su gobierno está tratando de hacer.

El hecho de que el gobierno de Cuba demuestre tanta preocupación por el pueblo en sí mismo, es revolucionario, y esto tiene toda nuestra admiración.

PREGUNTA: Y ¿cuál fue su impresión principal durante la celebración del décimo-cuarto aniversario del 26 de julio, en Santiago de Cuba?

SIGUE...

Carmichael: el hecho de que Fidel Castro se preocupa por la educación de las masas. Esto, más que ninguna otra cosa, nos ha impresionado. Lo segundo, es la concepción de Fidel, en el sentido de que la revolución no es solamente para la toma del poder, sino para reinculcar en la conciencia -- del pueblo los conceptos que han sido destruidos por la sociedad occidental; sus esfuerzos por destruir el concepto del interés material que la sociedad occidental ha impuesto a los pueblos. Eso es lo que él vé como una verdadera revolución y ésto es, sin duda, una de las mejores cosas que nosotros podemos aprender de la revolución Cubana.

PREGUNTA: Puede usted decirnos, señor Carmichael, porque -- vino a Cuba, y cual era su opinión sobre la Revolución Cubana -- antes y después de sus primeras experiencias en nuestro país?.

Carmichael: La impresión que siempre hemos tenido nosotros en Estados Unidos sobre la Revolución Cubana es que ésta es buena. El hecho de que -- Estados Unidos estén contra Cuba ha sido bastante para convencernos de que Cuba está haciendo algo bueno. Por tanto, nosotros no vinimos a Cuba para saber si la revolución es buena, vinimos para saber cosas, para aprender -- de la Revolución Cubana cosas que pueden ser útiles a nuestra gente dentro de Estados Unidos.

Desde que llegamos aquí, hemos aprendido una cantidad enorme de cosas -- que no podríamos haber aprendido en libros ni en películas, sino únicamente viniendo a palparlas nosotros mismos.

PREGUNTA: ¿Podría usted decirnos, de acuerdo con lo que ha podido observar aquí, como vé el modo de vida de los ciudadanos negros en Cuba?.

Carmichael: Indudablemente la revolución ha ayudado grandemente a los afro-cubanos y, la forma en que se desenvuelven, demuestra claramente que no hay racismo. Los afro-cubanos con quienes hemos hablado están todos con la revolución, todos respetan y admiran a la Revolución Cubana y todos -- sienten un gran amor por Fidel Castro.

PREGUNTA: ¿Cuándo leyó usted, por primera vez, algún material escrito por el Comandante Guevara y que impresión le produjo?.

Carmichael: Bueno, yo creo que nosotros no empezamos a leer al "Che" -- sino hasta 1965. Habíamos oído hablar de él desde 1959, cuando triunfó la revolución y, desde entonces, seguimos con interés todo lo que se refería a él, donde se encontraba, que estaba haciendo y que decía.

Podíamos leer alguna información en ciertos periódicos de Estados Unidos y algunos periódicos cubanos que eran traducidos. Pero, nosotros no empezamos a leer sus obras sino más o menos hasta 1965. Es difícil precisar la fecha, porque hoy toda la comunidad negra de Estados Unidos lee al "Che" y nos parece ahora que siempre ha estado con nosotros.

PREGUNTA: Desea usted enviar algún mensaje especial a su -- pueblo en Estados Unidos, en su nombre?.

Carmichael: Nuestros hermanos y hermanas saben que el trabajo que tenemos que hacer va a ser largo y va a ser duro, como ha dicho el "Che". Que -- nuestra lucha no va a ser simplemente una lucha en las calles, que va a ser una lucha larga y dura. Nosotros nos estamos preparando ahora para esa resistencia. Al principio, muchos de nosotros moriremos, pero no debemos deseperarnos, debemos continuar luchando, no importa el precio que tengamos que pagar. Aquellos de nosotros que nos encontramos fuera, estamos fortaleciendo los lazos con nuestros camaradas fuera de Estados Unidos. Nuestra lucha tendrá dimensiones mundiales. Nosotros estamos dentro de Estados Unidos. -- Nuestra lucha va a ser la más dura y feroz, pero debemos prepararnos para -- esa lucha. Vamos a ocuparnos de nuestro negocio, queridos".

Press Conference with Carmichael

Havana, Cuba, August 2 (Prensa Latina) - "We have no alternative but to take up arms to struggle for our liberation," American Negro leader Stokely Carmichael said heretoday. He is attending, as an observer, the First Conference of the Latin American Organization for Solidarity.

Carmichael made his statement at a press conference held on the 25th floor of the Hotel Havana Libre. The conference was also attended by Negro leaders George Ware and Julius Lester. In reply to questions by Cuban and foreign newsmen, Carmichael said that the Vietnamese are "brothers in the struggle against imperialism." He went on to say: "In reply to the question as to whether we shall take part in the war in Vietnam, the answer is: no, we will not go."

He also said: "As for our brothers who are fighting in Vietnam, the best thing about this is that they are getting training to fight in the streets of the United States later on."

Asked about what Negro millionaires in the United States may be thinking of them, he replied: "They are millionaires, what may they be thinking of?" According to the New York Times, there are 67 such millionaires.

He added: "We are fighting against them also. They have to be destroyed."

On the subject of Kennedy's suggestion for the establishment of controls over the arms the population at large may be allowed to have, Carmichael replied: "We shall always be able to get our weapons."

100-446080-511

In reply to a question by the correspondent of Italy's "Unita," Carmichael stated that they had to accept the idea of a peaceful struggle propounded by Dr. Martin Luther King when the organization was established. "However," he said, "we did not believe in nonviolence. So, we started to organize our people according to the concept that an armed struggle was inevitable."

As for "Negro Power" and what it means, he explained: "It stands for unity of the Negro population with the oppressed population which struggles to destroy the capitalist structure which exploits us from within and you, Latin Americans, from without."

In reply to a question as to the influence on the Negro movement of the thinkings of Lincoln and Malcolm X, he stated: "I wish to say that Lincoln was a white racist to the fullest extent of the words. There is no indication that he did or said anything to bring about the true liberation of the Negro population. He is said to have complained on one occasion that, in order to win the war, he had had to set the slaves free."

As for Malcolm X, Carmichael added: "He is our spiritual guide. He was a great leader of Negroes in the United States."

Answering a question by the correspondent of Le Monde, he said that "Negro Power" is meant for the Negroes and that when the whites begin to fight, "We will fight together. This is their problem and they have to solve it" (sic).

While the press conference was in progress, Carmichael offered a short explanation of the revolt of the Negro population in the United States and went on to say: "Thus, you have it directly and not through UPI or AP. The battle is against imperialism, oppression and racism. It is a struggle against fascism."

RUEDA DE PRENSA
CON CARMICHAEL

LA HABANA, Cuba, 2 de agosto (PRENSA LATINA).- Nosotros no tenemos otra alternativa que tomar las armas para luchar por nuestra liberación "dijo hoy aquí el dirigente negro norteamericano Stockely Carmichael, quien asiste como delegado observador a la Primera Conferencia de la Organización Latinoamericana de Solidaridad.

Carmichael hizo la declaración en conferencia de prensa, celebrada en el piso 25 del hotel Habana Libre, en la que participaron los también dirigentes negros George Ware y Julius Lester. Respondiendo preguntas de periodistas cubanos y extranjeros, Carmichael dijo que los Vietnamitas eran hermanos en la lucha contra el imperialismo. Después agregó: para responder a la pregunta de si participaremos en la guerra en Vietnam, la respuesta es: no; no iremos.

También dijo: "en cuanto a los hermanos que luchan en Vietnam lo mejor que tiene eso, es que ellos están recibiendo en entrenamiento para combatir después en las calles de Estados Unidos.

Sobre lo que piensan los millonarios negros de Estados Unidos, respondió: "son millonarios ¿que van a pensar?. Según él, en New York Times son 67 los millonarios.

Contra ellos también luchamos, hay que destruirlos.

En relación con el pedido de Kennedy para controlar el armamento que debe tener la población, Carmichael respondió: siempre podremos obtener armas.

Al dar respuesta a una pregunta del corresponsal del Unita de Italia, afirmó que ellos tuvieron que aceptar las tesis de lucha pacífica, mantenidas por el doctor Martin Luther King al ser creada la organización, "pero no creíamos en la no violencia, de manera que comenzamos a organizar nuestra gente en base del concepto de que había que luchar con las armas".

En cuanto a qué es el poder negro, explicó que "es la unión de la población negra con la población oprimida, que lucha por destruir la estructura capitalista que nos explota a nosotros en lo interno y a ustedes (América Latina) en lo externo".

Preguntado sobre la influencia en el movimiento negro del pensamiento de Lincoln, y de Malcolm X., afirmó: "yo quiero decir que Lincoln era un racista blanco en el mejor sentido de la palabra; no hay indicios de que él propugnara la verdadera liberación de la población negra. Una vez dijo que se lamentaba de que, para ganar la guerra, haya tenido que darle la libertad a los esclavos.

En cuanto a Malcolm X. -agregó Carmichael- es nuestro guía espiritual, fue un gran líder de los negros de Estados Unidos.

También dijo, respondiendo una pregunta del corresponsal de Le Monde, que el poder negro se dirige hacia los negros y que cuando los blancos comiencen a luchar, lucharemos juntos; "eso es un problema de ellos y ellos son los que tienen que resolverlo".

En el curso de la conferencia de prensa, Carmichael hizo una breve explicación sobre la rebelión de la población negra en Estados Unidos y expresó: "así la podrán obtener directamente, y no a través de la UPI o la AP. La batalla es contra el imperialismo, la opresión y el racismo; es la lucha contra el fascismo"

Your letter of July 29, 1967, made reference to an interview of Carmichael by Michael Arkus in London, England, and requested that this Bureau determine what person or persons would be available to introduce the text of the interview into evidence. This interview was published by the Cuban news agency, Prensa Latina.

b7C Per FBI

We have determined that correspondent in Havana, Cuba, and has not been in England for the past two years. Carmichael was probably interviewed in London the Prensa Latina representative in London who is well known to sources as pro-Cuban and a leftist. Unless advised to the contrary by you, we will not attempt to have interviewed.

There is also enclosed an account of an interview with Carmichael in Havana, Cuba, which was distributed by the Algerian Press Agency. This account was furnished to this Bureau by a representative of United Press 100-446080-513 International.

TRANSLATION FROM FRENCH

Translation of Algerian Press Agency's Report on Stokely Carmichael's Press Conference at the Latin American Solidarity Conference

Algeria, August 2 - Stokely Carmichael, Black Power advocate, addressed the Cuban and international press (the United States press was excluded at Carmichael's request) at the Havana Libre Hotel during the Latin American Solidarity Conference, at which he is an honored guest.

This press conference, the most complete ever given by the Black America leader, moving in its quality and force in regard to black Americans and people struggling throughout the world, was an epoch-making event in the history of free combat by the black people of the United States, who for 400 years have been subjected to the most brutal Fascism which the world has ever known.

Here is a summary of the most important statements made by Carmichael during the three-hour discussions and interviews with the newspapermen:

Middle East - Israel represents an enclave of imperialism in the Middle East and North Africa. If I am the owner of a house and someone seizes one of its rooms, then 20 years later asks me to discuss it, I will say to him: First I will take back my room and the discussion can come later.

It is true that the Jewish people suffered and lost six million people during the Second World War, but the Africans have been robbed throughout the world; they lost their lands and a hundred million people during the period of slavery. However, we shall not cry. We shall take back the land from the hands of those who have robbed us. Zionists must leave Israel.

The Arab peoples are gathering their strength and opposing imperialism. This is why the West found that it was (Translator's Note: Remainder of sentence is garbled). The problem will not be resolved until the Arabs control this land and the riches of the Middle East.

Vietnam - Our black youth, behind our hero Muhammad Ali, refuse to serve in the American imperialist army and to kill the people of Vietnam. These people do not force us to live in ghettos. They do not murder us in the streets. Our enemy is white America. The Vietnamese people are our brothers in the struggle because they fight against the same structure of oppression as we.

Black Power - Black Power means the gathering together of all the black people of the United States to fight with all means possible for liberation, alongside with the oppressed peoples living outside the United States, so as to destroy imperialism in the United States capitalist structure, which oppresses us from within and you from without.

The European Left - I do not see any truly revolutionary movements in Western Europe. There does not exist any in the subconscious (Translator's Note: Remainder of sentence is garbled). There exists in the European subconscious all the racism of the West.

The class struggle in Europe has been turned toward exploitation of the Third World. The European working class has shared in all the benefits of this exploitation and therefore can no longer protest against exploitation.

Armed Struggle - Only the gun can pull us out of this situation. Up to last year we were organized only to defend ourselves, since the white man had convinced us that violence was bad for our struggle, even though he was using it freely outside the United States. Now, our people employ passive violence. However, the line between defensive and offensive violence is a slight one. Once an individual has fired a gun to defend himself, he is capable of using it to attack. We are advancing toward guerilla violence in the American urban center.

The White Liberals - They are the enemies of the blacks because, on the one hand, they are rich and they profit from the American system, and on the other hand, because their commitment is only an intellectual one. The only whites who interest us are those willing to take up arms to destroy the structures of American capitalism.

Abraham Lincoln - He was nothing else but a white Southerner; a kind of modern Kennedy. The Civil War had an economic basis; it was not fought to liberate the slaves.

Malcolm X - He is our patron saint. He was killed by Cuban exiles; but the true assassin was the CIA.

"Che" Guevara - The theses of "Che" are very important to us, on the one hand, because he recognized that in order to fight against racism and exploitation we must internationalize our struggle and cultivate hatred in order to live; on the other hand, because part of the chain reactions in the United States are the direct result of the struggle in Latin America. With 50 Vietnams within the United States and 50 outside the United States, we shall kill imperialism.

The CIA - The CIA is international and is licensed to kill. It killed Ben Barka in Paris and Tuchios in Guatemala. It poisoned Richard Right in France, overthrew Nkrumah, and directs the counter-guerilla war in Latin America.

Everyone must know that it is the CIA which is responsible for all this. The Western leaders, Johnson, McNamara, and Rusk, must pay.

Violence takes various forms. It is important that the people be armed as in Cuba.

Our heroes are: Malcolm X, W. E. B. Dubois, Franz Fanon, "Che" Guevara, and Mao Tse-tung.

Carmichael also stated that the place for the Black America movement is at the side of the revolutionary struggle of the Third World against imperialism and capitalism.

les libéraux blancs : ils sont les ennemis des noirs car d'une part ils sont riches et profitent du système américain et d'autre part leur seul engagement est intellectuel. Les seuls blancs qui nous intéressent sont ceux qui sont prêts à prendre les armes pour détruire les structures du capitalisme américain.

Abraham Lincoln : rien d'autre qu'un sudiste blanc, une espèce de Kennedy moderne. La guerre civile avait une base d'intérêt économique, elle n'a pas été menée pour libérer les esclaves.

Malcolm X : notre saint patron, il a été tué par des exilés cubains, mais le vrai assassin a été la CIA. 11-513

Che Guevara : les thèses du Che sont très importantes pour nous d'une part parce qu'il reconnaît que pour lutter contre la riche et l'exploitation il faut internationaliser notre combat et qu'il faut cultiver la haine afin de vivre. D'autre part les négociations en chaîne aux États-Unis sont le résultat direct du combat en Amérique latine, avec cinquante vietnamiens à l'intérieur des États-Unis et cinquante à l'extérieur nous tuons l'impérialisme.

CIA : la CIA est internationale et est mandatée pour tuer. Elle a tué Mendi Uen Barka à Paris, Luclos au Guatemala, elle a empoisonné Richard Wright en France, a renversé Nkrumah, dirige la contre-guerrilla en Amérique latine.

Il faut que chacun sache que c'est la CIA qui en est responsable. Les dirigeants de l'Occident : Johnson, McNamara, Ruak doivent payer.

La violence prend des formes diverses, il est important que le peuple soit armé comme à Cuba.

Nos héros devaient dire que les héros sont : Malcolm X, W. E. B. Dubois, Frantz Fanon, Che Guevara et Mao Tse Tung. C'est avec cette pensée que Carmichael a déclaré que la place du mouvement noir américain est dorénavant au sein de la lutte révolutionnaire du tiers-monde contre l'impérialisme et le capitalisme.

Il est l'envoyé spécial de l'après à la révolution.

Dear sir:

I just happen to read your article on [redacted] in your August 7 issue. I'm a american and I have the rights to voice my opinion about this article. If you decide to print this or throw it away, I really don't care, but it will have severed its purpose.

I'm speaking for atleast ten men besides myself. We are all solider, who have about two months left in the service before we get discharged. We are also experts in shoting our M14. When we come home, we want a place where we can live in peace, but since this goddamn niger has started to shot of his big mouth, hell has broke out in the states. We are in Europe, not in Viet-Nam, but if this [redacted] wants a fight, we'll be glad to teache him and his damn followers a lesson.

The lesson is simple: We plan to assassinate [redacted] we have GI's in the states, located near Washington D.C., who have seen th is niger and know where his headquarters is. If we ever come upon him, he is good as daed, just like saying, the president of the United States, is President Johnson! And for his pal, Stokely Carmichael, if he ever steps on the soil of the US again, he might as weel prepare for his own furnel! For we are sick adn of this niger shit of burning down America, if they don't come around! Let me ask them a question, Why is it always your areas and stores that are burned or looted? This doesn't get your subject arcross to t he government, it just worsten it.

And if they don't think whites, American, has the guts to fight, just wait til they start, we'll be among the whites who will shot til we die ourselves! If they ask for it, they'll receive what they ask for.

There is no way you can trace this letter, if you want to find out who wrote this letter. All we want to tell America, DCIs 4 1967 that two NIGER LEADERS ARE GOING TO DIE BY AMERICANS WHO'LL FIGHT FOR THEIR LAND! We hope you'll mention this in your magazine, but if not, very well, we'll still continue to carry out our plan.

SUBJECT: The Congressional Record

(8) Pages H10042-H10043. Congressman Fulton, (D) Tennessee, placed in the Record an article from the August 3 Washington Daily News entitled "Justice Department Ready—Carmichael May Face Arrest" written by Thomas Talburt and an editorial from the Nashville Banner of August 2 entitled "For Infamies Compounded—No Place for Wrist-Tap in Carmichael Case." The Daily News article pointed out that spokesmen for the Department would neither confirm nor deny that Attorney General Clark has decided to arrest Carmichael. The article stated "They would only say, as they have in the past, that Mr. Carmichael's activities are being investigated. The Secret Service and FBI offered even less official information." Mr. Fulton advised that H. Rap Brown made similar remarks calling for violence and if an arrest order can be drawn for Carmichael then Brown should also be held accountable for his statements advocating violence.

(10) Page S10969. The Senate received a joint resolution passed by the Legislature of the State of Alabama recommending that Stokely Carmichael be denied readmittance to this country as an undesirable alien. The resolution states "Whereas Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in a recent report to a congressional committee on some of Carmichael's activities stated that Carmichael in espousing his black power movement had been in frequent contact with Max Stanford, field chairman of the Revolutionary Action Movement (RAM), a highly secret all-Negro Marxist-Leninist, Chinese-Communist-oriented organization - - - ;"

This editorial comments on activities of Stokely Carmichael and states "Congressmen said that Americans are 'disturbed and angry' at the timidity and inertia of the attorney general, Ramsey Clark. All the administration has talked of doing is revoking Carmichael's passport. Congress should insist on criminal prosecution, for what we face here is a summons to revolution."

Page H10527. Congressman Rogers, (D) Florida, spoke concerning the activities of Stokely Carmichael pointing out that Castro has put Carmichael on a pedestal as his arm of subversion in the United States. He stated There can be little doubt that if and when Carmichael returns to the United States that he will be carrying out the orders of Castro. And Castro, of course, is carrying out orders from his Communist masters. If we allow this to happen--if we let Carmichael spread and preach Castro's doctrine--we will have allowed Castro to establish his first beachhead in the United States. Mr. Rogers advised that he had called for the arrest of Carmichael when he returns from Cuba on grounds of sedition. He went on to state I am disappointed that the Justice Department has not made clear its intentions. In fact, its quoted spokesmen have offered mild concern at whether any action could be taken even though Carmichael called for violence aimed at the President.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL
INTERNAL SECURITY - MISCELLANEOUS

A source on August 21, 1967, advised that Radio Havana, Cuba made the following broadcast on August 14, 1967:

Stokely Carmichael, the American Negro leader who attended the OLAS Conference in Havana as a special guest, stated in Havana that revolution is the most appropriate means to put an end to the cruel exploitation of the Negro population in the U. S. In an interview with Prensa Latina, Carmichael repeated the determination of the Afro-Americans to fight for their rights throughout the nation. This battle will be hard and difficult, but there is no other way, according to Carmichael.

He said that the Negro American is fully convinced that the policy of peaceful coexistence with their exploiters will never bring positive results. Carmichael stated that upon his return to the U. S., he will recommend a change in the name of his organization, the Student Coordinating Committee for Nonviolent Action, to the Negro Liberation Movement. He explained that the new name of the movement will influence the minds of Afro-Americans toward a concept of battle for total emancipation, since they will realize it is linked with the battle to liberate the exploited nations in Asia, Africa and Latin America.

Finally, according to Carmichael, the strong opposition of young Negroes to fighting in Vietnam or participating in any other imperialist war will continue.

The source on August 9, 1967, made available the August 3, 1967, issue of "Granma," self-described as the official organ of the Communist Party of Cuba, which contained an article captioned:

This article stated as follows:

"It is in the act of the armed fight that a people obtains its humanity."

Says the well-known composer of protest songs and Afro-American political leader.

After being in Cuba a few days, the noted U. S. composer and interpreter of protest songs and outstanding fighter for the liberation of the Afro-American people regrets only that he is one and indivisible. He has come to Cuba to take part in the Protest Song Contest which is sponsored by the "Casa de Las Americas," but at the same time he is participating as a leader of SNCC (Student Coordinating Committee for Non-violent Action), in the OLAS Conference as a guest. According to his own confession, [redacted] has never wanted to multiply himself as he does at this moment, so that he can participate in the OLAS debates and in the discussions of the Protest Song Contest.

b7D

Meanwhile, between a quick trip to Varadero to join the singers and attending the meetings of OLAS, [redacted] answers the questions which we submit to him. Concerning the fight for the liberation of the Afro-American people, he thinks that "the most recent events in Detroit and Newark have been very positive because the Negro people are responding. They have taken up arms against the police and the army and refused to be intimidated any longer. This is a necessary stage in the fight because a people which wants freedom does not ask but must fight, as we are now fighting."

b7D

Concerning the ways and purposes of SNCC, of which [redacted] is one of [redacted] he says, "We believe that the only means of obtaining real liberation is through armed fighting. It is in the act of the armed fight that a people obtains its humanity. The goal

b7C

b7D

which we seek is the destruction of capitalism, and once this has been obtained, we shall be able to begin to build a humanistic society."

We asked him: Do you find any identification between the fact that the OLAS Conference is being held at the same time as the Protest Song Contest?

b7C

b7D

"Yes," added [] "protest songs are very, very important in the struggle of any people. And holding both conferences at the same time is a recognition of this fact."

b7D

Concerning the protest song in the United States and its true scope as a fighting weapon for the liberation of the Afro-American people or against the war in Vietnam, [] says: "The protest song is not as strong in the United States as it was before. At the beginning of our struggle, there were quite a lot of protest songs. What has happened is that in the process of the fight for liberation, the Afro-Americans feel that they do not have much time to sing because they are very busy fighting. In a future stage of the fight, the protest songs will again become important. What has happened is that the commercial music in the Afro-American community has become more protesting in nature. Singers such as [] have made recordings of protest songs which have been very successful in the Afro-American community, and these protest songs are not only about our fight for liberation, but also about the fight for the liberation of the people of Vietnam."

b7D

Concerning his impressions of Cuba, [] says: "Before coming to Cuba, I knew that it was going to be a place which I was going to like, and I have not been disappointed. As a matter of fact, I found more than I expected. And I believe that the spirit of the Cuban people is something which cannot be imagined, but one has to come to this country to see it. The celebration of July 26 in Santiago de Cuba was particularly inspiring. And I like Cuba so much that I hope to return many more times!"

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

And to the last question put to [] to what do you attribute the growing development of awareness in the Afro-American people, he said:

b7C
b7D

"To three things. The first is probably the war in Vietnam, for the Afro-American people know, without it being necessary to tell them so, that it is ridiculous for the United States to speak of fighting for the freedom of Vietnam when we do not have freedom in the United States itself. I believe that the war in Vietnam has made it possible for the Afro-American people to see that the United States can be defeated. We see that Vietnam is a small country, but it is defeating the United States. At the present time, the United States has a half million men in Vietnam and it is still losing the war. We also have a great admiration for the Viet Cong, for we see in them what a united people can do, for a united people cannot be defeated even by the most modern weapons.

"We greatly admire the Viet Cong and they are an inspiration to us. I believe that the second factor is Stokely Carmichael and the Black Power. Before the Black Power, the Afro-Americans did not realize what the true nature of their fight was. They deceived us by saying that love and brotherhood were most important, but love and brotherhood can do nothing when a man points a revolver at you and your hands are empty. Now we understand, after the philosophy of the Black Power has been expressed, that there is nothing without Power, that only after one has Power can he begin to talk of love and brotherhood, and also that with the realization of Power, one stops asking and begins to take, and that one takes what rightfully belongs to him. A man with Power will not give it up nor will he share it. That Power will have to be taken away from him, and one's own Power will thus be assured.

"And I believe that the third factor is understanding that we are not alone, that we really have friends throughout the world, that we are indeed fighting against the same enemy, which is, of course, United States imperialism. Therefore, we are shoulder to shoulder with the Vietnamese people, with the fighters for freedom in Africa and with those who are fighting for their liberation in Latin America. No, we are not alone."

STOKELY CARMICHAEL
INTERNAL SECURITY -

The August 11, 1967, issue of "Diario Las Americas," a Spanish language newspaper published in Miami, Florida, contained an article entitled: "Carmichael Invited to Chile." This article stated that Stokely Carmichael, revolutionary United States Negro, was invited to visit Chile by the socialist Senator Carlos Altamirano, who was heading his Party's delegation to the Latin American Solidarity Organization (LASO) Conference in Havana. Carmichael's visit to Chile was suspended, however, until the Government grants him the necessary visa. Cuba

The August 13, 1967, issue of "Diario Las Americas" contained an article entitled: "Carmichael Left for USSR." This article stated that Stokely Carmichael, leader of "Black Power," apparently left for Moscow, accompanied by Julius Lester, a member of the Directive Committee of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC). U.S.S.R.

A source on August 7, 1967, made available the August 2, 1967, issue of "El Mundo," a daily newspaper published in Havana under the direction and control of the Cuban Government, which contained the following article: 11

"STOKELY CARMICHAEL GRANTS A PRESS INTERVIEW

"We U. S. Negroes have submitted to a Fascist regime of oppression for 400 years, and after many attempts to obtain our human rights, we have found that there is only one way to liberation: armed fighting, which is already taking place in many of our cities," said Negro leader Stokely Carmichael to more than 100 Cuban and foreign journalists. The young leader said that he was sorry that he could not "speak Spanish. An interpreter took a seat next to him. Julius Lester and George Ware, leaders of the Student Committee for Nonviolent Action, who accompanied him, also answered questions asked by the journalists. U.S.S.R.

"In answer to a question about the meaning of Black Power, he said: 'This means the Negro people join the oppressed peoples outside the United States in order to fight for their rights and against the capitalist and imperialist structure inside the country.' He said that in 1960, they had lined up with Martin Luther King in a peaceful struggle, even though they did not believe in it. He said that his movement will not join the white workers of the western world until these workers take up arms and fight along with them for the redistribution of the wealth and a complete change in structure. The whites have been trying to convince the Negroes that violence is not the proper way. Cochran

"As for the existence of Negro millionaires in the United States, he said that there are only 67 and that these Negroes were not with them. He said that Malcolm X and other Negroes, as well as Fidel Castro and Che are sources of inspiration to his movement.

"As for Negro intellectuals, he said that they did not have much faith in the intellectuals who write many books. An intellectual must also be a revolutionary, like Fidel, who is capable of talking to the people about their problems.

"Concerning the possibility of having his passport revoked, he said: 'McClosky is neither my father nor my mother. Since I was 15 years old, I have not been asking my parents for permission to go anywhere. I go wherever I want. Let McClosky and the State Department go to the devil. If they kill me, let everyone know that it was the CIA. It was the CIA who killed Ben Barka, who poisoned Richard Wright in Paris, who killed Turcios Lima. But this has not stopped the fight of the oppressed. If they kill me, the fight will not stop either.'

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

The source on August 9, 1967, made available the August 3, 1967, issue of "Granma," self-described as the official organ of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of Cuba, which contained the following article:

"WE HAVE NO ALTERNATIVE BUT TO TAKE UP ARMS, SAID
STOKELY CARMICHAEL

"WE ARE FIGHTING AGAINST THE SYSTEM WHICH PRODUCES ECONOMIC INSECURITY

"Havana, August 2 (Prensa Latina)

"The U. S. Negro leader, Stokely Carmichael, said that the fight which the Negro people are carrying on in the United States 'is the same battle which is going on outside the United States against imperialism, oppression and racism.'

"In the course of a press conference, Carmichael also said that we United States Negroes 'have no alternative but to take up arms in order to bring about our liberation.'

"He said that for 400 years the Negro population of the United States has lived under the most brutal Fascism which the world has ever known. 'It has tried,' he said, 'to coexist peacefully within the United States, but without any positive results.'

"In explaining the tactics which the Negro citizens are using, Carmichael said that 'we are moving toward guerrilla warfare in the cities of the United States, where we have no other way but to use offensive violence in order to be able to own land, houses and stores in our communities and to control politics in those communities.'

"He explained that the Black Power consists of obtaining the monolithic union of the Negro population in order 'to fight for their liberation by whatever means may be necessary, along with the oppressed people outside of the Negro population of the United States, and by fighting to destroy the imperialist and capitalist structure of the United States which oppresses us inside the country and others on the outside.'

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

"In answer to a question about the coordination of the fight of the Negro masses in the United States with that which is being waged by the exploited people in other parts of the world, Carmichael said that his presence in Cuba 'indicates that we are coordinating that fight.'

"WE WILL NOT TAKE UP ARMS TO SHOOT
AT THE PEOPLE OF VIETNAM

"Later, the ex-president of the Student Coordinating Committee for Nonviolent Action (SNCC) said that the young Negroes of the United States have become aware that it is preferable to spend five years in prison 'rather than serve in an imperialist army, and to serve as cannon fodder for the interests of that imperialist nation.' 'We will not take up arms to shoot at the people of Vietnam. They have done nothing to us. They have never discriminated against us, forced us to live in ghettos, made us work for low salaries, nor killed us in the streets,' emphasized Carmichael.

"He continued: 'The people of Vietnam are our brothers in arms, because they are fighting against the same structure which oppresses us. Our answer to the armed forces of the United States is "to the devil, we are not going."' He added that for a long time 'we have been used by the United States to carry on these imperialist and racist wars, and we have always been in the front lines. As you know, in Santo Domingo the forces which were used to destroy the forces of the people fighting for their liberation were Negroes.'

"'In Vietnam, the front line troops are Negroes. As for Vietnam, there is one positive thing: the United States has taught us how to kill.'

"'Our brothers, who are returning from Vietnam,' he said, 'are going to make good use of that training in the cities of the United States.'

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

"IN ORDER TO DESTROY US, THEY HAVE TO DESTROY THEIR ECONOMY"

"In another part of the conference, Carmichael said that in the United States cities 'the Negroes are in the majority,' and the big industrial centers are also located there. Therefore, he said that 'in order to destroy us, they have to destroy their cities, to destroy the chief means of the United States economy.'

"After stating that the imperialist defenders 'are cowards,' he said that 'they cannot fight hand to hand, man to man.' 'When there is a man to man fight, they call it guerrilla fighting, and they tell their people that guerrilla fighting is a new kind of fighting, and then they try to make it appear that it is dirty fighting, bad fighting and in order to answer that type of fight, they use napalm bombs.'

"He said that in the United States, they are obliged to 'fight us man to man, but we sweep them away.'

"Then he stated that in the present structure of the United States 'we cannot coexist, that is to say, we have to create new structures in our own communities.'

"WE ARE FIGHTING AGAINST THE SYSTEM WHICH PRODUCES ECONOMIC INSTABILITY"

"He then spoke of the whites in the United States who call themselves 'liberals' and then said that 'those liberals are enemies of the Negro struggle for these reasons: because they are generally rich, and, therefore, receive benefits from the prevailing system. They are economically secure.'

"Therefore, those liberals are fighting to maintain the system in the United States, since they get benefits from it, and we are fighting to destroy that system, because it produces economic insecurity for us. Besides, those liberals have an intellectual compromise with the theory of

"equality, but they do not have an emotional reaction to the question of equality. When the liberals see the violence which the whites use against the Negroes, they shake their heads and feel pained, instead of feeling violent and indignant. However, when I see a white racist policeman kill one of my Negro brothers, I want to kill him."

"WE ACCEPT THE WHITES WHO TAKE UP ARMS ALONG WITH US

"Carmichael considered that the only whites which could be accepted in the Negro movement 'are those which are ready to take up arms with us, in order to destroy the capitalist structure of the United States. All the rest is just so many words, and we have been listening to that kind of talk for 400 years.'

"He added that there are about 67 Negro millionaires in the United States, and since they want to preserve their millions, 'they, too, must be destroyed.'

"When he was asked about the integration of the national minorities within the framework of the fight for Black Power and the work which is being done in that sense, Carmichael said:

"In the first place, I should like to say that integration cannot even occur until the source is eliminated. In the United States, integration is always defined as the Negro population moving toward the white communities, never the white communities moving toward the Negroes. This reflects the inborn racism in the society, because what they have been saying was that the Negroes have nothing to contribute and that the idea was that we should become whites. This has become a criterion for integration and I shall give you an example: in Puerto Rico which is a colony of the United States, where English is the language which has been studied for three years, the students are punished for speaking Spanish. They are forced to think that there is something wrong with the way they have been speaking. This is the reflection of the feeling of "'racial superiority in the white western society.

"'Until we have the power to control our lives,' he continued, 'integration has no meaning. It is really a subterfuge for white supremacy.'

"'As for the other minority groups in the United States, the white society has always kept them divided. Again I shall use the Puerto Rican population in the United States as an example. In the cities, the white people made the Negroes fight against the Puerto Ricans and vice versa. We have already seen the results of this in New York and in Chicago--the Puerto Ricans and the Negroes are fighting together against the police.'

"Carmichael and the other leaders of SNCC who have accompanied him on his visit to Cuba, Julius Lester and George Ware, then explained the attitude of Negro clergyman Martin Luther King on the recent racial outbursts in Detroit and other U. S. cities. They said that Luther King does not favor violence, and in his statements a few days ago, he said that 'he understood why there had been violence, but he also said that he could not support violence. However, what Dr. Luther King did not say is that he was in agreement with Lyndon B. Johnson about sending troops to Detroit. It is as clear as water that when he says that, he is against the Negro population.'

The article then stated that Carmichael had then spoken about the importance of Che Guevara, saying that Guevara does not just talk, he is a man of action.

Carmichael said that when SNCC was created in 1960, to speak of violence was treason. Luther King was in control at that time. After the rebellion of Watts, the question of nonviolence was brushed aside. It was clear that arms was the only way.

The article continued that Carmichael said that Malcolm X, who was killed in 1964, is a model and a guide for the Negroes of the United States. He spoke for the Negro masses and he fought for them. Abraham Lincoln was a white racist in the best sense of the word. Lincoln fought only for economic reasons. He really did not care about the freedom of the slaves. If he could have won the war without freeing them, he would have done so.

The article continued that Carmichael had said that Fidel Castro is a great leader and an inspiration. Carmichael understands why the United States does not want people to visit Cuba, for they would see how many lies about the Cubans are told in the United States.

The above source on August 8, 1967, made available the August 4, 1967, issue of "Bohemia," a magazine published in Cuba under the control and direction of the Cuban Government. This magazine contained an article reflecting an interview of Stokely Carmichael entitled: "It Is Necessary to Create Problems for the Imperialists Wherever They May Be, Stokely Carmichael." In the article, Carmichael reportedly made the following comments on various matters:

"BLACK POWER

"A great deal is being said in the United States about Black Power," he said. "We can sum it up by saying that it is the union of Negroes fighting for their freedom. We support the need of union with the other peoples of the Third World. In the United States there is a lack of revolutionary conscience among the whites. If they develop it, we are ready to join hands and our efforts with them. If not, we shall continue fighting anyway. We want to develop our own culture. If you want to convert a man into a slave, destroy his culture and give him the culture of the ruling power. That is why we have great appreciation of the Cuban nationality. The Cubans love Fidel because he is the symbol of what they want. If we had any love for the culture of the ruling and exploiting class, we would have love for Lyndon B. Johnson. Then, we would be fighting in behalf of the imperialists and against ourselves. That is why we are developing love for our culture of African origin, love for our leaders."

"Analyzing the recent events which have taken place

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

"in the different cities of the United States, which left behind and are leaving behind a large number of Negro victims produced by Yankee police and military oppression, Carmichael said:

"'When a fight begins, it is logical for some battles to be lost. The price which is paid for a revolution is never a very high price. We have the best example in the number of Cuban martyrs. If they could see Cuba today, they would be very happy to give their lives over again in order to preserve these conquests. Our struggle now is for developing the revolutionary consciousness of the Negro people in the United States.

"'Of course,' he added, 'we have differences with some Negro leaders, but we do not debate publicly. We are more interested in having people see union rather than any division or fragmentation. After there is sufficient strength and sufficient union, it will be possible to set aside the weak or timorous people.'

"FIDEL CASTRO

"'I talked to Fidel for three days and those days have been the most educational, the most interesting and the most instructive of my whole public life. I am very honored and pleased with his friendship,' he stressed.

"PROBLEMS FOR THE IMPERIALISTS

"'It is necessary to create problems for the imperialists, wherever they may be,' stated the young Negro leader. 'The fight against imperialism is worldwide. If there are oppressed people, they are the peoples of the Third World, and if they are fighting against oppression, it is necessary to support them resolutely.

"'My grandfather helped to build the Panama Canal, and at that time they vaccinated only the whites against yellow fever. That is why my grandfather died from that disease. The Canal was built with the blood and sweat of the Negroes and the Latin

"'Americans. That is why I believe I am right when I say that the Canal belongs to the Panamanians.'

"PERSONAL DANGERS

"'My prospects with the authorities for returning to the United States do not interest me. I came to Cuba because it is a duty as a revolutionary. I cannot respect the United States laws because they are unjust. What are they going to do? Put me in prison? I have been in prison 35 times. I am an organizer. No matter where I am, I will organize the fight. If I am in Cuba, I shall organize the fight from Cuba; if I am in Vietnam, I shall fight against the imperialists in Vietnam; if I am in Africa, I shall also fight there.'

"OLAS

"'I believe,' he emphasized, 'that the OLAS Conference is actually the most important conference in the world. It is the beginning of the union of the oppressed peoples of Latin America, the union of the masses, which close ranks and embrace in order to march together to save humanity.'

The article stated that other not less important figures came to Cuba with Stokely Carmichael in the rebellious effort of millions of United States Negroes, headed by the youth in their classrooms, to obtain their self-determination as human beings. They are:

George Ware, 21 years of age, member of the Central Committee of the SNCC. He directs the Campus Program. Ware got a degree in chemistry from Tuskegee, a university for Negroes in Alabama.

Julius Lester, of the Central Committee of the SNCC, director of photography for the organization. Writer, guitar player and singer. He was invited to the Protest Song Festival. He is studying at Fisk University, Tennessee.

Elizabeth Sutherland, Information Officer for the SNCC. Writer. She published a book on Cuba, published by the "Dial Press" of New York. She also published "Letters from

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Mississippi." She visited Cuba in 1960 and in 1961.

This source on August 9, 1967, made available the August 5, 1967, issue of "El Mundo," which carried an article entitled: "Decision of Negroes in the U. S. to Take Up Arms." This article contained an interview with Stokely Carmichael wherein he expressed the following views on various matters:

"Question: Recently, the world has been shaken by serious racial disturbances which have taken place in a number of cities of the United States, especially in Detroit, where the violence has reached an unprecedented size. According to an AP dispatch, the Mayor of Detroit, Jerome Cavanagh, told the Congress of the United States that part of the blame for this is due to the fact that some laws on educational improvements and on the 'Fight against poverty' are pigeonholed in the Capitol in Washington.

"The Mayor warned that if these problems are not corrected right away, violence will again break out in Detroit or in some other part of the United States or throughout the nation simultaneously, and that the consequences will be unpredictable. What is your opinion about this?

"Carmichael: Well, I believe that the Mayor is an idiot if he believes that the problem of the Negro population of the United States can be resolved within a capitalist society. The only solution is the destruction of the capitalist system, the destruction of U. S. imperialism, which brings with it racial discrimination and exploitation everywhere. Once that structure is destroyed, and only then, can we speak of a solution for the problems of the United States Negro population in a realistic manner. Until that time, everything that is said is like putting a bandage on a cancer. The problem is not taken care of.

"Question: In these recent, and we can say, present disturbances in the United States, it can be clearly seen that the Negroes have adopted a superior form of fighting against the abuses by the police and

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

"the reactionary and racist elements in the country. Can you explain to what this change is due?

"Carmichael: It is clear that what we have decided to do is to take up arms as the only means for facing oppression. We must unite with the others in the world who favor armed fighting as the solution for our problems. For 400 years, we have tried to live in the United States under a form of peaceful coexistence, and as a result, we have had to live under the most fascist regime in the world. The only possible solution for us is to destroy that regime or to be destroyed in the attempt. At any rate, we are going to fight with arms in order to obtain our liberation.

"Question: There is a phrase which has been used very frequently in the dispatches from international news agencies in referring to you and to your fight for liberation. That phrase is 'Black Power.' Could you explain what Black Power consists of and what the significance of that movement is?

"Carmichael: Black Power is the union of all the Negro population of the United States as a single people in order to fight for their liberation. It means that we United States Negroes must begin to look upon the liberation movements throughout the world as our own cause. That we must join hands with our comrades throughout the world in order to fight imperialism and to destroy it once and for all, in order to build together a new society based on humane principles and not on exploitation.

"Question: In a recent press conference you referred to the organization of city guerrillas as a new method of fighting on the part of the United States Negro population. Would you explain that idea?

"Carmichael: We said that we found ourselves forced to use guerrilla warfare in the city in order to obtain our liberation. We have no other alternative.

"Question: But there was a very interesting question which was asked you at that conference, and which has

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

"to do with the military aspect itself of the question. That is to say, you were asked to explain how it is that guerrilla action in the city, which is so difficult in other countries, is considered advantageous in the United States.

"Carmichael: It is true that for this we have more advantages than other peoples outside the United States. The way in which the United States fights against the guerrilla movement is by using its most powerful weapons during the period of organization, in other words, until the moment when all the people can arm themselves and fight with all the necessary means. On its own territory, the United States cannot use its most powerful weapons against us. It cannot use the hydrogen bomb, the atom bomb, the napalm bombs against us because we live within its very entrails.

"If, for example, it should some time use its chemical weapons against a part of its people, which we are, the other part would also be enveloped in flames. Therefore, when the United States faces our guerrilla warfare, it will have to fight man to man.

"It will not be the power of weapons against the will of a few men. But the will of a few men against that of other men. And we have the will to fight, because we are fighting for our liberation and they are fighting in order to oppress us. And those who are fighting for their liberation can never surrender. They cannot be conquered.

"Question: There is a question which we should like to ask you in regard to our broadcasting station. Do you listen to the broadcasts by Radio Habana Cuba in your country?

"Carmichael: Why, of course. Radio Habana Cuba is heard throughout the South...in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

"And if one has a good short-wave receiver, it can be heard in Washington..."

"Question: Do you believe that Radio Habana Cuba has been able to aid the fight of the United States Negroes in any way with its broadcasts?"

"Carmichael: It certainly has. It has been a source of inspiration to all of us, because when we see that powerful imperialism is vacillating in the face of risk, and on the other hand, that Cuba not only takes a risk but maintains its position, we cannot help but feel inspired. And all this is reflected in the broadcasts of Radio Habana Cuba."

"Question: Can you speak to us of your impressions in Gran Tierra, that is to say, the second event which you attended after your arrival in Cuba?"

"Carmichael: One of the things which impressed us most was the way that the Prime Minister devotes his time to going to a small town to meet its citizens, to converse with them, and to talk to them of the things which his government is trying to do."

"The fact that the Government of Cuba shows so much concern for the people is, in itself, revolutionary, and this has our admiration."

"Question: What was your main impression during the celebration of the 14th anniversary of the 26th of July in Santiago de Cuba?"

"Carmichael: The fact that Fidel Castro is concerned about the education of the masses. This impressed us more than anything else. And the second thing is Fidel's concept that the Revolution is not only for the taking of power, but for restoring in the minds of the people the concepts which have been destroyed by western society; his efforts to destroy the concept of material interest which western society has imposed on the peoples. That is what he considers a true revolution, and this is, without a doubt, one of the best things which we can learn from the Cuban Revolution."

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

"Question: Can you tell us, Mr. Carmichael, why you came to Cuba, and what was your opinion of the Cuban Revolution before and after your first experiences in our country?

"Carmichael: The impression which we have always had in the United States about the Cuban Revolution is that it is good. The fact that the United States is against Cuba is enough to convince us that Cuba is doing something good.

"Therefore, we did not come to Cuba to find out whether the Revolution is good. We came to find out things, to learn things about the Cuban Revolution which can be useful to our people in the United States. And since we have come here, we have learned a tremendous quantity of things, which we could not have learned from books or movies, but only by coming to experience them ourselves.

"Question: From what you have been able to observe here, could you tell us what you think about the way of life of the Negro citizens of Cuba?

"Carmichael: There is no doubt that the Revolution has helped the Afro-Cubans greatly, and the way that they are living clearly shows that there is no racism. The Afro-Cubans with whom we have spoken are all for the Revolution; they all respect and admire the Cuban Revolution and they all feel a great love for Fidel Castro.

"Question: When you read some material written by Major Guevara for the first time, what impression did it produce on you?

"Carmichael: Well, I believe that we did not begin to read Che until 1965. We had heard him spoken of since 1959, at the triumph of the Revolution, and since that time, we had followed with interest everything connected with him, where he was, what he was doing, what he said. We could read some information in certain newspapers of the United States and in certain Cuban newspapers which were translated. But we did not begin to read his works until about

"1965. It is difficult to give the exact date because today the Negro community in the United States is all reading Che and it seems to us that he has always been with us.

"Question: Do you wish to send any special message to your people in the United States in your name?

"Carmichael: We brothers and sisters know that the work which we have to do is going to be long and hard, as Che said. That our fight is not going to be simply fighting in the streets, that it is going to be a long hard struggle.

"We are preparing for that resistance now. At first, many of us will die, but we must not despair, we must continue fighting, regardless of the price we have to pay. Those of us who are outside are strengthening ties with our comrades outside the United States. Our fight will have world dimensions. We are inside the United States. Our fight is going to be the hardest and most fierce, but we must prepare ourselves for that fight. We are going to go about our business, my dear ones."

The above source on August 11, 1967, made available the August 9, 1967, issue of "Granma," which contained an article entitled: "Ware Forbidden Entry in London." This article stated that Stokely Carmichael had stated that British authorities had forbidden George Ware, Activities Director of the SNCC, to enter London. Ware arrived at the British capital from Cuba and he was immediately sent to the United States. After the departure of the Afro-American leader from London, the Home Office (British Ministry of the Interior) announced that Carmichael could not return to England "for the good of public safety."

Hanoi Boosted By Carmichael

Pledges Support Of U.S. Negroes

TOKYO (UPI) — U.S. black power militant Stokely Carmichael pledged the support of American Negroes for Communist North Vietnam in the Vietnam war, Hanoi Radio reported today.

In a broadcast monitored in Tokyo, Hanoi said Carmichael gave his pledge of support on behalf of American Negroes in a "recent" meeting in North Vietnam with Ton Quang Phiet. Phiet is chairman of North Vietnam's Asian-African solidarity committee.

Carmichael, who earlier this month attended the Cuban-sponsored Latin American Solidarity Organization conference in Havana as a guest of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro, was reported by the broadcast to be in Hanoi.

The broadcast said Phiet told Carmichael North Vietnam supported the "valiant struggle being waged by black people in the U.S. for freedom and equality."

Phiet told Carmichael Hanoi offered its "resolute support" for American Negroes, the broadcast said.

Hanoi Radio yesterday announced for the first time that Carmichael was in the North Vietnamese capital.

While he was in Havana, the U.S. State Department announced it would revoke Carmichael's passport upon his return to America for traveling to the Communist Cuban capital in defiance of a ban.

STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE

There is set forth below a summary of current and planned future activities of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee and its leaders.

Activities of H. Rap Brown

Classified by G-1 JC
Declassify on: OADR 11-25-26
252,028

It was previously reported that a group of militant Negroes left the National Conference for New Politics in Chicago, Illinois, and held the Black Power Convention. On September 3, 1967, H. Rap Brown, National Chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, spoke before the Convention. Brown called for those present to arm themselves against white people and contended that Negroes in the United States are engaged in a rebellion. He said that the riots in Detroit, Michigan, show that Negroes are "staying together" and are not "snitching" on other Negroes. He urged that Negroes refuse to go to Vietnam.

On the evening of September 3, 1967, Brown spoke to approximately 250 Negroes who had formed the Black Caucus Group of the National Conference for New Politics. Brown said that Goldwater lost the presidential election by being honest and that President Johnson won it by being a liar. He discussed the Newark, New Jersey, riot and claimed that when the National Guard discovered Negroes had automatic weapons, it refused to move into the riot area. According to Brown, this proved that guns will win. He said America is presently burning down Vietnam and because of this, a "little bit of America" may be burned down. Brown told the audience that word had gone out from the FBI that Negro policemen are to be disarmed whenever riots occur.

Havana Radio broadcasted an interview of Brown on August 31, 1967. Brown said that Negro soldiers now fighting in Vietnam will become "guerrilla fighters" in all major cities of the United States when they return home. He predicted rebellions in every United States city with a major Negro population. He called America the principal oppressor of freedom throughout the world and said that "its imperialist Government threatens the world with the blackmail of war."

b7C

The city of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, has obtained an injunction against Brown forbidding him to make any public speeches in the city.

Activities of Stokely Carmichael

Carmichael, the former leader of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, was recently in Hanoi, North Vietnam. Hanoi Radio reported that Carmichael met with North Vietnam leaders and told them that American Negroes and North Vietnam have the same common enemy, "United States imperialism." Carmichael stressed the determination of the Negroes in the United States to unite closely with the North Vietnamese people. He described the United States as "the greatest destroyer of humanity."

Press reports indicate that Carmichael arrived in Algiers, Algeria, from Hanoi on September 8, 1967. Carmichael reportedly will remain four or five days in Algiers and will call upon the President of Algeria during his visit. Upon his arrival in Algiers, Carmichael stated, "Revolution is the only solution for the American Negroes." He added that Africa is the "mother country" of all Afro-Americans.

Activities of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee

It was previously reported that a Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee official, attended a meeting held by the Japan Council Against Atomic and Hydrogen Bombs in Tokyo, Japan, during August, 1967. The Council is controlled by the Japanese Communist Party. said there will be a series of world-wide (C)(u)

The New York City demonstration will be sponsored by the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. [] asked an official of the Japanese Communist Party to support a demonstration in Tokyo between October 20 and November 4, 1967. The official was noncommittal, although he assured [] the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee had the support of the Party. (Squ)

Willie Ricks, an official of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, held a news conference in Chattanooga, Tennessee, on September 4, 1967. Ricks criticized the conditions under which Negroes live in Chattanooga and said that the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee plans to open a liberation school in that city. He also said that H. Rap Brown will visit Chattanooga. He said, "Blacks want victory by any means" and if Negroes do not get their freedom, "we're going to make sure the white man doesn't enjoy his freedom."

STOKELY CARMICHAEL
SECURITY MATTER - STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE

A source, on August 21, 1967, made available the August 17, 1967, issue of "El Mundo", which contained an article entitled "Meeting Tomorrow to Support Negroes in U.S." This article stated that a mass meeting would be held August 18, 1967, to support the battles of the Negro in the U.S. The closing speech would be made by First Secretary of the Union of Young Communists, JAIME CROMBET. The meeting was scheduled for the anniversary of the Watts riot in Los Angeles, California.

"El Mundo" is a daily afternoon newspaper published in Havana, Cuba, under the control and direction of the Cuban Government.

The source, on August 25, 1967, advised that "Radio Progreso", Havana, Cuba, in their broadcast of August 19, 1967, had mentioned STOKELY CARMICHAEL. A summary of this broadcast is as follows:

Thousands of people congregated last night on the esplanade at Linea and Malecon to commemorate the second anniversary of the Watts rebellion in Los Angeles. The closing speaker at the meeting was JAIME CROMBET, First Secretary of the Union of Young Communists, who stated that the American Negro movement is now on the offensive. CROMBET stated that Cuba supports the battle of the Negroes against a common enemy.

Another speaker was ELIDA ACOSTA, speaking for the Cuban Committee to Support Vietnam.

ENCLOSURE

RE: STOKELY CARMICHAEL

CROMBET urged all Negroes in the U.S. to intensify their fight for their rights and oppose sending their sons to serve as cannon fodder in Vietnam. He also urged the revolutionaries all over the world to demand respect for the life of STOKELY CARMICHAEL, upon his return to the U.S., and denounced unhealthy conditions prevailing in American Negro ghettos.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL sent a message stating that the Afro-Americans within the U.S. are fighting for liberation, and to change the imperialist structure in the U.S. which oppresses these people. He states that in the future the Negroes will take no part in the racist, imperialist wars of the U.S. CARMICHAEL stated that the riot in Watts, on August 18, 1965, was the day on which the Afro-Americans in the U.S. decided that coexistence does not serve their purpose; the only solution is a Negro revolution. CARMICHAEL feels that the people of Asia, Africa and Latin America should work together against the imperialists.

The source, on August 25, 1967, made available the August 18, 1967, issue of "Granma", which contained an article entitled "Message from CARMICHAEL." A summary of this article is as follows:

Afro-American leader STOKELY CARMICHAEL sent a message for broadcasting over Radio Havana, to celebrate the second anniversary of the Watts riot. CARMICHAEL's message to the brother nations of Africa, Asia and Latin America states that the Afro-Americans within the U.S. are fighting for liberation, and this is not merely a reform movement within the U.S., it is a total revolution in which we plan to change the imperialist, capitalist and racist structure in the U.S. which oppresses both you and us.

We want you to know that these are not just race riots; they are rebellions, insurrections of a people who have been oppressed by a system which has prevailed for over 400 years. Our only recourse is weapons and a battle for our liberation--total revolution in the U.S.

CARMICHAEL's message stated further we want you to know we are not fighting for peace or law and order; we are fighting for justice, equality and redistribution of wealth within the U.S. We are fighting to eliminate exploitation of Latin America, Asia and Africa by the U.S. We are part of the bloc of the Third World. We are Africans, and we cannot accept money from a country which has sacked Africa.

The message continued we want you to know that in the future, we will not fight in any of the racist and imperialist wars of the U.S. We will not wear the U.S. uniform. We are already refusing to fight in Vietnam, because we are creating a Negro resistance movement, through which our people are beginning to understand that the people of Vietnam are not our enemies, on the contrary, they are our friends. We will not be accomplices in aggression against Vietnam, Santo Domingo, Venezuela, Brazil, Africa, Malaya, or Aden.

Each time there is a riot in a U.S. city, we want you to know this means another blow against the imperialists who are oppressing you. Each time we fight in the cities, we strike a blow in the name of NKRUMAH, overthrown by the CIA; each time we strike a blow, we do it in the name of SUKARNO and a million people assassinated in Indonesia; each time we rebel, we strike a blow against the invasion at Playa Giron; we strike a blow against the imperialists who are occupying Puerto Rico.....etc.

The message further stated we want you to know that August 18, 1965, is the date on which the Afro-Americans in the U.S. decided that coexistence was impossible, and the only solution is a Negro revolution. This is the date on which we decided that weapons are the only answer. Words are useless, because while we talk, our people continue to suffer.

Further, we want you to know, that our fight is your fight. We should coordinate our battles, our people have been oppressed for centuries. It is time to obtain a place in the sun, so that we can be happy, proud and free. This is the task ahead of us.

The message stated also that Brothers, we are ready to begin today to destroy from within the structures which have oppressed all of us, and we hope that you are ready to destroy them from without. Let us go forward to victory!

"Granma" is self described as the official organ of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of Cuba.

The source, on August 28, 1967, made available the August 21, 1967, issue of "Granma", which stated that the Chilean Minister of Interior, BERNARDO LEIGHTON, stated he would not give an entry visa to a Negro citizen who openly proposes "to kill all the whites in the U.S." STOKELY CARMICHAEL, representative of Black Power, was invited to Chile by Socialist Senator CARLOS ALTAMIRANO during the OLAS Congress in Havana, Cuba. File

I. NARRATIVE OF OFFENSE

STOKELY CARMICHAEL was born June 29, 1941, at Trinidad, British West Indies. By derivation through the naturalization of his parents, CARMICHAEL became a United States citizen on April 27, 1953, which citizenship was substantiated by Certificate of Citizenship Number A338082, which was issued to STOKELY CARMICHAEL on April 17, 1958. Subject's derivative citizenship is as a result of his father, ADOLPHUS S. CARMICHAEL, born February 1, 1913, Port of Spain, being naturalized in the Southern District of New York April 27, 1953.

CARMICHAEL received a Bachelor of Arts Degree in philosophy from Howard University, Washington, D.C., on June 5, 1964.

In May of 1966 CARMICHAEL, after several years of association with the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), was elected by the central committee of SNCC to become the National Chairman. He served in this capacity until May, 1967. During this period, CARMICHAEL was in a constant travel status throughout the United States; however, he has been known to utilize Apartment Number 1, 2222 Telhurst Street, SW, Atlanta, Georgia, as a residence.

The only alias known to have been utilized by CARMICHAEL occurred in September, 1966, when he was reported to have purchased an airline ticket in Alabama utilizing the name of C. WELCHER. He is not known to have ever served in the military armed forces of the United States; however, he is registered with the Local Draft Board in New York City, and by his own statements indicates he has a 4-F classification.

AT 100-6812

Throughout a series of speeches delivered by CARMICHAEL as Chairman of SNCC and as a recognized proponent of "Black Power", he has generally set forth the origins and concepts of SNCC, theories of self condemnation, concept of denial of one's liberation, differences in law and order, and history of the Negro peoples. CARMICHAEL in his speeches, following a discussion of the above described items, generally concludes his talks by dwelling on the war in Viet Nam and his opposition to the draft. He further advised his audience that they should inform the white people in authority as it relates to military service and induction, "Hell no, we won't go." He has advocated in his speeches that, "There is no need to go 8,000 miles to kill Vietnamese; He ain't never killed any nigger . . .; We will not fight the war. The war is for the Birds. Lynda Bird and Lady Bird." He has further advocated that the Negro people should say, "To hell with the draft" and go to jail.

II. NAME OF DEFENDANT

STOKELY CARMICHAEL - also known as C. Welcher.

III. DATES WHEN AND PLACES WHERE ALLEGED ACTS WERE COMMITTED

- A. St. Petersburg, Florida, April 18, 1967
- B. Garfield High School, Seattle, Washington, April 19, 1967

IV. STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS

The statute of limitations will be a bar to prosecution in this matter five years after the date of the particular speech in question. Hence, prosecution will be barred in the above instances commencing April 18, 1972, and thereafter five years following each subsequent date of speech.

V. PENDING PROSECUTIVE ACTION

To date there has been no prosecutive action of CARMICHAEL. Consideration is being given to the possible prosecution of the subject for his possible violation of Section 2388 of Title 18, United States Code, the Sedition Statute. Consideration will be given prosecution in the event admissible evidence can be adduced to establish that he:

- "1. Wilfully caused or attempted to cause insubordination, disloyalty, mutiny or refusal of duty, in the military or naval forces of the United States, or
- 2. Wilfully obstructed the recruiting (draft) service of the United States, or
- 3. Wilfully obstructed the enlistment service of the United States."

VI. EVIDENCE RELATING TO STOKELY CARMICHAEL'S
COMMENTS AT THE FOLLOWING LOCATED PLACES

A. St. Petersburg, Florida, April 18, 1967

b7C A speech given by CARMICHAEL at the above location was not sponsored by an organization or individual, but may have been prompted by CARMICHAEL's unsuccessful attempt to visit one [REDACTED] Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) chapter, [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

No publicity was given to the speech in the form of handbills, flyers or announcements. The local press and radio gave much publicity to CARMICHAEL's visit to St. Petersburg, and he spoke in the main street of the largest Negro area. The crowd was able to assemble by word of mouth.

No formal invitation was extended to CARMICHAEL to speak at Florida Presbyterian College; however, on April 16, 1967, the local press reporting on CARMICHAEL's speech at Daytona Beach, Florida, indicated he was going to visit St. Petersburg and speak at Presbyterian College. There are no ROTC units at this college. Photographs and physical description of the locale of the speech furnished. No effort was made to hide the fact that CARMICHAEL's speech was being recorded. Officers in attendance at meetings state that because of defective sound system it was difficult to hear CARMICHAEL's speech when in the outer fringes of the audience.

"It is my opinion that Carmichael's presence on our campus would be an intrusion on the college community. After consultation with trustees, faculty, staff and students I have decided that the injunction was the proper way in which to confront Carmichael.

"The College's position is clear. No formal invitation was extended to Carmichael by anyone in authority. And, the College has stated that our campus will not be available for Carmichael to use as a base for incitement.

News Analysis: Stokley Carmichael

by Trident Staff Writers

It seems highly improbable that one man could have greatly affected a community composed of intellectuals, pseudo-intellectuals, Christians, pseudo-Christians, and pseudo Christian intellectuals without making his presence personally known on campus, but that's exactly what happened this week at FPC.

One man, Stokley Carmichael, indirectly was allowed to become the source of embarrassment, dissention, resentment and outright anger which gripped this campus like the plague. What did this college or any college or individual have to fear from Carmichael? Were we intimidated by veiled threats from those who support the goals of this institution with their checkbooks only? The issues raised by Stokley Carmichael go much deeper than the alleged safety of this student body. These issues reflect contradictions and confusion.

Stokley Carmichael, dubbed by the press as a racist and rabel rouser, is, by his own admission, an instrument of contention. His purpose in the civil rights movement is to create an attitude, an intellectual-emotional climate among one group of people conducive to a philosophy which transcends racial barriers. Carmichael speaks to and not for the Negro people, and he speaks in terms which can only be understood from the viewpoint of the American Negro today.

Chairman of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, Carmichael preached Black Power at a street meeting at 22nd St. and Fairfield Avenue Tuesday night. "Black Power is the coming together of the Negro people to fight for their freedom by any means possible if necessary," Carmichael told the crowd including about 600 Negroes and a minority of 100 whites, predominately students from FPC.

by a black student

It is not often that a person gets to come face to face with his "Philosopher King," but I had such an opportunity last Tuesday. Stokley Carmichael, chairman of the Student Non-violent Co-ordinating Committee came to town.

I somehow feel that, as is usually the case on our beautiful bayfront campus, the controversy which Mr. Carmichael's visit to St. Petersburg aroused at FPC did not really deal with the issues at hand. Why quibble over whether the stand President Kadel took was right, or expedient or even Christian. Why should we sit over coffee in Morrison's and argue about whether an injunction should or should not have

Peace March Is Incident-Free

by Lindsay McFadyen

An estimated 200 demonstrators, including FPC students and faculty, marched peacefully down Central Avenue in protest of the Viet Nam war last Friday. Anticipated incidents failed to materialize.

Dr. Ted Solomon described public response to the march as "on the whole not totally unfavorable. There were a few derisive comments, but no violence whatsoever."

The march's visual coordinator Chuck Harwood described public response as, "Excellent; there was very little taunting and jeering. They seemed very tolerant of what we were doing. Considering all the trouble anticipated the whole reaction was grand."

The peace marchers divided into three companies, two marching on the south sidewalk of Central Avenue and one on the north. The group on the northern side was joined by a group of marchers demonstrating in favor of the war.

The counter demonstration was formed by students from FPC and St. Petersburg Junior College. Spokesman for the group, Warren Anderson, an SPJC student, described the goal of the counter demonstration: "The aim is to make it clear that not all college students are opposed to the war. Some care about their rights."

from FPC and SPJC and was not officially sanctioned by St. Petersburg Junior College.

FPC student Lynda Stevenson, marching in the counter protest group, said, "We believe that the people in Viet Nam deserve their freedom as well as us."

The counter marchers carried American and South Vietnamese flags.

Dr. Albert Howard Carter, spokesman for the peace marchers, said in a statement prepared for the press, "We are citizens. We are students, housewives, church and temple people, teachers — people, concerned people.

"We are walking from Central Plaza to the Bay to witness to our opposition to the war in Viet Nam.

"Some of us believe that all wars are morally wrong. Some of us believe that the war in Viet Nam is wrong, some because it is undeclared, some because it violates what we consider our obligations under the United Nations, some because it seems to interfere with Vietnamese self-determination, some because it retards social progress at home."

The peace marchers carried signs saying "End the War in Viet Nam," or simply, "Peace." Some carried large paper mache flowers.

Counter demonstrators' signs advocated support of government policy and American troops already in Viet Nam.

The peace march included a group of eight senior citizens, two of whom had come from Clearwater. One wore a sign saying "End the war in Viet Nam before we all end in" followed by a picture of a mushroom cloud.

Both the peace marchers and counter demonstrators seemed pleased at their response. Despite a relatively small initial group of 30 to 40 marchers, counter march spokesman Warren Andertheir march as "overwhelming."

FPC professor Ted Soloman said that he was "Quite gratified by student turnouts. More turned out than anticipated." He expressed disappointment over lack of faculty participation.

The march ended at Water Front Park near the Municipal Pier. The peace marchers performed a skit illustrating their point of view. A "blind" knight, bearing a shield with red and white vertical stripes and topped by a wide horizontal blue bar, fought with a red dragon.

During the battle, the knight's unicorn and the dragon's baby dragon offspring become friends, scattering flowers over the bodies of knight and dragon after they had killed each other in battle.

The skit was performed before small bleachers flanked by signs supporting government policy. Most of the marchers sat on the ground or stood, peace marchers on one side and counter demonstrators on the other.

The counter demonstrators cheered some statements of the knight, apparently meant to symbolize American policy.

Dr. Soloman, who has also participated in peace marches in Chicago, said that the Chicago marches attracted a different type of people from the St. Petersburg march. He said that St. Petersburg had fewer beatniks while more adults would have been marching in Chicago.

Dr. Soloman added, "I'm quite proud of the students who organized and led the march. Faculty had very little to do with it."

been obtained. I personally feel that we should have, if possible, been allowed the opportunity of hearing Carmichael on our own campus, but since things were done in the manner in which they were done, President Kadel, being Kadel, took his usual stand. I think that the injunction was an egotistical overestimation of our own importance. Mr. Carmichael was working on a very tight schedule and there were many things which were more important to him than FPC, on the outskirts of town.

Would it not be more beneficial especially to those of us who were either curious or sincerely interested enough to go and hear him, to discuss and try to digest what we saw and heard. What is Black Power? Who is Stokely Carmichael? What are the methods behind his madness? Or is it really madness?

I spent the day, with some other FPC students, waiting at the home of Joseph Waller to see Stokely Carmichael. We were able to talk to people who have been involved in SNCC and the SCLC. I think that I can speak for the group ed to add, "If necessary. If necessary." But it wasn't their show and they stood by and listened.

"If the hunkie touches you, break his right arm, or if you don't want to break his arm, then tell him to put it in his pocket!" His tactics are alarming, but that is his purpose — to startle the Negro community out of apathy and the feeling that all is futile.

The revival meeting Tuesday night was fairly quiet and without incident. Large portions of the Negroes did not respond to such statements as, "To hell with you Hunkies and your laws" while only a relatively small number cheered in full agreement.

One elderly Negro man who talked to the Trident said, "We may all be interested in this party here tonight but tomorrow morning we gotta get up and work for our living."

Nevertheless, Carmichael, who on stage maintains the poise of a highly polished professional performer, offers something for everyone. Two FPC students, Harry Horne and Dick Richard, talked with him extensively after the street meeting at the house of Joe Waller's brother. Waller is the SNCC leader arrested in December for taking the mural of Negro minstrels from St. Petersburg City Hall.

Dick Richard was particularly impressed when Carmichael expressed concern for "poor whites" and spoke of a projected SNCC program in "Poor Power for lack of better words." Carmichael who can arouse crowds to mob violence, hates, not individual whites but "institutionalized oppression," particularly the economic and political structures. Speaking personally with him, the two students found him responsive, communicative, and "without any hostility whatsoever."

Carmichael's public image from speaking engagements to his major constituency does not exhaust his many faceted appeal. It was an educational experience to hear him speak at 22nd and Fairfield. It would have been doubly educational to hear him in Fox Hall also. Dealing with problems within the Negro Community, Carmichael runs the semantic gamut from objective philosophy to subjective emotionalism. He starts by speaking to his audience and within minutes becomes one with them. He doesn't offer the solutions, rather he tries to explain the problems and demythologize racial folklore and the history of the American Negro.

"What Stokely does is propagate a policy set by a committee," Moses Davies, executive secretary for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, commented to the Trident. "He's not independent and he does and says what he does because it's the only way he could survive against the public punishment he's been getting." Davies continued by saying that the goals of all the Negro civil rights groups were the same. "We all want every man to be able to live a life devoted to his individual convictions. We want men to become self-thinkers, for it's the only way we can gain and maintain our self-respect. It's a distortion when someone puts black against white. There are problems of understanding in both communities and we feel that the blackmen should be allowed to work within their own without interference. We must change our own communities, for no matter how sincere the individual is, he can only work effectively within his own group."

One of the basic aims of the Black Power movement is to establish the self-respect of the individual Negro and then, once accomplished, teach the Negro to love within his own group. "This must be done," Davies said, "for trying to love everyone is a utopian view. Black Power means to love one's self. Without self-respect an individual is incapable of loving anyone or anything."

In its final stages Negro leaders envision the Black Power movement as providing the Negro community with a force of individuals, armed with self-respect and mutual love and understanding, and dedicated to the equality of justice. "As it now stands," Davies said, "the law is there to be exploited for the personal gain of those who can afford 'justice'. Not only the Negro, but the poor white, too, are oppressed. We have laws . . . now we want justice."

The press has distorted Carmichael's statements. Taken out of context Carmichael is a radical; in context Carmichael is a polished huckster selling self-respect. In either case, he deserves to be heard for he has something to say. We have nothing to fear from the truth, if we can recognize the truth. Carmichael may or may not be speaking the truth, but he has a right to express his views and he does have an understanding of the current problems that cannot be gained through books or closed-circuit discussion. Only voices of fear or insecurity could say otherwise without choking on the words.

The issues concerning this institution and Carmichael were muddled by the lack of communication between students and administration. If the students who supported Carmichael's appearance on campus believed in their convictions why didn't they go through the front door in trying to set up the rally? Do these students feel that the administration is so closed minded that Carmichael would have been immediately ruled out? By trying to spirit Carmichael in the back door distrust and conjecture were the only possibilities left open for the administration's consideration. This community is purported to be built on mutual respect and responsibility, but this is a two-way street. The manner in which the entire situation was handled was one of irresponsible actions. Two trustees contacted Wednesday felt that the arrangement of a front door invitation would have been warranted and successful.

Stokley Carmichael cannot say anything we have not already heard or thought or felt; is he to be feared or are we? The present generation seems to have set as its goal finding out just how far one's actions can be pushed without the individual having to take the responsibility for his actions. Eventually each of us will have to accept ultimate responsibility for our own actions and once this is realized some minimal criteria for the formulation of value judgments will be established.

The administration, on the other hand, must decide if it wants to keep the "little Princeton" philosophy it has been preaching. The reputation of a college has to be earned and not paid lip service. The practical consideration of the repercussions resulting from the recent peace march and the Carmichael incident are signs of growth in this community. For some these signs may be painful, but they are signs of an emerging climate that can either be quelled or nurtured by the administration.

The outcome of our college's official position is yet to be evaluated, but it was the only course of action open to the administration in light of the circumstances. This alone does not justify the stand taken, but it does provide an indication that irresponsible action will only lead to frustration.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Margi:

I'm not trying to be a seething radical or a rabel rouser, but I was so shocked at an occurrence on campus last week I felt a driving urge to inform the delinquent parties at once. If you are a weak or timid soul, it would be in your best interest not to read any more of this letter. The statement to follow should be read only by the more rugged-hearted individuals among us. The April 14, 1967, edition of Life Magazine (in English) stayed in the periodical section of our library all day April 14th!!!! Not only was Life to be found, but several other rarely seen publications were in their labeled shelf spaces. This phenomenon certainly rattled my personal sense of security with the status quo, and untold numbers of others probably were as close to shock as myself. Perhaps this break in "academic community" regularity was due to an oversight on the part of the "periodical pilferers," or the "book blitzers," but I thought it would be in the best interest of vulnerable students to inform them that such phenomena can occur. Don't worry, gang, all is not lost; I have yet to see a library copy of Look.

Sincerely semi-shocked,

Jim Anderton

Dear Editor:

I have been suspended from FPC. I was not allowed to stay on campus long enough to even prepare my defense. I asked for a few more days (long enough for several letters to be sent in my behalf.) I was refused. I asked for at least one more day (long enough to make some necessary phone calls). I was refused. I was told to pack immediately and leave campus.

I had asked to appeal my case from the very beginning. I was told I must go thru the necessary channels. I talked to the WDJB, I talked to Dean Whitiker, I talked to President Kadel. I was referred from one to the other, until finally my appeal was refused. Why? I only wanted a retrial, with a faculty committee, where I could present my case.

I have never come across such absolute injustice and hypocrisy. If the administration of this college does not have the decency to allow a student to remain a student long enough to defend his or herself in a situation such as mine, I do not wish to attend. But because I do not want such a blot on my record when I apply to another school, I will fight their decision to the end and hope to return, if only briefly to FPC.

President Kadel told me "of course you are sorry now" and he's right, I am sorry, — sorry that a college with such a fine academic faculty and curriculum has to have that type of administrative power.

Signed,
An Offender

Students Support Kadel

We the undersigned, in light of recent developments, wish to express our admiration and support of the position taken by President William Kadel concerning the presence of Stokely Carmichael on campus. We feel that while it may have been desirable to hear Mr. Carmichael, the suddenness, volatility and lack of organization inherent in the situation necessitated the action taken by Dr. Kadel. As President of the College and representative of it to the community, we feel he had no alternative. We further feel that the opinions expressed by students who spoke at the rally, were not the opinions of the majority of the students of Florida Presbyterian College. It is unfortunate that these students did not explicitly state that the views presented were their own and not those of the students as a whole.

The petition was signed by 413 out of 780 students. Due to lack of space, we do not print them here.

Editor:

Once again, a portion of the administration has moved with blind and enraged swiftness in the completion of its appointed rounds. That a Christian College, founded on Christian ethics, supported by Christian moneys, can be so relentless in the execution of justice as to completely ignore fact and circumstance when dealing with one of its educational wards is beyond me. Tuesday a young lady was suspended from school. She was suspended due to an occurrence caused by a peculiarity in her medical history. She was told to remove herself from school, prove at her convenience that her case is a valid one, and then reapply after submitting her case to the administration, in hopes of finishing out this academic year. There are 34 days left in the school year. To expect a person to drop from school for a week or so and then attempt to finish is absurd. Why is it not possible to allow the defendant to remain in school, and while here (rather than in her home town — 250 miles away) prove her case? Why is it not possible to practice what we preach?

Injunction Protested

Dear Editor:

We are rather distressed that our administration chose to state that Stokely Carmichael had not been nor was going to be invited to speak at the FPC campus. We feel that the right to dissent is basic to the college community's capacity to achieve objectivity and intellectual growth. Stokely Carmichael has made a definite impact on the American scene as a voice of dissent outside the mainstream of thought in both of our country's major issues; i.e., the civil rights movement and the war in Viet Nam. Currently, he is chairman of one of the country's leading and most widely recognized civil rights organizations, the Student Non-Violent Co - Ordinating Committee. We feel that his voice deserves to be heard and we recognize that the news media is not always reliable, particularly when reporting on controversial issues and persons. For instance, few of us know just what Mr. Carmichael really means when he talks about "black power."

As a precedent, the administration's policy concerning Mr. Carmichael's appearance on our campus could be damaging to the college. First, as individuals, we do not even know enough about his ideas to challenge them. We feel we have been deprived of an opportunity to obtain first-hand knowledge of a philosophy relevant to our times and even more important we have been deprived of the opportunity to intellectually challenge this philosophy with its originator. Secondly, for those who are concerned with the college's "image", we contend that this restriction should detract from our high standing in the academic community. Should we divorce ourselves from the company of distinguished colleges at which Mr. Carmichael has spoken, e.g., Harvard, Mount Holyoke, and others?

We have heard that the administration made a value judgment based primarily on the fear that Mr. Carmichael's appearance on the FPC campus might result in a serious disturbance. THIS IS UNREAL!!! Consider: 1) the difficulty and unlikelihood that a large number of people prone to rioting could be transported several miles to the FPC campus; 2) those people familiar with the St. Petersburg civil rights situation know that the majority of active civil rights supporters are somewhat sophisticated and not prone to violence; 3) there would be a large number of FPC students (also not prone to violence) in attendance; 4) there is a vast difference between the atmosphere on the FPC campus and places where riots have occurred; and 5) that Mr. Carmichael would have been an invited guest of FPC, whereas now he will have to carry his speech into the ghettos as a figure rejected by FPC.

If fear of material damage to the college is not the administration's sole reason for not issuing Mr. Carmichael an invitation to speak, then once again, the reason is probably that of the college losing support. We realize that the administration had to take a realistic approach to the problem, but nevertheless, this question remains in our minds: "To what extent can we violate our integrity in order to retain our support?"

51 out of 780 FPC students signed this letter. Due to a lack of space, their names are not included.

GOINGS ON ABOUT CAMPUS

SPANISH FIESTA

An underground cafe with candlelight lending the only softness to an atmosphere of lively song and dance — un meson espanol — this is the scene of the 1967 Spanish Club Fiesta.

All who enter Fox Hall at 8:00 p.m. tomorrow evening will step into an authentic meson surrounding, with the ballroom seeming to take on only 1/10 of its actual size.

Skit presentations, machete and flamenco dances, group and individual songs, and a guitar and piano solo will combine with a fare of olives, tortillas, and other delicacies to produce an atmosphere that is unmistakably foreign, definitely Spanish.

The Fiesta has always been one of the most successful and colorful events of the year; Spanish Club members promise that tomorrow's Meson will be no exception.

Sgt. Musgrave's Dance

The cast has been selected and announced for the Theater Workshop's production of "Serjeant Musgrave's Dance." Characters for the play will include: as Sparky, Steve Leeper; as Hurst, Pat Wolfe; as Attercliffe, Robert Johnson; as Bludgeon, Jere Lykins; as Musgrave, Rick Gelinas; as the parson, Eric McCloskey; as Mrs. Hickcock, Ann Tiedeman; as Annie, Rothy Gregory; as the constable, Art Farkas; as the mayor, Don Buffaloe; as Slow Collier, Art Wilson as Pug; Collier, Keith White; as Walsh, Skip Wright; and as Dragoons, Carston Holthouser and Ed Wilson. Ed Wilson and Pat Wolfe are handling scenery. Costuming is in the hands of Jeannie Beattie, Marin Burch, and Kris Ludwigen. Mike Leach is in charge of lighting.

"Serjeant Musgrave's Dance" is "an unhistorical parable" by John Arden. The play is about a group of English soldiers ostensibly going on a trip to recruit more soldiers. The play has special relevance at the moment at FPC, since the real truth is that the soldiers in the play are organizing a protest demonstration against the military. In effect, they reverse their gathering of patriotic response. Dramatic effect is achieved with the skeleton they display at the points along their march route. Sound interesting? See it in Dandy-McNair, April 28, 29, and 30, at 8:00 p.m. There is a one dollar admission charge for non-students.

Interview With Vera Dean of Lat. Am. Inst.

by Lonni Ann Fredman

"Revolutionary Change," the theme of last week's Latin American Institute, is also very descriptive of the hectic schedules the conference participants had to follow in order to arrive at all the schools in the Associated Mid-Florida Colleges group in time. No schedule could have been tighter than that of Mrs. Vera Micheles Dean, who lectured here Wednesday afternoon on political and ideological change in Latin America. She had less than three days to make the circuit of the five colleges, and Julie Bell, Patty Papps and I had less than 90 minutes amidst the Interstate 4 rush hour traffic to whisk her from here to Florida Southern College. In driving Mrs. Dean to Lakeland, we had a chance to talk extensively with at least one of the specialists who were unable to remain at FPC for the duration of the conference.

Professor of International Development at New York University, Mrs. Dean also leads a seminar on economic development in India and Pakistan, is an accredited UN Correspondent to "India News & Feature Alliance," has traveled throughout the world, and has written many books on international affairs. Being familiar with her background and being away from the Latin American Conference, the three of us could now ask her about almost any other area in the world. We began with Mexico. (We were going to be in the panel discussion on the Mexican Revolution the following day for the Institute.) The following is an account of her main ideas and comments on Mexico and the other nations we discussed:

Basic perhaps to the whole conference itself was an understanding of revolution, which, Mrs. Dean said, Americans have never really comprehended. Our Revolutionary War was not the profound social and economic upheaval which the British, French and Russians experienced. America has never undergone such a drastic change in the structure of its institutions and therefore finds it difficult to fully understand or appreciate the place of revolution in Latin America.

Perhaps the most sensitive aspect of foreign policy is foreign aid: America extends loans and grants to nations all over the world, often only to have it either fall into the hands of the rich or be otherwise misappropriated, or to have it reach those who malign the U.S. even while accepting the aid. In order to retain favor, the United States cannot be too blunt in its criticism of these countries. Mrs. Dean advocates the distribution of such funds through an international agency, such as the World Bank or the United Nations, that would be in a better position to criticize these governments than we are.

Another solution to the foreign aid problem might be to give it in a form other than money: a Brazilian exchange student I once talked to said that the Peace Corps was accomplishing much more than was the money the U.S. sent and which her government officials kept for themselves. Mrs. Dean replied that the Peace Corps cannot be evaluated in terms of economic progress — its scope is too small — but rather as a basis for human contact between the peoples, especially the youth, of the various countries in which it is based.

Mrs. Dean was born in Russia and lived there for 16 years. She noted that just as Latin America is noted for the tremendous gap between the rich and the poor, Russia today suffers from a sizable gap between the young and the old. The large number of soldiers who lost their lives during the war accounts for this difference in generations.

We asked Mrs. Dean about India: Most Americans cannot understand why cows should be left to roam the streets while people starve. Mrs. Dean said that the cow problem is no longer a serious issue. Most cities have ordinances prohibiting the animals from being loose. Now all strays are picked up and brought to cow pounds, where owners have a time limit such as 24 hours to reclaim their animals. If she is not claimed, the cow's next place may be on the dinner table.

Throughout the conversation Mrs. Dean emphasized that the personal element is important in understanding international affairs. How would we as Americans like to have foreigners operating our industry and transportation? If we can project our personal feelings in such matters onto a national scale, we can then perhaps understand why the international scene is as it is today.

The time for talking with Mrs. Dean drew to a close all too soon. Though we did not gain any startling new insight into the international scene, I think our understanding of it was deepened.

As we drove up to the Ramada Inn in Lakeland, we asked Mrs. Dean what her plans were after finishing her lectures for the Institute. There was no need to wonder why she replied, "A long weekend of rest!"

Arnold and Jacobson to N. Y.

Bill Arnold and Carl Jacobson have been chosen to represent FPC's International Relations Club at the 1967 National Student Leadership Institute to be held June 10-17 at Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, New York. The Institute, sponsored by the Collegiate Council for the United Nations, attempts to familiarize the student with the various organizations and agencies of the United Nations.

The Program includes discussion groups on such topics as Communist China, Southeast Asia, human rights and disarmament. The students will also spend two days at the United Nations where they will attend lectures by Secretary General U Thant and U.S. Representative Arthur Goldberg. In addition, the students will have an opportunity to participate in informal discussions with the various delegates to the United Nations.

The International Relations Club wishes to thank the St. Petersburg United Nations Association for its continued financial support, thus making possible the attendance of two of our students at the Leadership Institute.

This space had been originally allotted for an article damning student apathy, but . . .

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

by Carl Jacobson

In a double header last Saturday and in a single Tuesday the FPC baseballers went 2-1 against St. Leo's Nine. The scoring was disastrous for the first games, 9-0 and 21-4, but in Tuesday's game FPC came back and took St. Leo 8-14. After racking up two runs on singles in the first two times at bat in Tuesday's game the FPC team went on to gain five in the third. In all it was a pretty tight inning, but the pitcher, Peratta, cracked up after realizing the position he had worked himself into. McDonald led off with a one bagger, followed by a bunt by Mike Myers. A wild throw to first by the pitcher put McDonald on third and he scored when Peratta threw a wild pitch. Green walked followed by a single by McLarty bringing in Myers. Singletary, hitting well for this game (3 for 4), singled and loaded the bags. Clemmons racked up a big K and Mike Watson walked to force in Green. Sterling Watson walked, bringing in McLarty and leadoff man McDonald up to bat. McDonald was hit by a pitch and Myers struck out to close the inning with 5 runs.

Box score for the game:

St. Leo	100	003	031	8	10	4
FPC	315	220	10x	14	10	3

Maciocio, Peratta (2), Crosby (4), Kelly (7), Robinson, Makoski (7) Karr, Myers. 2B Cambria, 3B McLarty.

FENCING

While the rest of the student body waited impatiently to "lay in" a couple of weeks ago, the FPC fencing team was gallantly defending the honor of the school in the seventh annual Sunshine Festival of States Foil Fencing Tournament. The FPC team hosted the event, which this year drew over forty fencers from all over Florida to compete for the coveted Festival Trophy.

Fencing for FPC were Brad Hestir, Steve Murray, Don Williams, Joe Williamson, Rufus Sessions, and Coach Bob Colwell. Claudia Cauthern fenced in the Women's Open. Williamson, Murray, Sessions, and Colwell fenced through their preliminary pools into the semi-finals, and at the end of this round Sessions and Colwell moved up to the finals. At the end of regular competition Colwell, Sessions, and Jose Sasek, the defending champion from the U. of Fla., had blazed to a three-way tie for first place. In the ensuing fence-off Sasek beat Colwell 5-2 and sneaked past Sessions 5-4 to take the crown. Colwell polished off Sessions 5-2 for second place, leaving Sessions with third.

In competition last weekend the team of Sessions, Williams, and Colwell captured top honors in a team epee meet with teams from Tampa, Dunedin, Jacksonville, and Florida State. The FPC team went undefeated in the tournament, handing Florida State their only defeat in the final round. The second FPC team, consisting of Williamson, Murray, and Hestir, were just nosed out in the preliminary round, losing to both Dunedin and Jacksonville by a 5-4 margin.

The FPC fencers will see action again next week and the week after that in the three-weapon Division Championships. Epee and sabre will be fenced next week, with the foil championships the following week. Both tournaments will be hosted by Dunedin.

The locale of CARMICHAEL's speech on April 18, 1967, was on 22nd Street South, at Fairfield Avenue, St. Petersburg, Florida. 22nd Street runs North and South in St. Petersburg. The 700 block of 22nd Street South is between Fairfield Avenue and 7th Avenue.

A physical observation of the area reflects that the West side of the street in this block contains the Snow Peak Drive-In. In front of the Drive-In is a parking area.

The East side of the street contains a two-story building. The major portion of the first floor houses the Manhattan Bar. Also on the first floor is a barber's shop and a candy store.

Local Seattle newspapers carried considerable coverage of legal action brought against the Seattle School Board by the American Civil Liberties Union on behalf of the Seattle Chapter of SNCC, which ended in a court decision forcing the school board to make the auditorium available for CARMICHAEL on April 19, 1967.

[redacted] who resides at [redacted]

[redacted] recalled that the appearance of STOKELY CARMICHAEL at Garfield High School on April 19, 1967, [redacted] who had identified [redacted] "Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee" (SNCC). He stated that a letter dated March 9, 1967, signed by [redacted] SNCC, had been directed to [redacted]

[redacted] requesting rental of the Garfield High School auditorium for the evening of April 18, 1967, for a speech by CARMICHAEL. This letter indicated that CARMICHAEL's appearance was being sponsored by the SNCC membership in Seattle, Washington.

According to [redacted]

[redacted] over the signature of [redacted]

[redacted] informing [redacted] that permission for the use of the auditorium at Garfield High School for CARMICHAEL's speech was being withheld. Following this exchange of letters, there was considerable coverage in Seattle newspapers of legal action brought against the Seattle School Board by the American Civil Liberties Union, on behalf of the Seattle Chapter of SNCC, which ended in a King County Superior Court decision forcing the School Board to make the auditorium available for the CARMICHAEL Speech.

[redacted] recalled that he made a recording of CARMICHAEL's speech and the question and answer session that followed, however, he said that the question and answer portion of his recording was garbled and of such poor quality that it was impossible to understand it. He further recalled that CARMICHAEL was well aware that his speech and comments were being recorded, and CARMICHAEL's attention had been directed to the recording instruments by someone in the vicinity.

STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE

On September 10, 1967, Brown spoke before 1,000 individuals at a Congress of Racial Equality, a civil rights group, rally in East St. Louis, Illinois. Brown declared America is committing genocide against its black people and urged that Negroes get guns for the "black revolution." He said black people are "going to have to fight" and it is going to be a "bloody fight." He claimed that in four years there will be a curfew and every Negro will have to be inside by 9 p.m. He repeated his claim that the United States is building concentration camps for Negroes.

Upon leaving the auditorium where the rally was held, Brown spoke briefly to a crowd outside the auditorium. He told them the "most successful riot was in Plainfield, New Jersey, where a white policeman was beaten and shot." Subsequent to Brown's speech, violence broke out in East St. Louis. Windows were broken and buildings were burned in the downtown district. One 18-year-old Negro was killed by a police officer after a high speed chase during which the Negro was driving a stolen car. Police arrested approximately 100 individuals as a result of the disturbances.

Activities of Stokely Carmichael

It was previously reported that Carmichael, former leader of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, arrived in Algiers, Algeria, on September 6, 1967. According to press reports, Carmichael plans to visit Syria after leaving Algeria. He has also indicated he will return to the United States upon the conclusion of his visit through the "Third World."

Carmichael was quoted by the press as stating that Negroes are in the majority in Washington, D.C., and could "seize the Pentagon at any time." He also stated, "Sixty-five per cent of the Washington population are Negroes and the Pentagon belongs to us. If we encircle it one day, the Pentagon will no longer be able to communicate with the outside." He expressed the hope that the communists will defeat the United States in Vietnam. Carmichael said "his movement" plans to seek the destruction of the United States capitalist system from within.

XEROXED ORIGINAL RETAIN

OUR PEOPLE CAN NEVER MEET THE BRUTALITY THAT WHITE AMERICA HAS INFLICTED UPON BLACK PEOPLE, BUT WE ARE HOPING TO GO TO THE STAGE WHERE THEY WILL STOP THAT OPPRESSION AND IN ORDER TO DO THAT WE MUST WAKE UP OURSELVES TO WHAT WE HAVE TO DO.

NOW, WHILE THE STUDENT GOVERNMENT COUNCIL IS SITTING ON THE PLATFORM WITH ME, I WANT YOU TO KNOW THE REAL REASON WHY WE ARE HERE IS BECAUSE OF YOUR SIGNING ALL OF THESE PETITIONS....(APPLAUSE) AND WHAT YOU CAN DO WHEN YOU DECIDE TO COME TOGETHER AND STICK TOGETHER. 3,000 STRONG, NOBODY STOPS YOU ON YOUR OWN COLLEGE CAMPUS (APPLAUSE) AND WE ARE SURE IF YOU CAN DO THIS, THEN YOU CAN MOVE TO DO ANYTHING ELSE YOU WANT. ALL YOU GOT TO DO IS TO COME TOGETHER AND STICK TOGETHER AND TO DEMAND WHAT BELONGS TO YOU AND PERSEVERE YOUR DEMANDS. ONCE YOU DO THAT, THE ADMINISTRATION WILL LEGITIMIZE EVERYTHING YOU WANT THEM TO LEGITIMIZE.

ONE OF THE MAJOR ASSUMPTIONS FROM WHICH THE MOVE IN SNCC IS THE THEORY OF SELF-CONDEMNATION. WE DO NOT BELIEVE THAT IT IS POSSIBLE FOR A MAN TO CONDEMN HIMSELF, REGARDLESS OF HIS COLOR. THE (UNINTELLIGIBLE) PHILOSOPHER, RAISED THE QUESTION OF SELF-CONDEMNATION AND THEY COME TO THE CONCLUSION, WELL THEY DON'T COME TO THE CONCLUSION, BUT WE COME TO THE CONCLUSION THAT IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO CONDEMN ONESELF. AN EXAMPLE FOR US, WHILE WE WERE YOUNG THERE WERE NAZIS WHO WERE KILLING JEWS. NOW AFTER THE WAR THEY HAD A NUMBER OF TRIALS AND THEY ARRESTED MANY OF THE NAZI PRISONERS. NOW, THE NAZIS WHO ALLOWED THEMSELVES TO LIVE, THAT IS THE ONES WHO DID NOT CONDEMN THEMSELVES, SAID THAT THEY DID NOT KILL HUMAN BEINGS, THEY KILLED JEWS AND JEWS WERE NOT HUMAN BEINGS OR THEY SAID THEY DIDN'T KNOW WHAT WAS HAPPENING IN THEIR COUNTRY AT THE TIME IT WAS HAPPENING. OR A MORE SOPHISTICATED NATURALIZATION WOULD BE THAT THEY WERE FOLLOWING LAW AND ORDER, SO THAT ONCE THEY SAID THAT, THEY DIDN'T CONDEMN THEMSELVES BECAUSE THEY DID NOTHING WRONG. THE NAZIS WHO CONDEMNED THEMSELVES WHO AWAKENED AND WHO SAID THAT THEY WERE COMMITTING MURDER HAD TO COMMIT SUICIDE. THEY HAD TO COMMIT SUICIDE. THAT IS TO SAY, THAT ONCE A MAN CONDEMN HIMSELF FOR WHAT HE HAS DONE, HE MUST XXXX/PUNISHMENT UPON HIMSELF AND IF YOU DON'T BELIEVE THAT MOST PEOPLE (UNINTELLIGIBLE) WE DON'T BELIEVE SELF-CONDEMNATION IS POSSIBLE. FOR US IN THE UNITED STATES A MORE RELEVANT EXAMPLE OR MORE IMMEDIATE EXAMPLE WOULD BE SHERIFF RAINEY OF MISSISSIPPI, HE WITH 18 OTHER ALLIES WHO KILLED THREE HUMAN BEINGS IN 1964 IN PHILADELPHIA, MISSISSIPPI. THE COUNTY OF MISSISSIPPI IS UNABLE TO INDICT THAT HONKEY FOR MURDER BECAUSE HE XXXXX HE HAD DONE JUST WHAT THEY HAVE WANTED HIM TO DO. HE WAS AN ELECTED OFFICIAL WHO WAS SUPPOSED TO MAINTAIN THE STATUS QUO AT ANY PRICE. SO IT WAS IMPOSSIBLE FOR THEM TO INDICT HIM, BECAUSE THEY WOULD HAVE TO CONDEMN THEMSELVES. AND WE KNOW THAT IT IS IMPOSSIBLE FOR WHITE AMERICA AS A TOTAL COMMUNITY TO CONDEMN THEMSELVES FOR THE ACT OF BRUTALITY THAT IS PERPETRATED AGAINST BLACK PEOPLE. WERE SHE TO DO THAT, THEN THE ENTIRE NATION WOULD HAVE TO COMMIT SUICIDE. THAT MIGHT NOT BE A BAD IDEA. THE REST OF THE WORLD MIGHT BE ABLE TO LIVE IN PEACE. SO MOVING FROM THAT ASSUMPTION WE CAN SAY THAT YOU CANNOT IMITATE WHITE AMERICA, YOU MUST BEGIN TO CREATE FOR YOURSELF. YOU MUST BEGIN TO CREATE FOR YOURSELF. YOU SHOULD HAVE HER STAND CONDEMNED FOR THE ACTS THAT YOU HAVE COMMITTED AGAINST US AND WE MUST NOW MOVE ON. OUR PROBLEM HAS BEEN THAT WE'VE ALWAYS USED WHITE PEOPLE AS A MEASURING STICK. WHENEVER YOU ASK SOMETHING IT IS IN RELATIONSHIP TO A WHITE PERSON AND WE ARE TO KNOCK THAT OUT OF OUR MINDS; THEY ARE NOT TO BE OUR MEASURING STICK ANY LONGER.

NOW WE WANT TO MOVE ON TO THE NEXT ASSUMPTION WHICH TALKS ABOUT GIVING SOMEONE'S FREEDOM. I THINK THAT'S A CONFUSED TERM THAT HAS BEEN PLACED IN OUR MINDS SO THAT WE ASSUME THAT SOMEONE CAN GIVE YOU YOUR FREEDOM. EVERY MAN IS BORN FREE. HE IS THEN ENSLAVED BY OTHER PEOPLE. FOR THOSE OTHER PEOPLE CAN'T GIVE THEM THEIR FREEDOM, THEY JUST DENY HIM HIS FREEDOM AND THAT THEIR JOB WHEN THAT MAN MOVES FOR HIS FREEDOM, HE IS TO STOP DENYING HIM HIS FREEDOM. THAT'S VERY IMPORTANT. THAT MEANS THAT WE ARE BEGGING WHITE PEOPLE FOR ANYTHING, WE ARE GOING TO MAKE THEM STOP DENYING US WHAT BELONGS TO US AND IT'S VERY, VERY IMPORTANT..(APPLAUSE) BECAUSE ONCE YOU UNDERSTAND THAT, YOU UNDERSTAND THAT THE MAN IS WRONG FROM THE JUMP FOR DENYING YOU HIS FREEDOM SO THE QUESTION ABOUT XXXXXXXX MEANS NEVERENTERS, THE REAL QUESTION IS WHETHER THE HONKEYS ARE GOING TO GET OFF YOUR BACK AND THAT'S WHERE THE QUESTION SHOULD STAY AT ALL TIMES. NEVER ON US. THEY MUST BE ON THE DEFENSIVE FOR WHAT THEY HAVE DONE TO US. WE SHOULD NEVER BE ON THE DEFENSIVE FOR TRYING TO LIVE LIKE HUMAN BEINGS. YOU MUST UNDERSTAND THAT CONCEPT IN YOUR MINDS. SO THAT YOU SHOULD UNDERSTAND THAT ALL THE BILLS; ALL THE CIVIL RIGHTS BILLS AND OTHER BILLS PASSED IN THIS COUNTRY WERE PASSED TO HELP WHITE PEOPLE; TO HELP CIVILIZED WHITE PEOPLE, NOT US. WE ALREADY KNOW WHERE WE'RE AT. LET ME GIVE YOU AN EXAMPLE. I AM BLACK. I KNOW THAT I'M A HUMAN BEING. I KNOW THAT I HAVE THE RIGHT TO GO INTO ANY PUBLIC PLACE THAT'S OPEN BECAUSE I AM AFFORDED THE DIGNITY OF OTHER HUMAN BEINGS. NOW SOME DUMB HONKEY IN NASHVILLE DOESN'T, THAT. HE DOESN'T KNOW THAT I'M A HUMAN BEING, SEE...(APPLAUSE) ..SO THAT EVERY TIME I TRY TO GO INTO A PUBLIC PLACE SOME HONKEY STANDS IN MY WAY AND TELLS ME I CAN'T COME IN BECAUSE I'M NOT A HUMAN BEING, SO THE WHITE FOLK IN WASHINGTON WRITES A BILL, NOT FOR ME, BUT FOR THIS HONKEY TELLING HIM TO RECOGNIZE MY HUMANITY SO THAT WHEN I COME TO THE STORE, HE HAS TO GET OUT OF MY WAY. IT WASN'T THERE FOR ME. I'M STILL THE SAME. THE HONKEY IS NOW CHANGED. HE'S ABLE TO RECOGNIZE MY HUMANITY. SEE, YOU'VE GOT TO STOP HIM FROM HIM DENYING ME OF MY FREEDOM. YOU'VE GOT TO UNDERSTAND THAT. THE SAME THING THEN WOULD BE TRUE OF THE VOTING RIGHTS BILL. I KNOW I CAN VOTE, BUT EVERY TIME I TRY SOME DUMB HONKEY SHOOT, KILLS, ROBS, THROWS ME OFF THE LAND OR TRIES TO BURN MY FAMILY OUT. SO YOU'VE GOT TO PASS A BILL FOR THAT HONKEY TO SAY, WHEN SOMEBODY BLACK COMES TO VOTE, LEAVE HIM ALONE. SO I WANT YOU TO BEGIN TO UNDERSTAND THAT AND TO RECOGNIZE THE FIGHT FOR BLACK POWER IN THIS COUNTRY IS A FIGHT TO CIVILIZE THE BARBARIC COUNTRY, THE WHITE PEOPLE IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA. THAT'S WHAT THE FIGHT IS ALL ABOUT. (APPLAUSE)

NOW THEN WE WANT TO MOVE ON TO A POINT AND WE WANT TO SHOW THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN INSTITUTIONAL RACISM AND INDIVIDUAL ACTS OF RACISM. I THINK THE COUNTRY CONFUSES THAT ALL OF THE TIME, AND THEY DO IT PURPOSELY SO THAT THEY CAN GET US CONFUSED. THEY KEEP TELLING US OF INDIVIDUALS RATHER THAN INSTITUTIONALIZED RACISM. LET ME GIVE YOU AN EXAMPLE OF BOTH OF THEM. IF SOME HONKEYS BOMB A CHURCH ON SUNDAY MORNING WHEN THEY THEMSELVES SHOULD BE GOING TO CHURCH, FOR THEY NEED IT, IF THEY BOMB A CHURCH ON SUNDAY MORNING AND THEY KILL 5 BLACK CHILDREN, THAT IS AN ACT OF INDIVIDUAL RACISM. THAT'S AN INDIVIDUAL ACT OF RACISM AND OF COURSE WHEN THAT HAPPENS EVERYBODY IN THE COUNTRY IS UP IN ARMS, BOTH BLACK AND WHITE. BUT NOW, IF IN THAT SAME CITY, BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA, NOT 5, BUT 500 BLACK BABIES DIED YEAR BECAUSE OF LACK OF PROPER FOOD, MEDICAL FACILITIES AND SHELTER AND A THOUSAND MORE BLACK PEOPLE ARE MAIMED PHYSICALLY, EDUCATIONALLY AND MENTALLY BECAUSE OF CONDITIONS OF POVERTY IN THAT CITY, THAT IS AN ACT OF INSTITUTIONALIZED RACISM AND THAT'S THE FIX WE ARE IN TODAY. INSTITUTIONALIZED RACISM, NOT INDIVIDUAL ACTS OF RACISM. SO WHITE LIBERALS WHO WANT TO TELL YOU ABOUT HOW GOOD THEY ARE..... YOU MUST. YOU HAVE TO. IT'S VERY VERY IMPORTANT BECAUSE WHAT IT MEANS IS THAT YOU'RE NOT GOING TO BE BOTHERED WITH THE HONKEY WHO'S BOMBING YOUR CHURCH, YOU'RE GOING FOR THE HONKEY WHO'S POWER IS KEEPING YOU IN THE GHETTO. THAT'S WHERE THE POWER IS AT IN THIS COUNTRY. THAT'S WHAT WE'VE GOT TO GO FOR IN THIS COUNTRY. NOT THE INDIVIDUALS WHO BOMB THE CHURCHES. THEY CAN BOMB IT BECAUSE OF INSTITUTIONALIZED RACISM. YOU'VE GOT TO UNDERSTAND THAT CONCEPT BECAUSE INSTITUTIONALIZED RACISM MANIFESTS ITSELF IN EVERY CITY IN THIS COUNTRY FROM ROCKSBURY TO WATTS AND THAT IS WHAT THE PEOPLE IN THE GHETTO ARE FIGHTING OVER, INSTITUTIONALIZED RACISM AND THAT LEAVES US TO UNDERSTAND THAT IF YOU'RE GOING TO FIGHT INSTITUTIONALIZED RACISM, THE REASON IT IS ABLE TO PERPETUATE ITSELF IS BECAUSE OF POWER. NOT LOVE. NOT MORALITY. NOT NON-VIOLENCE, BUT POWER. AND IF YOU'RE GOING TO CHECK IT, YOU NEED POWER TO COUNTERACT THE POWER THAT IS USED TO PERPETRATE AND CONTINUE AND PERPETUATE INSTITUTIONALIZED RACISM IN THIS COUNTRY. THAT'S BLACK POWER.

NOW WHAT THE COUNTRY IS TRYING TO DO IS PUT BLACK PEOPLE ON THE DEFENSIVE WHEN THEY MOVE FOR THEIR LIBERATION NOW BEFORE I WANT TO GET TO VIOLENCE, I WANT TO GET TO SOMETHING ABOUT DEFINITION. BECAUSE I THINK IT IS VERY, VERY IMPORTANT. IF YOU HAVE THE ABILITY TO DEFINE THEN YOU ARE THE MASTER OF THE WORLD. LET ME GIVE YOU A QUOTE TO BACK IT UP. I JUST FOUND THIS IN ONE OF THE BOOKS I WAS READING. IT COMES FROM "ALICE IN WONDERLAND" ONE OF MY FAVORITE BOOKS. I WANT TO READ YOU THE QUOTE. IT IS. BECAUSE IT IS ONE OF THE BEST POLITICAL SATIRES YOU CAN FIND IN THE COUNTRY. JUST AS "HUCKLEBERRY FINN" IS PROBABLY THE BEST BOOK IN THE COUNTRY EVER WRITTEN BY A WHITE MAN. IT WAS. YOU OUGHT TO READ THE SUBTILITY OF RACISM INSIDE THE BOOK. THERE'S A QUOTE IN THERE THAT I ALWAYS REMEMBER. HUCKLEBERRY FINN IS DRESSED UP AS TOM SAWYER AND HE GETS OFF THE BOAT AND HE GOES TO MEET THE WHITE LADY AND HE'S GOT TO MAKE UP A STORY, SO HE SAYS TO HER, "WELL, IT RAN AGROUND AND IT BLEW A CYLINDER." AND SO WHEN HE GETS THERE, HE SAYS, "IT BLEW A CYLINDER" AND SHE SAYS, "DID ANYBODY GET HURT?" HE SAID, "NO MAM A NEGRO GOT KILLED." AND SHE SAID, "GEE, I'M GLAD BECAUSE SOMETIME PEOPLE GET HURT." YOU OUGHT TO DIG HUCKLEBERRY FINN..... I WANT TO READ THE QUOTE FROM ALICE IN WONDERLAND. WHEN I USE THE WORD HUMPTY-DUMPTY SAID IN A RATHER SCORNFUL TONE IT MEANS JUST WHAT I TAKE IT TO MEAN. NEITHER MORE, NOR LESS. "THE QUESTION IS," SAID ALICE, "IS WHETHER YOU CAN MAKE WORDS MEAN SO MANY DIFFERENT THINGS." "THE QUESTION IS," SAID HUMPTY DUMPTY, "WHO IS TO BE MASTER. THAT IS ALL." AND THAT IS ABSOLUTELY CORRECT. LET ME GIVE YOU AN EXAMPLE. WHITE PEOPLE CAN DEFINE EVERYBODY. EVERYBODY. THEY HAVE DONE THAT ALL THEIR LIVES. AND BECAUSE THEY CAN DEFINE, THEY CAN ENTRAP YOU WITH THEIR DEFINITIONS. CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS CAME OVER HERE AND NAMED PEOPLE INDIANS, BECAUSE THE HONKEY THOUGHT HE WAS AN INDIAN. AND TO THIS VERY DAY, RED PEOPLE IN THIS COUNTRY ARE RUNNING AROUND WITH PEOPLE CALLING THEM INDIANS. AND THEY CAN'T EVEN WIN THE FIGHT BECAUSE IF THEY'RE NOT INDIAN, BECAUSE EVERYBODY SEES A COWBOY AND INDIAN MOVIE AND THEY CALL THEIR PRESIDENT, CHIEF.. AND YOU KNOW A CHIEF IS NEVER AS GOOD AS A PRESIDENT. EVERYBODY KNOWS THAT. HE'S JUST A TRIBAL CHIEF OF SAVAGES. THEY HAVE DEFINED EVERYBODY. THEY WENT TO AFRICA AND DEFINED BLACK PEOPLE AS SAVAGES. BLACK PEOPLE WHO HAD THE FIRST UNIVERSITY IN THE WORLD, THE UNIVERSITY OF TIMBUKTOO. THEY CALLED US SAVAGES. BLACK PEOPLE WHO NEVER SHOT AND KILLED AND RAPED AND PUT PEOPLE IN SLAVERY, THEY CALL US SAVAGES AND PUT US IN SLAVERY. YOU'VE GOT TO UNDERSTAND THAT. (APPLAUSE) BECAUSE OF THEIR POWER TO DEFINE, THEY HAVE CONVINCED YOU THAT THEY ARE WHAT CIVILIZATION IS AND THAT YOU SHOULD FIGHT TO REACH THEIR LEVEL OF CIVILIZATION BECAUSE THEY HAVE DEFINED CIVILIZATION AND WHAT IS CIVILIZATION? BEING ABLE TO DROP A BOMB ON NAGISAKI, HIROSHIMA OR BEING ABLE TO BOMB THE PEOPLE OF NORTH VIET NAM BECAUSE THEY DON'T BELIEVE IN DEMOCRACY, BUT WILL BOMB IT UNTIL THEY GET IT I GUESS.

SO THAT'S VERY IMPORTANT. LET ME GIVE YOU AN EXAMPLE. ON IT MESSES UP YOUR MIND. YOU WATCH THE COWBOY AND RED PEOPLE FIGHT ALL THE TIME ON T.V. HERE THEY COME. HERE COME THE WHITE PEOPLE FIGHTING VERY RIGHT AND VERY PROPER. THERE IS A FIGHT GOING ON. THEY BEAT UP ALL THE INDIANS. THEY KILL THEM ALL. THEY SHOOT THEM DOWN AND THE COLONEL LOOKS OVER AND SAYS VERY GOOD. WE'VE GOTTEN RID OF THE SAVAGES. LET'S RIDE BACK TO THE FORT. AND THEY ALL GET ON THEIR HORSES AND RIDE BACK TO THE FORT AND THERE'S A WHITE LADY STANDING THERE AND SAYS, WHAT HAPPENED? AND THEY SAY, WE HAD A VICTORY. WE KILLED ALL THE INDIANS AND EVERYBODY'S VERY HAPPY. THE NEXT TIME WHEN THE REVERSE HAPPENS AND THE RED PEOPLE BEAT THE HELL OUT OF THE HONKEYS, THERE'S ONE MAN LEFT ON THE HORSE AND HE COMES TO THE FORT AND THE WHITE WOMAN SAYS WHAT HAPPENED, WHAT HAPPENED. AND HE SAYS, THOSE DIRTY INDIANS. THEY MASSACRED US. (APPLAUSE). AND SO EVERYONE KNOWS IN THEIR MIND THAT A MASSACRE IS LESS HONORABLE THAN A VICTORY BECAUSE IN A VICTORY YOU SHOOT PEOPLE TO DEATH WITH GUNS. IN A MASSACRE YOU CUT THEM TO DEATH. WE ALL KNOW WE'D RATHER DIE FROM GUN WOUNDS THAN KNIFE WOUNDS ANYWAY. SO I GUESS THAT'S WHAT MAKES A VICTORY HONORABLE BUT THAT'S PART OF THE SCHEME OF DEFINING THINGS. THAT'S BEEN OUR PROBLEM. WE HAVE BEEN DEFINED. THAT'S RIGHT, BROTHER. YOU GOT IT. (APPLAUSE)

THIS NOW THAT'S BEEN PART OF OUR PROBLEM, PERHAPS OUR BIGGEST PROBLEM BECAUSE WE HAVE BEEN DEFINED BY WHITE PEOPLE. THEY HAVE DEFINED US AS NEGRO. NOBODY KNOWS WHERE THE WORD COMES FROM. SOME HONKEY THOUGHT IT UP AND GAVE IT TO US AND WE ARE STUCK WITH IT TO TODAY AND NEGROES ARE LAZY, STUPID, DUMB, APETHETIC, LIKE WATER-MELON AND LOVE TO DANCE. AND IN THE FIRST, TO RE-DEFINE OURSELVES THEY MUST ALWAYS PUT US ON THE DEFENSE. NOW I WANT TO GIVE YOU A FAIR EXAMPLE OF HOW THAT WORKS IN OUR EARLY CHILDHOOD WHILE WE WERE GROWING UP. WE REMEMBER THAT IN 1954 AND 55 WHEN BLACK PEOPLE WOULD GET ON T.V. AND SAY WE WANT TO INTEGRATE. IN THE MINDS OF BLACK PEOPLE WE KNEW FOR CERTAIN WHAT THE BLACK MAN WAS TALKING ABOUT. HE WAS TALKING ABOUT GOOD JOBS. GOOD SCHOOLS. GOOD HOUSING. GOOD NEIGHBORHOODS. THAT'S WHAT HE MEANT BY INTEGRATION. OH, BUT NO (APPLAUSE) NOW AFTER THE BLACK MAN WOULD SAY OUT LOUD..... AFTER THE BLACK MAN WOULD SAY HE WANTED TO INTEGRATE SOME DUMB HONKEY IS GOING TO JUMP UP AND SAY, YOU WANT TO MARRY MY DAUGHTER, DON'T YOU? AND INSTEAD OF THIS BLACK MAN FORGETTING ABOUT THIS HONKEY, HE GOES TO DEFENDING IT. NO. WE DON'T TO MARRY YOUR DAUGHTER. WE DON'T WANT TO BE YOUR BROTHER-IN-LAWS, WE JUST WANT TO BE YOUR BROTHER. WE DON'T WANT TO LIVE IN YOUR BEDROOM, WE WANT TO LIVE NEXT TO YOU, AND APOLOGIZING FOR THE VERY TERMS THAT YOU'VE INVENTED, LETTING A WHITE MAN DEFINE IT FOR US AND PUTTING HIM ON THE DEFENSIVE ABOUT THAT TERM. WHEN THEY ASK US THAT QUESTION AT SNCC, ABOUT WHETHER OR NOT WE WANT TO MARRY THEIR DAUGHTERS WE DON'T EVER GET ON THE DEFENSIVE. WE TELL THEM RIGHT TO THEIR FACE. YOUR DAUGHTER, YOUR SISTER, YOUR MAMAS THE WHITE WOMAN IS NOT THE QUEEN OF THE WORLD. SHE'S NOT THE VIRGIN MARY SHE CAN BE MADE LIKE ANY OTHER WOMAN SO LET'S MOVE ON (APPLAUSE) YOU'VE GOT TO UNDERSTAND THAT CONCEPT VERY, VERY THOROUGHLY IN YOUR MINDS. YOU MUST UNDERSTAND IT BECAUSE WHAT THAT MEANT IS THAT THEY WERE ABLE TO DEFINE OUR TERMS FOR US. THAT'S THE SAME THING THAT HAPPENS TODAY. WE SAY BLACK POWER AND SOME HONKEY IS GOING TO JUMP UP AND SAY, YOU MEAN VIOLENCE AND HE WANTS YOU TO SAY UH HUH WE DON'T MEAN VIOLENCE. NO USE FOR YOU HONKEY. I KNOW WHAT I MEAN (APPLAUSE) WE MUST BECOME MASTERS OF OUR OWN TERMS. WE CANNOT LET THEM DEFINE US ANY LONGER. WE ARE NOT SAVAGES. WE ARE NOT CULTURALLY DEPRIVED WE ARE NOT APETHETIC. WE ARE NOT LAZY. WE ARE NOT A BEAUTIFUL, BLACK, INTELLIGENT, AGGRESSIVE PEOPLE (APPLAUSE) AND UNTIL WE BEGIN TO DEFINE FOR OURSELVES, WE WILL ALWAYS BE ENSLAVED BY THE DEFINITION THAT THE HONKEY HAS IMPOSED UPON US. NOT ONLY THEIR DEFINITION BUT THEIR STANDARDS FOR SUCCESS. WE CAN NO LONGER FOLLOW THEIR STANDARDS FOR SUCCESS. IF THEY THINK THE ONLY WAY TO BE SUCCESSFUL IS TO BOMB THE WORLD LET THE HONKEYS BOMB IT. WE'LL STAY HERE AND WATCH THEM. LET THEM BOMB IT.

NOW WE COME TO THE LAST PART OF THIS AND THAT IS THE QUESTION OF VIOLENCE (APPLAUSE) WE WILL TAKE TIME OUT TO TALK ABOUT SUCCESS BUT WE ARE GOING TO DO THAT AT VANDERBILT. WE'LL TALK ABOUT WHITE PEOPLE AT WHITE SCHOOLS. WE GOT TOO MUCH TALKING ABOUT OURSELVES TO BE WORRIED WITH THEM. SO WE ARE GOING TO TALK ABOUT THE HONKEYS FROM THE BANNER TOMORROW. NOW THEN THE LAST THING WE WANT TO TALK ABOUT IS THE CONCEPT OF VIOLENCE AND WE WANT TO MOVE FROM OUR ASSUMPTION AND THEN MOVE INTO IT AS IT REALLY AND STRICTLY IS IN THE SOCIETY TODAY. RAISE THE QUESTION OF VICTIM AND EXECUTIONER. THEY SAY MOST SOCIETIES TODAY THERE EXISTS A RELATIONSHIP WHERE THERE ARE SOME PEOPLE ON TOP WHO HAVE BECOME SELF-IMPOSED EXECUTIONERS AND SOME PEOPLE ON BOTTOM WHO ARE VICTIMS. NOW SAYS THAT THE VICTIMS ARE THE AGITATORS FOR THE LIBERATION. THEY NEVER SAY THE TYPE OF FORM THEY SHOULD USE. THE REVOLUTIONARY, THE BRILLIANT BLACK PHILOSOPHER BY THE NAME OF SAYS THAT WHEN THEY BEGIN TO IMITATE THEY USE A NUMBER OF METHODS, A NUMBER OF MEANS. WHAT HAPPENS IS THAT THEY BEGIN TO EXAMINE THE METHODS AND THE MODES THAT THE EXECUTIONER HAS USED TO KEEP THEM A VICTIM AND WHAT THEY DO, IS THEY BEGIN TO IMITATE THAT METHOD. USUALLY, THAT IS VIOLENCE. THE EXECUTIONER MAINTAINS HIS POSITION BY FORCE AND VIOLENCE AND THEY SAY THE VICTIM THEN BEGINS TO USE THAT VIOLENCE WHICH THEY HAVE ACCEPTED FOR SO MANY YEARS AGAINST THE EXECUTIONER. AND THEY SAY WHEN THEY BEGIN TO DO THAT, IT HAS A NUMBER OF THINGS FOR THE VICTIM. ONE IS IT'S THERAPUTIC, BECAUSE FOR ONE, THE VICTIM CANNOT BELIEVE THAT HE IS EQUAL WITH THE EXECUTIONER BECAUSE HE CAN USE THE ONE THING THAT HAS BEEN TABOO AGAINST THE EXECUTIONER, THAT IS THE QUESTION OF VIOLENCE AND FOR HIMSELF THAT THE VICTIM SHOULD NEVER EVER APOLOGIZE FOR HIS USE OF VIOLENCE BECAUSE THAT'S WHAT THE EXECUTIONER HAS BEEN USING AGAINST HIM ALL HIS LIFE. ALL HIS LIFE. NOW THEN, WHAT HAPPENS IN THIS COUNTRY IS THAT BLACK PEOPLE BEGIN TO MOVE AND FORM, THEY USUALLY GOT TO APOLOGIZE TO SOME HONKEY FOR WHY THEY ARE MOVING FOR THEIR LIBERATION. ALL THE TIME. IN THE 1960'S WHEN YOU STARTED SIT INS HERE IN NASHVILLE,

THE HONKEYS WERE CALL YOU COMMUNISTS AND ALL OF THINGS AND INSTEAD OF YOU
YOU GET UP THERE AND APOLOGIZE WE'RE NOT COMMUNISTS. WE'RE GOOD AMERICA. WE'RE NOT THIS. WE'RE NOT THAT. LATER FOR THE HONKEY. BE CONCERNED ABOUT THE BLACK PEOPLE FOR A CHANGE. BE CONCERNED ABOUT BLACK PEOPLE FOR A CHANGE.(APPLAUSE)

NOW, TODAY THE BLACK PEOPLE MOVE AND THEY SAY THEY'RE VIOLENT, AND YOU GET UP THERE AND SAY WE DON'T WANT TO BE VIOLENT. THERE ARE HONKEYS WHO HAVE BEEN LYNCHING, CUTTING, SHOOTING, MURDERING, BURNING EVERYWHERE AROUND WORLD AND HE'S GOT THE GALL TO TALK ABOUT NON-VIOLENCE. AIN'T THAT A BLUPE? (APPLAUSE) SO YOU HAVE GOT TO BEGIN TO UNDERSTAND THAT CONCEPT OF VIOLENCE. NOW UNDERSTAND HOW THE CONCEPT OF VIOLENCE REALLY WORKS IN THIS COUNTRY. THIS IS A VIOLENT COUNTRY. THIS IS A VIOLENT COUNTRY. NOT ONLY IN ITS FOREIGN POLICIES, IN ITS VERY ENTERTAINMENT ITS VIOLENT. YOU CAN'T WATCH TELEVISION FOR 5 MINUTES WITHOUT SEEING SOMEBODY SHOOTING, KILLING, FIGHTING AND MURDERING EACH OTHER FOR ANY 5 MINUTES ON ANY TELEVISION STATION. THIS IS A VIOLENT SOCIETY, NOT ONLY HAVE THEY MADE WHITE PEOPLE VIOLENT, THEY ARE NOW MAKING US VIOLENT AND THEY HAVE THE NERVE TO TALK TO US ABOUT NON-VIOLENCE. WHAT YOU OUGHT TO DO IS TO TELL 'EM. WHEN WE SEE BILL COSBY ON TELEVISION GET SLAPPED BY SOME WHITE RUSSIAN AND HE COVERS UP HIS HEAD AND STARTS SINGING
"WE CAN OVERCOME" THEN WE GOING TO BE NON-VIOLENT.(APPLAUSE)
THEY TRAIN YOU TO BE HIRED KILLERS ON YOUR OWN COLLEGE CAMPUSES. THEY INSTITUTIONALIZE VIOLENCE FOR YOU. EVERY THURSDAY THEY'VE GOT YOU SHINING SHOES, TRYING TO XXXXXXXX PLAY SOLDIER FOR A DAY, HOW TO BE A KILLER, FIRING A RIFLE, BREAKING THEM DOWN, CLEANING THEM UP.....THEY HAVE ON THE BLACK COLLEGE CAMPUSES ACROSS THIS COUNTRY COMPULSORY ROTC. YOU DON'T HAVE A CHOICE. YOU GOT TO LEARN HOW TO KILL. YOU GET 1 CREDIT AND YOU SPEND 15 HOURS SHOOTING SOME RIFLE, BREAKING IT DOWN AND YOU TALK ABOUT YOU CAME TO COLLEGE TO LEARN ABOUT CIVILIZATION. SURE. AND THE MINUTE YOU TALK ABOUT VIOLENCE THE HONKEYS WILL GET UP AND TELL YOU, VIOLENCE DON'T GET ANYBODY ANYWHERE. YEAH, THAT'S TRUE, BUT BE THAT AS IT MAY, THAT'S NOT SUFFICIENT. HE DRAFTS US 30% TO FIGHT XXXXXX HIS FILTHY WAR IN VIET NAM. DRAFTS US 30%. IT'S THE HONKEY RACISTS LIKE LATIN AMERICA WHO WILL STAND UP BEFORE TELEVISION AND SAY, "YES, WE ARE GOING TO DRAFT NEGROES, 30%, BECAUSE WE BELIEVE IT'S THE ONLY PLACE THEY CAN GET A GOOD LIFE, EQUALITY AND FREEDOM, ON THE FRONT LINES OF VIET NAM. YOU DON'T EVEN RECOGNIZE WHAT'S HAPPENING IN THIS COUNTRY. THEY REMIND US ALL THE TIME THAT WE'RE 10% AND THEY'RE DRAFTING 30% THAT AIN'T NOTHING BUT BLACK URBAN REMOVAL. YOU BETTER GET HIP. SO THAT WE CANNOT ALLOW OURSELVES TO BE SICK BY VIOLENCE.
YOU LEARNED IN ELEMENTARY SCHOOL THAT PATRICK HENRY SAID "GIVE ME LIBERTY OR GIVE ME DEATH"
THE HONKEYS GOT READY TO OFF THE BRITISH, THEY DIDN'T RAISE NO QUESTION ABOUT VIOLENCE.
THEY JUST OFFED THEM. GOT NEGROES TO FIGHT THE INDIANS THEY WENT AHEAD AND TOOK CARE OF THE WHITE FOLKS. DIDN'T ASK IF, AND OR BUT. WHY IS IT WHEN WE MOVE, THEY GOT TO ASK, IF, AND OR BUT? FINALLY THEN, BEFORE WE OPEN UP FOR QUESTIONS WE WANTED TO TALK ABOUT THE WAR IN VIET NAM. A LOT OF PEOPLE SAY THAT WE ARE UN-AMERICAN BECAUSE WE DON'T WANT TO GO FIGHT AN ALL THAT NONSENSE. I'LL TELL YOU. YOU ARE UN-AMERICAN BECAUSE AMERICA WON'T LET YOU BE AMERICANS. THAT'S WHY YOU'RE UN-AMERICAN. LET ME READ TO YOU SOME QUOTES ABOUT THE VIET NAMESE WAR SO YOU CAN KNOW WHAT THIS COUNTRY IS FIGHTING FOR. THE TROUBLE IS THAT YOU ALL
ARE SO BRAINWASHED, IT'S SURPRISING. NOW LYNDEN BAINES JOHNSON. DIG HIM. GET UP ON TELE-VISION AND SAY THAT "WE'RE SENDING OUR WHITE BOYS AND OUR WHITE MONEY OVER TO VIET NAM TO FIGHT FOR THE RIGHTS OF COLORED PEOPLE. YOU KNOW HE LYING. YOU KNOW HES LYING. YOU'RE BLACK AND YOU'RE LIVING HERE, HE DON'T SPEND A PENNY ON YOU. YOU OUGHT TO KNOW HES LYING MAKING YOU THINK HE'S GOING TO GO 8,000 MILES TO FIGHT TO PROTECT SOME COLORED PEOPLE AND
HE WON'T EVEN LIFT A FINGER IN HIS OWN HOME STATE IN TEXAS TO HELP COLORED PEOPLE. YOU OUGHT TO WAKE UP. BUT LET ME TELL YOU WHAT THE WAR IS ALL ABOUT. I WANT TO READ A QUOTE.
THE QUOTE WAS MADE AUGUST 4TH 1953 BEFORE THE UNITED STATES GOVERNORS ASSEMBLED IN SEATTLE, WASHINGTON. I'M GONNA READ THE QUOTE AND THEN I'M GONNA TELL YOU WHO SAID IT. THE QUOTE SAYS, NOW LET US ASSUME THAT WE LOST INDO CHINA, THE TIN AND THAT WE GREATLY VALUED FROM THAT AREA WOULD KEEP COMING. BUT WHEN THE UNITED STATES VOTES FOUR HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS TO HELP THAT WAR WE ARE NOT VOTING A GIVE AWAY PROGRAM, WE ARE VOTING FOR THE CHEAPEST WAY THAT WE CAN TO PREVENT THE OCCURANCE OF SOMETHING THAT WOULD BE THE MOST TERRIBLE SIGNIFICANCE TO THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA. OUR SECURITY. OUR POWER AND THE ABILITY TO GET CERTAIN THINGS WE NEED FROM THE RICHES OF THE INDO CHINA TERRITORY AND FROM SOUTHEAST ASIA. THE QUOTE WAS MADE BY THE GREAT WHITE FATHER, DWIGHT D. EISEN-HOWER. BUT YOU CAN SAY, THAT WAS BACK IN 1953 AND EISENHOWER WASN'T VERY SMART, AS A MATTE OF FACT, WHEN YOU GOT RIGHT DOWN TO IT, HE WAS A DUMB HONKEY. HE COULDN'T EVEN TALK.....
UNINTELLIGIBLEAND WE WOULD SAY, NOW AFTER ALL, THAT WAS 1953 THE COUNTRY HAS CHANGED SINCE THEN. SO WE WANT TO READ ANOTHER QUOTE. A MORE RECENT QUOTE BY AN ARTICULAT
SOPHISTICATED, TALL, BLOND HEADED, BLUE EYED, HENRY CABOT LODGE. THIS IS MR. LODGE'S QUOTE RIGHT HERE. "GEOGRAPHICALLY VIET NAM STANDS AT THE HUB OF A VAST AREA OF THE WORLD, SOUTH-EAST ASIA. AN AREA WITH A POPULATION OF 249,000,000 PERSONS. HE WHO HOLDS, OR HAS IN-FLUENCE IN VIET NAM CAN AFFECT THE FUTURE OF THE PHILIPPINES AND FORMOSA TO THE EAST, CHINA AND BURMA WITH THEIR HUGE RICE SURPLUSES TO THE WEST AND MALASIA AND INDONESIA WITH THEIR RUBBER, ORES AND TIN TO THE SOUTH. VIET NAM JUST DOES NOT EXIST IN A GEOGRAPHICAL VACUUM FROM ITS LARGE STOREHOUSES OF WEALTH AND POPULATION CAN BE INFLUENCED AND UNDERMINED."
THAT'S WHAT THE WAR IS ALL ABOUT. AND THAT IS PRECISELY WHY YOU CANNOT LET THE HONKEYS LEAD YOU TO FIGHT THEIR DIRTY WAR. TELL THEM. THE WAR IS FOR THE BIRDS. LINDA BIRD, LOONEY BIRD AND ALL THEM OTHER BIRDS. ALL OF OUR LIVES THIS COUNTRY HAS USED US.....
.....BECAUSE THEY HAVE USED US AS SLAVES FROM 1865 ALL THIS COUNTRY HAS DONE IS USE US TO FIGHT ALL THEIR WARS, TO SHED BLOODSHED TO MAKE THE WORLD SAFE FOR DEMOCRACY AND WE CAN'T EVEN SPELL THE WORD IN THE SCHOOLS THAT THEY FORCE US TO ATTEND. ALL OUR LIVES WE HAVE BEEN USED. IT IS TIME THAT WE STAND UP ON OUR FEET AND REFUSE TO LET THEM USE US ANYMORE. IF THEY WANT TO KILL ALL THE PEOPLE IN THE WORLD, LET

THEY GOT THEMSELVES PICKING UP A GUN GOING TO SHOOT A VIET NAMESE AND THE MAN CAN'T NEVER CALLED YOU NIGGER. (APPLAUSE) THEN YOU ARE GOING 8,000 MILES TO FIGHT A VIET NAMESE. DO YOU DIG IT? AND YOU'RE FIGHTING COMMUNISM TO PROTECT DEMOCRACY AND YOU DON'T EVEN KNOW HOW DEMOCRACY WORKS IN YOUR OWN LITTLE NASHVILLE. YOU OUGHT TO WAKE UP TO WHAT THE WHITE MANS BEEN DOING TO YOU. ITS TIME YOU STAND ON YOUR OWN TWO FEET AND TELL THEM HELL NO AND DON'T BE AFRAID OF HIM. THAT'S BEEN OUR PROBLEM. WE THINK THAT HE IS GOD ALMIGHTY. WE HAVE LET THEM PLAY GOD FOR TOO LONG. THAT'S BEEN OUR PROBLEM. AND HES SO USED TO IT, HE STILL THINKS HES GOD. HE DON'T RECOGNIZE IT. WE'RE TELLING HIM THAT PLAY PERIOD IS OVER, HE'D BETTER COME ON HOME.

I WANT YOU TO KNOW THAT THE ROLE OF THE BLACK STUDENT BECOMES VERY DEEP IN THE SOCIETY TODAY. VERY DEEP, BECAUSE WHETHER I LIKE IT OR NOT, PEOPLE IN THE GHETTO LOOK UP TO YOU. I DON'T LIKE IT BECAUSE I DON'T THINK YOU OUGHT TO BE LOOKED UP TO. BUT THEY LOOK UP TO YOU THEY ARE HUNGRY AND THEY ARE YELLING FOR THE KNOWLEDGE THAT YOU CAN ACQUIRE WHILE YOU ARE HERE. THEY ARE HUNGRY AND THEY NEED THAT KNOWLEDGE TO BE ABLE TO FIGHT INSTITUTIONALIZED RACISM. YOU ARE BEING PROGRAMED AGAINST YOUR BLACK BROTHERS IN THE GHETTOS AND THE RURAL SOUTH IN SCHOOLS LIKE THESE. YOU ARE BEING PROGRAMED SO THAT ANYTIME A WHITE HONKEY CAN TELL YOU WHO TO INVITE TO YOUR SCHOOL AND YOU GOT TO GO SIGN 3,000 PAPERS TO GET SOMEBODY HERE. YOU ARE BEING PROGRAMED. YOU ARE BEING PROGRAMED SO THAT YOU DON'T KNOW ABOUT THE BLACK

BECAUSE THEY HAD NO IDEA OF THOSE MEN. YOU DON'T KNOW ABOUT THOSE MEN. YOU DON'T KNOW ABOUT DR. W. E. B. DUBOIS. YOU DON'T KNOW ABOUT MARCUS WALKER. YOU DON'T KNOW ABOUT RICHARD WRIGHT. YOU DON'T KNOW ABOUT J. A. ROGERS. YOU DON'T KNOW ABOUT

YOU DON'T KNOW ABOUT (UNINTELLIGIBLE BECAUSE OF APPLAUSE)

AND THE REASON YOU DON'T KNOW IS BECAUSE THEY DON'T WANT YOU TO KNOW. YOU DON'T KNOW ABOUT AFRICA BECAUSE THEY DON'T WANT YOU TO KNOW ABOUT IT AND YOU ARE ASHAMED OF IT. YOU AFRAID TO SAY THAT'S WHERE YOU CAME FROM. I TELL THEM. THAT'S WHERE YOU CAME FROM. AFRICA. AND YOU BLACK. AND YOU DON'T EVEN KNOW THAT THE ONE BLACK MAN THAT LIVED IN YOUR LIFE THAT STOOD 10 FEET TALL AND FOUGHT FOR YOU IS THE MAN WHO SHOULD BE IS MALCOLM X.....YOU DON'T KNOW ABOUT HIM BECAUSE YOU DON'T EVEN READ WHAT HE HAS TO SAY. YOU READ THE HONKEYS THAT WRITE IN THE BANNER FOR YOU. THAT'S WHY YOU DON'T KNOW NOTHING. YOUR MIND IS MESSED UP 'CAUSE YOU'RE READING WHITE FOLKS ALL OVER AGAIN IN THIS CENTURY, WHEN BLACK PEOPLE

IF YOU READ MALCOLM X'S SPEECH OR THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF MALCOLM X..... BECAUSE YOU'RE NOT ALLOWED TO READ IT AND YOU DON'T EVEN FIGHT IT. YOU'RE PROGRAMED AND YOU ENJOY BEING PROGRAMED. YOU DON'T EVEN FIGHT BACK. YOU'RE LIKE A WHO PAYS A FEE EVERY SEPTEMBER AND EVERY FEBRUARY GOES TO SCHOOL AND ENJOY WHAT YOU'RE GETTING AND THEN WALK OUT ON THE STREET TO TELL TO OTHER KIDS. YOU OUGHT TO WAKE UP AND FIGHT FOR THE RIGHTS OF BLACK PEOPLE. (APPLAUSE) YOU OUGHT TO WAKE UP AND UNDERSTAND THAT NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE HAS A POPULATION OF 40% BLACK PEOPLE. IT IS YOUR DUTY TO ORGANIZE THOSE PEOPLE TO TAKE OVER THIS CITY, LOCK STOCK AND BARREL. LOCK STOCK AND BARREL. YOU'RE AFRAID BECAUSE YOU DON'T KNOW WHAT POWER IS. IF THERE WAS ANY OTHER MINOR IN THIS CITY THAT REPRESENTED 40% OF THE POPULATION, THEY WOULD ORGANIZE THEMSELVES AND TAKE OVER THE CITY, BUT YOU DON'T DO IT BECAUSE YOU DON'T WANT THE POWER. YOU JUST WANT LO YOU WANT NON-VIOLENCE. YOU WANT MORALITY AND WHILE YOU GETTING THOSE THINGS, THE HONKEY IS RUNNING THE WORLD ON POWER AND TAKING IT FROM YOU. IT'S TIME THAT YOU WOKE UP. I GUES WE CAN ASK QUESTIONS NOW.. THANK YOU.

INFORMATIVE NOTE

SUMMARY:

Date January 15, 1968

Stokely Carmichael, Lester McKinnie and Courtland Cox of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee were guests on radio station WOL program "Speak Up" 11 p.m., 1/14/68, to 1 a.m., 1/15/68.

After interviewing above three, they answered questions telephoned in by radio audience. Most of the questions directed to Carmichael and most expressed agreement with what Carmichael is trying to do.

Significant points made by Carmichael:

(1) His purpose is to educate Negroes to identify themselves with Africans.

(2) If the Negro "just begins thinking for himself, he will know he has no business in Vietnam. He won't go."

(3) "We are going to take this city, there ain't no ifs, ands or buts about that."

(4) "The black man can not be concerned with America. He must be concerned with his people."

(5) He does not create rebellions; the system does.

(6) Negroes must unite and, in doing so, must recognize that "some of us will have to go...we must be willing to shed our blood."

Information in the attached is being directed to interested Divisions in the Department, as well as other interested agencies.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

b7C

GUESTS ON Radio station WOL, Washington, D.C., on its program "Speak Up", moderated by Dr. David Eaton, had as its guests Stokely Carmichael, Lester McKinnie, Washington Director of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), and Courtland Cox of SNCC. The program was on the air from 11:00 p.m., Sunday evening, January 14, 1968 to 1:00 a.m., Monday morning, January 15, 1968.

b7C

Dr. Eaton began the program with a brief interview of his guests, with emphasis on how they became involved in the civil rights movement.

Carmichael stated that he became involved in the fringes of CORE (Congress of Racial Equality) while attending Bronx High School of Science in New York City, and following his studies at Howard University, subsequently took part in civil rights activities in Mississippi and the South.

Following interview of his guests, Dr. Eaton turned the program into a telephone question and answer session open to the radio listening audience.

Listeners principally directed their questions to Carmichael, and for the most part, expressed their solidarity with what Carmichael is attempting to do.

The following is a summary of the significant points Carmichael made in answering questions relating to his beliefs, policies and objectives:
